Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 19, 1935 No. 31

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 19, 1935.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Heavenly Father, with the dawning of each day we behold anew Thy matchless beauty. Throughout the hours of each day we feel the guiding touch of Thy hand. At each day's close, as shadows lengthen and darkness enshrouds us, Thou dost keep watch over us while we sleep. How often are the dreams of our pillowed heads whisperings of Thy love!

As days come and go lead us with increasing tenderness until we reach the close of life's day.

Like each day, each life is short. Like each day, each life at its close brings sleep. When we awake from this sleep our eyes shall behold new scenes whose beauty shall transcend the glory of any earthly sunrise.

Grant us strength sufficient for the need of each day and wisdom to make its decisions, so that the sum of our earthly days may total an eternity of joy.

We thus pray in behalf of each member of this Senate and each soul here assembled, in the name of the Master. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. RANKIN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House had concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Also from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 498 (House Bill No. 332), entitled:

An act to amend section two of the act approved the second day of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 200, 1933-1934) entitled "An act authorizing officers departments boards and commissions of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth and cities counties boroughs incorporated towns townships school districts to make adjustments with certain supply contractors to reimburse losses sustained in performance of contracts under certain circumstances."

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 141, as follows:

An Act authorizing the abatement of certain tax penalties and interest on county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district and poor district taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all penalties and interest imposed on delinquent county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district and poor district taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and all previous years assessed against any real estate shall be abated by the authority levying the tax if said delinquent taxes are paid as hereinafter provided and if the taxes due on such real estate for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five are paid at the time prescribed by law for the payment of taxes

In order to receive the benefits of this act twenty per centum of the delinquent taxes due for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and for all previous years shall be paid on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight and the final twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine

If any taxpayer availing himself of the provisions of this act shall fail to pay any instalment of taxes as hereinbefore provided for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and all previous years as hereinbefore provided then the penalties and interest due on such unpaid instalment or instalments shall not be abated

Any taxpayer may anticipate the payment of such delinquent taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and previous years and receive the benefit of this act.

This act shall be construed to apply to all taxes whether or not liens for such taxes have been returned for non payment or have been filed in the office of the prothonotary of the county or proceedings for the collection of such taxes have been instituted in any court in said county

The benefits of this act shall extend to and accrue to any grantee transferee mortgagee or other party in interest in the real estate against which the above mentioned taxes have been assessed and levied

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I move the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 29, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding section eight (Abolishing the County of Philadelphia as a municipal corporation separate and distinct from the City of Philadelphia)

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I promised my colleagues not to make a speech on this bill, but I simply wish to call attention to the fact that Senate Bill No. 29 is the consummation devoutly looked forward to for ten years, I think, by all forward-looking people of Philadelphia; and if everybody votes "aye" we shall establish the milennium in the City of Brotherly Love.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, representing the firm of Howell and Woodward, I respectfully ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 31, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section six as amended and section eight of the act, approved the twelfth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 719), entitled, "An act regulating certain political parties; providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices, the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions, and of certain party officers, including State committeemen; a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States; and the payment by the several counties, and their reimbursement by the State, of the expenses of the same; authorizing the State committee of a political party to make, and to alter, amend, and revoke rules; and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein; and repealing inconsistent legislation," prohibiting candidates for office from being candidates for more than one party nomination, and requiring candidates affidavits from candidates for additional offices.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 58, entitled:

An Act creating in counties of the fourth class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners; providing for their salaries, payable by the county; abolishing existing boards; defining the powers and duties of such board; regulating the assessment of persons, property and occupations for county, borough, town, township, school and poor purposes; authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors and clerks; providing for their compensation payable by such counties; abolishing the office of ward, borough and township assessors, so far as the making of assessments and valuations for taxation is concerned; and providing for the acceptance of this act by cities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I simply want to call attention to the bill that is now before you for your consideration. This bill, as some of the Senators who were formerly members of the House will recollect, was knawn in the House, years ago, as the Marshall Bill, and, after that, as the Ludlow Bill. It seems to be an annual bill, or, perhaps I should say, a biennial bill. It takes away from your local assesssors—the assesssors that are elected by your constituents—the right to assess properties, occupations and so on. In other words, this creates a board of three members—appointed by whom? By the County Commissioners?

You will note that the salaries of the three members of the Board are not fixed by this Act, but shall be fixed by the Salary Board in counties where you have Salary Boards, and in counties where you have no Salary Boards the salaries shall be fixed by the Commissioners.

This board of three men, or three persons, has the right to appoint an unlimited number of people to go out and assess properties. There is nothing in the Act which stipulates that the assessor for a particular district, that is appointed, shall come from the particular district. In other words, we are going to depart from the procedure of having somebody who is your neighbor, who is familiar with valuations, place an assessed valuation upon your property for taxation purposes. You can easily, without extending your imagination at all, see to what lengths this bill can go. It can be used as a powerful political weapon. There is no question in my mind that if a Board of County Commissioners shall have designs upon a group for their own political purposes they can send out hostile people, who are termed assessors, and they in turn can go to these various people affected and say, "Unless you do thus and so and so your property will be assessed to this extent."

Now, it is stated, of course, that you have the right of appeal. Well, let me give you the history in Schuylkill County. About twelve years ago, at a triennial assessment, the Board of County Commissioners, for some reason or other, stated that the assessed valuation of property in Schuylkill County was inequitable, and the special assessors went out, over the heads of the elected assessors, and asssessed property for the information of the County Commissioners, at various figures. The corporations in Schuylkill County appealed, but nine out of ten individuals did not appeal. And what happened? The case was carried to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania knocked out the assessment. The hardship was this: That your school districts and your borough councils, relying upon this assessed valuation, went ahead and built schools, made extensive improvements; boroughs used money which, in turn, after this Supreme Court decision, they were ordered to refund to these corporations affected, and we still have boroughs and townships up there, to this day, that have not been able to make refund of the moneys. And the individual who had not taken an appeal—he was out in the cold.

Now, if there is anything equitable in a system of that type, I would like to be shown what it is; and I think that what happened in the House to the Marshall and Ludlow Bills—and I think there was some other sponsor since 1923—there always was an overwhelming defeat; and I say to the fourth-class members, I want you to note particularly that the Act applies only to fourth-class counties. Now, if this is such a meritorious piece of legislation, I, for one, decline to deprive counties of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes of its benefits; I do not think we ought to be selfish and ask it for fourth-class counties alone. If it is not good for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth-class counties—and after all that is only a distinction brought about by reason of population—if it is not good for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth-class counties, then, I ask you other members of the Senate to help us members from the fourth-class counties to defeat this bill.

And the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—11

| Frey, | McGinnis, | Rice, | Thompson, |
| Harris, | Miller, | Roberts, | (Westmoreland) |
| Homsher, | Owlett, | | |

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 68, entitled:

An Act to amend sections five and nine of the act, approved the tenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (P. L. 419), entitled "An act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers, requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties, and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections," as amended; changing the time for filing nomination papers and the time when the official list of candidates so nominated are sent by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the respective county commissioners and sheriffs.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 71, entitled:

An Act to amend section forty-two of, and to add section thirty-five A to, the act, approved the eighteenth day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 250, 1933-1934), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," adding certain provisions relating to the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors, and changing certain penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 147, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the granting of pensions by the Commonwealth to blind persons destitute of the sense of seeing creating and imposing duties upon the Board of Blind Pensions in the Department of Internal Affairs and providing penalties.

be recommitted to the Committee on Pensions for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, our able and industrious Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, has performed a public service by calling attention to the defects in this bill. It seems like the irony of fate that we should dispute over a bill which is intended to confer benefits on the blind, but the bill is defective. In the first place, it leaves in the Department of Welfare some of the blind, it transfers some of the blind to a board set up in the Department of Internal Affairs; and while I have the highest respect for our presiding officer, the Lieutenant-Governor, I do not believe in ex-officio boards. We went through that a good many years ago, and the general principle is for them to regard duties outside of their regular office as a nuisance, and very often they neglect these duties. Even in the case of the Employees' Retirement Fund they have trouble of that kind. So I thought it was pretty well established that ex-officio boards are not the best way of administering anything.

Now, the Secretary of Internal Affiairs is chairman of the board, and our respected Lieutenant-Governor is a member of the board, and a very prominent Democrat, whose name escapes me, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, is the third member of the board; and if these gentlemen know anything more about the blind than the Department of Welfare I would, for one, want to be told about it. But the point I am trying to make is that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Pytko, puts in a resolution calling attention to the fact that we ought to be courteous and to do our duty, and it is very seldom indeed that the courtesy of a hearing is denied upon any bill where there is any controversy, yet last night this courtesy was denied by the sponsor of the bill and by the Senator from York, Mr. Lanius.

I cannot see any necessity for haste in the enactment of this legislation. Why should not the people who want to be heard be given the opportunity to discuss this bill? And therefore I have risen to my feet again to ask that this bill be recommitted for the courtesy of a hearing. I promised the people they would be heard next Tuesday, and I sent a telegram last night that everything was off, the hearing had been denied; but I do hope the Senate will grant the courtesy of a hearing.

Mr. REED, (Dauphin). Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, was recognized before I rose to my feet, and I ask permission, before the motion is put, to make the statement which I had intended to make.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, may proceed.

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, it was my intention to secure the floor first in order to ask that this bill go over in its order. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, last night suggested a certain defect in the bill; that under this bill it would be possible for a blind person to receive a pension from the board to be set up and at the same time receive something from the Welfare. Personally I do not agree with that construction, but I am always of the opinion that an Act of Assembly should be made as clear as possible in order that there can be no doubt as to its interpretation, and therefore I directed the Legislative Reference Bureau, last evening, to prepare an amendment which would clarify that particular provision of the Act. I have not as yet received the amendment, and I ask unanimous consent that this bill now may go over in its order, until that proposed amendment arrives.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, insist upon his motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I certainly do.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 147, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the granting of pensions by the Commonwealth to blind persons destitute of the sense of seeing creating and imposing duties upon the Board of Blind Pensions in the Department of Internal Affairs and providing penalties.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 147, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 221, entitled:

An Act providing for appeals from assessments in counties of the second class and cities of the second class in years other than the triennial year.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RECESS

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 355, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty of the act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 900), entitled "An act to provide for the immediate registration of all births and deaths throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by means of certificates of birth and deaths, and burial or removal permits; requiring prompt returns to the Central Bureau of Vital Statistics, as required to be established by the State Department of Health; and, in order to secure prompt and faithful registration of births, marriages, deaths, and diseases, of practitioners of medicine and surgery, of midwives, nurses, and undertakers, and of all persons whose occupation is deemed to be of importance in obtaining complete registration of births, deaths, marriages, and diseases throughout the State, as provided in section ten of an act, entitled 'An act creating the Department of Health and defining its powers and duties,' approved the twenty-seventh day of April, nineteen hundred and five, and providing penalties for violation of this act," by providing that the fees due certain registrars, be paid by the State, instead by the respective counties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I just want to explain that this bill provides that registrars of vital statistics shall be paid by the State, as is the case of registrars of vital statistics in cities of the first and second class.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence,

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 482, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the filling of vacancies in certain county offices in counties of the first class and that such appointees shall hold office for the unexpired term go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 486, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section six of article four of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred seventy-four), entitled "An act defining public service companies; and providing for their regulation by prescribing and defining their duties and liabilities; prescribing, defining and limiting their powers, and regulating their incorporation, and, to a limited extent, regulating municipal corporations engaged or about to engage in the business of public service companies; creating and establishing a Public Service Commission for the regulation aforesaid; prescribing and defining the powers and duties of such Commission and its officers, including the exclusive power to regulate the construction, alteration, relocation, or abolition of the crossings of railroad corporations, street railway corporations, or other public service companies, and of public highways by the tracks or other facilities of said companies; providing for the ascertainment by the Commission of the expense and damages resulting from such construction, alteration, relocation, or abolition, and for the payment of such expenses and damages, severally or proportionately, by the public service companies interested, the State, or municipal corporation concerned, and giving persons whose property is thereby taken, injured, or destroyed, authority to sue the Commonwealth for damages in such cases; providing for the terms, salaries, and compensation of the members of the commission, its officers, counsel, and employes; prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before such commission, and upon appeal and judicial review of its orders and determinations by the courts of common pleas; and giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive jurisdiction of such appeals in certain cases, and of all injunctions, mandamus, or other appropriate proceedings to enforce the provisions of this act and the orders of the Commission, and to restrain such orders, subject to an appeal to the Supreme Court; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the violation of the orders of said Commission; making it the duty of the Public Service Commission to enforce the provisions of the act approved the nineteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, entitled 'An act to promote the safety of travelers and employes on railroads, by compelling common carriers by railroad to properly man their trains,' by amending section nine thereof; repealing the act approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seven, which provided for the appointment of the Pennsylvania State Railroad Commission; and sections one and two of the act approved the fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, entitled 'An act to enforce the provisions of the seventeenth article of the Constitution, relative to railroads and canals;' and an act entitled 'To provide the maximum car service charges, including car storage charges, that railroad companies and corporations, or associations, may charge and collect on each car loading, and not unloaded within the free time for unloading cars, and fixing the free time that shall be allowed for unloading cars,' approved twenty-fourth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven; and the proviso of clause three and th provisos of clause seven of section thirty-four of the act, entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations,' approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and all other legislation in consistent with or supplied by this act," providing that the counsel for the Commission shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

An Act relating to the maintenance of insane feebleminded and other persons confined in various institutions by counties of the second class fixing liability for their support providing for the collection of the monies due the counties of the second class therefor and for proceedings relating thereto

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever any person is maintained as an inmate of any hospital home sanitorium or other institution or elsewhere in whole or in part at the expense of any county of the second class the property or estate of such person shall be liable for such maintenance to be paid or recovered as hereinafter provided

Section 2 Every trustee committee guardian or other person nominated or appointed to take charge of the estate of any lunatic feeble-minded or any other person who is maintained in whole or in part by any county of the second class in any home asylum or other institution shall within six months after his appointment make a true and full report under oath to the County Commissioners of said county showing the amount and character of said estate and every year thereafter report to the County Commissioners of said county what if any changes there are in said estate and every executor or administrator of the estate of any deceased inmate of any asylum home or institution maintained in whole or in part by any county of the second class shall within six months after letters testamentary or of administration have been issued make a true full and complete report under oath to the County Commissioners of said county of the extent and character of such estate

Section 4 The Court of Common Pleas of the county of the residence of any inmate of any home hospital asylum or other institution maintained in whole or in part by any county of the second class shall have power upon the application of the County Commissioners of said county to make an order for the payment of maintenance to the county upon the trustees committee guardian or other person who has charge of the estate of any such inmate and said Court may also upon like application direct any trustee committee guardian or other person having charge of any such estate to file with the County Commissioners of said county the statement required by the second section of this Act

Section 5 The sworn statement of the superintendent steward or other person in whose custody are kept the records of any hospital home asylum or other institution wherein persons are maintained in whole or in part at the expense of the county shall be received as prima facie evidence in any Court of this Commonwealth of the amount expended by the county for the support or maintenance of any such person in any proceeding brought to recover the amount of such maintenance

Section 6 All claims by any county of the second class for maintenance as herein provided in the distribution of any of the estate of any person so maintained shall take precedence and be paid after other claims which by law are now given precedence and before any claims of general creditors

Section 7 When there is a claim against the estate of any person maintained in any home hospital asylum or other institution both on behalf of any county of the second class and on behalf of the Commonwealth and there is not sufficient in the estate to pay the claim in full the same shall be paid pro rata to the State and the County in the proportion of the amount of maintenance legally recoverable by each

Section 8 This Act of Assembly is intended to apply to the collection of claims for maintenance due any county of the second class at the time of its passage as well as those to become due hereafter

Section 9 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED (Washington). Mr. President, I desire to interogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I shall be very glad to be interrogated.

Mr. REED (Washington). Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, whether under this bill it is his idea that those able to pay are liable to pay for any members of a family committed to an institution, in counties of the second class.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, that is correct, and it goes still farther; the bill provides that those who have any funds belonging to a person committed to an institution for the feebleminded, must make a report to the county commissioners every six months, so that the moneys they may have belonging to the one who has been committed to the institution cannot be dissipated.

Mr. REED (Washington). It holds the estate liable and not any member of the family?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, that is correct.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 147, entitled:

An Act providing for the granting of pensions by the Commonwealth to blind persons destitute of the sense of seeing creating and imposing duties upon the Board of Blind Pensions in the Department of Internal Affairs and providing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 1, page 2, line 6, by inserting after the word "pension" the following: And provided further, That where a blind person has an income of less than twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per year, the pension shall be fixed in such amount so that the combined income and pension shall not exceed twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) a year; also section 11, page 5, line 6, by inserting after the word "penalties" the following: but no person receiving a pension under this act shall be entitled to receive a pension under said act of January seventeenth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, and no person receiving a pension under said act of January seventeenth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four shall be entitled to receive a pension under this act.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered ,That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection The Chair hears none.

Mr. MALLERY from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed Senate Bill No. 352, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the act, approved the twenty-third day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven (P. L. 34), entitled "An act making the verdict of a jury in the several courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth a lien in certain cases," extending said act to all courts of record.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from the committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. ARON from the Committee on Finance reported as committed, the following Resolution, which was laid upon the table:

REQUESTING TAX DATA FROM SECRETARY OF REVENUE

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, It is essential the General Assembly be in possession of available tax data so that its members may intelligently consider measures intended to produce additional revenue;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the Secretary of Revenue be requested to furnish to the Senate at the earliest possible moment the following information:

FIRST—The total amount of State and Local taxes paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

SECOND—The total amount of Federal taxes paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933 as shown by returns filed with the Secretary of Revenue;

THIRD—The total amount of rentals paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

FOURTH—The total net income or loss by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

FIFTH—The total value of the Capital Stock of the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania, as appraised by the Department of Revenue, for the year 1932 and for the year 1933.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I arise to inquire as to whether or not we have to vote on these names collectively. I wish to object to the confirmation of one name.

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, what is the name?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, the Justice of the Peace, John R. Klima, of Rosslyn Farms.

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I ask that this name be withdrawn for the present.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Coyne, withdraws the name of John R. Klima, Justice of the Peace, Rosslyn Farms, Allegheny County.

Is there objection?

The Chair hears no objection.

The name of John R. Klima, Justice of the Peace, Rosslyn Farms, Allegheny County, is withdrawn.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. THOMPSON (Centre),

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the foregoing nominations:

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. THOMPSON,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported, excluding the name of John R. Klima.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO APPOINTMENT OF A DELEGATE TO BECOME A MEMBER OF A CONSTITUTIONAL SESQUI-CENTENNIAL COMMISSION

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre) offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 19, 1935.

Whereas, The provisions of the Act of June 3, 1887, P. L. 338, clearly show that a constitutional centennial commission was organized in Philadelphia in 1886 for the purpose of providing for a proper celebration of the centennial anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the convention which framed it, which commission was composed of commissioners appointed by the Governor of the several states and territories of the United States; and

Whereas, A celebration which became an outstanding event was held in the city of Philadelphia, September 15, 16 and 17, 1887; and

Whereas, The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the convention occurs on September 17th, 1937, and it is fitting and proper that said event should be celebrated in the City of Philadelphia where the instrument, which made a unique contribution to the political science of the world, was written and adopted; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That each state and territory of the United States be invited to arrange for the appointment of a delegate to become a member of a Constitutional Sesqui-Centennial Commission, that the name of the delegate so appointed be transmitted to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that said commission meet at such time and place as may be fixed by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of arranging a suitable program for such celebration;

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth be authorized to appoint a delegate for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to serve on said Constitutional Sesqui-Centennial Commission;

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of each state and territory of the United States.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires that concurrent resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL SIGNED

HOUSE MESSAGE

REDUCTION OF TAXES IN SECOND CLASS TOWNSHIPS.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Highways

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, Under existing law the township supervisors in townships of the second class will be required to fix the annual tax levies for road and street purposes for their respective townships for the year 1935, on or before March 25, 1935, and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before the said date to allocate to the townships the unencumbered balance of funds appropriated to the Department of Highways for expenditure in the second class, under the provisions of the Parkinson Act approved June 3, 1933, P. L. 1520, and

Whereas, It is the intention of the General Assembly to enact such legislation in order to secure to the owners of real estate, relief from the burden of taxation; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly hereby authorizes and requests the township supervisors in all townships of the second class to reduce road tax levies for the year 1935, if any are to be made, as compared to the 1932 road tax levies, in the approximate amount of the allocation of funds to be made to them for expenditure in 1935 as herein set forth; the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to provide for the allocation and payment to the various townships of the second class for expenditure for general road and bridge purposes, of the unencumbered balance as of April 1, 1935, of the funds allocated by the Department of Highways for expenditure under the terms of the above cited Parkinson Act, exclusive of the sum of $2,365,000, heretofore, transferred to the General Fund for relief purposes; the amount of such allocation to be approximately $4,400,000; the allocation of such funds to the various townships of the second class to be made on the basis of the number of miles of Township Roads in each township bears in proportion to the total mileage of Township Roads in all townships of the second class and shall provide for payment of the funds so allocated in three equal installments on June 15th, September 15th, and December 15th, 1935; such payment to be made only to townships which reduce their 1933 tax levy in accordance with the intent of this resolution; and to provide further that townships which levied no tax in 1932 shall receive an allocation on the basis of $50 per mile of public highway under the jurisdiction of such township, and that the Courts, in order to effectuate the tax relief intended by this legislation, may make appropriate changes in any agreements which have been made and approved under the provisions of existing laws for the maintenance and construction of township roads by taxpayers.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 19, 1935

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Howard T. Curtiss, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Belle Vernon, Pa., offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father: Above all the deliberations and decisions of men, Thou art God. Beyond the wisdom of men. Thou are wise. Beyond the goodness of men, Thou are good. Beyond the power and authority of men is Thy power and authority.

We humbly beseech Thee this day to govern the members of this Assembly toward justice and equity by a clear revelation of Thy truth. And may the prayers of millions of our fellow citizens in this Commonwealth find favor in Thy sight and execution through the honesty and sincerity of Thy servants in this house.

In the name of Jesus, Lord and Saviour of mankind, Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MURRIN and NAGLE (Concurrent).
RESOLUTION No. 91.

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, Unless immediate relief is given, hundreds and thousands of additional farmers will lose their farms and their homes, and millions more will be forced into our cities and villages, and the army of the unemployed will necessarily increase to alarming proportions; and

Whereas, There is no adequate way of refinancing existing agricultural indebtedness, and the farmers are at the mercy of their mortgagees and creditors throughout this State and Nation; and

Whereas, The Frazier-Lemke Refinance Bill, being S. 212 and H. R. 2066 in the Congress of the United States, provides for the liquidating and refinancing of agricultural indebtedness at a reduced rate of interest, through the Farm Credit Administration and Federal Land Banks; and

Whereas, The Frazier-Lemke Bill has the endorsement of twenty-two state legislatures, and in addition, the lower Houses of the States of New York and Deleware and of many Commercial Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, bank organizations and of business and professional men and women, as well as the great majority of the farmers of this Nation; and

Whereas, The enactment of this bill will have a vital effect not only upon agriculture, but upon all classes of industry; and

Whereas, Agriculture is the basic industry of this country, and there can be no recovery until agriculture is put upon a sound basis, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of your memorialists, the members of the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania, that the Congress of the United States should enact the Frazier-Lemke Bill without further delay.

Resolved, That a copy of this Memorial, duly authenticated, be sent by the Secretary of State to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative in Congress from this State, to the President of the United States, and to United States Senator Lynn J. Frazier and Congressman William Lemke.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

By Mr. SHUGARTS (Concurrent).
RESOLUTION No. 92.

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, Under existing law the township supervisors in townships of the second class will be required to fix the annual tax levies for road and street purposes for their respective townships for the year 1935, on or before March 25, 1935, and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before the said date to allocate to the townships the unencumbered balance of funds appropriated to the Department of Highways for expenditure in townships of the second class, under the provisions of the Parkinson Act approved June 3, 1933, P. L. 1520, and

Whereas, It is the intention of the General Assembly to enact such legislation in order to secure to the owners of real estate, relief from the burden of taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes and requests the township supervisors in all townships of the second class to reduce road tax levies for the year 1935, if any are to be made, as compared to the 1932 road tax levies, in the approximate amount of the allocation of funds to be made to them for expenditure in 1935 as herein set forth; the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to provide for the allocation and payment to the various townships of the second class for expenditure for general road and bridge purposes, of the unencumbered balance as of April 1, 1935, of the funds allocated by the Department of Highways for expenditure under the terms of the above cited Parkinson Act, exclusive of the sum of $2,365,000, heretofore, transferred to the General Fund for relief purposes; the amount of such allocation to be approximately $4,400,000; the allocation of such funds to the various townships of the second class to be made on the basis of the number of miles of Township Roads in each township bears in proportion to the total mileage of Township Roads in all townships of the second class and shall provide for payment of the funds so allocated in three equal installments on June 15th, September 15th and December 15th, 1935; such payment to be made only to townships which reduce their 1933 tax levy in accordance with the intent of this resolution; and to provide further that townships which levied no tax in 1932 shall receive an allocation on the basis of $50 per mile of public highway under the jurisdiction of such township, and that the Courts, in order to effectuate the tax relief intended by this legislation, may make appropriate changes in any agreements which have been made and approved under the provisions of existing laws for the maintenance and construction of township roads by taxpayers.

Referred to the Committee on Highways.

By Mr. MELCHIORRE. RESOLUTION No. 93.

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, The Philadelphia Branch of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America ostensibly represents the employes who are members of said organization but, according to common rumor, said organization has become too closely allied and affiliated with the employers in the clothing industry; and

Whereas, There have been numerous complaints that the Philadelphia Branch of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America no longer represents the interests of their member employes, and that as a result the workers in said clothing industry are unprotected in their rights and interests, and the purposes for which said organization came into existence are being defeated; and

Whereas, While it has been reported that the funds of the workers of said organization were invested in a large building in Philadelphia, the said workers have not been able to obtain accurate information as to the name or names of the person or persons in whom title to said building has been vested; and

Whereas, It has been reported that the financial transactions of the said organization have become involved causing grave concern to the workers who have their moneys invested therein; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives be authorized to appoint a special committee composed of five members of the House, whose duty it shall be to examine the officers, directors, employes, members, books, papers and records of the Philadelphia Branch of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, for the purpose of determining the extent to which the rights, interests and privileges of their members are being protcted in relation to their employment, the condition of the finances of said organization, together with the determination as to the character of investments into which the funds of said association have been placed, and the name or names in which said investments are carried.

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report of its findings to the House of Representatives at the present session of the General Assembly as early as possible.

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Labor.

L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts, making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by prohibiting the owner of a vehicle from passing school busses in certain cases.

Mr. JOHN J. BAKER from the Committee on Elections re-reported as committed, House Bill No. 5563, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (b) of section six of the act approved the twelfth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws, seven hundred nineteen), entitled "An act regulating certain political parties; providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices, the election of delegates and alternate delegates to National party conventions, and of certain party officers, including State committeemen; a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States; and the payment by the several counties, and their reimbursement by the State, of the expenses of the same; authorizing the State committee of a political party to make, and to alter, amend, and revoke rules; and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein; and repealing inconsistent legislation," by providing for the requirements of this paragraph to apply also to candidates for ward, borough, township, school district or party offices.

Mr. FURMAN from the Committee on Highways reported as committed House Resolution No. 92.

RESOLUTION No. 92.

Mr. FURMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up House Resolution No. 92.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, Under existing law the township supervisors in townships of the second class will be required to fix the annual tax levies for road and street purposes for their respective townships for the year 1935, on or before March 25, 1935, and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before the said date to allocate to the townships the unencumbered balance of funds appropriated to the Department of Highways for expenditure in townships of the second class, under the provisions of the Parkinson Act approved June 3, 1933, P. L. 1520, and

Whereas, It is the intention of the General Assembly to enact such legislation in order to secure to the owners of real estate, relief from the burden of taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes and requests the township supervisors in all townships of the second class to reduce road tax levies for the year 1935, if any are to be made, as compared to the 1932 road tax levies, in the approximate amount of the allocation of funds to be made to them for expenditure in 1935 as herein set forth; the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to provide for the allocation and payment to the various townships of the second class for expenditure for general road and bridge purposes, of the unencumbered balance as of April 1, 1935, of the funds allocated by the Department of Highways for expenditure under the terms of the above cited Parkinson Act, exclusive of the sum of $2,365,000, heretofore, transferred to the General Fund for relief purposes; the amount of such allocation to be approximately $4,400,000; the allocation of such funds to the various townships of the second class to be made on the basis of the number of miles of Township Roads in each township bears in proportion to the total mileage of Township Roads in all townships of the second class and shall provide for payment of the funds so allocated in three equal installments on June 15th, September 15th and December 15th, 1935; such payment to be made only to townships which reduce their 1933 tax levy in accordance with the intent of this resolution; and to provide further that townships which levied no tax in 1932 shall receive an allocation on the basis of $50 per mile of public highway under the jurisdiction of such township, and that the Courts, in order to effectuate the tax relief intended by this legislation, may make appropriate changes in any agreements which have been made and approved under the provisions of existing laws for the maintenance and construction of township roads by taxpayers.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the imediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

The SPEAKER. In accordance with the provisions of House Resolution No. 61, Printer's No. 282, adopted March 14th, the Chair appoints the following members as the Committee provided for in the resolution: Messrs. Caputo, Lovett, Harmuth, Zappala and Schrock.

RESOLUTION No. 71.

Mr. LYNCH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Resolution No. 71, Printer's No. 310.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 26, 1935.

Unemployment, which has rested its heavy hand upon the people of our Commonwealth during the period of the past four or five years, is the greatest tragedy of the day, and must be met and relieved in so far as it is humanly possible.

The Nation, the State, its political subdivisions and private agencies, have and are expending millions—nay, billions of dollars to this end, and still the funds available are sufficient only to meet the barest necessities of those who are actually in need of assistance.

There are those, who, even in the face of most pitiful disaster, will and do steal from and rob the helpless that their own conditions may be bettered. Among these are the unscrupulous individuals who being of sufficient means to maintain themselves and their dependents in whole or in part, apply for and receive unemployment relief in amounts larger than is necessary for their immediate needs, thereby leaving their neighbors utterly destitute; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives, not unappreciative of the magnitude of the task before the State Emergency Relief Board and its subordinate agencies, is of the opinion that greater care is needed in the selection of the persons entitled to relief, and that more effective efforts should be made in recovering back moneys expended in unemployment relief to persons not entitled thereto, and in putting to shame, and, if possible, to inflict punishment upon such persons; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives urges and upon all of its subordinate agencies, and request that these necessities upon the State Emergency Relief Board investigations be made more thorough and painstaking. and that no means be overlooked to bring to justice the undeserving parasites who, through their greed, deprive those who are really in need; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House transmit copies of this resolution to each member of the State Emergency Relief Board and to each county relief board.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION NO. 42.

Mr. BRADLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 42, Printers No. 72.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1935.

Whereas, A terrible mine disaster happened on the morning of January 21st, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock at Gilberton, in Schuylkill County, which resulted in the loss of many lives; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Mines and Mining of the House of Representatives shall have power to fully investigate the mine disaster referred to in the preamble hereof to determine the cause thereof, whether said disaster was due to negligence of any person or company or failure on the part of the laws of this Commonwealth to make ample provision to safeguard the lives of persons employed in the anthracite coal mines, and what provision, if any, shall be made to correct such laws.

Resolved, That the Committee on Mines and Mining shall make a report of its findings to the House of Representatives as early as possible.

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the law of the Commonwealth in such cases.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION NO. 80

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 80, Printer's No. 311.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1935.

Whereas, The General Assembly in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two, created a State Emergency Relief Board to supervise the distribution of moneys appropriated for relief to unfortunate citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The State Emergency Relief Board has constituted a local relief board for the counties of Washington and Greene to administer relief and welfare to the people of those counties; and

Whereas, There have been numerous complaints of gross abuse of the discretionary power and authority vested in said relief board for the counties of Washington and Greene and it is reported that groups and individuals have been discriminated against; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives, whose duty it shall be to make a rigid investigation of the conduct and operation of the emergency relief board for the counties of Washington and Greene, dating back to its inception and to investigate such other facts and circumstances surrounding the conduct of said board as it deems necessary for the information of the House of Representatives;

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report to the House of Representatives during this session as early as possible;

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases;

Resolved, That said committee shall have the further right and authority to issue a requisition to the aforesaid board for such stenographic help and other service as it may deem necessary under the circumstances in the taking of testimony and the conduct of hearings.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of a hearing this afternoon.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 179, as follows:

An Act to repeal section eight of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws four hundred one) entitled "An act to amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand two hundred seventy-eight) entitled 'An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto' by further regulating the affairs of such counties imposing penalties for certain violations of said act as amended and repealing certain existing laws"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section eight of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws four hundred one) entitled "An act to amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand two hundred seventy-eight) entitled 'An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto' by further regulating the affairs of such counties imposing penalties for certain violations of said act as amended and repealing certain existing laws" is hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, as this bill affects my own county and practically all others, may I inquire of the gentleman from Washington Mr. Brown, as to the effect of this bill? I just want to ask the gentleman one question for the information of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington Mr. Brown, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, just as a matter of information for the members from the smaller counties, I would like to ask the gentleman from Washington Mr. Brown, what is the purpose of this bill and its effect.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I do not blame the gentleman for wanting a little information on this bill. When I took the matter up, I did not know what it meant myself, so I went down to the library and I looked at the Act of nineteen thirty-one, section eight, which this bill will repeal. It creates an attorney for the recorder that is, the recorder may appoint one. Needless to say if the recorder happens to be a Republican, he puts in his Republican friend; if he happens to be a Democrat, he puts in his Democratic friend, and the taxpayer is made the goat, because he doesn't need an attorney. We don't need any attorney. We have a county attorney, and you know very well that the recorder who transcribes the records will not have any need of an attorney.

I happen to have here a copy of the Act and it is open to any of you gentlemen to read it before it comes up for third reading.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if in view of the widespread lack of knowledge of this act, he would object to this bill being placed on the postponed calendar until the members likewise familiarize themselves with the law as it is.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Not at all, Mr. Speaker. I would be very glad to do so. I have the book here, and it is the property of this House. Any member can read up on this Act so that he can thoroughly understand it.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish my interrogation to be construed as being hostile to this bill, but I don't think the majority of the rural members understand it. Will the gentleman from Washington agree to place the bill on the postponed calendar?

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Yes.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

paying all taxes and municipal claims accrued and chargeable against the real estate prior to the sale thereof together with the cost and interest thereon and also all taxes and claims whether filed or not which would have accrued and become chargeable against the real estate had the same been purchased at the sale by some party other than the county city or other municipal division

(b) If both owner and creditor desire to redeem the owner shall have the right so to do only in case he pays the creditor's claim in full If more than one creditor desires to redeem the one who was lowest in lien at the time of sale shall have the prior right upon payment in full of the claim of the one higher in lien Within the two years one who was lower in lien may redeem from one higher in lien who has already redeemed and the owner may redeem from him and so on throughout in each case by paying the claim of the one whose right was higher and one higher in lien may redeem from one lower in lien unless his claim is paid but in each case the right must be exercised within the two year period dating from the time the real estate was first sold

(c) Any person entitled to redemption may present his petition to the proper Court setting forth the facts and his readiness to pay the redemption money whereupon the Court shall grant a rule to show cause why the purchaser should not reconvey to him the premises sold and if upon hearing the Court shall be satisfied of the facts it shall make the rule absolute and upon payment of the money into Court or to the proper person shall enforce it by attachment

(d) When any real estate is sold as provided in this act no lien whatsoever against such real estate shall be deemed to be discharged during the period of redemption but if said real estate is not redeemed then all liens against the same shall be deemed discharged from the date that the right of redemption expired

Section 6 Any county municipality township or school district being a claimant shall have the right and is hereby empowered to bid and become the purchaser of the real estate at any sale and while said real estate so bid in is held and owned by a county municipality township or school district it shall not be subject to tax claims unless it is redeemed by the former owner lien creditor or by anyone interested in said real estate

The seventh section was read as follows:

Section 7 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to repeal the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" except insofar as said act is inconsistent with this act All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewity are hereby repealed

(5) Both parents are dead and the minor is in the custody of a stepfather or stepmother in which case it follows that of the stepfather or stepmother having the custody

(i) Before emancipation the settlement of an illegitimate minor at all times follows that of the mother and in case of her death before emancipation of such minor continues in the poor district in which she was last settled until such person established a new settlement after emancipation

(j) If a person has no known settlement in this Commonwealth and cannot for any reason whatever be removed into the state or country where settled he shall have a quasi settlement in the poor district where he or she becomes a public charge which district shall be liable for his or her support

(k) If a person becomes a public charge in a poor district other than the one in which settled such district shall be liable for support until the district of settlement is discovered and removal to such district takes place but the poor district of settlement shall be liable to the district in which the person became a charge for the amount of relief advanced costs and the expenses of removal

(2) When a person enters this Commonwealth from any other state the same length of residence and the same conditions and requirements perquisite to acquiring a legal settlement in any poor district in this Commonwealth shall prevail against such person as the state from which he came shall by law impose upon persons entering such state from this Commonwealth

Section 4 Section eight hundred and one of said act which was amended by section two of the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred sixty-six) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 801 Order of Removal In case any person shall have no settlement in the district wherein he has become or is likely to become a public charge it shall be the duty of the directors as soon as may be to notify the directors of the district of his settlement of the facts If the directors so notified refuse or neglect to receive him or to make arrangements for his proper support and maintenance and to pay the amount of relief advanced the directors furnishing such relief may unless the question is settled by arbitration as hereinafter provided apply to the court of quarter sessions of their county or to any judge thereof by petition asking for a citation to the directors so refusing or neglecting requiring them to appear before such court at a time specified therein and show cause why an order should not issue for the removal of such person into their district The said court shall proceed to hear and determine the cause upon its merits and their decree shall be final unless an appeal therefrom be taken within thirty days

The citation herein provided for accompanied by a copy of the petition shall be served by the sheriff of the county who may for that purpose deputize the sheriff of the county of the respondent upon one or more of the directors named therein or with the approval of the court service may be had by sending such copy by registered mail and shall be served or mailed at least ten days before the day fixed for such hearing Provided That upon the hearing and argument before said court of quarter sessions of said citation for an order of removal of paupers from one district to another it shall be lawful for either of the parties to the issue to except to any decision of the court upon any point of evidence or law which exception shall be noted by the court and filed of record as in civil cases and an appeal to an appellate court may be taken by either party from the judgment or decree of the court with like effect as in civil cases

In any case arising under this section wherein there is a controversy between the directors of different poor districts over the question of whether or not a person shall be removed from the one district to the other such question may be decided by arbitration if the directors of both districts consent In such cases the directors from each district shall appoint one arbitrator who shall thereupon agree upon a third person to act with them The said three arbitrators shall proceed to hear and determine the cause upon its merits and their decision which shall be final shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the county containing the poor district from which the directors thereof seek an order of removal

The decision of such arbitrators when filed as above provided shall have the same force and effect as a judgment of the court

Section 5 Section eight hundred and two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 802 Liability for Costs In case an order of removal is granted by any court of quarter sessions or by any arbitrators under the provisions of this act [the court in the same] such order shall require the directors of the district of settlement to pay the petitioners or the directors seeking such removal the cost of the proceedings the expense of removing and the proper charges for the relief of the poor person from the date of the notice first above provided for all of which expense cost and charges shall be ascertained and allowed by the court or arbitrators If an order of removal is refused the cost of the proceeding shall be paid by the directors petitioning [therefor] or seeking such removal

Section 6 Section eight hundred and three of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 803 Jurisdiction of Quarter Sessions The court of quarter sessions shall have full and complete authority and jurisdiction to enforce by appropriate methods its orders or directions and the orders and directions of any arbitrators made in any such proceeding

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. SHUGARTS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1243, Printer's No. 242, on page 26, of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Shugarts.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1243, entitled:

An Act to amend title of and to add section three to the act approved the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (P. L. 52), entitled "An act to protect miners in the bituminous coal regions of this Commonwealth" so as to protect miners from fraudulent deprivation of wages providing standard measurements for coal mined and prohibiting the use of other standards providing methods for the ascertainment of proper measurements and imposing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHUGARTS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to take up much of your time on this bill. It is a check weigh bill or measure to protect the weights of the miner and give them the right to appoint check weighmen.

This bill was passed by the House of Representatives on June first, eighteen eighty-three. When it was passed by the Legislature it failed to provide a proper title. The bill was recognized as law for a number of years. Finally a case was carried to the Allegheny courts, and the bill was declared unconstitutional by reason of the fact that the title did not cover Section three. All this bill does is to clear up that title. It amends the title to conform with what was really intended back in eighteen eighty-three.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House in today's "Morning Telegraph," under date of Tuesday, March nineteen, nineteen thirty-five, there is printed a story which reads as follows: "Ninety Republican leaders held a caucus in the Penn-Harris and decided to confer with Governor Earle today in an effort to reach a compromise on the gasoline tax program. Republicans want Earle to cut his proposed tax increase one cent." Then it gives the names of some of the men who were at the Caucus. There also appears a statement, "The Sub-committee, led by Morton Witkin, of Philadelphia, will urge the Governor to reduce the proposed increase in the gasoline tax from two cents to one cent, making the net levy four cents a gallon instead of the five cents provided in the Governor's program,"

Members of the House, there is no truth in the allegations set forth in that newspaper item, and from where the story emanated or how it got into the newspaper, I do not know, but it is not so, and I want particularly the Republican members to know that it did not emanate either from the Republican Steering Committee or any member thereof but is made up from the whole cloth.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 357, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (b) of section eight hundred and one of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," as amended, by requiring front registration plates to be illuminated.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1022, entitled:

An Act to amend sections seven hundred and two, seven hundred and three and seven hundred and four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 359), entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," as amended, by prohibiting the trapping of raccoons.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1300 (Senate Bill No. 149), entitled:

An Act authorizing the selection of two additional jurors in civil and criminal cases to take the place of any juror or jurors becoming incapacitated

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bills on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I wish someone in the House would explain why we must have two additional jurors.

The SPEAKER. Is there any member in the House who wishes to explain this bill?

Mr. TURNER. Might I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, who is a member of the Committee on Judiciary General and who had, I think, these bills in the sub-committee, explain it to the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, volunteer to explain the bill?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. There has been much agitation recently concerning the matter of jurors who perhaps may become incapacitated and for that reason a mistrial might be had costing the state a considerable sum of money to retry the case.

There have been presented three or four bills—I don't recall the exact number now—some of them asking for the right to call one additional juror and this Senate bill, which is before you, is asking for the right to call two additional jurors. This bill, of course, originated in the Senate. The two bills that were before the Committee on Judiciary General asked for the right to call two additional jurors. The Committee on Judiciary General, after much debate, decided in favor of this bill, which we have before us for consideration now.

All the bills were carefully studied by a sub-committee of Judiciary General and, of course, an answer to the gentleman who has asked me the question cannot be had, as to why there should be two additional jurors. There is no more reason for one than there is for two or three, but the Committee felt that this bill might meet the situation, as I have before stated, in a trial where it might cost the State a tremendous sum of money because the Court was compelled to declare a mistrial on account of a juror becoming sick. We have had one or two cases right in our own county where a trial consumed considerable time and a juror fell ill, resulting in a mistrial.

I do not know whether there is any answer categorically as to whether or not there should be two or three or four or five additional jurors provided for but, as I have already stated, the Committee felt that this bill placing two additional jurors in the box was a bill which could be passed upon favorably by this House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1307 as follows:

An Act relating to labor guaranteeing the right of self-organization without interference by employers and of collective bargaining by representatives chosen by employes defining and prohibiting unfair labor practice and prescribing penalties

Whereas Equality of bargaining power between employers and employes is not attained when the organization of employers in the corporate and others forms of ownership association is not balanced by the free exercise by employes of the right to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing and

Whereas Experience has proved that in the absence of such equality the resultant failure to maintain equilibrium between the rate of wages and the rate of industrial expansion impairs economic stability and aggravates recurrent depressions with consequent detriment to the general welfare and

Whereas Denials of the right to bargain collectively lead also to strikes and other manifectations of economic strife and

Whereas It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to provide for the general welfare by encouraging the practice of collective bargaining and by promoting the exercise by the worker of full freedom of association self-organization and designation of representatives of his own choosing for the purpose of negotiating the terms and conditions of his employment or other mutual aid or protection therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That this act shall be known and may be citied as the "Labor Relations Act of one thousand nine hundred thirty-five"

Section 2 When used in this act

(a) The term "person" includes one or more individuals partnerships associations corporations legal representatives trustees trustees in bankruptcy or receivers

(b) The term "employer" includes any person acting in the interest of an employer directly or indirectly but shall not incude the Federal Government the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof or any labor organization or any one acting in the capacity of officer or agent of such labor organization

(c) The term "employe" shall include any employe and shall not be limited to the employes of a particular employer and shall include any individual whose work has ceased as a consequence of or in connection with any current labor dispute or because of any unfair labor practice and who has not obtained any other regular and substantially equivalent employment

(d) The term "representative" includes any individual or labor organization

(e) The term "labor organization" means any organization of any kind or any agency or employe representation committee or plan in which employes participate and which exists for the purpose in whole or in part of dealing with employers concerning grievances labor disputes wages rates of pay or hours of employment

(f) The term "unfair labor practice" means any unfair labor practice listed in section four

(g) The term "labor dispute" includes any controversy concerning terms tenure or conditions of employment or concerning the association or representation of persons in negotiating fixing maintaining changing or seeking to arrange terms or conditions of employment regardless of whether the disputants stand in the proximate relation of employer and employe

Section 3 Employes shall have the right of self-organization to form join or assist labor organizations to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing and to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection

Section 4 It shall be unfair labor practice for an employer

(a) To interfere with restrain or coerce employes in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in section three

(b) To dominate or interfere with the formation or administration of any labor organization or contribute financial or other support to it Provided That an employer shall not be prohibited from permitting employes to confer with him during working hours without loss of time or pay

(c) By discrimination in regard to hire or tenure of employment or of any term or condition of employment to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization Provided That nothing in this act shall preclude an employer from making an agreement with a labor organization (not established maintained or assisted by any action defined in this act as an unfair labor practice) to require as a condition of employment membership therein if such labor organization is the representative of the majority of the employes in the appropriate collective bargaining unit covered by such agreement when made

(d) To discharge or otherwise discriminate against an employe because he has filed charges or given testimony under this act or in any proceedings arising under this act or out of a labor dispute as herein defined

Section 5 Unfair labor practice as listed in section four hereof is hereby declared unlawful and any person copartnership association or corporation or agent manager superintendent or officer thereof who or which shall be guilty of such unfair labor practice shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars or to suffer imprisonment for not more than six months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 6 If any section sentence clause or part of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the remaining provisions of this act The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act and each section sentence clause or part thereof irrespective of the fact that one or more sections sentences clauses or parts be declared unconstitutional

Section 7 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker I will.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House, I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks what changes his bill makes in the existing laws of Pennsylvania with regard to collective bargaining.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, I wish to say that this bill definitely guarantees the laborer the right of collective bargaining and prohibits employers from setting up dummy unions and company unions or employe associations or whatever they may be called for the purpose of controlling the actions of their workers and preventing them from organizing into genuine trade unions.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I am not satisfied with a part of the answer. I would like to know whether they do not have the right to so organize without interference at the present time.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in further answer to the gentleman, I will say that theoretically they have the right. Our laws have been so amended or rather the common law doctrine of conspiracy was changed by an act of eighteen sixty-nine to offset the effect of court decisions to the effect that a union organization was a conspiracy under the criminal law.

In the judgment of those interested in trade unions, and who believe that it is good public policy to encourage their organization the mere permitting of the organization of trade unions is not sufficient.

Experience has shown that while the law permits their organization, the employers are also permitted to do many things to prevent their organization. In other words, the law at the present time in effect says that it is legal to organize a trade union but that it is also legal for an employer to do practically anything that he wants to do to prevent the organization of a trade union. The purpose of this bill is to definitely guarantee the right to organize a trade union, the right of collective bargaining and to forbid what is defined in Section four of this act as unfair labor practice on the part of the employer: such actions as are taken for the purpose of preventing the organization of truly representative trade unions among employes.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks in what respect the provisions of this act differ from Section seven (a) of the NRA and whether or not his act will not be more broad and more severe than the famous section seven (a).

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the latter part of the question unqualifiedly in the affirmative. If it were not broader and more effective than Section seven (a) has proven to be I would not take up the time of this House by introducing it.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, in Section four, page four, it recites many of the acts defined as unfair practices and discrimination under the bill. I note that there is a provision that a majority may require as a condition of employment by agreement with the employer membership of all employes in the majority organization. I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks whether as a person who has enjoyed during his life-time the privilege of representing a minority group—I would like to ask the gentleman what provision he has made in this bill for the representation of any minority groups that may exist.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in further answer to the gentleman, I wish to state that he misunderstands Section four, to which he is referring. That particular part of sub-section (c), page four of the bill, line seventeen, reads, "Provided That nothing in this act shall preclude an employer from making an agreement with a labor organization (not established maintained or assisted by any action defined in this act as an unfair labor practice) to require as a condition of employment membership therein if such labor organization is the representative of the majority of the employes in the appropriate collective bargaining unit covered by such agreement." I wish to state that all this act does is to permit closed shop agreements where the workers organize a union and are in a position to enforce it. Such agreements are in force in a number of industries in Pennsylvania today. They have not worked to the disadvantage of the minority and I must say that this argument that you are interfering with the right of a minority on this particular point seems to me to be rather beside the question.

The employers have prevented a majority from organizing and being represented and then when you pass a bill that has a provision in it which says it shall not prevent a closed shop agreement, then they talk about affecting the rights of a minority. There is nothing in this bill at all to prevent the rights of a minority from being fully protected or that in any way puts a heavier burden upon minorities than are upon them today.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I am not arguing the merits of the bill. There are several things here which are clearly not understood by a number of the members and one of the things which it seems to me is not understood I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks about. May I interrogate the gentleman from Berks further?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to the gentleman from Berks that this bill provides in rather general terms against an employer interfering with, dominating or otherwise influencing the membership of employes in labor organizations. It further provides at the end thereof, in the last part of Section five that the employer may if he has done any of the things described in this bill as unfair practices—which are perhaps subject to misunderstanding—the sentence to six months imprisonment in addition to a considerable fine. I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks whether or not in his opinion if the employer sought to interfere with a majority of his employes in joining a Communist Union—whether or not such interference on his part, using his influence against their joining that organization in his own plant might make him subject to six months imprisonment.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will answer that question in the affirmative.

Mr. BERNHARD. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman fom Berks, Mr. Hoopes?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BERNHARD. Mr. Speaker, on page four, section four, paragraph (b) in that part of paragraph (b) pertaining to financial or other support: A lot of corporations have baseball teams, football teams and bands and such things. Would this act prevent a corporation from contributing to the financial support of those different organizations.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I wish to say that the act will not prevent any such contribution. In support of that answer I wish to point out that Section four refers to domination or interference with labor organizations. Labor organizations are defined in Section two of this act, paragraph (e), on page three: "The term 'labor organization' means any organization of any kind or any agency or employe representation committee or plan in which employes participate and which exists for the purpose in whole or in part of dealing with employers concerning grievances labor disputes wages rates of pay or hours of employment." It will not prevent employers from financing baseball teams or other things of that nature, but it will prevent them from dominating labor organizations which deal with the employer on the question of terms and conditions of employment.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, referring to the same question which was asked by the gentleman from Carbon, does the gentleman from Berks mean to say that if there is an organization of employes such we will say, as the employes' association of the Philadelphia Electric Company, and that association is the only organization of employes in the company and that association has a golf course—does the gentleman from Berks mean to say that if the Philadelphia Electric Company made a contribution toward the maintenance of that golf course, they would not be subject to the penalties under this act?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I did not mean to say that at all for the reason that the employes' association of the Philadelphia Electric Company is an association organized for the purpose of preventing the workers of that particular industry from organizing a genuine trade union, and deal with the employer on questions of wages, rates of pay and things of that sort. It will not prevent, however, the employer from financing baseball teams and things of that sort, but it will prevent the organization which operates the baseball teams and which is financed by the employer from dealing with the employer on questions of rates of pay, conditions of employment and things of that sort.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if there are any provisions in this bill which will compel labor unions to take in colored members?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I wish to state that there are no such provisions in this bill.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, do I interpret a portion of this act as meaning that where a company union has been dealing with a company in perfect accord that this bill will outlaw such an agreement?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, absolutely yes. If it is dealing with questions of wages, hours of employment and the things which are outlined in this bill, unquestionably it will outlaw such activities on the part of a fake union organized by the employer.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I am not in accord with Mr. Hoopes in this regard, because I do not believe all of these unions are fake unions. Where a company has been dealing collectively with its employes who are satisfied with the working conditions, this bill is evidently going to outlaw that agreement. I also think it precludes the right of the employe to decide who shall agree as to his working conditions. I believe also that it would set aside the accepted bargaining powers of the American Federation of Labor as such and allow them to join unions that might not be recognized by them.

I, therefore, ask the members to vote against this bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPROUL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware who wrote the rules for the company unions?

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that except that the American Federation of Labor, I presume, did.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the question for the gentleman. The companies wrote the rules for the company unions.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, may I answer the gentleman further by saying that we have a small company in our own town where the workers have written their own agreement, and we have always been in absolute accord. We had nothing to do with writing their agreement, and we have been satisfied. This company is only a small one employing some one hundred and twenty-five men.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, I represent an industrial section of Pittsburgh—the South Side, and I have had a lot of acquaintance with company unions. These company unions were given their rules by the mills. They are jokes, and I am fully in accord with Mr. Hoopes' bill, that the men in those mills should write their own rules and their own regulations, and not be given a mere pamphlet by those mills to live up to. They are jokes. Who are the heads of the company unions but people who are looking for better jobs in those companies.

I certainly hope that his House votes in favor of Mr. Hoopes' bill and gives the workingman of Pennsylvania a real chance to make a union—a union by the men and the men only.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have no quarrel with the question as to whether the working man belongs to an organized labor union under the American Federation of Labor or any other recognized group, nor do I have any quarrel on the question as to whether the workers in any of our mills belong to any union or any other kind of organization that they themselves may voluntarily desire to set up, and which they, in the true American spirit, determine is the best thing for them in their work, and the best in working out the conditions under which they labor.

I believe it is perfectly proper to safeguard for labor all of its opportunities to organize in whatever respects they may desire to do so, but that which tries to compel them to go along on certain lines does not seem to me to be either fair or American in its spirit. But beyond all of that, I am opposed to this measure chiefly for the reason which was developed in the interrogation here that under this bill any employer or any company that contributes to any of the many wonderful organizations which we have in the County of Delaware for the benefit of the employes in that county, those organizations would more than likely go out of business because the employer would be unable to contribute.

We have baseball leagues, we have football leagues, we have basket ball leagues, we have bowling leagues and we have almost every form of athletic organization that you can think of throughout our county, among the employes in our great industries.

The gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Holland, says he comes from an industrial section. You cannot find any greater industrial section than that in which we live along the Delaware River, with its great industries stretching from beyond Philadelphia down to the Delaware line. I, therefore, would feel myself derelict in my duty if I would allow a bill to go through without protest here, that would prevent these men and women in our great plants from enjoying many of the recreations they have at the present time, that are given to them through their organizations of employes, and these organizations are helped by the contributions from their employers. Therefore, I say that this bill should be voted down.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill does not prevent any employer from contributing to any organization such as sports, and so forth, as has been told to you here a little while ago. It is purely a labor measure, and Section 3 of the bill, which gives the right, says: "Employes shall have the right to self-organization to form, join or assist labor organizations to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing and to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection."

Then Section 4 defines what shall be unfair labor practices, as follows: "To interfere with, restrain or coerce employes in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in section three."

In other words, all it prevents is that if a group of workers in any industry wants to organize a labor union for their own protection, for their own welfare, this bill will prevent the employer from interfering with that group of employees from organizing such a labor organization. Where you have a labor organization to-day, where you even have company union where the people are entirely satisfied and do not complain, this bill does not prevent them from continuing, but if a group of the employees of that so-called company union want to organize a labor union for their own protection and get away from the influence of the employer, and the employer then interferes with that organization, then this bill will apply to that employer.

This bill as written, was submitted to one of the best attorneys in the country for his examination, and he said,—and that was Judge Warren of Indiana,—the General Counsel of the United Mine Workers of America,—that the bill is O.K. and will give protection to the people who want to organize themselves into labor organizations for their own social welfare in such communities as they may want to organize, and prevent the employer from interfering in any such organization.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, if he would be willing to amend the bill, page 3, clause "e", by inserting after the words "in which" the words "all employees," and then after the word "employees" the word "may," and then after the word "participate" the words "if they so desire, regardless of race, color or religion?"

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I certainly will have to sub-divide the question. In answer to the last part of it first, I certainly have no objection to the inclusion of any race, color or religion. When it comes to the question of requiring a labor organization to represent all of the employees, thereby placing the employer in the position that so long as he can prevent his secretary or anybody else in the entire establishment from going along with the labor union, from having an organization of their own, I most certainly will not agree to any such amendment.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if it is intended that the employees of an employer may organize a labor union and thus deal collectively with the employer, this bill does not do that. This bill permits a certain group of employees to get together and exclude the employees that they do not care to have in their group. If we are to have collective bargaining, we must have collective bargaining for all employees, whether they be colored or white, whether they be Jewish or Gentile, whether they be anything else, and unless the framers of this bill are willing to concede the principle and amend the bill that every employee shall be taken care of by that union, if he so desires, then the bill is bad and it should be voted down.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the bill be referred to the Committee on Labor for the purpose of amendment along the lines I have indicated.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask the members of the House to vote "no" upon this motion. The bill has been carefully considered; it does take care of the workers; it very definitely carries out the sixth plank of the State platform of the majority party in this House at the last election, which declared for the absolute right of collective bargaining and the unionization of labor.

If I am not mistaken, the minority party in this House is also on record in favor of that principle, and I ask you to vote against the motion, which in my judgment is simply an attempt to muddy the waters. Let us vote it down and then consider the bill on its merits.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, in making his motion for recommittment he stated that he wanted it recommited for the purpose of following out the policy laid down by the gentleman, that it ought to be amended in conformity therewith. In his discussion of those said amendments, which it is the purpose of the motion to recommit to fulfill, he stated something about the exclusion of certain individuals. I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows any labor organization that excludes anybody for race, color or creed.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, yes, plenty of them.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman please name them, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SOWERS. Well now, Mr. Speaker, there is a bricklayers' union which does not let my colored constituents in. Oughtn't they to have the right to be in?

There is another union down there,—I can't just recall its name,—where some of my Jewish constituents are denied admission to that union.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SOWERS and Mr. KANE.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The House will recess shortly until 3:45 o'clock. It is very important that every member should be in his seat at that time, because at 4:00 o'clock we will have on special order four very important bills, and it is, therefore, important, that every member should be in his seat at 3:45 o'clock.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MUIR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MUIR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on Monday night, March 11th, on Senate Bills Nos. 450, 451 and 452 on pages 998 and 999 through a misunderstanding I was recorded as voting "no" and I was so recorded in the Legislative Journal. I would like to correct that to show that I voted "aye" on each one of those bills.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair is about to declare a recess until 3:45 o'clock P. M. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and declares a recess until 3:45 P. M.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The time of recess having expired the House will be in order.

HOUSE BILLS NOS. 1127, 936, 862 and 839 MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House rescind the special order on third reading and final passage of House Bills Nos. 1127, 936, 862, and 839 which was fixed for 4:00 o'clock this afternoon, and that these bills be made a special order on third reading and final passage at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MR. SHREINER

Mr. SHREINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Republican members of the House will have a caucus meeting in the House Caucus Room at 7:00 o'clock tonight and it is the wish that every Republican member attend.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. FITCH. RESOLUTION No. 94.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1935.

Whereas, The price of anthracite coal continues extremely high, and the feeling prevails that such price does not truly reflect only labor costs, freight rates, reasonable profits, and other charges necessarily added to the price when placed on the market, but that somewhere, in the process of producing, shipping and marketing, an unreasonable charge is added; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Speaker be authorized to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives, whose duty it shall be to investigate the price of anthracite coal in order to determine whether unreasonable prices are charged to consumers, and, if so, whether the price of anthracite coal should be regulated and fixed by law as being a commodity affected with a public interest.

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report to the House of Representatives as early as possible.

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

By Mr. DUFFORT. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 95.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1935.

Whereas, The provisions of the Act of June 3, 1837, P. L. 338, clearly show that a constitutional centennial commission was organized in Philadelphia in 1886 for the purpose of providing for a proper celebration of the centennial anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the convention which framed it, which commission was composed of commissioners appointed by the Governor of the several states and territories of the United States; and

Whereas, A celebration which became an outstanding event was held in the City of Philadelphia, September 15, 16 and 17, 1887; and

Whereas, The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the convention occurs on September 17, 1937, and it is fitting and proper that said event should be celebrated in the City of Philadelphia where the instrument, which made a unique contribution to the political science of the world, was written and adopted; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That each state and territory of the United States be invited to arange for the appointment of a delegate to become a member of a Constitutional Sesqui-Centennial Commission, that the name of the delegate so appointed be transmitted to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that said commission meet at such time and place as may be fixed by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of arranging a suitable program for such celebration;

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth be authorized to appoint a delegate for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to serve on said Constitutional Sesqui-Centennial Commission;

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of each state and territory of the United States.

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE HOUSE BILLS NOS. 1127, 936, 862 and 839

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the Special Order of business fixed for this hour.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1127, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by extending the tax imposed by the act to the gross receipts of natural and artificial gas companies and water companies and steam heating companies and to gross receipts of municipally owned or operated public utilities and public utility services previously exempt from the tax and increasing the rate of tax imposed by the act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill pending is a part of a taxation program. It must be considered in relation to that program. Up to this time I have supported the program of which this bill is a part. I find I can no longer do so.

Now, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I could not successfully oppose this bill without attacking the program of which it is a part, and I would not be justified in attacking the program unless I could suggest at least in outline, a better method and a better program.

From the standpoint of the taxpayer in Pennsylvania, the bill before the House is a part of a two year budget totaling one billion four hundred and fourteen million dollars in taxes, and that two year budget is made up of the following items: local taxes, seven hundred million dollars. We are not concerned with the question of local taxation now, but we have to pay the taxes, and the bills and burdens we impose are added to those local taxes of seven hundred million dollars.

Then federal taxes, two hundred and ten million dollars, State taxes and license fees, four hundred ninety-nine million dollars, or a total of one billion four hundred nineteen million dollars. That is seven hundred eight million dollars a year, or it is four per cent on seventeen billion seven hnudred million dollars. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, there isn't that much productive money in Pennsylvania. However, that one hundred five million dollars a year in new money, which it is proposed to raise by means of the program of which the pending bill is a part, is only a portion of the load of the general program to which this legislature is apparently committed in part and I would call your attention to the fact that while we are imposing these new tax burdens which must be paid out of production, which must be paid out of labor, unless we levy a direct appropriation tax upon capital, that to these burdens we are adding compensation costs very considerably; we are adding hours; we are adding costs incident to reduced hours, and we are adding, as a matter of fact, if you will tabulate the bill as a part of the program and some other bills that I favor, we are adding to the seven hundred eight million dollars a year another one hundred seventy-five million dollars.

Now, I oppose the budget and the program based upon that budget because, first of all, I question the figures upon which the administration budget is based. In the next place, in a speech delivered in this House on March 11th, His Excellency, the Governor, said: "Although sixty per cent of the wealth within our Commonwealth is in the form of stocks, bonds and other personal property, ninety per cent of the local taxation is derived from real estate." And the same statement was repeated in an address made in Wilkes-Barre.

All right, sixty per cent of the wealth of the Commonwealth is represented by personal property and forty per cent is represented by real estate. Referring to the figures compiled by the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the value of real estate in Pennsylvania is eleven billion one hundred nine million dollars,—say, eleven billion in round figures. If eleven billion is forty per cent, one hundred per cent is twenty-seven billion five hundred million dollars. That gives real estate eleven billion, and personal property sixteen billion five hundred million.

The original budget calls for a five mills personal property tax, and would raise eighty three million dollars in two years, or forty-one million five hundred thousand dollars a year, divided equally between the state and the counties. That is a five mill levy on eight million three hundred thousand dollars.

What has become of the other eight billion in personal property? If we can estimate it we can locate it, and if we can locate we can tax it. Incidentally, if the Governor and his advisers are right, that sixty per cent of the property, the real wealth, in this State is personal property, then I ask what has become of the portion of it that they are not taxing. To say that the original estimate of sixty per cent of the state's wealth, being in personal property, is in error to the tune of three billion dollars, that would be a lot of money to lose, well worth sharpening your pencil for.

Let us admit for the sake of argument that there is only ten billion dollars worth of personal property in this State, and eight mills, not five and not seven, but eight, on ten billion dollars of personal property would yield eighty million dollars a year; and I wouldn't stop at eight mills,—I would go to ten.

If there is ten billion dollars worth of taxable personal property in this Commonwealth, if there is not that much personal property, then all of the figures back of the budget are in error. Now, I would amend His Excellency, the Governor's budget, where he says one half of five mills, one-half going to the county on intangible properties, forty-one million five hundred thousand dollars, and I would amend it to read eight mills and make the forty-one million eighty million. And if we did that, it would be necessary to readjust the budget all along the line.

What are the arguments in favor of this readjustment of the budget? We have been told, and I believe it, that one of the things wrong in this country is the fact that there is too much spread between those who have and those who have not. The great fortunes of our time are no longer based upon real estate; the great fortunes are based on bonds, mortgages, securities and other evidences of indebtedness. A personal property tax does not take anything out of any man's pocket, if all that he has in his pocket is wages. A personal property tax seeks out wealth where it is to be found in accumulation. A personal property tax is very difficult to shift. A personal property tax is not a tax upon business as a going concern, and that is what most of these other taxes are, taxes upon business enterprises and going concerns, irrespective of whether they are making money or losing money.

Now, as I pointed out, the tax program consists of twenty-one, twenty-two or twenty-three items, depending upon the hour of the day and the day of the week.

The argument advanced in favor the various revenue measures is the same in every instance. Not one of the pending tax proposals is dependent upon its merits as a revenue raising measure. Here is the argument, every time one of these revenue raisers comes before the House: "see that hungry man over there; if you don't pass this bill, he will starve." To make the picture more pathetic, they fill it with babies and old folks.

My answer to that argument is that I would say to the administration, "look here, where are you going with that black top and that concrete?" "Why, we are going to build some new roads." "Well, do you see that hungry man over there and those hungry children, if you use your money to build a lot of new roads, they will starve; they can't eat concrete and black top, you know."

The reply is that you cannot divert state highway funds; that they are sacred. I deny that. In an emergency there are no sacred funds. Now, how about the necessity for quick money? I admit that necessity; I would support a measure imposing five cents tax on gasoline if that didn't meet the law of diminishing returns for a emergency period of three months, and I would agree to four mills for the next three months as an emergency, and I would agree to three mills for the next three months as an emergency, but then, I would ask you, "when do you think this emergency ends?"

The trouble has been, ladies and gentlemen of the House, that there has been no opportunity for the meeting of minds; there has been no chance to suggest the practical aspects of a one year budget, and there has been no forum in which to suggest, if we face an emergency for ready money, that we will obtain that ready money on an emergency basis. Yes, if you had to have money for three months until you can make your turn around, impose three mills, four mills, five mills, and for the next three months, but you cannot continue emergency legislation over a period of two years, and we do not need quick money twelve from now, and you can get your quick money on an emergency basis for three months, three months more and three months more, if it was possible to discuss these measures with anyone around the round table.

Now, my friends we could take eighty million dollars personal property and we could get twenty-five millions of road money, and you could take the taxes we have already imposed and bring the returns of this budget in excess of one hundred forty million dollars, and we could impose an emergency gasoline tax for an emergency period, and if there was ten billion dollars of personal wealth, of personal property that we could locate,—we would not have to find sixteen billion dollars worth,—if we could find ten billion dollars worth, with the program I have outlined, we would be out of the woods with an emergency gasoline tax or an emergency sales tax for an emergency period.

Now, there is another proposition which I advance in all seriousness. Members of this House, as compared with other public servants on the payroll, are each contributing five hundred dollars to the State general fund; as compared with all other people on the State payroll, every member of this House is contributing five hundred dollars, because the salaries of the members of this House were reduced at the last session of the legislature in the hope that other salaries would likewise be reduced.

They say, "We can't reduce salaries." Suppose we didn't appropriate sufficient money and created a continuing liability? The ones who are not paid in full might sue, and the dear old judges might get out injunctions. But, would they? If they tried anything of that sort, we would make the standard reply: "Do you see that hungry man over there? Do you want him to starve?"

Members of the House are we justified in insisting that every person on the payroll make a sacrifice comparable with the one the legislators have made, in the hopes that when they make it others would do likewise?

Of course, there is talk about balancing the budget, but if we are up against it, the credit of the State is good,—let us use it.

Now, you have been very patient, I don't want to take up very much more of your time, but I want to call your attention to this fact that in 1932 out of 23,689 Pennsylvania corporations only 4,456 showed any net income, while 19,143, or eighty-one per cent showed an actual loss. I submit to you, and I submit to the administration, as the sponsor of a scientific program, whether it is possible by any other means excepting a capital levy to impose taxes and collect them from industrial corporations that are operating at a loss, and I would point out to you that apparently the administration is not expecting an increase in business,—its proposed tax,—the returns of its proposed tax on a six per cent basis on the net income of corporations, indicates that the amount of the tax will approximately equal the profit in 1932.

You can not tax non productive capital; you can confiscate it, but you can not tax it.

Now, they say that the tax program is spread lightly; here is a horrid utility. By House Bill No. 837 the taxes of this utility would be increased from four hundred and one thousand dollars to four hundred seventy eight thousand dollars. By House Bill No. 839, the gasoline tax, its taxes would be increased from twenty-one thousand dollars to thirty-five thousand dollars. By House Bill No. 864, the tax on chain stores, its taxes would be increased six thousand dollars. By House Bills Nos. 969 and 970, its taxes would be raised from twenty-one thousand dollars to thirty-four thousand dollars. By House Bills Nos. 841 and 1127 its taxes would be increased from two hundred fifty six thousand dollars to seven hundred four thousand dollars. By House Bill No. 948, its taxes would be increased seven hundred forty-one thousand dollars, or an increase in taxes levied on this one corporation from seven hundred ninety-seven thousand dollars, to two million six hundred four thousand dollars, or an increase of two hundred twenty-six per cent.

Now, if there were time, I could divert from the record of the utilities and take the manufacturing corporations in this State, both the ones that are making money and the ones that are losing money in an effort to keep in operation and to show that these manufacturing corporations under this program, their taxes are likewise increased from thirty to three hundred forty per cent. Now, gentlemen, it doesn't make sense.

There is the opportunity to get quick money on an emergency basis by adding an emergency gasoline tax. There is the opportunity to proceed along the lines of common sense and enact a one year budget, and there is the opportunity, while the emergency gas tax is functioning for a limited period, not to exceed months, to start our personal property tax going and finance your starving people from the accumulation that we have been talking about, and not by means of speculations through these bills that gather the pennies of the poor.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I realize that the House has been patiently listening to the gentleman from Cambria. He has outlined to us, whether we agree with his program or not, we must admit that he has outlined to us a constructive program and constructive comment upon the tax measures and the tax program that is before us, and I believe that the House is indebted to the gentleman from Cambria for the efforts that he has made, because in a problem of as vital importance to the people of Pennsylvania as is this tax program, and in a matter of as vital importance to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as this tax program, I think we should have every bit of light thrown upon it, it is possible to have. I regret that the Ways and Means Committee of this House has not seen fit to give us figures and statistics upon the different tax bills and upon the program, in order that we might have the advantage of the greatest amount of knowledge possible before we are called upon to meet these issues.

On this side of the House, a group of men have been studying these different measures for at least three weeks, and I am cognizant of the fact that while we have given considerable time and effort to the gathering of date upon this subject, that what we have has only skimmed the surface and that we have not attained the knowledge that I believe to be necessary in this instance.

I do not want to delay this House this evening with a long comment upon House Bill 1127, which is the particular measure before us, but I do believe that we should point out some things that bear upon this measure and which I think you should have in your minds before you cast your votes.

This bill increases the gross receipts tax from eight mills to two per cent. It increases this tax, not alone upon the electric and gas companies that paid it before, but it adds also certain water companies, natural gas companies and municipally owned plants in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This is the only business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,—I mean the utilities are the only group in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that are subjected to this eight mill tax at the present time, and, as I said to you, the exemptions under the present law are wiped away by House Bill 1127, and not only are other utilities brought into the picture, but the tax is increased from eight mills to two per cent.

There seems to be a misunderstanding or a misconception in the minds of many people and many members of this House, that the utilities have great bulging pockets, into which we can reach our legislative hands, and that we can deposit in the treasury of Pennsylvania their moneys which they have produced in their business and taken from the public, and which they are either hoarding or wasting or throwing around to the stockholders, and that we can take that out and place it in the treasury.

The person who assumes that is not familiar with the law on that subject. A utility, unlike the average business man, is limited in the amount which it can earn, and when it comes to a consideration of its rates, one of the costs of doing business, or one of those things that enter into the costs are the taxes that are levied, and that is made so, not by the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, but by the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, so that when you levy this tax, when you increase it from eight mills to two per cent, you are not taking that away from the utilities, this corporate thing that you think exists as a wealthy citizen of the State, that you believe you can take it from, but you are in the end taking it out of the rate payer, the average citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Governor of the Commonwealth has said that he is opposed to a sales tax because it socks the poor, but I ask you whether a tax of this kind, which is levied upon the consumers, which in the end must be borne by the consumers of these utilities,—whether that does not sock the poor just the same as any sales tax that you may mention.

Fifty-one per cent of the customers of the utilities in my territory are the domestic consumers, whose bills average about two dollars eighty cents a month. That is not the rich people; that is the average citizen that lives in the district in Delaware County from which I come, and the reason I am opposed to this measure in the first instance is not because it is going to affect the utilities, because it is not in the last analysis going to affect that corporate entity, but I am opposed to it because the rate payers in Delaware County and my constituency, that is fifty-one per cent, who are about ten per cent of the customers of the Philadelphia Electric Company, who serve gas and electricity in Delaware County,—that that fifty-one per cent are going to pay ten per cent of the burden of this increase in taxation that you are now placing upon them.

I have heard members of this House say from time to time during this session, "Let us be for the little fellow; why are you for the big fellow"? You men are short sighted. I am for the men down in my county that I am talking about, the average citizen, that great group of men and women in my county who own their own homes, who come there because they have a place to which they can send their children, a place where they can play. They are not wealthy people; they are the great middle class of people who are after all are the back bone of these United States. So, when you talk about the little fellow, you are not thinking about the little fellow when you put this tax on.

I am also thinking tonight about those thousands of employees in my county, men and women who in the last election went out and worked for me, not because somebody higher up dictated that they should, but because they knew from my record in this House that I had fought their battles and they knew where their interests lay, those are the people who are to suffer in the curtailment of salaries, in the loss of opportunity for increase in salaries, in the chance that there will be a decrease in salaries, those are the men and women that will suffer, many of them, by the loss of jobs, because if this tax is levied no utility can shift the burden quickly; it must try by every device possible to reduce its operating costs and to lay off every employee possible, to cut down every salary possible, in order that they may temporarily until adjustments can be made, meet the burden you are placing upon them. But in the last analysis it is going to fall upon the men and women who are engaged in this industry.

And then last but not least, I would like to point this out to you, when you curtail the income, when you cut down the operating money that these utilties have to spend, they are going to cut down their purchases; they are going to cut down their services; they are going to cut down their expenses. Then, what happens? That goes out into the field of every bit of manufacturing that goes into the costs. The electrical appliance business of utilities in the United States alone has built up a great industry of six hundred million dollars, and every time you sock a tax like this upon them, it has its recurrent effect upon those industries that are giving employment to thousands of men and women in the United States.

So, my friends, I say to you here tonight, do not be blinded by that thing you see before you, that I know many of you hate, the utilities. Do not think you are going to sock the big fellow by taking it out of him. You are not going to take it out of him; this is going to be an increase of one hundred fifty per cent in the tax on these people. This whole tax program has fallen upon the electrical and gas industries of this State, an increase of two hundred forty-one per cent on these industries. You are piling it on an industry that has been able to keep employed employees and to keep paying them wages. It has been the back bone of industry throughout the United States in these years of depression. Now, you are going to trample upon it and take away perhaps the jobs of not only people engaged in the industry in this state but throughout the United States.

So, I say to you, ladies and gentlemen, earnestly, think long before you vote aye on this bill. I urge you to vote no.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill before the House is House Bill 1127, which is a part of a program designed to raise eleven million five hundred thousand dollars during the next biennium.

This is a bill that increases from eight mills to two per cent the tax on gross receipts of all public utilities. Last week we witnessed a demonstration of public utilities employees protesting the increase of gross receipts tax from eight mills to two per cent and the inclusion of natural and artificial gas, water and steam heating companies under the gross receipts act.

I wonder how many of the protestants really considered the effect of this increase of the gross receipts tax to two per cent. According to the statistics compiled by the Department of Internal Affairs for the year 1931, the sales for electric light to residential consumers amounted to $58,134,776.00. The number of residential consumers was 1,715,216. On this basis the annual average current bill of these consumers was $33.89. A tax of two per cent on this would amount to sixty-eight cents per year.

Using the 1931 figures, the two per cent gross receipts tax would mean that electric light, power and steam heating companies would be required to pay per year $3,886,100. Electric light, heat and power companies in 1931 had a total capital investment of $1,017,942,926. All of this property is exempt from local taxation. Assuming that the assessed value for local tax purposes would be but one-half of this figure, or $508,971,463.00, and applying an average total local tax rate of three cents per dollar would produce the sum of $15,269,143.00. But these utilities do not pay local taxes. Therefore, they are escaping taxes for local purposes of at least $15,269,143.00. Yet they object to the increased gross receipts tax, the total of which for one year, based on the 1931 figures, would amount to only $3,886,198.00.

I ask you, is it fair for them to render such objection? Shall we permit them to continue this tax favoritism? Why not make them share the just burden of taxation? They cry, "Give us a sales tax," and why? Because electricity, water and natural and artificial gas have been considered by the taxing authorities to be a service and, therefore, exempt from the sales tax. Of course, they advocate the sales tax, when they do not need to pay it.

Who controls the common stock of such companies like the Duquesne Light, Pennsylvania Power and Light, Penn Central Power and Light, Metropolitan Edison, West Penn Power, Erie County Lighting and other large utility companies in this State? Poor's Manual says they are large utility holding companies with their principal offices in New York or Chicago. Of course, these large holding companies are anxious to have the subsidiaries in Pennsylvania avoid all taxes possible. Any increase in Pennsylvania taxes might mean a reduction in the dividends paid to the holding companies outside of this state. These holding companies must have dividends in order to pay interest on their bonded indebtedness, as well as dividends on their stocks so they pass the word along to the employes of the subsidiaries in Pennsylvania that any increase in taxation in Pennsylvania will mean a reduction in working hours, as well as a reduction in pay. Therefore, protest taxes levied in Pennsylvania.

How long will the citizens of this great Commonwealth permit the utilities to evade their just burden of taxation.

Let me call your attention to the fact that utility is permitted to serve a given territory without any competition and to fix rates which will produce a fair return on the capital invested. Therefore, in the name of fairness and for the sake of proper equalization of the tax burden, I ask each one of you to support this bill, levying the two per cent tax on gross receipts of public utility companies.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am in favor of the two per cent gross receipts tax upon privately owned public utilities. I could agree to practically everything which has just been said by the gentleman from Greene, in favor of that part of this bill which we have before us, but there is a feature of this bill which has not been discussed at all so far. It was mentioned by one of the speakers; it was a feature which the sponsors of the bill seemed to very carefully avoid, and I could understand why they should.

I refer to the repeal of the exemption on publicly owned, municipally owned utilities. We have never before in the history of Pennsylvania taxed municipally owned public utilities, and I am informed that only one state out of the forty eight in the Union levies taxes upon municipally owned utilities.

The Federal government levies no taxes on such utilities, and yet this administration, which claims that they do not want to sock the poor, come in here with a bill, part of which levies a tax upon utilities which are privately owned and which can afford to pay more taxes than they have ever had to pay in this State, but the other part of which levies taxes upon your municipally owned water works and electric plants.

You say you want to save the local taxpayer. How are you going to save him by putting a tax right directly on his own municipal plant that can only be paid by the rate that he pays and which is operated not for profit, which has no margin of profit, but is operated for the purpose of serving the people in the community. That tax can not do anything else but go right back on the consumer of water and electric current in those communities where we have municipally owned utilities. You are taking the money out of one pocket and putting it over into another. There can be no justification for such a tax.

Your private utilities today yield from five to six per cent, I am informed, whereas your municipal bonds are yielding only three per cent. You have no margin for taxes; you have to take it out of the consumer. The only source from which it can come, whereas your tax on your privately owned utilities, if the Public Service Commission does its duty, can be shifted to the investor.

There are two hundred municipal water plants in Pennsylvania and thirty-five municipal electric plants. The plant in the city from which I come, Reading, is worth well over one hundred million dollars, and its gross receipts run,—I don't know what the figures are,—but I do know that this two per cent gross receipts tax is going to lay a heavy burden upon the water consumers of Reading, and that municipal plant of Reading is serving its consumers today at an average rate of about twelve dollars per year per residence, whereas the privately owned water companies right outside of the city limits are charging from thirty to forty dolars for poorer service. Yet, you are going to tax that municipal plant in the name of raising money for the poor.

Let us for a moment consider the history of this eight mill tax which we have had upon utilities in Pennsylvania, which this measure proposes to increase to twenty mills. It was levied, I believe, originally in 1889. It was levied by the State because they felt that the community in which an electric plant or water plant was located should not collect the taxes upon the real estate, because it would affect not only the people in the community from which it was taken, but it would affect the entire community which the utility served. They felt that it would be more equitable to levy a state wide eight mill tax and at that time the eight mill tax was approximately the same as that levied on real estate. Since that time the tax on real estate has gone up four or five times and the taxes on utilities has remained the same.

There is plenty of justification for increasing the taxes on your privately owned utilities, but where do you get your justification for increasing the taxes on the public owned utilities? The consumers are liable for all of the outstanding indebtedness of your public utilities. They are not liable for the indebtedness of your privately owned utilities, but you are going right back, taxing them, if you put this measure through in its present form. You are going to sock the very people you are talking so much about relieving; the consumer is going to pay it. We don't want to do that.

I am in favor of that part of this bill which puts the tax on the investor in the privately owned utility, but I am not in favor of shifting it to the municipally owned utility. You say, "What is the difference?" I can probably answer that best by referring to a decision of the United States Supreme Court which was handed down one year ago today on a measure dealing with a tax by the City of Seattle upon privately owned electric plants. The City of Seattle also operates a publicly owned plant, and they levied a three per cent tax on the privately owned plant. The private plant took the case into the courts and said that it was unfair taxation and unfair competition because no tax was levied on the municipal plant and that, therefore, it violated the equal protection, due process, and contract impairment clauses of the Federal constitution.

Justice Stone of the Supreme Court of the United States, in writing the majority opinion, said: "It is enough for present purposes that the equal protection clause does not forbid discrimination with respect to things that are different.

"The private corporation, whatever its public duties, carries its business for private profit and is subject to the obligation common to all to contribute to the expense of government by paying taxes.

"The municipality, which is enabled to function only because it is a tax-gatherer, may acquire property or conduct a business in the interest of the public welfare, and its gains, if any, must be used for public ends.

"Hence equal protection does not require a city to abstain from taxing the business of a corporation organized for profit merely because in the public interest the municipality has acquired like property or conducts a like business."

There is no reason why we should extend this tax to a public utility. If the bill were amended, as it should have been, by taking out this exemption, by which privately owned municipal plants alone pay taxes, not only in this Commonwealth but in other commonwealths throughout the United States, because I am informed, as I said a moment ago, only one other state taxes municipal plants, and it gives back more than it takes.

So, we are setting up a new method of taxation, a method that I do not think the members of this House are prepared to sponsor. If the bill were amended by taking out your municipal plants, I would not only vote for it and support it, but in the form in which it now stands, I am compelled to vote against it.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the objections of Mr. Hoopes to the inclusion of the publicly owned utilities is for the reason that the consumer ultimately will have to pay the tax; is that correct?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, the figures given by the gentleman as an example of the amount paid by the water company is twelve dollars per year. Is it not a fact that this tax if paid by the consumer would amount to two cents per month?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, that is correct, as to that particular item.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Is it not a fact, Mr. Speaker, that as to electric light bills and so forth, under the figures as given, that the tax would amount to eight cents or less per month?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I am not aware of the figures, so, I can not answer the gentleman.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks if he has heard the figures given of sixty-eight cents per year.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of fact, I could not understand a lot of the figures that were given, but if they are the figures, and I assume they are, I presume your computation is correct.

Mr. Van SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, those are the figures as given, and if they are correct, it would mean that the ordinary home owner would pay a total sum of only eight cents per month. Is not that correct?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I have not made the computation. I am willing to accept the gentleman's computation on that basis.

Mr. SIMON. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Furman, Tumelty, Pfaff, Pearson, Stank, Harmuth, Caputo, Melchiorre, Nagel, Shaw, O'Keefe, Shugarts, Frank P. Hamilton, Decker, Brownfield, Murrin, Brumbaugh, Alexander, Zappala, Kilroy, Holland, Tronzo, Hartman, Hindman, Hirsch and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" apeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, eighty-five members having voted in the affirmative and seventy-six in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker, I vote "aye" and want to file my reasons.

I am voting for House Bill No. 1127 for the reason that this administration claims that this money must be raised to feed the needy of this State. However, I do expect that this administration will remove those from office that are now spending this money for political purposes, especially such cases as we have in Cambria County when ninety-nine per cent of all the people working in and for the Emergency Relief are registered Republican and serving those that are registered Republican much different than those that are registered otherwise.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" and file my reasons therefor.

I believe this bill No. 1127 should be amended to at least terminate the two per cent tax on municipal owned or operated public utilities at the end of this bienium. I am not offering this amendment this evening for the reason that I am confident it will be favorably considered in the Senate and I am having an amendment drafted for that purpose and I am voting "aye" only because I am confident this amendment will be favorably considered in the Senate.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to vote "aye" and ask leave to file my reasons.

As a general proposition I am opposed to increase the burden of taxation upon the citizens of Pennsylvania, and I have voted against those measures which I considered most burdensome. But the fact remains that there are thousands of our citizens in this Commonwealth, who are without employment, who are without any means of furnishing food for themselves and their families. Now, those unfortunate of our people must be provided with food, and they and their families must be saved from starvation.

That is a paramount duty which cannot be and should not be shunned. Revenue must be in some manner raised to meet the cost of unemployment relief. I cannot turn a deaf ear to starving humanity. I consider this tax the least objectionable and for that reason I am voting for this bill.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 936, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon the privilege to attend or engage in amusements, including every form of entertainment, diversion, sport, recreation and pastime; requiring persons, partnerships, associations, or corporations conducting places of amusement to secure permits; imposing duties and conferring powers upon the Department of Revenue; prescribing the method and manner of collecting the tax and its payment into the State Treasury; permitting refunds of the tax in certain instances and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is another one of the bills that have been introduced for the purpose of raising revenue. That is the sole and primary reason for this bill, known as House Bill No. 936, Printer's No. 262.

Members of the House, I believe it would be proper for me at this time to explain briefly the provisions of this bill. The first two sections of the bill contain definitions of phrases and clauses that are in the bill, which make it such that it is not subject to misinterpretation. It defines what an amusement is; it defines what a producer is; it defines what an established price is, and several other matters which are not quite as important as the ones I have just mentioned.

Now, the bill requires that every producer who intends to put on any amusement at which a price of admission is to be charged, shall first obtain from the Department of Revenue a permit. The fee charged for this permit is very nominal in price, it is one dollar and is good until the end of this year, and must be renewed annually for the price of one dollar.

That permit must be obtained by every producer, whether he be producing a permanent amusement, a temporary amusement or an itinerant amusement. The tax, ladies and gentlemen of the House, is one cent for each ten cents of admission charged; in other words, ten per cent, and it is estimated that it will produce for the biennium six million dollars.

The bill is drafted largely on the principles of the Federal Amusement Tax Bill, and at the present time I may state for the information of the members that there are twenty other states in the Union which have an amusement tax.

Now, my friends, of course, it is not pleasant for us to impose taxes upon the people, but, as the saying goes, taxes are inevitable, the same as death, but of all forms of taxation I believe that the taxation which is placed upon amusements is the least objectionable tax; it is a tax on those who have money to pay for pleasure, and for that reason I do not believe there is any valid objection whatsoever to this tax.

As the sponsor of this bill, or the person who introduced it, I can state that from the time this bill was introduced up to tonight I did not receive from any of my constituents one single protest in writing against the enactment of this measure, and I assume, therefore, that as far as my constituents are concerned, there is no opposition whatsoever to the payment of one cent out of every ten cents paid for admission to amusements.

In addition to that, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I do not think that the theatre owners or producers of amusements are opposed to this tax. I spoke to the owner of one of the large chain theatre companies in Pennsylvania and he told me that at a meeting of producers the question of this tax was taken up, and they decided there at that meeting that they, this number of producers, who had organized, would not oppose the imposition of this tax, and would go along, realizing the necessity of the State, and I believe, ladies and gentlemen of the House, that the people will gladly pay this ten per cent tax because they know in what dire financial straits the state government is.

They realize the purpose for which this money will be used, and so I believe, ladies and gentlemen of the House, if we vote for this amusement tax, it will receive the approbation of all of the people of the Commonwealth.

I, therefore, ask you, ladies and gentlemen, to give this measure your support.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, unlike the gentleman who has just spoken on this measure, I have received objections to it from my constituents, and I think some very valid objections. This bill is primarily a nuisance tax. It is a nuisance tax of the worst type. We say that we need money for the unemployed, and we probably do, but I want to call your attention along that line, first, to the fact that the tax money of this bill goes into the general fund, which is to run this State government and to pay the officials of this State, as well as to feed the unemployed. Let us keep that in mind when we are considering these measures.

I had a very interesting experience last week; I went to the movies. It was a theatre that I hadn't been in for a long time. I had known for quite a while that this theatre closed during the Summer, and at times during the Winter was not open. I thought that the manager didn't know his business or had some strange reason for doing that.

I went in to see what I considered a very good show in the middle of the evening, and I do not believe that that theatre, seating a thousand people, contained more than fifty people.

I am wondering, members of the House, whether there are not a number of theatres like that throughout this State, who when you impose an additional tax of ten per cent will close their doors and throw people out of work and increase your unemployment rather than help your unemployed.

I am not particularly interested in the managers or the theatre owners of this state further than I am interested in all of the industries of this state.

I call your attention to another fact in this bill, and that is the provision relative to the entertainment in the restaurants and cabarets and places of that sort. There is a provision in this bill that if you go in and buy a sandwich for twenty cents, let us say, in a place where they have a floor show, twenty per cent of that twenty cents is to go towards the amusement, and there is a tax of one cent on that, which would have to be paid, and which under this bill would have to be charged to the person who makes the purchase. Maybe, that is not so very important, although I think it will have a tendency in a lot of the smaller places to do away with the entertainment, and so throw more people out of work.

There is another matter in connection with this bill that I think is very important, and is a matter in which I am extremely interested, and that is the question of our colleges and our schools and our churches, and I think they are given an unjust burden in this tax bill. There is no exception to any high school entertainment of any sort; there is no exception to any sort, and I submit, members of the House, there is no exception to any Sunday School or church or any other charitable or religious organization, and, members of the House, I want to submit another point, that this bill covers not only charged admissions; it covers contributions and donations, and it goes further and makes charges on those who attend on passes. Maybe, that is not so bad; maybe the newspaper men and those other few fortunates can afford to pay a little tax when they are admitted to the entertainment free. But I submit, members of the House, there is an important element to be taken into consideration relative to our schools and relative to our colleges.

Let me give you a few examples of the way in which this tax would operate should it become the law of this Commonwealth.

In the first place, I know that a number of colleges permit high school students to go to their football games free of charge. We are putting a tax on those. I know that in my own community the high school, in order to raise funds to carry on their athletic program, goes around among the business men and ask them to buy a booster ticket for which they charge five dollars.

I have always considered it a very fine thing to donate five dollars for that purpose, and so have most of the other business men of my community, but now, the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Commonwealth come along and say, "Oh, yes, but for that privilege, you are to pay fifty cents to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

There are no exceptions in this to any school organization, to any church organization, to any college organization. Let us consider the churches. I say to you, members of this House, under this bill, if a Sunday school has an entertainment and they take up a collection, they have got to pay a tax.

Is that the kind of legislation that we want to go back to our constituents and say, "That is the thing we did when we were down in Harrisburg?" Are you willing to go back to your Sunday school superintendent, your preacher, your charitable institutions and say to them, "If you hold an entertainment in your Sunday school auditorium and you do not have a sign that you have a permit from the state tacked up on your wall for which you paid a dollar and if you do not file a report, you are going to be subject to a fine and six months imprisonment." That is what this bill does.

I submit, members of the House of Representatives, that you should give this bill your honest consideration. Consider it; consider all that it does; not just a few of the things, but consider all that it does and I say to you, members of this House, that you should not pass this legislation.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have a very heavy cold, therefore you may rest assured that I am not going to take up very much of your time. I have listened here not only this evening but all the rest of the session to people getting up and saying don't tax the poor, don't tax corporations, don't tax utilities, don't tax the churches, don't tax the schools. Who the hell are we going to tax if we must raise the tax, if we are going to raise the money? We have got to have money to carry on the government and unless we tax somebody, someone is going to starve and I say it is time that we take notice of what is going on here. There is opposition to every tax measure presented. There is always some good argument why we should not tax corporation, why we should not tax the utility, why we should not tax the consumer, why we should not tax the trucks and the gasoline and everything else.

I would like to know whether we are to sit by here and because of all this opposition, because of all these protests we should sit idly by and let the people of Pennsylvania starve? I think it is time to take notice of the fact that we must have money, that we must tax something, that we must tax somebody in order to raise this money and someone is going to be hurt. No tax is going to be consumed by someone without hurting that someone. We must tax someone and it is time to take notice of that fact, ladies and gentlemen of the house, and quit quibbling about the Sunday schools and the movies and the children and the schools.

If we go to an amusement place and we are willing to pay fifty cents admission we should be willing to pay fifty-five cents so that five cents of that fifty-five can go to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to feed the hungry. If we buy ten gallons of gas then we should be willing to pay two cents a gallon so that people should not starve and so on down along the line. I ask the members of the House to vote for these tax measures, all the tax measures because they are necessary; because we can not get away from taxation, because we must feed the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, and ladies and gentlemen of the House, the previous speaker said if we do not tax somebody people are going to starve. I say let us not tax the starving people. Let us change that. Let us tax the people that are best able to carry it. The promoter of this bill said that he had not had any protests against this bill. I would like him to refer to one of the leading Democratic papers of the state of Pennsylvania, read the editorial of last Sunday morning dated Sunday March seventeenth nineteen thirty-five. I would like to quote from this leading Democratic newspaper of the state, the paper that was responsible for a lot of the Democratic sentiment that was promogulated in the last Democratic campaign, and is, I take it, the spokesman for the Democratic party.

"Although we're in agreement with the Governor on his general tax program of taxing in accordance with ability to pay, we feel that he departed from this principle in the theatre tax. The bill before the Legislature embodying this tax provides that a ten per cent tax be imposed on all theater admissions; that is to say, that the small neighborhood moving picture houses that furnish amusement, and many times the only amusement, for the extremely poor, will bear the same expense of the tax burden as the large chain theaters that are frequentd by those better able to pay.

"This tax would impose on all alike on the assumption that all sorts of theatrical or moving-picture entertainment is a luxury and that all that frequent these places of amusement are amply able to pay this increase.

"This we deny. We do not believe that a small neighborhood theater, with admission prices of 25 cents and less, that caters to the poor of the community, can in any sense be termed a 'luxury.' It is just as necessary for these poor people to have some inexpensive form of entertainment as it is to have playgrounds and other recreational outlets provided by the city. Certainly none in these times can take the position that the poor should only eat and sleep, and that anything beyond these limitations are luxuries. Unless this narrow view is taken, the cheap form of amusement that is provided by low-price moving picture houses must be considered in the same category as those necessities that are exempted under the tax plan because it would inflict an intolerable burden on the poor.

"It is important to note that most of the chain theaters are foreign corporations whose capital comes from other States and whose profit will go there. This is true of the Warner Company, a New York corporation, that operates hundreds of theaters in Pennsylvania.

"While the small neighborhood theater is always a local product whose profits and losses fall upon the community that it seeks to benefit.

"We admit that our intense interest in this question is due to the fact that we represent the poor of this State who attend motion pictures—the neighborhood theater where the admission charge is 25 cents and less.

"We know that a large number of these people cannot stand an increase of 3 cents added to the admission price. We know that amusement is as necessary to our pleasure-loving people as eating and sleeping, if their souls are not to be soured by the taunts and rebuffs that are their daily lot."

Mr. Speaker, I submit that if this outstanding paper, which championed the cause of the people, if we are willing to take it as a criterion, if they have any knowledge of taxation, we ought to take them literally in everything that they say, and they tell us now that this is taxing the people that are farthest down hill. We remember on the day of inauguration that the President vouchsafed to us that he was not going to permit the people who earned small incomes to carry this tax burden, that he was going to put it on those who were able to carry it, and yet everything that has come before us so far continues until it gets to the consumer and he will be the one that will have to pay.

And then the sponsor of this bill said further that he did not have protests from his district. I have here a letter from Altoona, Pennsylvania, from the superintendent of schools, School Department, which says, "House Bill No. 936 to be known as Amusement Tax Act should be modified so as not to include entertainments or athletic affairs connected with secondary or elementary schools.

The money raised in such entertainments is always used for welfare projects connected with the schools and it is nonsensical for the state at one moment to make appropriation to the schools and at the other to be taking something from them."

We also have that type of protest from the University of Pennsylvania and from all these schools in outlying districts.

We should take into consideration that amusement is a part of the human economic life today and we ought to consider that long before we put this tax on. The people who are out of employment, the poor people must have somewhere to spend their idle hours and if we are going to tax these small community movie houses out of existence, where in the name of God are they going to spend their time. The police department will be busy running them off the street corners. Communism will spread havoc all over the state of Pennsylvania. I say to you people, I say to the Democrats and the Republican alike we should study these things long, we should look into them and amend them where the people have given us good reasons to amend them. A tax program should be to constructive and not a destructive program.

I ask you to vote no on this bill.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to correct what I think would be a wrong impression given to the members of this House by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside. I believe he is in error in his statements in so far as two provisions of the bill are concerned. I think he made an honest error, however. I think he stated that the Sunday school people, if they made a donation in a Sunday school class would be taxed. That is not so. If that is the impression that Mr. Woodside intended to give I just want to state that on page seven of this bill under paragraph (b) it states that only in those places where an admission price is charged is this tax imposed, so that donations and voluntary contributions are not taxed unless they can be classed under the head of an established admission price.

There is one other thing,—I may be wrong in hearing Mr. Woodside,—but I think he stated that if you bought a sandwich that you would have to pay twenty cents tax on that sandwich. I do not believe that statement is correct. On page three of the bill, it refers to that provision. The tax is only proposed on that part of the price of merchandise which is added on because of the amusements or because of the music or the entertainment that is given.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I won't detain you long. We apparently are succeeding in taxing the poor man's gas and his electric and water rents and so on, and now we have reached the point where we are going to tax his laugh. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is no laughing bill, this is a taxing bill, and the principle involved in this bill is not in harmony with the principle as announced by His Excellency, the Governor of this Commonwealth. I am surprised that my Democratic friends do not sincerely follow him. This is a tax on the man that can least afford it, and a tax exempting he man that can best pay it. You are taxing the man that goes to the movies and you are failing to tax the producer of the movie film. You are still permitting Hollywood to have its thousands and thousands of dollars a year in salaries, and not trying to reach them, and yet you seem willing to exempt Hollywood and tax the little voter at home.

Don't think this idea is novel because many men in your own midst have brought forth the idea of taxing Hollywood and raising money for our Commonwealth, and I do not understand why the Democratic Ways and Means Committee has not recommended to this House the passage of Mr. Cohen's bill, Bill No. 825, which raises money by putting the tax on the film made in Hollywood and does not raise the money by putting the tax on the little school child that goes to the movies and parts with fifteen cents. I suggest to you that when you go into your caucus again you listen to Mr. Cohen of York. He is on the right track. I ask you to vote no on this bill.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for a couple of minutes I would like to bring just one point before this membership that has not yet been brought out. For years none of us remember back far enough that you may recall the property owners of the State of Pennsylvania have been paying taxes to maintain our schools, and repeatedly they have pleaded for a reduction in taxation on real estate and on property. Show me where that has any relationship to our schools in Pennsylvania. Why should that property carry all that burden. Now, when we come to assess a tax upon those people who can afford to go to the movies and ask them to bear a part of the burden of this state, they are up in arms. they are objecting. and they are claiming that it is not right. Our schools have the least right of all to object to those taxes. If the money that the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has put into the schools and colleges of this Commonwealth were now available, we would not have need for these additional taxes. Yet, these very people we have been helping to continue and to carry on and to build for future Americans are now objecting to this little bit of a tax on these amusements. We of the richer class, and I do not include myself in that class,—you, I will say, when you wish to go to the higher priced amusements, you have a right to pay that burden of the ten per cent tax. Let us be reasonable in this matter. If we cannot afford to go to the movies, we will stay home and avoid paying this tax, and we will thus put the tax upon those who can best afford to pay it. Let us have a vote of "aye" on this measure. Let us put it through.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BERNHARD. Mr. Speaker, I have filed a letter with the Clerk and ask that it be made a part of these proceedings, as part of my reasons for voting against this measure.

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF SUMMIT HILL
Carbon County, Pennsylvania

Summit Hill, Pa., March 14, 1935.

Honorable Thomas Kennedy
Honorable Charles Staudemeier
Honorable Harvey Hoffman
Honorable Frank Bernhardt
Mr. Jack Breslin

Gentlemen:

House Bill Number 936 proposes a ten per cent tax on athletic contests throughout the State of Pennsylvania. Would it be possible to amend this bill to exclude educational institutions for the following reasons:

1. High School athletics in 90% of the High Schools are run at a deficit. A further tax will add to the smaller High Schools' burden.

2. High Schools that profit by athletics use such profits for purchase of needed material and for sponsoring athletic programs where no admission is charged.

3. A curtailing of the athletic program will hamper physical education programs and hence impair health work.

4. Collecting tax on school activities will mean additional revenues from overworked school tax budgets. This means larger allocation of state funds to school districts, greater state taxes, and so on in an endless cycle.

The school men of your State and particularly your District are anxious that you use your weighty influence to have educational institutions running athletics on a non-profit basis exempt from this tax. The National Government exempts the school, why not the State.

With kindest personal regards and deepest sympathy for you in your many intricate tax problems, I beg to remain,

Very respectfully yours,
E. V. McCullian, Vice Pres.
State Athletic Association

Mr. LONGAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" and ask permission to file the following reason:

I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on House Bill No. 936 for the following reasons:

This Bill providing for a ten per cent tax on admissions to exhibitions of entertainment, diversion, sport, recreation and pastime makes no provision for an exemption for athletic contests and extra-curriculum activties held under the auspices of our educational institutions. As a former member of college athletic teams I feel that this tax places an unfair burden on the ability of these educational institutions to provide a proper program of physical recreation and education for the students attending those institutions.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 862, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of tobacco by dealers, as herein defined; requiring persons engaged in the sale of tobacco at wholesale and retail to secure permits; prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons, as herein defined, engaged in the sale of tobacco at retail, or wholesale; and providing penalties.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I am going to ask your indulgence while I try to present some constructive criticism on this measure that is now before you.

I am opposed to the levying of this tax, first, because it has proven a failure in other states where it has been tried. While this has been a very fertile field for federal taxes, it is quite a different question as to a state tax. The reason for the federal government having been so successful is that they can levy the tax at the factory with mechanical devises and machinery that works very rapidly, thereby they collect one hundred per cent of the taxes with very little expense to the government; whereas in the state this tax must be levied upon 77,000 different outlets, and it becomes a very expensive procedure. Further in the state, interstate commerce does not permit that the article shall be tax until it rests wihin the borders of the state. Pennsylvania is surrounded by states that don't have a cigar tax, and cigars will pay eighty-six per cent of the tax if this tax goes into effect. Without a question of doubt five cent cigars will be smuggled and bootlegged into our state, and can be at a ten per cent profit. Mail orders can be resorted to.

My friends I want to call your attention to the success of this tax in states where it has been tried. There are thirteen states in number, namely, Iowa, Kansas, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Dakota, Tennessee and Louisana. The total estimate in these thirteen states was $33,454,000. The total amount of revenue actually collected was $18,425,278, a difference of $15,028,722—just a little bit better than one-third.

If we can rely upon the law of averages, that means that our eleven million dollar estimate will dwindle to something like four million dollars. Consider the contribution that is added to the state by these 77,000 merchants and sellers of tobacco, and the employment they give; consider the fact that there are 6,000 farms in Pennsylvania, who raise tobacco and who give employment to 12,000 people, including themselves. Give consideration to all the employment that is given by factories and mills throughout the state. I wonder if it is a wise thing to levy a tax that will jeopardize all this benefit that is being derived by the state?

I feel that it is unjust for another reason and that is because tobacco carries its share of taxes. For every pound of tobacco used in the making of cigarettes, for which the farmer receives from twenty-five to thirty-five cents a pound there is now one dollar collected in taxes. For smoking and chewing tobacco for which the farmer receives from eighteen to twenty eight cents a pound the government collects eighteen cents in taxes. A cigarette smoker who smokes one pack of cigarettes a day pays to the government $21.90 a year.

That this is a very unpopular tax is further testified to by the states wherein referendums have been taken. In Michigan a referendum was taken on the tobacco tax. There were 452,375 who voted against the tax, as compared with 198,515 who voted for it—a ratio of two to one against it. In Oregon 123,208 voted against the tax and 62,254 voted for it—a ratio of two to one against it. In Oklahoma 120,863 voted against the tax while 81,981 voted for it—a ratio of one and a half to one against the tax. In New Mexico 53,668 voted against the tax, while only 9,655 voted for it—a ratio of six to one. I say that I feel that tobacco has paid its fair proportion of the tax when in the last fiscal year it has amounted to four hundred and twenty-five million dollars.

What shall we say about the dealers and the farmers? Our dealers will be put on a competitive basis with bootleggers and the mail order business, which is tax free. The proposed tax will bring five cent cigars to six cents, in reality a twenty per cent tax. Figures prove that eighty-five per cent of the smokers will not pay more than five cents for a cigar. Today Manila cigars are being sold in Pennsylvania at from three to four dollars per thousand cheaper than cigars can be sold by Pennsylvania manufacturers. If this tax goes into effect it means another advantage will be given to this foreign business that pays no tax in Pennsylvania. Is it fair for Pennsylvania to tax one of its leading industries, thereby inviting other states to tax as well the Pennsylvania cigars in their states? Pennsylvania being one of America's largest cigar producers would feel the effect of a cigar tax in any state.

Then we come to the users of tobacco. What shall we do about them? Is it fair to them if a sales tax was allowed? It would not be fair to the person of small means. Who are the tobacco users? The majority, I dare say, are not rich. We can not say that tobacco is a luxury after it has once developed into a habit. It is many a poor man's solace in times when the troubles of life bear heavily upon him. The worried business man often quiets his shattered nerves by resorting to a smoke. Thirty five million out of eighty million in the United States over the age of eighteen years use tobacco and ninety per cent of the users have incomes below the minimum for which the Federal government levies an income tax.

Every member before voting on this measure should ask himself three important questions. First, will this tax sock the poor? Second, will it be evaded? Third, will this tax injure the business of the State to the extent that it will offset the benefits to the States from the expected additions to revenues?

My friends, I am willing to concede that Pennsylvania like all other states is passing through a serious crisis today and that her recovery will depend to a large extent upon the foresight, the wisdom and the good judgment of those who are responsible for administering to her needs. I have often heard the Ship of State referred to by men as floundering in troubled waters. I do not want to say this with the sense of becoming eloquent, but I want to sincerely say that I believe that that is the situation today, and I want to say that those responsible for directing her course will also be responsible for bringing her into safe dockage.

As an American born in Pennsylvania and proud of the fact, I admire the Democrats and the leaders of the party for the great courage and the great enthusiasm with which they accepted this great responsibility. I feel that it devolves upon me as a citizen of Pennsylvania to assist them when opportunity presents itself, but by the same token, my friends, I feel that it becomes my duty to raise my voice in protest when I see clearly that they are following the wrong course.

My reason for protest is that tobacco has always been a faithful and a constructive taxpayer in the Federal government. There is such a thing as justice in taxation, but if it means anything, my friends, it means that the tax shall be a levy put on by the State for service that it has rendered, and when it exceeds that amount I think it becomes an excessive tax.

With this thought in mind shall we say that there is wisdom in jeopardizing the contribution that is made by tobacco to this government and the Federal government of the United States? Shall we say that it is wisdom in jeopardizing the benefits that are derived in the State by those who work for it and who raise it? Six thousand farmers are able through the raising of tobacco to pay real estate taxes. Seventy seven thousand merchants who deal in it pay mercantile taxes, and thousands of others who work in the industry support themselves, keep themselves out of the unemployment list, and thereby save the state what might be necessary to give them relief.

I feel that in order to get the proper slant on this thing it is necessary that we draw a mental picture of just what has happened during the last twenty-five years. If you will go back with me that far you will recall that politicians and statesmen permitted men to grow wealthy by promoting war and destruction. That continued until there was a world conflagration, and due to that world conflagration a false prosperity was introduced into this country. Wages were inflated, profits were abnormal and men were tempted to gamble, and when in 1929 it had reached its peak this money that had been gambled had been diverted from its natural course and had disturbed our financial conditions to such an extent by going out of circulation that we were blessed with the depression that we are now struggling to get ourselves out of.

I remember reading one time a little bit of the philosophy of Ralph Waldo Emerson. He was one who believed that everything balanced in time. He felt that every night had its day; and every sweet had its bitter, and every error had its retribution, and that is so in this case, and for that reason I think that we should look to other places to pay this tax.

One of the greatest teachers in civilization has said "Give to Caesar that which is Caesar's" and that is exactly the position that I take with reference to the existence of the depression. Let those pay for it that are most responsible for it. Some of the people seem to have the impression that legislators' only work is to come down here and find new articles to tax. I believe it is our work to keep the tax at a minimum, and in reference to this particular tax I want to quote the statement of one of America's leading Democrats on the tobacco tax, Governor Ritchie of Maryland. He said, "The more I studied this form of taxation the more convinced I became that it is unfair and discriminatory, and the more unwilling I became to favor taxes which I felt would be injurious to the tobacco industry of Southern Maryland and to those engaged in selling tobacco products, as well as to the soft drink industry, which is the livelihood of many of our people."

In conclusion then, my friends, I want to ask that on the strength of this argument you will vote against the tobacco tax because it is not constructive; it is discriminatory, and it is not an equal tax, but it does sock the poor.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. it is not very often that I ask your indulgence, but I do tonight; I do not want your sympathy, but I do have a bad throat and have been advised not to talk, but to your discomfort I am going so to do.

I am going to preface my statements to you by quoting, and I want you if you will to listen carefully to the quotations: "I have discarded suggestions for these taxes. I believe they are poorly adapted to State use, that the costs of collection would be disproportionate to the revenue received, that we would have to levy a multitude of such taxes, each one small in its total in order to make up the deficit. In the last analysis these so called luxury taxes are taxes on the average individual, bearing nearly equally in actual cost on the individual members of our population. They are not based on ability to pay, and therefor bear relatively far more heavily upon the poor than upon the rich."

Whom have I quoted? Have I quoted a great Republican? Have I quoted an ordinary citizen? No, I quoted the premier of all Democrats of all times. I quoted the President of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt in a statement made before the Legislature of 1932 in the state of New York when he was discussing the cigarette and the other multifarious taxes that you Democrats are endeavoring to foist upon the people of Pennsylvania.

Listen not to the Republicans of this House when they say this is a tax upon the poor and not upon the rich. Your President said so, and he is so recorded. He said it is his opposition to the sock the poor tax. How in the name of wisdom, how when elected upon the platform of "follow the President of the United States" can they put before this House a set of bills that are diametrically opposed to what he said as right is from wrong, I do not know, and the worst of it is that you do not know. You were handed an administration program. I defy a single Democrat in this whole House to rise on his feet and say, "I was consulted; I have something to do with these bills."

The Brain Trust of the Administration gave you those bills and you are being asked like little sheep to follow in their footsteps and enact them into law. I say to you men that this is a discriminatory sales tax; it is a discriminatory sales tax that taxes an article already over taxed, and it does not hit the rich, it does not carry out what his Excellency says in his inaugural address; it does not tax those best able to pay, but it taxes the poor man upon not a luxury, but a necessity, because smoking by a number of people is a necessity and not a luxury.

There is not a state in the whole Union except Pennsylvania that is going to tax a five cent cigar. Are we more brilliant, are we smarter, do we set ourselves up as the great Almighty in the question of taxation, that we are going to be the pioneers in taxing a five cent or less than five cent cigar? You are taxing the man who is smoking stogies, two for a nickel. No, you are not taxing the poor man; you are socking him and rocking him and bleeding him to death in this bill, and you know it.

I am only going to refer briefly to the fact that the passage of this tax will reduce the revenue to this Commonwealth. You are going to drive out the tobacco industry from the state of Pennsylvania. You are going to enable people to ship into the state by the thousands, cartons of cigarettes and you are going to hurt the industry of Pennsylvania.

It has been well known that the estimated revenue of eleven million dollars that was predicted for the state of Ohio for the year nineteen thirty-three only brought in four million one hundred ninety-four thousand dollars.

Members of the House, I am going to close because I cannot talk any further, but I am going to say to you Democrats that you are violating the trust that has been imposed upon you,—there is not a man amongst you that was not elected because of the popularity of your President; there is not a man amongst you that can deny that you are diametrically opposed to your President.

I want to say to the Republicans on this side of the House that when you vote for this tax you are violating your campaign pledges to your people and you are betraying the trust that they have imposed in you.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I won't take but a minute of you time. It has been said that the tobacco growers of Lancaster and other counties are not opposed to this tax. I want to read a telegram which I received today: "At a meeting of approximately one thousand Lancaster tobacco growers resolution passed against proposed 10% tax on sale of tobacco products, petition your vote and influence against bill taxing local product only one dissenting vote."

I simply want to correct that impression in case it existed among some of the members.

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not intend to take up any of your time particularly, but I wish to call your attention to the fact that I have on my desk twelve hundred communications received from employes of tobacco concerns, most of whom are in my legislative district. These writers express the opinion that the proposed sales tax on tobacco will greatly diminish the sale of cigars made by Pennsylvania manufacturers and will greatly decrease employment with a natural increase in unemployment, and they close by saying, "therefore, we earnestly urge you to vote against any sales tax on cigars."

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 839, as follows:

An Act to amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by increasing said tax for a limited period of time and providing for the distribution thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Imposition of Tax Exemptions and Deductions A permanent tax of three cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth excepting liquid fuels delivered to the United States government on presentation of a duly authorized United States government exemption certificate or other evidence satisfactory to the department and such liquid fuels used or sold and delivered as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States Providing That the tax herein imposed and assessed shall be collected by and paid to the Commonwealth but once in respect to any liquid fuels

In addition to such tax an additional emergency State tax of two cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth as aforesaid for the period commencing on the day this act becomes effective and ending on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Distributors shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the tax imposed by this act

The tax shall be payable upon liquid fuels sold and delivered to or used by the Commonwealth and every political subdivision thereof

Each distributor who shall promptly pay on or before the last day of a particular month the tax due for the preceding month shall be allowed in consideration of leakage spillage shrinkage evaporation and any expense to which he may be put in carrying out the provisions of this act a discount of two per centum on the aggregate amount of tax which is payable by the distributor for such preceding month The discount may be deducted by the distributor from the amount of tax payable for such month

Section 10 Disposition and Use of Tax (a) One-half cent per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund of the State Treasury and such moneys paid into said fund are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinafter set forth

The moneys so paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund except those that are refunded as hereinafter provided shall be paid to the respective counties of this Commonwealth on the first day of June and December of each year in the ratio that the average return made during the three (3) preceding years to each county bears to the average amount returned to all counties for the three preceding years Provided That the distribution of tax to the counties from the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund that is payable the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one shall be made under the provisions of the acts of Assembly repealed by this act

All moneys received by the counties hereunder shall be used only for the purpose of construction reconstruction maintenance and repair of roads highways and bridges including the payment of property damage now due or hereafter to become due occasioned by or the relocation or construction of highways and bridges and for the payment of interest on bonds issued for highways and bridge purposes The county commissioners of each county shall make to the department on or before the first day of May and November of each year on forms prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report showing the receipts and expenditures of such moneys received during the preceding six months by the county from the Commonwealth under the provisions of this section Such reports shall be transmitted to the Department of the Auditor General for audit Upon the failure of the county commissioners to file any such report the department shall withhold further payments to the county out of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund until the delinquent report is filed

(b) The remaining two and one-half cents per gallon of the tax collected under the provisions of this act all penalties and interest and all interest earned on deposits of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund shall be paid into the Motor License Fund and are hereby specifically appropriated for the same purposes for which moneys in the Motor License Fund are appropriated by law

(c) The entire amount of the additional emergency tax of two cents per gallon or fractional part thereof collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund

Section 2 This act shall become effective the first day of the month succeeding its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you will perhaps realize that this is the first time in this session that it has been my privilege to raise my voice. The reason for breaking my silence is entirely due to the fact that I am profoundly impressed with the fact that last November during the terriffic political battle that was waged over this Commonwealth we heard from every corner of the State the words, "Tax the rich." By some peculiar quirk of coincidence and perhaps the irony of fate those words have now been changed and instead there now seems to be the spirit to tax those who are least able to bear the burden of taxation.

Just a few weeks ago you saw two things in the hall of this House. First, you saw the House crowded to its physical capacity, and, second, on that table you saw a high stack, a pile of petitions, petitions bearing the signatures of hundreds of thousands of the citizens of this Commonwealth, piled high thereon; petitions that represented the voice of this Commonwealth. Someone has said that the voice of the people is the voice of the deity. Most certainly, if that be true, the deity spoke at the time when you saw the physical efforts of that tremendous address piled high before you. But why did the people speak? Because of the fact that they realized that if this gas tax is enacted into law Pennsylvania will be the most expensive motoring state east of the Mississippi River. It will have a higher motoring expense than any of our bordering states, and that means a lot particularly since the state of New Jersey is watching Pennsylvania tonight as it perhaps has never watched Pennsylvania before, because New Jersey needs money and the New Jersey Tax Commission realizes that should this bill pass in this session of the legislature, it will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to the gas and the oil dealers in their state. Therefore, ladies and gentlemen of this House, they watch this action and they watch it closely.

Should this bill pass it will increase the most of motoring in Pennsylvania. Let me call your attention to the fact that the motor licensure rates in Pennsylvania are higher, much higher than the entire average of the motoring licensure rates throughout the country, because throughout the country the average price is $12.66, but in Pennsylvania it is $16.85, therefore it is about four or five dollars higher—yes, higher than the average throughout the United States, and yet to that excessive price we intend to again impose a further burden upon the motor driving public of Pennsylvania by putting on another tax.

Let us not forget that transportation must bear all the cost of this additional tax, but that additional tax does not stop with transportation, it goes back to the consumer. Let us also bear in mind the fact that ninety per cent of our food stuffs are brought in by motor transportation. Again back goes the cost to the consumer and up goes the cost of living.

There is another reason why in my humble opinion this measure should not be passed, and that is because it will open another door for bootlegging in Pennsylvania, a condition that in the last ten or fifteen years has become a cancerous distemper that is gnawing at the very vitals of the government. If this measure passes bootlegging will increase, and that is one of the two reasons: First, the cost of the evil of bootlegging itself, and, second, because it breaks down the national and the state and the civil morale of every citizen that buys from a bootlegger. We learned that lesson to our bitter sorrow during prohibition. Members of the House, are we going to do it again?

The additional tax also means an added cost for the motorists of Pennsylvania. When that happens motor registration goes down, and in that connection I would like to quote the following figures, and these figures are not involved and they are not difficult to remember, and here they are: In the state of Alabama a tax raise from four to six cents caused a decrease of sixty-three thousand cars in motor registration. In Arkansas from five to six and a half cents of twenty-six thousand. Colorado from three to four of eighteen thousand. Illinois from two to three of three thousand. Kansas from two to three of sixteen thousand. In Huey Long's state of Louisiana from two to five cents thirty-two thousand cars went off the list. In North Carolina from four to six cents and eighty-two thousand cars went out of the registration department, went out of the Department of Highways. North Dakota from two to three cents and twenty thousand cars went off the list. Tennessee from three to seven cents and the jump here is correspondingly high in the number of cars that went off the registration list, to the extent of thirty-two thousand cars. In Vermont from three to four cents and here we have thirteen thousand cars.

Upon that same ratio and basis it is estimated that if this bill is enacted into law in Pennsylvania it will mean that one hundred thousand automobiles that now pay a license tax in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be a minus quantity. I ask you, therefore, whether we can afford to do it; whether we can afford to take that loss in our Highway department, since money going into that department means work for the unemployed and means road improvement.

Let us consider only for a moment the effect that this would have upon the farming population of this state. Let us bear in mind that twenty per cent of the motor vehicles in this state are used by farmers. Increase the cost of driving their automobiles and the food which comes into the food markets of this state and into the food supply houses will go up in price and the poor unfortunates will continue to pay the bill.

In conclusion I want to point out to you the fact and I do it not in an effort not to give you a sob-sister story —it is not my intention to do that, but please bear in mind the fact that there are many people in this state hard hit by the throes of depression and the only thing that they have left to enjoy today is their automobile, the only thing they have to bring to them some degree of pleasure, some degree of appreciation of the Commonwealth in which they live is that little automobile in which they ride. Therefore, I think it is unfair to further penalize them by placing upon their shoulders an additional cost when riding over the roads and the highways of Pennsylvania. Oh, but you will say that the rich man who owns a car and who drives a car can afford to pay this gas tax. I ask you what is the percentage who can afford to pay this tax and to whom this tax means nothing, what percentage of the population of this state do they represent? Look at your highways and see the small cars. They represent the largest proportion of the population of this state, and if you don't believe me look at the car I am driving at the present time. That is the population that will have to suffer under this tax, that is the population that has always suffered.

Therefore, in conclusion, members of the House, I believe that it is unfair and unjust to choose them as the taxpaying group to stand this burden, a group of that part of our population in this state that can so ill afford to pay it.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Zimmerman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Montgomery state that the imposition of this tax would make Pennsylvania the third largest state in the proportionate amount in the tax on gasoline?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. I did not make that statement, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman know that there are seventeen states that have a tax of five cents or more on gasoline?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. I did not know that to be a fact, Mr. Speaker, but if you say so I will believe you.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I might state that I have statistics here from the United States government.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. I won't question that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman know further that in these petitions filed before our Ways and Means Committee that they were always prepared upon the same backlog and by the same persons.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Perhaps that is so, Mr. Speaker, I will take the gentleman's word for it.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman know further that an investigation of a number of these petitions by a group of three we found therein the names of two hundred and seventy-three persons who did not own automobiles.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I didn't know that to be a fact, but I will say to the gentleman that I believe in the hundreds of thousands of names on petitions that were presented to the Ways and Means Committee, you would certainly expect to find some errors. That is to be expected and is perhaps the general rule.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know what it would cost, what the gas tax per car would be with the imposition of this additional gasoline tax?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. I do not quite understand the question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman state to this House how much the cost will be on each car by imposing this additional gasoline tax?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I don't know that, but it makes in my opinion, very little difference. The fact still remains that we are placing a tax upon the motor driving population of this state and as I previously said, regardless of what that proportion may be, the great proportion of the population upon whom that tax will fall cannot afford to pay it, that will perhaps also mean that their cars will go into storage and they will be denied the last medium of pleasure that is left to them.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that the increased cost of this tax would be only four cents a day per car in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I won't believe that until I have had an oportunity to make my own research.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I can furnish the gentleman with some data.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say further that in my opinion the average means absolutely nothing at all. It is the cost, it is additional cost, the cost of the whole burden which makes a great deal of difference to the little man who can not afford to pay it. We have found in the last few years a large portion of the population that couldn't even afford to take out registration plates, mounting and mounting year in and year out, and that is just an indication and further evidence of the fact of the cost upon the motor driving public is not looked upon in dollars but in coppers.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, then do I understand that the gentleman disagrees with the fact that there were one billion one hundred and thirty-six million three hundred and forty-seven thousand one hundred and ninety-three gallons sold in the state of Pennsylvania in nineteen thirty-four?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I can not agree with that statement because I have no way of knowing whether it is authentic. But I would be glad to see the gentleman's statistics.

Mr. WEISS. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman objects to the imposition of the four cents additional tax?

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, positively, any increase—I don't care what it is.

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in opposing this measure I may repeat a number of facts which have been brought out by my colleague from Montgomery, Mr. Zimmerman, and I do so merely to emphasize those remarks.

This measure, as well as most of those comprising the Administration tax program, is nothing more or less than a specialized sales tax, the burden of which falls on that class of our people who are least able to pay.

Actual statistics demonstrate that there are more people owning cars in that class who earn less than $1400 per year than there are in the higher income bracket.

Furthermore, this is an intolerable assessment against the truck owners, 80% of whom are in the one truck class, and they will no doubt be forced out of business, which will materially increase the relief burdens.

Such a tax is unheard of, being a 50% tax on a commodity. This in itself is sufficient reason to justify public condemnation. The automobile today is no longer a luxury, it is a very necessary adjunct in our everyday life and economic set-up.

Experience has shown that the law of diminishing returns becomes operative when a gas tax exceeds 3½ cents per gallon, which is caused by the fact that it makes possible and encourages, bootlegging. 65% of the population of this Commonwealth reside on or near its borders. It would be a necessary consequence that these people will be encouraged and no doubt forced to go to neighboring states to purchase gasoline, resulting in damage to the gasoline stations so effected to such an extent that the majority of them will be forced out of business, adding still further to the relief problem.

The particular class of people on whom this burden will fall most heavily, will include the farmer whose slim profit will be materially reduced and in some cases entirely wiped out by this additional levy. It is a well known fact that the farmers use considerable gasoline for their farm machinery. So far they have been very patient in permitting gasoline used in this manner to be taxed, but it is a question in my mind whether the increasing of this burden from a 30% to a 50% tax will not have a damaging effect on their welfare, and eventually cause them to rise in rightful indignation and demand that all gasoline used for purposes other than automobiles and trucks be tax free.

Furthermore the commercial fisheries use a great deal of gasoline in the business of catching fish for the market. Competition with other states and Canada has almost driven Pennsylvania's fishing fleet out of existence, and the imposition of this further hardship would no doubt be the straw that would break the camels back, and cause the Fishing Industry of Pennsylvania to be a thing of the past.

The people of this Commonwealth have consistently demanded and justifiably so, that all funds emenating from gasoline taxation shall be used for the construction and maintenance of our highways. During the last several years the relief problem has been, to a great extent, reduced by the use of these gas funds for the purpose of highway projects. This is the first attempt on the part of any Administration (this is my fifth term here) to divert these funds to any other purpose. It is conceded by all, that work relief is a much better system of administrating help to the needy than the passing out of unearned dole. Through the dole system we educate our people to be dependent and tend entirely to get away from our wonderful American system of government.

Furthermore this type of relief has a most decided tendency to inject politics into its administration.

Both the Republican and the Democratic platforms contain the provision that there should be some relief of real estate from taxation. The proponants of this measure have apparently failed to realize that an increase in the gas tax will generally make the tax on the individual owner of an automobile just as excessive as is the tax on real estate at the present time. It is my firm belief that a very large percentage of necessary moneys for relief in Pennsylvania can be and should be raised first, by economies in government and secondly by demanding that the government at Washington return to Pennsylvania its rightful share of unemployment relief funds based on the amount of money our national government collects from the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just a little more gas. I have had to keep quiet on a number of these tax measures because they were computed in mills and millions and were quite above my ability to calculate and I had to be enlightened.

As Mr. Witkin said, I was not consulted about the tax program and followed what he calls the brain trust of the administration. I do not think they would have gotten much help from me if they had consulted me, but as I compare the fiscal policies of this administration with those of the previous administration, my only regret is that the former did not also have a brain trust.

I can speak with some authority about this present gas tax, because I am a motorist and I understand that every time I drive into a gas station. I am a car owner. I will have to correct that; not quite a car owner. I am leasing a car which is not quite paid for.

We have had an army of people coming up here protesting against this gasoline tax. That army was well fed and well clothed, able to pay their own fare up here, able to pay their own hotel bills.

I had dinner the other day with a newspaper editor. Incidentally he paid the check. He was not the editor of a Democratic paper or the editor of the Democratic paper to which Mr. Reynolds has referred and which, incidentally, is owned by a Republican. He was the Republican editor of a Republican newspaper. We had dinner together and we discussed this tax situation.

He was browbeating me over the question of these taxes, objecting to them very strenuously. During the course of the meal a very poor woman came in and began to tell us a very pitiful story of suffering and how she needed relief. When she went out he was very much distressed and said, "I am sorry that that woman came in in the midst of this meal. I know something about her and her suffering." I said, "That's the situation we are in at Harrisburg. I would rather sit here and listen to you squawk about paying a few more cents in taxes, with a nice juicy steak before you, than to listen to such a story as we have been just been told by this poor woman."

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I submit that if this tax program fails, if this bill fails to pass the House and the amount of money needed for relief is not forthcoming, we are going to witness another march of another army on Harrisburg. It is not going to be a well clothed and a well fed army, it is going to be an army of the hungry, of the unemployed coming here seeking relief, and we will have to dig down into our pockets and pay for their hotel bills and pay for their food. The question is to which army would we rather listen.

We have this program that is designed to fed the hungry. I have never yet seen one of the automobile clubs lead a delegation to the offices of the Standard Oil Company or of any of the other oil companies and protest when they have raised the price of gas two or three cents, but when the State of Pennsylvania exercising its sovereign right says it will have to increase the tax in order to take care of these poor people then we hear the wail go up that we are socking the poor.

My friends, let me tell you this: It does not seem to me that we ought to object to this tax. Some of my friends do not object to such a tax as long as the profits go into private pockets, but when the profits go to take care of those that are in need, we hear wails.

If we are in sympathy with the program of the Governor and with the program that has been vouchsafed by this administration, a program that has been agreed to in principle by both parties to take care of those that are in need, then we will pay this additional tax and see to it that the unemployed and the poor are taken care of. Let us put these profits where they belong in times like these to take care of the people that are the worst off.

Mr. WITKINS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, fate has a peculiar way of delivering its message. The people of Pennsylvania today had an opportunity upon the tax issue and upon the tax issue alone of telling you where they stood on the question of the administration program. In the Democratic stronghold of Pike County the newspaper men have advised me that according to the unofficial returns the people of Pike County on an issue purely on taxation have revolted in that Democratic stronghold that it has elected a Republican representative to this House.

Might I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, that if he and the rest of the Democrats here vote for this bill in the affirmative they need have no fear of the army of unemployed because they won't be here to receive them.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia I wish to say to this House that I have heard the same report that he has just given to us here, and I also had another report that the Democrats had won. I am glad that the gentleman from Philadelphia stated to this House that the report was an unofficial report. I want to say, further, that back in 1916 during the campaign for the presidency of the United States, when Wilson and Hughes were candidates, for several hours the Republican party celebrated the victory. I want to further state that on November 6 of 1934, a great number of hours later than this after the polls of the State of Pennsylvania had closed, the reports were to the effect that the Democratic party had gone down in defeat. I want also to state to the gentleman from Philadelphia and to the members of his party that if the report that he has received is true we, as Democrats, offer them our congratulations, and if the report is untrue we offer them our sympathy.

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am supporting House Bill 839 because I am against an increase in real estate taxation. Should we fail to repay the deficit inherited from the former administration the various deficiencies would cause a breakdown in our local institutions and would result in an immediate real estate levy. Our schools and hospitals are near the breaking point right now and our first move is to shoulder the responsibility of the sidestepping majority of the previous administration.

I am supporting this Bill because real estate built roads before gasoline tax was ever thought of. At no time has the motor industry nor the motorist paid for right of way. Land damages from widening and relocating roads has always been paid from real estate taxes. The backbone of our highway system was provided from real estate taxes. City streets are now built and maintained from real estate tax and traffic systems (unknown to the pre-motor vehicle age) are charged to police budgets in city and borough tax levies. In the eight years preceeding 1930 there was expended for highways in this country the sum of $19,000,000,000. Of this sum the motorist paid $4,000,000,000 and real estate and bond issues paid the remaining $15,000,000,000. The motorist has not paid his just share of highway cost. He must now share in the general expense of our relief situation. He should repay a portion of the expenditures formerly devoted to his benefit.

A few weeks ago you probably noticed a great pile of petitions upon the table referred to in a previous speech in this House, I want to impress upon you the value of such petitions and in impressing that upon you, I call your attention to a situation that arose in Philadelphia just about a year ago at Temple University. This is the clipping and I quote:

"Five hundred Temple University students have pledged themselves to cut off their heads.

A petition was circulated on the campus to learn how many undergraduates read what they signed. The 500 didn't. At the bottom of a request for an extra holiday was:

We are resolved to spend the day in merrymaking and leisure at which time each one will decapitate himself with extreme joy."

The gentleman in front of me who works at the Westinghouse tells me that during the world war he collected twenty-five dollars from his fellow employes for the purpose of adding battleships to the Jewish and the Irish navy. That members of the House is just a sign of what you can expect from such petitions that you saw piled on those tables. In my own personal experience, out of one hundred of these petitions placed in my hands through the United States mail, I screened out thirty of them and found that one hundred were repeaters or people that didn't own cars.

I am supporting this Bill because the organized opposition has led me to believe that refiners oppose its passage in the hope that the present tax will permit the usual spring boost in gasoline tax. I can well remember when gasoline sold for 25 cents a gallon tax free. Protests, of course, against this situation are unavailing.

I am supporting this Bill because I do not believe in the theory that a gas tax must be confined to any portion of the cost of the article. If gas tax has for its purpose the maintenance of highways it should be high enough to bear that cost regardless of its proportion to the cost of the medium of taxation. This cost should include the cost of city streets as well as rural and trunk line roads. Should railroads limit maintenance of way costs to a certain portion of fuel costs tracks and road bed would collapse under trains and the whole transportation system of the country would be paralyzed. Only by setting the tax or more correctly the service charge at the actual cost of highway construction and maintenance can we have a fair and equitable tax. The motorist must pay his own way. The real estate owner must have relief.

I am supporting this bill because I am hurting myself in the process. I would be ashamed to pass on to the other fellow a tax that I am unwilling to pay myself. With the passage of this bill I will be paying about $1 a day for the use of highways covering a distance of about 240 miles a day. This cost of .004 per mile is low compared with the old turnpikes of a half century ago.

I am supporting this bill because the present tax is inadequate to properly build and maintain the present wide expanse of State highways. The signs of destruction in every part of the State during the changing conditions of this season indicated that more money will be required than ever before. The Governor's assurance that moneys in excess of the tax increase will be expended in work relief on highways doubly commends this bill.

I am supporting this bill because I believe 95% of the motorists can afford to pay it. Its only alternative—a sales tax—would take 15c from every $5 relief slip, 45c from every $15 pay envelope, $1.20 from each ton of dairy feed bought by the farmer, or 90c from a $30 Mother's Assistance Fund check. I have made a careful study of the unstimulated opinion of my constituents, and I feel sure that a vast majority prefer the gasoline tax.

I am supporting this bill because I must stand by my Chief. When the Governor of this Commonwealth came to Cumberland County last summer I stood on the platform and told the people of my county to send me down to defeat if they did not propose to elect a Governor who would ratify the constructive work pledged by our Party. I will say as much now. I am pledged to lower tax on real estate and more equitable distribution of the tax burden. I am pledged that tax be collected where people can best afford it. The Governor has planned a balanced tax program. He is face to face with a great emergency and tremendous deficit. He can not turn his back to either. This is no time to consider a political future. We must face the issue. We must stand by our Chief.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Tumelty, Coakley, VanSickle, Simon, Robinson, Sumney, Carson, Coleman, Witkin, Zimmerman, Peters, Ederer, Denning, Horst, Trout, Terry, Bernhard, Cordier, Wood, Perry, Blumberg and others.

On the question,
Shall the main question be now put?
It was agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" and file my reasons.

I voted for House Bill No. 839 known as the gas tax. I feel at this time it is necessary to raise funds for the needy at once. And this tax above all others will produce those funds at once.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker, I am voting "aye" and want to file my reasons.

I am voting for House Bill No. 839 just to keep the needy people from starving. But I expect this administration to remove from office those people that made this tax a necessity.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" and file my reasons therefor.

I am personally opposed to any increase in the gas tax and kindred measures on motorists and truckers but to date no other complete program has been offered to raise the money immediately necessary to carry on the relief activities. Rather than being a party to stopping our relief work and in view of the fact that no equitable substitutes have been offered, I am voting for these measures in preference to permitting 1,900,000 people on the relief rolls of Pennsylvania possibly starve.

I am also assured a large portion of the relief money will be used on our highways, although it cannot be so earmarked due to the fact it must be immediately used to make up the deficit of the last administration.

Mr. MOUL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" and file my reasons.

During my campaign I repeatedly assured the voters of my district that I felt that any money collected as a gasoline tax would be used to build roads. I also said repeatedly that I was not in favor of an increase in the gas tax if the tax is used for purposes other than the building of roads.

Tax bill 839 commonly known as the gas tax bill raises money for relief purposes. I have the assurance of the administration and the Highways Department "That relief monies will be expended on highways far in excess of the proceeds of the proposed gas tax increase."

I feel certain that the voters in my district favor a work relief program through the building of roads, since this method improves our highways system and affords gainful employment for those on our relief rolls.

In view of these facts I feel that it is my duty to support the Governor and vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" and file my reason.

I desire to vote "aye" on House Bill No. 839, Printer's No. 304, due to the fact that an emergency exists, thousands of the unfortunate people of this Commonwealth face starvation and we must raise immediate revenue or be deprived of any further help or aid from the United States Government. Also this bill is only a temporary measure and will expire May 31, 1937.

I therefore desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

Mr. SIEGEL. Mr. Speaker, I am voting "aye" and wish to file my reason therefor.

I am voting "aye" on the gas tax bill no. 839, against my better judgment, for the following reason:

Up to the present time there has been no better tax plan offered to relieve the very serious financial condition of the State for immediate relief purposes.

Mr. SIMON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to vote "aye" and file my reasons.

Altho I am definitely committed to my constituents against any increase in the gasoline taxes, I am voting for this bill only because of the great emergency for relief to the poor that exists and further because it is only a temporary tax and I have been assured that it will be used for highway purposes.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like now to ask the privilege of filing my reasons for voting "no" and ask the further privilege of reading these reasons at this time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will file his reasons with the Clerk. They will be spread upon the Journal.

I voted "no" on the gasoline tax bill for the reason that my constituents are unanimously opposed to this tax. But I have voted "no" for the further reason that the democratic majority in this House, under the obvious whip of practically all their party leaders, who now fill the Assembly Hall, both front and rear, have seen fit twice in one evening to apply the "gag" rule by moving the previous question in such a way as to prevent me, or any other member, from the oil producing counties of Western Pennsylvania, from saying one word on behalf of our most important industry. I am asking permission to read this statement which I know will likewise be refused.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. WASSERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 768, Printer's No. 199, entitled:

An Act to amend sections five and six of the act approved the tenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (P. L. 419), entitled "An act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers, requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties, and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections," as amended, by changing the time for filing nomination papers and changing the time for filing objections thereto.

on page 25 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 258, Printer's No. 192, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" providing for the filing of liens for taxes which have been returned to the county commissioners for non-payment for the filing of joint liens by county commissioners for the county and other taxing districts and for the collection of such liens and imposing certain duties upon tax collectors on page 25 of today's calender, bill on third reading postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, during the debate on the tax measures just passed by this House, I stated that I was quoting from a Democratic paper. My good friend, the Democratic representative, the Reverend Shepard, stated that I was quoting from a paper that was owned by a Republican. The Reverend Shepard being a preacher, I was very much surprised to hear him say that because he should know that that is not true.

I wish to say to the members of the House, so that I may get myself clear before the House, because I would be the last one to get up here and tell a lie that Mr. Forrest White is the president of the newspaper in question, Bernard Marcus is the business manager, Harry D. Duplesses is the treasurer and that J. Austin Horris, a special Deputy Attorney General under this administration, appointed by Governor Earle is the editor and he wrote that editorial. Therefore I say that he absolutely misstated the facts, knowing so himself.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under this question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 20, 1935.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Pro Tempore John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father we love Thee because Thou hast first loved us. We fear Thee because, loving Thee, we dread to wound Thy heart by sinning against Thee. We do not cringe or tremble in Thy presence, for the perfection of our love for Thee and Thine for us casts out fear.

We would serve Thee, O God, because Thou hast first served us, providing us with all life's necessities and many blessings. While we cannot bestow any benefit upon Thee, who dost possess all the riches of the universe, yet we can serve Thee by ministering to the needs of our brethren who are less fortunate than are we. Inspire us so to do in these days of depression.

Help these men, here convened to consider means to aid their fellow citizens toward better and happier living, to lay their plans as directed by Thee. Show them the way that leads into Thy presence. Then shall they best serve their Commonwealth, their nation and humanity.

We ask these things in the name of Thy Son, Jesus the Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. EALY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Pro-Tempore John G. Homsher) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 433, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the City of Philadelphia for monies advanced by said City to the Delaware River Bridge Commission jointly with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with interest, which monies, including the monies so advanced by the City of Philadelphia were repaid to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the Delaware River Bridge Commission.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Pro-Tempore John G. Homsher) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, who will now address the Senate.

ADDRESS OF THE GOVERNOR

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have come before your Honorable Body today to discuss the subject of Constitutional Revision.

The most solemn function upon which a free and sovereign people can enter is that of effecting changes in their Constitution.

It is a function which transcends mere political partisanship or party alliances.

It is a grave responsibility which every thinking citizen must strive to discharge without bias and without hope of selfish advantage.

We know that revision of our present Constitution is urgent and must not be delayed.

Adopted sixty years ago, our Constitution contains many provisions which are obsolete and which operate as obstacles to progress.

During the last campaign the major political parties in this Commonwealth, through their party platforms and their candidates, pledged revision of our State Constitution.

There can be no sincere difference of opinion that now is the time to proceed towards speedy accomplishment of the needed changes in our State Constitution.

I have the utmost confidence in the judgment and wisdom of the people of the Commonwealth in passing on the changes in our fundamental law. I have confidence in the men and women who will be selected by the electorate of this State to compose a new Constitutional Convention. It must likewise be borne in mind that a new Constitution must be submitted and voted upon by the people after its adoption by a Convention.

I am of the opinion that there should be no change with respect to the general form of our government. There is no need for any such drastic revision. There is no desire to get away from the fundamentals of representative government.

The absolute independence of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial branches must be maintained. The Judiciary must remain free and independent and should be elective, as at present. In a revision of the Constitution only such changes are urged as will give the people a form of government best suited to their needs and most conducive to their welfare.

Under the Act of 1919, Governor Sproul appointed a commission on Constitutional amendment and revision which was made up of distinguished individuals of the State. They gave long and serious consideration to a new Constitution. This work should be the basis for further study by a preliminary commission, as well as by the Constitutional convention itself.

Because of my own solemn conviction that the problem of effecting changes in the Constitution must be approached in a non-partisan spirit, I am naming a committee of outstanding men and women to make a preliminary study of the subject which should be a valuable aid to the Constitutional Convention.

In naming this Committee I have not considered mere political affiliations because the problem of Constitutional Revision must rise above partisan bias.

Every shade of political and economic philosophy conservative and liberal, is represented in the personnel of that committee.

The conclusions and recommendations formulated by such a committee will represent the balanced judgment of the people of this Commonwealth, rather than the viewpoint of any particular group.

I want to emphasize the complexion of this committee because I want all to know that I have avoided taking advantage of the fact that a liberal party is in power in Pennsylvania today.

As evidence of this fact I have asked former Attorney General William A. Schnader, my opponent in the election, to serve as a member of this committee.

We all of us must realize that the work of this committee will be of an advisory nature and that the final word will rest in the delegates to the Constitutional Convention who will be elected by the people.

I am satisfied, however, that the recommendations of this committee will be given the most serious consideration because of the standing of its individual members in this Commonwealth.

I shall recommend to this committee that it consider such phases of the Constitution which relate to taxation, revenues and debt, in view of the most pressing problems which confront us today.

In announcing the personnel of this committee I want to say that I have not included any member of the General Assembly, despite the fact that there are many of its members who are pre-eminently qualified to serve, because the General Assembly at a subsequent session will be called upon to act upon the revised Constitution.

In view of the guarantee of absolute, impartial, unprejudiced and free discussion of proposed changes in the Constitution which is afforded through the medium of such a committee, I think I am perfectly justified in urging your Honorable Body to act expeditiously on the pending legislation providing for a Constitutional Convention.

The members of the committee whom I have appointed are as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 269, as follows:

An Act relating to writs of execution other than attachments on goods and chattels where Sheriffs' Sales are delayed or plaintiffs fail to advance the costs for same and providing that such writs including any in the hands of Sheriffs when this Act becomes effective may be returned as stayed for want of prosecution unless the property levied upon be advertised for sale within three months after the levy thereon exclusive of the duration of any stay of proceedings by order of Court or operation of law preserving the lien of such levy

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever any goods and chattels are levied upon by any Sheriff by virtue of any writ of execution other than an attachment and the plaintiffs named therein shall cause a Sheriff's Sale thereof to be delayed by failing to advance the costs thereof or otherwise so that no advertisement for sale be made within three months after the date of such levy excluding the duration of any stay of proceedings by order of Court or operation of Law preserving the lien of such levy such Sheriff may return such writ if the return day of same has passed as stayed for want of prosecution and abandon such levy without liability for failure to realize the value of any goods levied upon or for any damage caused by such levy but such plaintiffs shall not be precluded by such return from issuing an alias or pluries writ to levy upon the same goods subject to any intervening rights of third persons or claims of property adverse to the defendant in the execution This Act shall apply to all testatum as well as original writs of execution subject to the power of the Courts issuing the same to control the returns thereof nothwithstanding any instructions of the plaintiffs named therein to delay such returns

Section 2 This Act shall become effective at the expiration of three months from the date of its enactment and shall apply to all writs of execution other than attachments on goods and chattels then remaining unreturned in the hands of any Sheriff although he may have made levies by virtue thereof before the date of such enactment

Section 3 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed as of the date this Act becomes effective

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 352, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend the act approved the twenty-third day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven (Pamphlet Laws thirty-four) entitled "An act making the verdict of a jury in the several courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth a lien in certain cases" extending said act to all courts of record

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the twenty-third day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven (Pamphlet Laws thirty-four) entitled "An act making the verdict of a jury in the several courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth a lien in certain cases" is hereby reenacted and amended to read as follows

An Act Making the verdict of a jury in the several courts of [common pleas] record of this Commonwealth a lien in certain cases

Whereas It frequently happens that on the rendition of a verdict in the courts of [common pleas] record of this Commonwealth for a certain sum or sums therein specified [that] reasons for a new trial and in arrest of judgment are filed which are not disposed of for a considerable period of time thereafter in consequences of which no judgment being entered on the verdict the party in whose favor the same is found has no security by way of lien for the amount of the verdict [found] therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever a verdict is rendered by a jury in any of the courts of [common pleas] record of this Commonwealth for any specific sum of money in such case the verdict shall be a lien upon the real estate situate within the proper county of the party or parties against whom said verdict shall be rendered which lien shall remain unless the court grant a new trial or arrest the judgment and it shall be the duty of the prothonotary of the court [of common pleas] to enter such verdict on the lien docket where judgments are entered marking the same "verdict" and specifying the amount of said verdict and the date of its rendition

Section 2 In case the court shall overrule any motion for a new trial or in arrest of judgment now pending in any court of record the lien of the verdict in such case shall date from the time of its rendition Provided however That no innocent purchasers without notice shall be prejudiced thereby

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 379, as follows:

An Act providing for the purchase and distribution of milk to undernourished and needy children in the public schools imposing duties on boards of school directors teachers principals medical inspectors and the Department of Welfare and making an appropriation

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Marshall L. Shepard, a member of the House, offered the following prayer:

O, God our Heavenly Father, Thou who hast been our dwelling place in all generations; Thou in whom we live and move and have our being, we thank Thee for the blessings that Thou hast bestowed upon us. We pray that Thou wouldst continue to lead us, direct us by Thy wisdom.

In this day when nationalism, hatreds and suspicions make the war clouds hang low over so much of our world, we pray Thee that we may have that peace of God that passeth all understanding; that here in America we may set an example of good will and tolerance to all of mankind. We pray that Thou wouldst bless our Governor; the heads of this Commonwealth, Bless the Speaker and those who are absent because of illness. May Thy kingdom come and Thy will be done in His name and for His sake. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CORDIER (Concurrent). RESOLUTION No. 98.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1935.

The demands on the bounty of the State have been increasing during these years of the depression at a rate that cannot but cause grave concern to those charged with the tremendous responsibility of securing and distributing the needed funds and the equitable distribution of the burdens and benefits.

A task of these proportions we cannot hope to fulfill during the rush and confusion of a single legislative session, and without serious, protracted and concentrated study; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee be created to consist of seven members, in so far as feasible to represent the tax paying public, corporations, labor, agriculture and the Legislature; three of such members, at least one of whom shall be a Member of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, three, at least one of whom shall be a Senator, to be appointed by the President pro Tempore of the Senate, and one to be appointed by the Governor. The duty of such committee shall be to make an exhaustive study and investigation of systems of State taxation, finance and government; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report to the General Assembly when next convened in general or extraordinary session; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CORDIER (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 99.

In the House of Representatives, March 19th, 1935.

His Excellency, George H. Earle, Governor of Pennsylvania, in his message to the General Assembly February twelfth, 1935, made the statement that the total General Fund appropriations sought for the next biennium amount to $355,656,254, which includes, aside from the normal expenses of the State government and sinking fund charges on the funded debt, large items for unemployment relief, pensions for the aged and the blind, and added cost of collecting proposed new taxes.

The extent of the needs for these latter items cannot now be determined with any degree of accuracy. They are contingent on the events of the future. Circumstances that we cannot now forsee may render these estimates distressfully inadequate, or may cause the vastness of the appropriations to become unnecessarily burdensome.

Just what revenue new tax measures will produce is, on past experience, a matter of purest conjecture. Estimates are apt to be overly optimistic; and again, through change of circumstance, a given tax may prove itself more bountiful than accredited in any budgetary vision.

The General Assembly has not been able to give to a matter of so grave importance as the raising and expenditure of hundreds of millions of public moneys, the study which it merits and demands. What we now do will be at best an experiment, and, as such, should be confined within as limited proportions as the subject of the experiment will permit.

The calling of the General Assembly into extraordinary session within a year from now is inevitable under any circumstances. The efforts of the present session should not set out to accomplish more than is practical and expedient, lest in its over-zealousness it makes unnecessary and costly mistakes; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That any new or additional tax adopted at the present session of the Legislature be made applicable for the space of one year only; and that all appropriations made at this sssion be only for the single fiscal year, from June first, 1935, until May thirty-first, 1936.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

RESOLUTION

PRINTING OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1477

The SPROUL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1935.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be directed to have printed five hundred additional copies of House Bill No. 1477, entitled "An act providing for the eradication of mosquitoes; authorizing the establishment of county mosquito extermination commissions by popular election, and for the appointment of their members by the courts of Common pleas; and prescribing the powers and duties of such commissions, the county commissioners and the State Secretary of Agriculture," for the use of the House of Representatives.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY ON DEATH OF HON. WILLIAM H. CALHOUN

Mr. PERRY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1935.

William H. Calhoun, Sr., of Northumberland, Northumberland County died at his home on Sunday evening of this week, at the age of 77 years;

Mr. Calhoun was a member of this body from the First District in Northumberland County during the Session of 1925;

During a long and successful career in public and private life, his one controlling interest and enthusiasm was band music;

In the year 1882 he organized and trained the first Calhoun's band, an organization which still exists and which looks upon him still as its patron and founder; an organization which, during the World War, volunteered for service, was accepted, and served under the leadership of his son;

The community service rendered by Mr. Calhoun in his chosen avocation is evidenced by the fact that he was elected on honorary member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and of the American Legion Posts of Northumberland and Sunbury, as an honorary member of which latter post he was awarded the distinguished service certificate from the Department of Pennsylvania, American Legion; during his long and active life he trained more than fifteen hundred musicians to play band instruments; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, express their sorrow at the passing of so outstanding a citizen and their condolences to the bereaved family; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the widow of our former associate, William H. Calhoun, Sr.

USE OF HALL OF HOUSE GRANTED TO COMMITTEE ON LABOR

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker I move that the Committee on Labor be granted the use of the Hall of the House on Tuesday, March 26th, from two to five o'clock P. M. for the purpose of holding a public hearing on House Bills Nos. 340 and 1199.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1207, entitled

An Act to amend clause (a) of section sixteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 250, 1933-34), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," requiring the registration commission to provide an additional registration day in each election district during the month of August, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1139, entitled

An Act to amend clause D of section ten of the act approved the second day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 174, 1933-34), entitled "An act relating to milk and the products thereof; declaring an emergency with respect to their production and marketing; creating a Milk Control Board; establishing its jurisdiction, powers and duties; regulating the production, transportation, manufacture, processing, storage, distribution, delivery, and sale of milk and the products thereof; providing for the licensing of milk dealers and the payment of fees therefor; requiring licensees to furnish bonds for the protection of producers; authorizing the examination of the business, papers, and affairs of, and requiring the filing of reports by, licensees, other milk dealers and producers, and permitting with limitations the dissemination of information obtained therefrom; authorizing the issuing of subpoenas by the board or its agents, and conferring jurisdiction upon courts to punish contempts or to prohibit violations of orders of the board; providing for appeals to the courts from decisions of the Milk Control Board; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," restraining milk dealers from specifying foreign requirements for milk other than milk actually sold outside the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 533, entitled

An Act to amend section one thousand and seventeen of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances and legal claims, registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts, making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by prohibiting the owner of a vehicle from passing school busses in certain cases.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 931 as follows

An Act to amend the title and to reenact section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand seven hundred ninety-eight) entitled "An act providing a fixed charge payable by the Commonwealth on lands acquired by the State and the Federal Government for forest reserves or for the purpose of preserving and perpetuating a portion of the original forests of Pennsylvania and preserving and maintaining the same as public places and parks and the distribution of the same for county school township and road purposes in counties school districts and townships where such forests are located and making an appropriation" by providing that lands and property acquired for the purpose of conservation of water and to prevent flood conditions shall be subject to annual charges the same as State forests lands and repealing existing laws for the taxation thereof

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the title of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand seven hundred ninety-eight) entitled "An act providing a fixed charge payable by the Commonwealth on lands acquired by the State and the Federal Government for forest reserves or for the purpose of preserving and perpetuating a portion of the original forests of Pennsylvania and preserving and maintaining the same as public places and parks and the distribution of the same for county school township and road purposes in the counties school districts and townships where such forests are located and making an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act providing a fixed charge payable by the Commonwealth on lands acquired by the State and the Federal Government for forest reserves or for the purposes of preserving and perpetuating a portion of the original forests of Pennsylvania and preserving and maintaining the same as public places and parks or for the purpose of conservation of water and flood control and the distribution of the same for county school township and road purposes in the counties school districts and townships where such forests or lands and waters are located and making an appropriation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 112, as follows:

An Act to amend section two hundred sixty-five of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred forty-eight) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" making Sunday fishing with rods and lines lawful under certain circumstances

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section two hundred sixty-five of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred forty-eight) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 265 Sunday Fishing [Prohibited] Lawful Exception It is [unlawful] lawful to fish in any of the waters wholly within or on the boundaries of this Commonwealth for any species of fish [or with any device] during the open season therefor with not more than two rods and two lines and one hand line with not more than three hooks attached to either line on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday if the consent of the owner or lessee of the land abutting on a stream or body of water and of the bed thereunder where the fishing is done has first been secured but no such consent shall be required to fish in the manner above provided in a stream or body of water on State owned or Federal lands nor in a river or body of water the bed of which is publicly owned except where the fishing is done from abutting land privately owned in which case the consent of the owner or lessee shall first have been secured It is unlawful to fish on any Sunday in any other manner than hereinbefore provided or in streams and waters contrary to the provisions of this section Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall on conviction as provided in chapter fourteen of this act be subject to a penalty of twenty-five dollars

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SURFACE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not have much to say, but I hope that it will be ragarded as sufficiently important to direct your attention to two fundamentals. Pennsylvania has been known and is known as the Quaker State, and we have a reputation to maintain.

I deplore seriously the tendency to break away from those fundamentals by which we have long been known, or our,—what might be called pious, what might be called religious, but what I call our civic attitude. I would call your attention to the fact, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, that it is essential in building the House estate, that we consider certain fundamentals, that we shall build our mansion upon such fundamentals as the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule, the Lord's Prayer and human conscience. Let these things be our guide and we shall be safe in what we do.

I deplore the tendency to break away from our blue laws to open up the Sabbath day, to enter into such amusements perhaps as some that are proposed, of Sunday fishing, the training of hunting dogs going over one's premises on the Sabbath day, the horse races with the evil of parimutuel betting that is proposed to go with it, and I hope we can have enough remembrance of the fathers of Pennsylvania that in this state with the reputation that we have won as a great state in many, many regards may indeed be preserved.

In speaking specifically of this Bill I would call your attention to the fact that Pennsylvania has more sportsmen, more fishermen than any other state of the so-called Eastern states. We also have a less quantity of lake water or shore water than any other state around us. While it is true that other states do have Sunday fishing, yet they have inland lakes, as for example, New York has more than ten times the inland lake surface that we have.

Other states have marine fishing. Our fisheries are maintained in our streams chiefly by the work of the Fish Commission planting in them the fish that are to be taken out by rod and line. We have a wonderful Commission rendering us wonderful service, but, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I would call your attention to the fact that our streams are practically depleted of their fish by the end of the fishing season.

This proposed bill for Sunday fishing would result in taking from our streams one-fourth as many more fish as are taken under the present law and present fishing. A larger proportion than that taken in one day because of the Sunday fishing. If this one-fourth of our fishes is taken from our streams by this extra fishing day, it means that the season must be shortened to three-quarters of what it is at the present time, because it is true that most of our streams are fairly well depleted under the present fishing laws.

I would call your attention also to the fact that this bill provides that a fisherman must obtain permission of the owner of the land upon which he enters to fish. This means that he will not know the limits of that land, and if he gets beyond the limits of that particular farm or premises he must have the permission of the next landowner, and this will cause a very considerable amount of trouble to the land-owner on the Sabbath day to be where he can be found in order to give this permission to the fisherman.

I beseech you members of the House to help preserve the name of the fair State of Pennsylvania as we have preserved our Blue Laws, and justify the name that we now have. It is true that I have at one time voted for a local option for Sunday sports, but that is a different proposition in its local option than a local option for fishing.

Suppose one county has local option for fishing and another does not; it means that one can usually get into his automobile and go into the county where fishing is permitted. I can see no way than that we can properly open up our Sunday for Sunday fishing.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I regret very much that the gentleman injected into this argument that Pennsylvania is a Quaker state and therefore evidently William Penn was opposed to Sunday fishing and was also in favor of Blue Laws. Such is not the case; William Penn's writings clearly show that he was not in favor of the doctrine of Sunday as we have it and practice it.

However, religious argument has nothing to do with this bill. The bill as amended is made so tame that a man who attempts to fish on Sunday in accordance with this law will find that he will only have three hooks on a line. I can see no objection to the bill as amended; I cannot understand the objections that a poor man who is compelled to labor five or six days a week should be deprived of fishing on Sunday because it would take the fish out of the streams.

We have put numerous taxes on the people of this Commonwealth and particularly on those who work, and why shouldn't they have an opportunity to enjoy the fruits of that taxation that they pay.

Now, some sportsmen argue that if you permit Sunday fishing then there will be no fish in the streams. I submit to you that the amateur fishermen on Sunday will not catch one one-hundredth part that the professional fisherman on the six days a week will catch, and I ask you to give the opportunity to the man in the city to go out on Sundays to visit the green fields, look at our streams, enjoy the beauties of our state and enjoy the hope of catching a fish.

Mr. AUKERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in rising to oppose this bill I just want to present a few facts which are very pertinent in our county. We have eight sportsmen's organizations in Blair County, all of whom along with the Grange have opposed this measure. Our sportsmen's organizations have been very well organized and they realize what the loss will mean if this bill goes into effect.

We are one of the counties which is fortunate in having a good many miles of trout streams and other fishing waters, and the farmers having protested, say that they will post their lands against fishing, thereby cutting out practically all of our streams in Blair County.

It is a fact that more than ninety per cent of the fishing streams in Pennsylvania are on private grounds, and it all depends upon the use that is made of this privilege as to just how much posting will be done. Here is what will happen, a man will go out on Sunday to go to a farmer's home. The farmer may not be home. What is his reaction going to be? Is he going to refrain from fishing on that land or is he going to go ahead in spite of the fact that he cannot gain permission? A good many of them will go ahead. When the farmer gets home and finds that this privilege has been abused, he is going to post his land.

Another angle of the thing in Blair County is the fact that our Sportsmen's organizations have spent one thousand dollars for material for stream improvements and the CWA and the SERB have matched this ten to one, making approximately eleven thousand dollars which has been spent for land and stream improvements. This for the most part has been spent on privately owned ground, and if this ground is posted against fishing it will mean the loss of this investment, which has been made in our county.

The streams have been heavily stocked there. By posting the land the farmers would make those lands their own private fishing ponds. We have the same condition in many other counties and in order to retain our present investment and our present fishing rights, I am going to ask you to vote "no" on this measure.

Mr. LaRUE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Pennsylvania is the only state in the Union that now prohibits Sunday fishing. Surely we are no different in Pennsylvania than the people of the other states. We are just as religious here in Pennsylvania and those people in the other states are just as religious as we here in Pennsylvania. Therefore, I do not see why we should approach this bill from that angle.

It has been said that if we allow Sunday fishing it will deplete our streams of fish. It it not the fisherman with the hook and line who is taking out our fish. It is the pollution from the coal mines and other industries that have taken out our fish from these streams. It is the illegal devices that we have been trying to do away with for years that have depleted our streams. Certainly a man going out with a fly rod and a fly will not deplete our streams of our fish. I can see no reason why the people of Pensylvania should be deprived of the very same thing that they now enjoy in other states. All of the states that border on Pennsylvania allow Sunday fishing. The state of New Jersey is now discriminating against Pennsylvania by prohibiting its inhabitants from coming into that state and fishing on Sunday for the reason that we do not allow it here. Residents of the more thickly populated sections do not have the opportunity to get out and enjoy the sport of fishing as do our friends from the sparsely settled sections. This law would allow those people to go out on Sunday. It would not prevent them from going to Church on Sunday morning and then going out on Sunday afternoon and taking their families along and having a real quiet afternoon by a stream. Those are the things that Pennsylvanians are deprived of today, and I think we should use good judgment in voting for this bill. Surely one can enjoy no more honest sport than going out along a stream. We allow now some sports on Sunday that are far more harmful than going out to a stream with a fishing rod. I am going to ask you folks to consider this bill carefully and vote for it.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not going to make a formal speech. I simply want to speak about this bill along the same lines as Mr. Surface has spoken about it.

I realize, as you do, that the real specifications of this bill are not at all serious. Fishing on Sunday is not the worst crime with which a man can be charged neither is the training of dogs. It is the principle back of it. For more than one hundred years Pennsylvania has stood apart from all other states in observing the sacredness of Sunday.

The gentleman who just spoke said that Pennsylvania was the only state in the Union that did not allow Sunday fishing. I am proud of the fact. Instead of being an objectionable matter, that Pennsylvania was the only state that observes the sacredness of Sunday, I feel that it is a matter of pride. It is the same old strife between good and evil. It is the same old question: Are we going to disregard God's laws or aren't we?

I repeat this matter of going quietly out and fishing with a hook and line is not by any means the worst of sins. All I object to is acquiring the stamp of legality,—the state stamp of legality on breaking the Sunday laws. This is an effort again to break down the old Sunday Blue laws that we have heard discussed so many times. I am told that in this Legislature more than one hundred bills have been introduced to break down those old Sunday Blue Laws. Members of the House, the Sunday laws are a part of our Christian civilization, and there is no use in quibbing over fishing or the training of dogs or a few of these other things. What this Legislature does as a body you are responsible for as a body and not as individuals and yet these men come in here and bring these bills to disregard the Sunday laws of the great state of Pennsylvania. That is what I want to object to, that this state through its Legislature should put its stamp of approval on the breaking of the Sunday laws. They are not man-made laws, members of the House, they are God's laws. The old Blue Sunday Laws are simply an attempt to carry into effect God's laws that were handed down to the children of men from Mount Sinnai. This House as a body dare not go on record as disregarding those laws. You would be ashamed and your descendents would be ashamed, because it is contrary to God's law.

I realize, just as well as you do that those old Blue Laws as they are called are too drastic for the present day and the present conditions, but by common consent and by common usage we have made those laws flexible. We are not attempting now to enforce them in all their drastic requirements, but by making them flexible we will still have their sentiment. They are the reserve force of the state of Pennsylvania to preserve the sacredness of Sunday. Those old Blue Laws are to Pennsylvania just what the Army and the Navy are to this Nation. They are the reserve force that we do not use every day, or every week, or every year but they stand there ready to be called upon in case of an emergency, and they stand there as a warning to all other nations that the United States of America has a reserve force which may be called into service if and when they need it, and it is just that position that those old Blue Sunday Laws occupy with respect to Pennsylvania, the Keystone State. Why would we do what other states do? We are not following the other states. Pennsylvania is the keystone state, the leader. Let the other states follow Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania ought not to follow the other states. Let Pennsylvania, the keystone state, stand for what it has been standing for more than one hundred years. I am not discussing the evils or good of fishing or training dogs or Sunday baseball or any of these other things. They are part of the laws that they are trying to break down. You all remember hearing Aesop's fable abut the camel that came along and wanted to get his nose under a tent to keep warm, and then he got his head in, then his whole body and took the whole tent over. Now this is just an attempt to get the camel's nose into these old Blue Sunday Laws, and there is no telling where it will stop. I am just asking you as the descendents of the Legislators who made them over one hundred years ago not only to maintain the honor and integrity of Pennsylvania but also to maintain God's laws regarding the sacredness of Sunday.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I arise to object to this bill for several reasons that are very outstanding in the bill.

The first thing, the bill states that no fishing shall be done excepting on lands that are owned by the state or on lands permission to enter upon has been received from their owners.

Do you realize that exactly ten million five hundred seventy-nine thousand acres or five-sixths of the acreage of Pennsylvania is privately owned, leaving one-sixth of that land to be fished upon in the way this bill proposes? Do you realize that the Fish Commission is opposed to this bill because it will mean the prevention of the program that they are now trying so hard to carry out in replenishing these streams with fish? Do you realize that one of the arguments for this bill, as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers says, is that it will allow the poor man to go out on the Sabbath day and fish, but do you also realize the fact that almost every day we are voting to lower the hours of labor per week for the laborer, and that he will have plenty of time during the week days to fish.

This request is coming from the rural districts, this is the only thing that the rural districts are asking from every rural member, that they protect the thing that they hold most sacred, and that is the Sabbath day. The fishing and the dog training in themselves are not what we would call a harmful or sinful desecration of the Sabbath day, but how are we going to answer the men that are coming forth with bills that will absolutely desecrate the Sabbath day? Are they not going to claim that here in this House we granted the privilege of fishing and dog training and all other kind of bills that will affect that day? At this time when everything is in a state of unrest, we have the good rural people back there, they are the safe and sane people that are holding this Nation of ours and this state of ours intact. Are we going to reject their ideas in this matter when all they are asking us to do is to maintain the Sabbath as was intended or are we going to pass seemingly harmless legislation that will have the tendency to break down that day.

I appeal to you members of the House that this is not a case of allowing a few people to fish, it is a case of where we are absolutely going against the wills and the wishes of those people who in our state rely upon us to defend them here in this body.

When you vote let us think this thing over seriously, not favoring a few who would like to fish on that day. Let us favor the many who have absolutely solicited and begged us to retain the Sabbath day as it was in the beginning and always has been.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. McCreary?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. McCreary permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCREARY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that the people of his county, of Erie county, are as good morally and spirtually as the people of the other counties of this state?

Mr. McCREARY. A little better, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state whether or not the people in Erie County fish in Lake Erie on Sunday?

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, they fish about twenty miles from shore with fishing boats and nets.

Mr. SCHROPE. And, Mr. Speaker, are those people inhabitants of Erie County?

Mr. McCREARY. They are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHROPE. Then, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the gentleman stated that they are a little better and in spite of the fact that they fish——

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, may I ask a question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Schuylkill has the floor.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not feel in all fairness that we in Schuylkill, Luzerne and the rest of the counties in Pennsylvania should have the same privileges as those people have in Erie County?

Mr. McCREARY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, if you take a boat and go twenty miles from shore.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, is the Sabbath day limited in Erie County to twenty miles from the shore? Is there any Sabbath?

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, nobody puts a limit on them. That is where the fish are.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. McCreary.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. McCreary, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, you have stated before the members of this house that our state of Pennsylvania is the only state observing these Sunday laws, is that correct, Mr. McCreary?

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I didn't say that. The gentleman over here said that and I quoted him.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. McCreary you represent the county of Erie, is that correct?

Mr. McCREARY. The whole state of Pennsylvania on this matter.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. But the gentleman is elected by the people of the county of Erie in your district.

Mr. McCREARY. Yes sir, by the skin of my teeth.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Will the gentleman say to the members of the House whether he considers that the County of Erie is part of Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCREARY. It lives in New York state but it pays taxes in Pennsylvania.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Will the gentleman state to the House how many moving picture shows and how many theaters are open and whether the whole town is not wide open on Sunday.

Mr. McCREARY. The picture show operators have been arrested three or four times and fined two dollars, as that was what the law fined them. They paid the two dollars and opened up again. They have considered at various times whether they would try to amend this law and change the Blue Laws, and they figured that the cost through the courts and through the Supreme Court and the time it would take would be more than the Churches could afford to pay——

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Just answer yes or no.

Mr. McCREARY. No.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I have been in Erie, I have seen moving picture shows, went to some of their sporting places in Erie on Sunday. Mr. McCreary, will you give the information to this House how the people of your county voted on Sunday sports in nineteen thirty-three, if you know and have the figures.

Mr. McCREARY. The majority was for 238, but only about half the people voted on those amendments, because there was a new voting machine and they didn't know how to use it.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. McCreary, for your information I would like to give you the figures on your county. The vote that was taken in November, in the year 1933 on Sunday sports, which according to your statement was evidence that the County of Erie is not part of Pennsylvania and that they have privileges that other counties in this state don't enjoy, the vote on the Sunday sports Bill in your county was 9,974 for and 4,312 against. So your county seems to be in favor of a liberal Sunday.

Mr. McCREARY. I am going to answer that question whether the gentleman wants me to or not. I am going to tell you frankly and directly that that voting machine was the cause of a general upset. I would not hesitate a moment to wager everything I am worth, which is not a great deal, but such as it is, that if that vote were taken today and they went back to the ballot system, and everybody knew how they were voting that there would be an upset just the other way than what it was the last time.

Mr. BARBER. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the questions propounded by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Shrope, concerning the conditions of Sunday fishing in Erie. I am compelled to state to the members of this House that any Sunday in the year you can go down to the end of our principal street, what we call the public dock, and there you will find from ten to fifty people sitting and fishing and attempting to do what Mr. Sowers says get solace out of hooking one fish.

You can go down to the end of our principal streets in the winter and there on Erie Bay you will find fishing through the ice, perhaps a few or perhaps two thousand people who are attempting to do that very thing, and that is not twenty miles from the shores of Lake Erie, that is within a stone's throw of the City of Erie. In the spring, in the summer and in the fall Lake Erie from one end to the other, and bounded on the south by the City of Erie and the County of Erie is dotted with small fishing craft. On Sunday, and every Sunday—and I hope most of the time after church—we in Erie are enjoying the privileges of Sunday fishing.

The Erie Sportsmen's League, and the Erie County Sportsmen's League both have sent me communications asking that I vote for a Sunday fishing bill. We in Erie believe that while we have the privilege of fishing on Sunday, while we can do what we wish on Sunday, we should not deprive the people of other parts of the State from participating in the same advantages that we have, and from enjoying all those advantages. So I ask the members of this House to believe me when I say that we in Erie fish and don't fish twenty miles out in the lake; that we in Erie have Sunday movies; that we in Erie have voted for a liberal enjoyment of the Sabbath commenserate with what we think a Sabbath should be, that we don't desecrate that Sabbath in any respect but enjoy the things we have. We have a more wholesome respect for the Sabbath day. So I ask not only the members of this House but particularly the members of this House from Erie County to join with the rest of the House in giving to the rest of the state the advantages that we enjoy.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, two years ago when this very measure came up I stood on my feet for the first time in this House and advocated the passage of the Sunday Fishing Bill. Certain other portions of this state had been granted the right to fish on Sunday; a certain part of the Susquehanna River was granted that privilege. All we are asking for now is fair play, that the other part of the state be granted this same privilege.

A while ago my good friend, Mr. Alexander, brought out the thought that the rural sections are not for this bill. I come from a rural section of this state, and I want to read to you a thought that has been expressed to me by the Cambria County Sportsmen's Organization. "It was voted at our meeting to favor Sunday fishing with no changes as to the season. We want your support."

Now, I am arguing in favor of this bill for two reasons. In the first place if it is fair for those counties that border on the Delaware and certain sections of the Susquehanna and Lake Erie then it is fair for the rest of the state. Secondly in behalf of two classes of people, first, the business man, and by that I mean merchants, blacksmiths, doctors, dentists and the like, who must give six days of the week to their profession. Secondly, that class whom I most closely represent, the farmers. The farmer is busy he has not got time to go fishing, he has got to keep his bills paid, he has taxes to pay on his farm and he has no time to go fishing any other day of the week. Why not give this privilege to the country? I know that the Pennsylvania State Grange is opposed to this particular bill, but I ask you in all fairness to find out who is dedicating that policy; who has set up this policy in the Pennsylvania State Grange. I am asking every member to go along and give this privilege to all parts of the state so that no one may look us in the face and say you have been partial in granting this privilege to certain parts of the state and denying it to others.

Last week while on the streets of my town one fellow came to me and said, "Why haven't you done anything to try and get the Sunday fishing bill out? We want you to do your best to bring it out. We want it. Wouldn't it be very much better if our families went and spent a Sunday afternoon along the streams than if they were out in some of our roadhouses, necking parties and gambling places that we have existing on Sunday."

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't intend to take up much of your time, but I arise in opposition to this bill mainly from a conservation standpoint—not from the religious angle at all.

I have in my hands a letter received from the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania saying:

"The United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania in convention of 1934 were unalterably opposed to Sunday fishing not for a religious or moral reason, but as a conservation measure.

"The United Sportsmen being the largest organized body of Sportsmen in Northeastern Pennsylvania respectfully advise and wish you would vote against the various bills pertaining to Sunday fishing. We are opposed to all of them."

It is signed by C. A. Mortimer, corresponding secretary.

I realize that certain sections of this State would be favorably inclined toward a bill of this character, but we must bear in mind that we are legislating for the entire State, and we must bear in mind also that there have been suggestions, and rumors and reports as to the attitude of the farmers who own land abutting upon the fishing streams. It has come to our knowledge that there will be streams posted that are not posted now, and there is one point that I would like to bring to your attention: there is a grave danger of this bill, if passed, becoming a boomerang to the fishermen of this State. If this bill becomes a law, many of the farmers will post their streams and such waters will then be closed all season instead of just one day a week. Don't let us kid ourselves; that's a fact. At one time there may have been an argument for this bill, but that argument has disappeared since the period of unemployment set in some years ago. There is absolutely no sound reason for Sunday fishing under existing conditions. For those reasons I am opposed to this bill from a conservation standpoint and from the fact that it will in my opinion prove a boomerang to the fisherman of the State generally.

Mr. VanSICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the delegation from Northampton county has received from the Federation of Sportsmen clubs, representing all the active sportsmen's clubs of Northampton county a communication in favor of this bill? I may say that Northampton county is classified as a rural community, and to our knowledge we know that many of the members of the clubs mentioned are farmers and that their lands will not be posted.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as the sponsor of a Sunday fishing bill in this House both at the previous session and at this session, most of you will remember that my bill passed the House here two years ago without any amendments such as have been tacked onto this bill. I rise to ask this House to support this measure as the best measure that we can get at this time.

The Sportsmen's organizations of Berks county, both in the city of Reading and outside, are in favor of Sunday fishing. I get more requests and inquiries about Sunday fishing when I am home over the weekend than most anything else. They are very much interested in it, and I understand the majority of this House at this session at least claims to be more liberal than the majority of this House at any previous session, and I merely call your attention to the fact that this House two years ago passed an unqualified Sunday fishing bill. I hope that this House will do at least as much.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is not an objection from a religious standpoint or from a standpoint where they do not want to lose their fish.

I come from a district where there are three thousand members of sportsmen's clubs, and they are very anxious that this bill be passed. So I am in hopes that the vote here will go with us and pass this bill. I am sure it will be appreciated.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose the passage of this bill for the reason that it is the most selfish bill that could be introduced in this House. If it is enacted into law it will defeat the very purpose for which it is intended.

Do you realize that we have three hundred and twelve days open to the fishermen and that if you have a license to fish in the State of Pennsylvania that you may catch 56,840 fish? Do you realize that in the State of Pennsylvania 92 days are open for trout fishing and that you are allowed, if you hold a license to catch 20 trout a day or a total in the season of 1840? Do you realize that the hunters of the State of Pennsylvania have but 13 days open in Pennsylvania to hunt deer and birds? Do you realize that the hunters of Pennsylvania have but 25 days to hunt rabbits and squirrels, and yet you would deprive the hunters of the State of Pennsylvania of their pleasure by having the country people not only closing their property to fishing but having them put up a "no trespass" sign which will work a hardship on the hunters of the State of Pennsylvania? Do you realize that in the State of Pennsylvania there are just 5603 miles of pure water in which trout may live? Do you realize that in the State of Pennsylvania there are just 3796 miles of warm water in which bass and the secondary game fish live and of which 3796 miles, 2343 are in class B—they are partially polluted streams? Do you also realize that in the State of Pennsylvania we have 15,983 miles of streams that are polluted in which no sign of fish can live? Do you realize that in Pennsylvania the Fish Commission of this State is going to be up against an economic problem in their hatcheries in the years 1935-36? They produced and put in to the streams of Pennsylvania in 1934, 595,839,461 in fish from these hatcheries. Do you realize that in the State of Pennsylvania we purchased 615,000 pounds of meat to be used in our hatcheries and that last year we purchased that meat at four and a half cents a pound? Do you know that this year the lowest bid we have for meat in the State of Pennsylvania is eight and a half cents a pound? Last year in the State of Pennsylvania the Fish Commissioner of the State of Pennsylvania was one of the largest purchasers of meat in our State. He purchased 615,000 pounds of meat at a cost of four and a half cents a pound, and this year in sending out for bids the lowest price that he has received has been eight and a quarter cents a pound. Do you realize that we are going to have to economize in the number of fish and fingerlings that we produce in the State of Pennsylvania to put into our streams? Do you realize that in the State of Ohio, a state that is dotted with many small lakes, that those small lakes are about fished out and that the Ohio fishermen are praying that we will enact a Sunday law so that they may come into the State of Pennsylvania? Do you realize that in the State of New York Lake Champlain alone has about ten times as much water as all the inland waters in the State of Pennsylvania have?

I think that this is a most selfish bill. One of the sponsors of this bill agreed that he would permit me to offer an amendment which would make it a question of local option for the counties. One of the sponsors was agreeable to do that, the other was not. I would say to you that if you want to make an unfair bill, if you want to give my county, where the sportsmen are 98 percent against such a bill, not only on account of the fishing but on account of the hunting and if you want to deprive the fishermen and the hunters from having adequate streams and having adequate properties upon which to hunt and fish you should pass this bill but I hope you will not pass this bill.

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Holstrom, Kilroy, J. J. Baker, Holland, Hetrick, Alexander, Brumbaugh, Shugarts, Frank P. Hamilton, Decker, Fitch, Hirsch, Moore, Rhys, Castor, Cordier, F. T. Baker, McDermott, John E. Brown, Welliver, Stank, Harmuth and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 132, Printer's No. 245, on page 7 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. John E. Brown.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 132, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the employment of miners in the bituminous coal mines unless certificated after examination by a miners examining board; providing for the appointment of such boards, and defining their powers and duties; and providing penalties.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 132 is a very important measure. Under the present act we have thousands upon thousands of coal miners going into the bowels of the earth to produce coal without any knowledge of the coal mines, and the result has been that we have had many thousands of fatal accidents.

Under this act a new man coming into the coal fields shall act as an apprentice with a qualified and experienced coal miner for two years. After two years he has the privilege of taking an examination and if he should pass he shall have a permit qualifying him as an experienced coal miner.

Secondly, it is much needed measure to protect organized labor. Under the present act if organized labor should come out on a strike tomorrow the coal operator is privileged to cross the state and bring in inexperienced coal miners and produce coal while these men back here in this Commonwealth are fighting for a cause.

This is a non-partisan measure. The anthracite fields have it today and it is a very much needed bill in the bituminous fields. It is a protection to both the operators and the employees, and I hope that every member of this House will give this bill due consideration.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped to get along without any discussion on this bill, because the bill is simple. Every member can read it over and see what it is It is easily understood. It is not technical. It does not have the Latin phrases that you will find in the bills that our lawyer friends get up. It is simply a safety measure, gentlemen.

Mining is considered a very hazardous job. You will find out by making inquiry of the insurance companies that they consider it so and that they charge the highest rate for insurance from a miner. If an inexperienced miner would get into a mine he would not know just where to set his post. There are lots of things that he might do that would result in his injury.

This bill requires that an inexperienced miner shall work with one of experience. I have received a great many letters from moners' organizations, and this bill was put in at the request of the miners. I have not received a single protest from the operators themselves. The operators feel that everything that will cut down compensation is very much in their interest, and I would ask you to give your support to the bill.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker and members of the Assembly, coming as I do from the bituminous coal mining region of Pennsylvania I feel that this bill should be passed.

The purpose of this bill is to grant a certificate to miners who have had practical experience in bituminous mines for a period of at least two years, and who shall present such certificate when being hired as a coal miner in Pennsylvania.

The object of this bill is as a safety measure, and should meet with the approval of every fair minded operator. Coal mine owners as well as miners should be for this bill for the reason that when this bill is put into effect it is a forward step in avoiding accidents and preventing disasters.

We should realize that the occupation of a miner is a hazardous one, and should have every safe guard possible. These men go down into the bowels of the earth to earn their livelihood and bring forth the fuel for the various industries, as well as bring comfort to mankind, deserve your every consideration.

I hope that this bill will pass this House by a big majority.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Brown, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. NAGEL. Not having studied some of the particular features of this bill, I would like to know whether or not this bill affects a miner or a man owning a mine where he operates that mine himself—whether or not he will have to procure a miner's certificate?

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean on his own farm, his own premises?

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, on his own premises.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the reason I am speaking at this time is for the protection of some of the small mines in the district from which I come, where they operate with perhaps one or two or three miners.

We fully realize that in these larger mines there is danger lurking on all sides. I believe that this bill has great merit and I believe that these miners should have protection, yet again we must be careful that we do not enact legislation that will crowd out the little man whom we in our Democratic principles and promises have stated that we should protect. For that reason I feel that this bill should have in it some amendment that would protect the little miner where there are not more than three miners working, because in these small mines there is not the danger that there is in the larger mines.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1

Muir,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 609, entitled:

An Act to further amend section seventeen of the act approved the tweny-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 858), entitled "An act establishing a State employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board of the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes, defining the uses and purpose thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve; excepting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," permitting the assignment of rights by members in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Brumbaugh.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRUMBAUGH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman just how this proposed bill differs from the regular state retirement fund that we now have in force.

Mr. BRUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman, I do not believe that it does differ. In this the employes have a union of their own. Any member or any state employe can join this union. They can borrow up to three hundred dollars by paying in six per cent interest. If they don't have the three hundred dollars, they can't borrow. It is for the purpose of sickness or hospital bills; that is the purpose of this bill—that they may provide for themselves or for their families if they are in need.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I do not yet understand the gentleman. If the employes now have a state retirement fund, why should they need this extra one? I do not catch the connection there, if there is any.

Mr. BRUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I don't know that it is an extra. It is just permitting them to borrow. It is not an extra.

Mr. McCREARY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but it would require the State to make an appropriation and establish a bureau to take care of it, would it not?

Mr. BRUMBAUGH. No; it is their own fund, Mr. Speaker,—no appropriation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1206, as follows:

An Act to fix the status of officers and employes of the Commonwealth and political subdivisions thereof while in training with the armed forces of the United States

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all officers and employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or of any political sub-division thereof members either enlisted or commissioned of any reserve component of the United States Army Navy or Marine Corps shall be entitled to leave of absence from their respective duties without loss of pay time or efficiency rating on all days not exceeding thirty in any one year during which they shall as members of such reserve components be engaged in the active service of the United States or in field training ordered or authorized by the Federal forces

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if I understand this bill correctly, it will require not only the Commonwealth, but every borough, township, school district, poor district, county or other political sub-division of the Commonwealth to give any member of the reserve officers training corps or any other reserve component of the United States Army, Navy or Marines thirty days vacation with pay while they attend training in these respective units. I do not think that such a measure is either necessary or desirable, and I propose to vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. SHAW (By Request) (Concurrent).
RESOLUTION No. 100.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1935.

Whereas, Many individual home and property owners are presently distressed because, by reason of economic conditions and unemployment, they are without income to pay interest and principal on mortgages or taxes levied by political subdivisions; and

Whereas, Many of such individuals have saved for years in order to acquire homes for themselves and for their children, only to find their savings swept away by economic circumstances over which they have no control; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the General Assembly, the Senate and the House of Representatives concurring therein, that for a period of three years a moratorium be granted to all classes of individuals, and all classes of small business men owning homes and other properties with distressed mortgages, and that during said period all proceeding by foreclosure, execution and tax sale be stayed on all distressed mortgages of above mentioned persons; and be it therefore

Resolved, That three Members of the Senate and three Members of the House of Representatives be appointed to draft and submit suitable legislation to carry this resolution into effect.

The President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House are hereby designated to make the necessary appointments.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 19, 1935.

Whereas, The provisions of the Act of June 3, 1887, P. L. 338, clearly show that a constitutional centennial commission was organized in Philadelphia in 1886 for the purpose of providing for a proper celebration of the centennial anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the convention which framed it, which commission was composed of commissioners appointed by the Governor of the several states and territories of the United States; and

Whereas, A celebration which became an outstanding event was held in the city of Philadelphia, September 15, 16 and 17, 1887; and

Whereas, The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the convention occurs on September 17th, 1937, and it is fitting and proper that said event should be celebrated in the City of Philadelphia where the instrument, which made a unique contribution to the political science of the world, was written and adopted; theerfore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That each state and territory of the United States be invited to arrange for the appointmnt of a delegate to become a member of a Constitutional Sesqui-Centennial Commission, that the name of the delegate so appointed be transmitted to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that said commission meet at such time and place as may be fixed by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of arranging a suitable program for such celebration;

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth be authorized to appoint a delegate for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to serve on said Constitutional Sesqui-Centennial Commission;

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of each state and territory of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

The SPEAKER. The hour of 8:30 having arrived, the Chair lays before the House the special order on third reading and final passage fixed for this hour.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 925, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for State and city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment, collection, and lien of the same, and the distribution of the proceeds thereof; imposing duties on executors, administrators, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries and court clerks, and on persons, copartnerships, associations, banks, national banks, trust companies, and other corporations receiving deposits of money, and on certain corporations and limited partnerships; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in rising for the purpose of supporting this bill I believe I can safely say that this bill perhaps can and will receive the support of the majority of the members of this House regardless of their party affiliations.

I listened on Monday and Tuesday in this House to the debate on the part of the members on the other side of the House and then with a great deal of interest and perhaps with curiosity I listened to their speeches relative to the other bills, and I have noted that at least they were in accord in one proposition, and that was that wealth itself should be taxed.

I submit to the members of this House tonight that this bill does the very thing that they have been asking to have done. It is levying a tax directly upon wealth itself. It should also appeal to all the members of this House for the reason that it is not a new tax but an old one that has heretofore been collected by the counties in this state. The bill proposes now to take that collection from the counties and place it with the Revenue Department of this state. It should also appeal to the members of this House for the reason that it is not taking away from the counties the complete revenue that they have previously received. As a matter of fact, after you go into the detail of the figures, you will find it is going to return to the counties of this state a greater sum of money than they have been able to collect. Perhaps the reason why the counties have been unable to collect has been due to dilatory tactics on the part of the County Commissioners, but also in charity, I can say that it was due in part to the fact that they did not have the means nor the methods of ascertaining where the personal property was located. As a matter of fact, I think it has been a tax that in the main has been self-collected. By that I means to say if an individual made a return, it was perfectly all right—it was taxed, but if he did not make a return, then the property was not taxed. Under the methods proposed in this bill, all of it will be taxed In addition to that those who are the owners of stocks and bonds and other intangible securities, that the ordinary county has not been able to ascertain, the Commonwealth does have the facilities and the means of ascertaining it and will be able to collect it.

As to the figure that this bill will produce, it will produce in the biennium to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the sum of $49,600,000 and it will produce for the counties of this state a similar sum and that, if you please, is over twice as much—I am speaking of the counties now—the counties will receive twice as much in funds as they are now collecting, and at the same time it will solve one of the major problems facing this Commonwealth; that is, to meet and pay the budget that we have before us, to pay the deficit that has been passed on to us and to maintain the poor and the unemployed of this Commonwealth, and above all I am saying to you members on the other side of the House that that certainly must appeal to you. If I am to believe the words of your leaders uttered here on Monday and Tuesday evenings last, I do not think I need say anything further to this House regarding this bill, save possibly to ask that you will support the bill, as I know every Democrat in this House and every Socialist will do, and I am, therefore, asking you to join with us in passing this bill for the purpose of placing the expenses of the administration of this State upon those shoulders that are best able to pay them.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe stated in his speech that there was an estimated revenue from this tax of $49,600,000. May I ask the gentleman to state where he got that estimate from?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, from the Department of Revenue and, in addition to that, from various other statistics and figures relative to the wealth of the Commonwealth.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, and what does the gentleman from Monroe find that the wealth of this Commonwealth is estimated to be in accordance with that figure?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the wealth of the Commonwealth in accordance with that figure is thirty-two billion dollars, of which ten billion dollars is real estate wealth twenty-two billions is personal.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman where he got that estimate from?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, that estimate is based on the World Almanac figures and is on the basis of the per capita valuation of $3,187 multiplied by the number of people or the number of inhabitants in this Commonwealth.

Mr. MASON. The gentleman also stated that twenty-two billion dollars of that amount can be taxed as personal property either tangible or intangible; is that correct? Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not quite correct for the reason that some of that wealth figure is represented by tax exempt securities. However, I should like to point out to the gentleman that the figure of returned revenue that I have given to him is based only on the taxable wealth of eight billion three hundred million and not the twenty-two billion that I mentioned before.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman is familiar with the figures of the collections of the present personal property tax in the counties?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe on what basis that is taken and what is the total amount in dollars shown as a return under the present act?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it yields a revenue as I recall, of approximately between nine and ten millions of dollars. May I point out to the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Speaker, that on the figures which we have that it would indicate that approximately only half of the mortgages on real estate in Pennsylvania at the present time are paying the personal property tax.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe whether there are any other changes under the proposed legislation from the present act now in effect other than the change in millage and the method of collection?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, there is. For instance, bank accounts. I am speaking of interest-bearing accounts.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe state that the exemption on interest-bearing accounts in banks is removed under the proposed legislation?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker; I did so state.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe state whether or not there are any other changes in the proposed legislation from the present act?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will say just at the moment "No."

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, is the answer "No?"

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I believe so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, if the figures of collection under the present act are approximately correct, will the gentleman from Monroe state what will happen to the counties that would receive thereafter less than what they are securing at the present time.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I doubt very much if there is any county that will receive less under this plan than they are now receiving, for the reason that no county in the Commonwealth at the present is effectively and completely collecting these taxes.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe if that is a statement of fact or merely an estimate?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is a statement of fact made from these various statistical records.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe give the statistics and the records upon which he bases that statement of fact?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman means as to any individual county, that I cannot do.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, as to the state at large?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, as to the state at large, for instance, take the funded indebtedness of this Commonwealth which is approximately fourteen billion dollars and of which perhaps approximately five billion dollars is exempt, which leaves approximately nine billion dollars. In addition to that all forms various securities, stocks and so forth there is estimated that there is an equal amount in existence which of course are approximately some fourteen billion dollars.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Monroe familiar with the four mill tax on municipal bonds.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the four mill tax be changed in any way by the passage of this proposed legislation?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe state that there is no intention to change that four mill tax to six mills?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. My recollection is, Mr. Speaker, and I think it serves me correctly, that that particular situation is met by Section three—no; I will correct my statement. The same tax will apply.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Monroe familiar with the methods whereby municipalities secure the monies with which to pay taxes?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Surely, Mr. Speaker—taxation.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe state whether that taxation would be by real estate or by personalty—be on the real estate or personalty?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in the main it would of course be on real estate but they would also be receiving an income from this particular tax.

Mr. MASON. In other words, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe does state that it will be an additional real estate tax in so far as municipal bonds are concerned?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if it were possible to follow each cent that is used—which, of course, is impossible it would be taken from the county general fund and conceivably might be some of the same money that is raised by this proposed tax.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe tell me by what method the Department of Revenue intends to collect this tax?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the act specifically provides for the Department to set up the machinery, naming of course the necessary personnel to help collect it. The act is very full, complete and comprehensive thereon, if the gentleman has read the act.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe tell me whether he has any estimates, figures or facts showing the number of employes and the amount of money that will necessarily be involved if the Department of Revenue should take over the collection of this tax?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have any information as to numbers but only as a basis as you have noticed, or I presume you have noticed that there is a one half per cent charge to the counties for collection, which represents a proportional basis.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe know whether or not in fixing the assessed valuation of counties for taxable purposes the personalty is considered under this act or any portion thereof is used?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I don't understand the question. Will the gentleman from Luzerne repeat it?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe undoubtedly knows of the assessed valuation of taxables upon which their yearly tax millage is based?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe state whether or not the counties in figuring the assessed valuation for taxable purposes include personalty tangible or intangible under this act.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Whether the counties themselves will after the passage of this act, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, at the present time?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, at the present time certainly in arriving at their tax figure on real estate they will estimate or at least should estimate their income from the personal property tax. However, I might add to that that the revenue that they will receive under this act will be more than what they are now collecting, so that it should not hurt their estimates.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe state whether or not the taking away of this personal property tax will in any way change the counties bonded indebtedness insofar as the two per centum constitutional clause is concerned?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. My gracious, no, Mr. Speaker. If the gentleman would just read the preamble of the act he would see most distinctly and clearly that it does not affect their borrowing capacity in the least. May I add something further.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe may.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. If in their triennial assessment the amount would be fixed with the possibility of your borrowing capacity being infringed or injured, because with the falling prices of real estate conceivably your assessment would fall to such a figure, that as a matter of fact you had exceeded your borrowing capacity. This act and the results of it, if anything, will improve the values of your real estate. Referring again to the first part of my answer I say most distinctly that the borrowing capacity is not involved, and I might add that when you do have a final and complete assessment in your county, you will find that the assesment figures will be larger and, as a consequence, your borrowing capacity will be greater. It is most beneficial to a county.

Mr. MASON. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe states that by the passage of this legislation we will benefit the counties insofar as their borrowing capacity is concerned?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, beyond the peradventure of a doubt.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as the gentleman from Monroe stated in his speech to the members of the House, this is not new legislation. There is no doubt whatsoever that in tracing back its history we can find out what the intent and what the purpose of the original act was and of the succeeding amendments or supplemental acts.

However, the gentleman from Monroe in stating that there were only one or two changes in this act erred considerably, and I feel that it is only fair to all of the members of the House that we place on record at least some of the more important changes occasioned by the passage of such new legislation, so that we may properly point out to our constituents exactly what act we are voting "yes" and "no" on. I will read several of them that I have found in studying the act.

As we all know, of course it increases the present tax from four to six mills.

2. It levies the tax for state and county purposes instead of county purposes solely.

3. It divides the tax equally—one-half to the state, one-half to the county.

4. It substitutes the Department of Revenue for the county as the tax collecting.

In addition, there are numerous other changes.

It removes the general exemption from corporations or limited partnerships paying a capital stock tax confining said exemptions solely to banks.

It gives partial exemption to corporations or limited partnerships liable to a franchise or capital stock tax for state purposes.

It removes the exemption on stocks and so forth held by bankers or brokers for trading purposes.

It removes the exemption of accounts and debit balances between customers and brokers in stock transactions.

It removes the exemptions from depositors in saving institutions having no capital stock.

It takes out the restriction that personal property taxable under this act cannot be taxed for any state purposes.

It removes the exemption that the act shall not apply to personal property received by others for the use and benefit of any non-residents or foreign corporations not doing business within this State.

It removes the proviso that assessors shall prepare an estimated return for those failing to file and add fifty per cent to their estimate and use the aggregate amount computed as the basis for taxation.

The proposed tax fixes a ten per cent penalty for those failing or refusing to file a return.

It proposes an interest charge of twelve per cent per annum on each tax from the date due and payable unless an appeal is taken to the amount of the tax.

It eliminates the penal clause applying to assessors who make a fraudulent return.

It eliminates the usury clause which makes it unlawful for the lender to require the borrower to pay the tax on the loan.

It makes the counties responsible for any costs in legal proceedings for violations of this act.

It provided that all fees, fines, penalties and bail forfeitures shall go to the Commonwealth.

It charges the county one and one-half per cent for the collection of the tax, and it raises the state tax on private and public scrip, bonds and so forth to six mills. In addition to that it removes the exemption from savings accounts. Those savings accounts were placed on the exempted list in the session of nineteen thirty-three because of the great protest and public indignation against the tax on those accounts. In regard to portions of the bill and changes therein not saying that the changes themselves are bad but for the purpose of thoroughly explaining the sections of the bill to the members of the House. I have listened with interest to the explanation of the gentleman from Monroe as to the estimate upon which this revenue is based, and it is amazing that we can figure out on the basis of the World Almanac how much money the State of Pennsylvania shall receive; that is turning it from a mere almanac to the bible of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when it comes to taxation.

Let me call attention to the proponent of this bill who appeared before the Ways and Means Committee. He mentioned the World Almanac and in order to bolster up his stand he likewise brought in a book written by Warburg, a banker of New York City, estimating this and that, taking a written page here and there, dividing this by that and so on, and finally working out a method whereby we had in the state of Pennsylvania twenty-two billions liable to this six mill tax, but he was not the only one that had a figure. Oh, no; the Governor of the Commonwealth in his inauguration speech stated to the people of this Commonwealth that up to the present time we have taxed real estate ninety per cent and personal property but ten per cent and that is all wrong he said because sixty per cent of the wealth of this state is subject to a tax on wealth itself and this personal property tax should be levied on that sixty per cent. Let us take the figures of the gentleman from Monroe of thirty-two billions and take sixty per cent of that and you find that the Governor of the Commonwealth has nineteen billion subject to a personal property tax and then move down to the Administration itself. We turn to the Department of Revenue and by that time the tax has dwindled down from nineteen billion to eight billion dollars upon which a personal property tax can be levied, and this is given to the members of the House just as its proponent said before the Ways and Means Committee, the most important piece of legislation in the present session of the Legislature—these figures are taken out of the air, plus the World Almanac as the basis upon which we shall get forty-nine million dollars of revenue in the next biennium when we have statistics and data collected from the various counties of the state showing what the collections have been in the past by the counties themselves.

Let me call your attention to another thing. The finger again has been pointed to the pages of our Legislative Journal since the beginning of this session that we must ease the burden on the property owner. It has been said in the inauguration of the Governor, it has been said a number of times upon the floor of this House that that should be done, and if you will turn to the preamble of the act of 1891 the act which said that three mills of a four mill personal property tax should be returned to the county, you will find almost the self-same words that have been quoted here, where we urge taking the tax off real estate:

"Whereas, there is a widespread demand for the enactment of such measures as will bring about the equalization of taxation and the relief of local taxation upon real estate," and for that reason the act of 1891 took from the state the collection of three mills of the four mill property tax and returned it to the county. That was the basis when the tax was given to the counties in the first place. That was the basis for the act of 1913 which said that the counties should receive the entire four mills to equalize taxation and take it off real estate. It is true undoubtedly that there are some errors in this act, it is true undoubtedly that in some of the counties and may happen in a large proportion of the counties, for all I know, a number of people are evading their just share of collection under this tax but I wonder if we are not going to miss that golden opportunity of relief to the property owner by passing this act. Do you realize that all we have to do if they say that this act is not working out is to put the teeth in the act that they say are necessary and ask for the cooperation between the state government and the various county governments that the proponents of this act say will be found between the state and county governments.

Leave the counties collect it, the six mill tax, and you will go back to the county and be able to say that we have cut real estate taxation in your county in half. Turn to your County Commissioners and say that we have given you the method whereby this tax can be collected, we have given to you the method whereby you can enforce collection upon those who refuse to pay or who conceal any of their assets and we will have lived up to our pledges. Go now and cut the real estate tax and we will have lived up to our pledges, we will have lived up to our vow, we will have lived up to the request of our Governor that we ease the burden upon the property owner at home.

There is another thing that I feel is of prime importance and that I ought to call to your attention in reference to this act. There is absolutely no safeguard to any of the counties if this act goes through and these various forms of estimates fail. Do you realize that if the form of collection under the proposed act does not bring in the revenue that it is supposed to bring in, but brings in only three mills instead of four mills, and from the three mills you take one and one-half per cent for collection purposes and turn it over to the Commonwealth, and from that three mills that goes back to the county you take out costs and so on for the enforcement of the collection in the form of legal action and turn back the balance to the county, it gives no safeguard that I can see to the county. If this act is passed and if our estimate is merely a dream and is not actually based on concrete figures and facts, we can say we will protect you, we will put in this act a paragraph that will state that you will receive, regardless of what the revenue is that comes in under this act, at least a sufficient amount to cover your average, let us say for the last five or seven years for the collection of this tax. If we did that than at least we could protect the counties in part. But, no, there is nothing like that and if the tax fails, if the estimates are wrong, what happens? They must go back again and they proceed to get that difference in revenue between what they are getting now under the four mill tax and what they are going to get from the Commonwealth, and they will look to the only method of taxation left, the man that we are supposed to help, the property owner, and they will pass the difference in that tax right on to the property owners. There is no doubt about that. There is no doubt that the counties are not safeguarded in any way, and that sixty-seven counties in the State of Pennsylvania are relying, hoping and praying that the World Almanac is absolutely correct; they are banking on those utterances concerning the wealth of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I just merely want to call your attention to one other point, and that is that they have removed the exemption on savings accounts. You who were members in the session of 1933, know the general appeal that came to you from various sections of the State, asking you to exempt the poor man, the small man, that had saved a mere pittance and was keeping it in the bank,—"save him from this tax." You who were members at that time know that at the regular session we passed a bill, and that that bill itself was not a sufficient safeguard, so that at the special session of 1933, when we came back again, we amended it to make sure that it was proper and that this exemption should take place, and now, after one year you have turned around and you say, we will not exempt them, we will tax them again, as we should tax them, and we will include that in the revenue. There can not have been such a change in the Commonwealth within the last year, that the cries and the pleas that came from the various sections of the Commonwealth one year ago have changed to a demand that they be taxed now instead of being exempted.

I feel, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, that the bill in its present form is not a safeguard to the county, it is not fair and is not a just and proper method of aiding the counties and aiding the state even in the securing of its revenues.

You who come from Allegheny County, where you have collected two million dollars as an average from 1928 to 1932, do you want to go back to your county, and if this act fails, say, "Well, we had a copy of the World Almanac, which should know." You from Armstrong County and you from Berks County, that collected on an average from 1928 to 1932 three hundred sixty seven thousand and some odd dollars per year, do you care to go back and make that same report, if the act fails as a revenue raising measure. I can carry that right on through to Bucks County, Chester County, Cumberland County, Dauphin County, Delaware County, that collected four hundred and forty thousand dollars as an average, who put forth every effort to collect the tax,—right down the line to Northampton, Montgomery, Luzerne, Lehigh and York, all of them,that have really tried and hoped to collect under this act and have made a success out of it. Do you want to go back, you who represent those counties, and say, that we failed because we didn't safeguard the counties. It may be true that in some of the counties, where they have not collected, under this act they may show a gain. But there again those who have tried to enforce collection will be the ones to suffer. For that reason I am personally going to vote against the passage of this legislation, and I submit to the members of the House that the legislation in its present form is not fair, is not correct and should be voted down.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Mason.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MASON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Luzerne admit that the information now in the hands of the County Commissioners in the various counties of Pennsylvania, on which the assessments are now levied and collected, would likewise be available to the department here in Harrisburg?

Mr. MASON. Undoubtedly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Luzerne inform the members of the House whether it is not correct that the expenses of collection on the part of the counties range up as high as three and a half per cent?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I haven't got the figure, and so I cannot state, but I will assume that that statement is correct.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. From those figures, Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Luzerne admit that the collection of this tax insofar as the counties are concerned will be cheaper than the present method?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, based upon the figures that the gentleman has given I would say that they would correspond or be practically the same; that they would reach about the same.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Luzerne say that the difference between one and one-half and three and one-half was practically the same?

Mr. MASON. No, Mr. Speaker; and I did not so state.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I beg the gentleman's pardon. Will the gentleman from Luzerne admit that with the additional tax from bank accounts alone the returns to the respective counties would exceed the amount they are now receiving on mortgages and such other securities on which they are collecting?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean that the return from savings accounts alone would equal or exceed the amount they are collecting under the present act?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, would equal or exceed the amount they are collecting under the present act, yes.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, I regret to state that I do not have any such figure, but I doubt very much if you would find that would be correct.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, but at least the gentleman from Luzerne would admit that the returns to the county would exceed the amounts that they are now receiving?

Mr. MASON. No; I wouldn't admit that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Luzerne, state how much the counties are collecting under the tax?

Mr. MASON. The estimate that I have, Mr. Speaker, for the last two years is merely based upon the 1928-32 exact figures of the Department of Internal Affairs and under that I believe you will find they have been collecting in 1934 eleven to twelve million dollars total.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, and can the gentleman from Luzerne advise me how much of that has come from mortgages?

Mr. MASON. As I stated, Mr. Speaker, I haven't that sub-divided. I might state for the benefit of the gentleman from Monroe and for the benefit of the members of this House that I personally in the last three weeks have tried by every method conceivable to secure from the Department of Revenue and from the present administration some figures upon which I could base figures of my own for purposes of comparison and that I have been unable up until the present time, when the gentleman from Monroe stated a few figures, to secure anything at all from either the Department of Revenue or the present administration in any form.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Monroe to define "Personal Property" in view of the fact that the act is a tax on personal property and it doesn't define what "Personal Property" is.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is in error. The act specifically states the various types of personal property that are subject to this tax. Very truthfully, it does not tax all personal property but rather property in the form of securities and of a similar nature.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, isn't the actual definition of "Personal Property"—that is, as distinguished from real estate—that personal property is readily and easily movable from one place to another?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, that in a broad sense is correct, of course, but this act definitely states what particular types of personal property are taxable. It does not propose for one minute to tax household furniture, it does not propose to tax automobiles. I am naming those just as examples. A reference to the act itself will tell you definitely the types of personal property that are to be taxed and no other.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Monroe whether or not practically every item of personal property taxable under this act cannot be readily and easily withdrawn from this Commonwealth and taken by the owner to some other place, such as Florida, where it would not be taxable, whether bank deposits, which are taxable under this bill, cannot without any restraint whatever be taken from the banks of Pennsylvania to banks elsewhere?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is true. Of course we might have an exodus of all of our people and then practically the only form of wealth that could be taxable would be real estate. If the gentleman is anticipating an exodus of all the people, then his interpretation, I assume, would be correct, but then of course we would not need any taxes.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, who will pay a tax under this, the man who keeps his money in a bank account or the man who hoards his money?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Of course, Mr. Speaker, this is taxing the bank accounts most assuredly. Wealth that cannot be found is not taxable.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, on page twenty-three of this act it is stated that this is a tax of six mills on each dollar of the nominal value thereof. Would this tax be placed on the thousand dollar nominal value of a defaulted bond or upon the market value, the value to the holders?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. On the market value, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Will the gentleman read the act, please, Mr. Speaker? I refer to page twenty-three.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will correct my statement, Mr. Speaker. It is on the nominal value.

Mr. KANE. I would like to ask the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Speaker, upon what basis that tax would be assessed upon a judgment held by a resident of this Commonwealth against a man who cannot pay, which judgment is uncollectable at the present time?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knows or I presume he knows that such an individual could of course surrender his judgment, for it has no value; it would certainly be of no value. If he has something of value or feels it is of value, he would of course pay his tax on it.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I consider that reply evasive and I would like to ask the gentleman a similar question in a different form. May I do so?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, suppose that the judgment is not valueless but is worth approximately two hundred dollars on the nominal value thereof; that is, twenty per cent of the nominal value, as a great part of our securities and bonds and other things are at the present time, would you collect from that man six mills on a thousand dollars or six mills on two hundred dollars which he could get if he sold it.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, on the thousand dollars, of course, but that doesn't make any greater difference than is now represented by the returns on real estate where your taxes take in approximately one-third of the normal income of that real estate. The proportion is no greater here than you will find existing on real estate.

Mr. KANE. Wouldn't the passage of this act, as it is drawn result in the withdrawal of money from the banks of Pennsylvania, in the hoarding of money to escape the tax and an effort on the part of those who hold judgments that they cannot collect in full to collect all that they can immediately.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I can answer that question of the gentleman by saying that a similar act was in effect especially pertaining to bank accounts up to and including 1933. I have not heard or did not hear of any great withdrawal of the monies from the banks by the individuals at that time and I presume that they will not do so now; basing that presumption upon the conduct of the people of this Commonwealth previous to 1933.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the date that the gentleman stated. Would he please state the date?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, 1933. If my recollections serves me correctly that was at the time that interest accounts in the banks were exempted. Previous to that time a four mill tax was collectible, whether it was collected or not I can't say, but at least it was subject to a tax and I never heard of any individual running to the banks at that time to withdraw their accounts so that they would not have to pay the tax.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, would the sponsor of this bill feel that the bill would be fairer to the tax-payer if the tax were on the actual value of the personal property rather than to put the tax on its nominal value?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I believe this bill is as fair to the owners of personal property as our present tax laws are to the owners of real estate. I cannot see any differentation between them or cannot make any differentation between them and the owners of real estate. I believe this act is as equitable and just to the owners of personal property as are our present taxes to the owners of real estate.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I regret that I should have to take the part of Delaware County in this matter, but some statements were made regarding that county against which perhaps I may have a few facts.

You probably know that most counties have not been diligent in the collection of the personal property tax, because they have not insisted that a return be made or that a penalty be levied. This tax bill will have a very harmful affect upon the county of Delaware which I represent. In our case, the county has made a very diligent and successful effort to levy and collect the four mill personal property tax. The figures as prepared by the Board of Assessment in revision of taxes, show that the county has been successful in levying and collecting greater taxes in the year 1934 than they did in the year 1929 when personal property values were at their highest. As an example, in the year 1929, personal property assessment was $100,000,000 and in the year 1934, it was $108,000,000. On the basis of last year's figures, the County collected $432,000 on the four mills personal property tax.

Under the provisions of this new bill, the State would colect $648,000 of which half is returnable to the County, or $324,000, making a loss to the County of Delaware of $108,000. These are facts. This loss can only be made up by increasing the tax on real estate, which is a deplorable thing to do at this time, and will mean an increase on our real estate of practically three-fourths of a mill. And I am told in the case of Montgomery of one and two-tenths mills.

The proponents of this bill claim that they will be able to uncover a great deal more of taxable personal property, and this increase will more than compensate the counties for the loss sustained by this bill, but I am positive in the case of Delaware County, that this will not be true. As our records prove, the county has been very efficient in levying and collecting these taxes.

This bill also has a very damaging effect upon the financial structure of our county, and I believe some other counties of the State. The borrowing capacity of the counties is computed on the basis of the total assessment valuation of real estate and personal property. Many counties have borrowed nearly to their limit at the present time, and if this tax becomes a State tax, the counties lose the assessment valuation on personal property and therefore many counties will become over-borrowed. Am I correct in that statement, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe?

Mr. SPROUL. I wil proceed Mr. Speaker.

This is true in our county because we have been diligent in the collection of this tax. In the mechanics of this bill before you, which relate to the filing of returns and appeals, the ordinary citizen is very likely to become a prey to his own unknowing error. If they fail to make returns, the Department makes an assessment and they get a notice from Harrisburg, a point far removed from their homes. They are confused and do not know what to do with it. If they do not make a protest of the assessment within thirty days, they are forever barred from appeal and again under this bill, if they fail to make a return and later on the assessment is made and they go in and make a return, then under this bill the Department is required to add a penalty of ten per cent. There is no leeway to relieve this poor tax payer against it as he is subject to the penalty of ten per cent and in addition is subject to the interest of six per cent from the time he should have made the return.

I do not believe that there is anyone present who upon being asked by a tax payer as to what stocks and bonds are returnable, would be able to give a definite answer, therefore instead of the tax payer going to his county seat to find out what securities are returnable, he will have to communicate with Harrisburg by mail, which is in a lot of cases very unsatisfactory and if the tax payer goes beyond the period when such returns should be made, he is liable for this assessment penalty on his assessment together with a six per cent interest.

Again I would say that this bill benefits those who have not exerted strenuous efforts to collect, penalizes severely those who have, stifles initiative in public office, whereas it should encourage efficient public servants. If other counties had collected as we did, I believe you would be on your feet opposing this bill.

In closing, I wish to state that our biggest objection to this bill is the fact that the County Commissioner will have to levy an increased tax on real estate if this measure is passed. This is against the principles and platform of both parties and we deplore very much the passage of a bill that will make this necessary in our County.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MELCHIORRE, from the Committee on Ways and Means asked and obtained unanimous consent to report as amended, House Bill No. 1473, entitled:

An Act imposing a graduated income tax for school purposes on residents of Pennsylvania including fiduciaries and on income of nonresidents derived from property or business in Pennsylvania; defining taxable income and requiring filing of returns thereof; providing for the assessment, collection and lien of said tax and for the disposition of proceeds thereof; providing for administration and enforcement of the act by the Department of Revenue; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons, partnerships, associations, corporations, school districts, State officers, employes and departments; imposing penalties and appropriating the revenues derived from said tax.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1269, as follows:

An Act to amend section eight hundred and four of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by requiring policies of mutual insurance companies other than mutual life companies to show that the insured may become subject to assessment

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section eight hundred and four of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 804 Policy Provisions Mutual insurance companies other than mutual life companies may insert in any form of policy prescribed by the law of this Commonwealth any provisions or conditions required by its plan of insurance which are not inconsistent or in conflict with any law of this Commonwealth Such policy in lieu of conforming to the language and form prescribed by such law may conform thereto in substance if such policy includes a provision or endorsement reciting that the policy shall be construed as if in the language and form prescribed by such law and a copy of such policy and endorsements if any shall have been first filed with and shall not have been disapproved by the Insurance Commissioner Provided That all such policies whether issued on the purely mutual plan or issued for a cash premium with an additional contingent premium shall contain on the face of the policy a clause so worded as to plainly indicate to the insured that he as a policyholder in a mutual insurance company is subject to assessment whenever the need for an assessment arises

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1287, as follows:

An Act Providing when how and under what circumstances and conditions a claimant being a county municipality township or school dirstrict may at a judicial sale on a tax or municipal claim bid in the real estate for record costs or postpone the sale for the procedure in such cases by petition rule notice hearing and decree of Court to sell said real estate freed and cleared of all taxes municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates and to prorate the proceeds of said sale if insufficient to pay all tax and municipal claims in full for the stay of procedings for redemption and priority thereof and of the status of liens during said period and for the right of a tax or municipal claimant to purchase the real estate at any sale

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That (a) When at a sheriff's sale on a tax or municipal claim the real estate cannot be sold for a sum sufficient to pay all taxes due and payable and municipal claims where the amount is definite and determined together with the costs thereon the plaintiff being a county municipality township or school district may bid in the said real estate for record costs and purchase same subject to taxes municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents discharges and estates or said plaintiff may postpone the sale without the payment of costs and file a petition in the Court of Common Pleas of the proper county setting forth that a tax claim is due and unpaid for three calendar years that no extension for the payment thereof is in effect under any state law and/or a municipal claim has been filed of record for three full calendar years and remains unpaid that no extension for the payment thereof is in effect under any state law that plaintiff has exposed the real estate to sheriff's sale and was unable to obtain a bid sufficient to pay all taxes due and payable and municipal claims where the amount is definite and determined in full

(b) Upon the production of a certification by a title insurance company or official certificates where a title insurance company certification is not available showing the state of the record and the ownership of the real estate and all tax and municipal claims mortgages ground rents and other charges on or estates in the land the Court shall grant a rule upon all parties thus shown to be interested to appear and show cause why a decree should not be made that said real estate be sold freed and cleared of their respective claims mortgages ground rents charges and estates

(c) Twenty days' notice of the filing of said petition and rule shall be given personally to all parties shown to be interested in the real estate or upon their attorneys of record In the event personal service cannot be had upon any of the parties in interest then twenty days' notice computed from the date of the last advertisement of the filing of said petition and rule shall be advertised once a week for two successive weeks in one newspaper published printed and distributed in the county or city in which the said real estate is located and in the legal periodical if any designated by the Court for that purpose provided that where notice by advertisement is required twenty days' notice by registered mail shall also be given to all mortgagees or last assignees in interest of record Said notice shall contain the caption of said proceedings a brief description of the real estate to be sold and the essential parts of the rule

(d) If upon a hearing thereafter the Court is satisfied that service has been made as herein required upon the parties in interest and that the facts stated in the petition are true it shall order and decree that said real estate be sold to the highest bidder at a subsequent sheriff's sale day to be fixed by the Court free and clear of all claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates without further advertisements or further notice to the parties in interest except that a copy of the final Order of Court with the caption of the case and a description of the real estate shall be posted in the Court House and at a conspicuous place on the premises at least twenty days before the date of sale The purchaser at such sale shall take and forever thereafter have an absolute title to the real estate freed and discharged from all taxes municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates subject only to the right of redemption hereinafter provided for

Section 2 When a county municipality township or school district being a claimant bids in real estate for record costs at a tax or municipal claim sale it may after it has held said real estate for two years petition the Court to sell said real estate freed and cleared of all claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates in the same manner and with the same effect as provided where a tax claim is due and unpaid for three full calendar years but without the right of redemption Provided however That during said two year period the owner lien creditor or anyone interested in said real estate may redeem it on the terms provided in this act for redemption

Section 3 Any person interested in said real estate may at any time before the sale pay the petitioner the whole of its claim with interest and costs whereupon the petition proceedings shall at once determine

Section 4 If sufficient money is not bid at any sale pursuant to petition and rule as herein provided to pay all tax claims due and payable and municipal claims where the amount is definate and determined in full then the real estate may be sold to the highest bidder and the proceeds realized shall be prorated among all the tax and municipal claimants and said tax and municipal claims shall thereupon be fully discharged

Section 5 (a) Any real estate sold pursuant to petition and rule as herein provided may be redeemed by the owner lien creditor or by anyone interested in said real estate at any time within two years after said sale by paying all taxes and municipal claims accrued and chargeable against the real estate prior to the sale thereof together with the cost and interest thereon and also all taxes and claims whether filed or not which would have accrued and become chargeable against the real estate had the same been purchased at the sale by some party other than the county city or other municipal division

(b) If both owner and creditor desire to redeem the owner shall have the right so to do only in case he pays the creditor's claim in full If more than one creditor desires to redeem the one who was lowest in lien at the time of sale shall have the prior right upon payment in full of the claim of the one higher in lien Within the two years one who was lower in lien may redeem from one higher in lien who has already redeemed and the owner may redeem from him and so on throughout in each case by paying the claim of the one whose right was higher and one higher in lien may redeem from one lower in lien unless his claim is paid but in each case the right must be exercised within the two year period dating from the time the real estate was first sold

(c) Any person entitled to redemption may present his petition to the proper Court setting forth the facts and his readiness to pay the redemption money whereupon the Court shall grant a rule to show cause why the purchaser should not reconvey to him the premises sold and if upon hearing the Court shall be satisfied of the facts it shall make the rule absolute and upon payment of the money into Court or to the proper person shall enforce it by attachment

(d) When any real estate is sold as provided in this act no lien whatsoever against such real estate shall be deemed to be discharged during the period of redemption but if said real estate is not redeemed then all liens against the same shall be deemed discharged from the date that the right of redemption expired

Section 6 Any county municipality township or school district being a claimant shall have the right and is hereby empowered to bid and become the purchaser of the real estate at any sale and while said real estate so bid in is held and owned by a county municipality township or school district it shall not be subject to tax claims unless it is redeemed by the former owner lien creditor or by anyone interested in said real estate

Section 7 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to repeal the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" except insofar as said act is inconsistent with this act All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewitv are hereby repealed

Section 8 This act shall become effective the first day of October one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Shreiner, kindly explain the purpose of this bill?

Mr. SHREINER. Mr. Speaker, there was a series of bills handed to me by the third class city league. This bill only applies to third class cities. The bill has only one amendment and that is in case of expenses the payment is to be made by the owner instead of taken from any compensation that may be received. Is that satisfactory?

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 88, entitled:

An Act providing for the organization and equipment of two colored battalions of infantry and making an appropriation therefor.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, House Bill No. 88 provides for the organization and equipment of two colored batallions of infantry of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. Taking into consideration the fairmindedness of the members of this House, I do not feel that it is necessary to go extensively and exhaustively into the reasons why this bill should be enacted into law. I think that every man and every woman in this House knows well the loyalty of the negro troops in every war in which this country has been engaged. And yet notwithstanding this fact, Pennsylvania is one of the largest states in this country that refuses to give recognition to negroes in the National Guard of the State of Pennsylvania. Why this is, is a matter that I know not. But I do know this, that when a crisis confronts this country under any and all conditions, there is never a time that you have to appeal to the colored men to do their duty and do it as it ought to be done for the preservation of this country. With the present threatening war clouds that hover over this House, it does seem to me that this is an opportune time for Pennsylvania to do what it has refused to do in the past, and let the young colored men know, if they are to be taken out of their homes, whether they want to go or not, and I can assure you they always want to go, and there is never any hesitancy on the part of the negroes when war clouds threaten,—I feel that now is the opportune time for Pennsylvania to give that justice which the negroes are entitled to have given to them, by giving them consideration in the National Guard of Pennsylvania. In the budget that has been presented to us, there is close to half a million dollars asked for the training of young white men, and in this bill we simply ask for the paltry sum of fifty thousand dollars, in order that young colored men may be trained and prepared to meet whatever crisis may confront them in the future.

There is another element that enters into this matter, and that is the federalization of the National Guard units. I am very happy to say tonight that we have two Congressmen in Washington who are looking after the federalization of this unit after it shall have been authorized by the State of Pennsylvania, and the two Congressmen who are looking after these interests have set a good example for this House. One is an outstanding Democrat and the other is a Republican. It does seem to me that if a Republican Congressman and a Democratic Congressman can work hand in hand for those things to which the negroes are rightfully entitled, there ought not to be any hesitation on the part of this House to give us that recognition that we are entitled to.

To use the words of my distinguished friend on the other side of the House, Homer Brown, I want to say that I am not appealing to the Republicans, to the Democrats or to the Socialists, but I am appealing to the fairmindedness of the white men and of the colored men and of the ladies and gentlemen of this House to do justice to the negroes of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HART. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether the two battalions which he is asking us to vote for are to be additional battalions to the present strength of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, yes sir, they are.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, because I am opposed to any increase in the Pennsylvania National Guard, regardless of race, creed or color, I am opposed to the addition of these two battalions, and for that reason I am going to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in rising to support House Bill No. 88, I wish to state that I think that the State of Pennsylvania owes to those of my race the right to be prepared when they are called upon by the nation to make the supreme sacrifice in the time of war.

May I call your attention, ladies and gentlemen of the House, to the fact that during the last war approximately forty-three thousand negro soldiers answered the call. Many of them today sleep on Flander's Field where poppies grow. They with the comrades of other races enrich the soil of Continental Europe. It does seem to me that this State of ours, which we all love, ought to be fair enough, when it calls upon a man to give all that he has, to give him an opportunity to prepare himself, so that when he does go to war, he goes on an equal basis, an equal footing with every soldier of every race, every creed and every clime.

There may be some opposition to this bill because there may be those in this House who are opposed to an increase in armaments, there may be those who are opposed to war. Mr. Speaker, no man in this House is more opposed to war than I am. War is inhuman, war is the creation of the savage, but as long as we have nations that are selfish, as long as we have individuals as heads of nations who count life cheap we shall have war. With the war clouds hanging over Europe today, it may be that before this General Assembly meets again, we shall be engaged in another war. War is devilish, war is hellish, war is inhuman, and, as I said before, I am opposed to war. War is the offspring of hell itself, but I do wish to say that if any war should come, we ought to be prepared to meet any emergency.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am opposed to war and I am not a fighter. I was too young for the other war and I hope I will be too old for the next. But since it seems that we must have these battalions in this National Guard, I feel that the negroes ought to be permitted to get into it too for whatever it is worth. I am sure that the Democratic members of this House are desirous of being at all times fair to any of the other members of this House, and I ask the support of the Democratic and Republican members for this measure, so that when war does come, and I hope that it will never come, but whenever it does come, we will have a part in it like everybody else. I ask you to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart.

The Speaker. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HART. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart, if he knows what action the American Legion of the Department of Pennsylvania has taken in regard to this measure.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I do. The American Legion of the State of Pennsylvania has gone on record whole heartedly in favor of this organization, and has gone further, by petitioning every member of this House to vote for the passage of this bill.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart, if he knows what action the Veterans of Foreign Wars in convention assembled have taken in regard to this measure.

Mr. Hart. Mr. Speaker, I do, the same as the American Legion.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I might say that I have been conducting this conversation as a friendly investigation, or friendly interrogation, because I already knew what both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars had done in regard to this measure. I am glad to say that as a member of both of these organizations, they are both in hearty accord with the bill of Mr. Hart.

I can say further that it has been my privilege to have served with colored soldiers during the war, and I can attest to everything which the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart, has said, in regard to the courage, in regard to the loyalty, in regard to the fortitude and in reward to the patriotism of the colored soldiers not only in the World War, but I believe I can truthfully say, in all of the wars in which the United States has taken a part. I believe I can speak for the Vetrans of Foreign Wars and for the American Legion, and I therefore, ask the membership of this House to vote favorably for this measure.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the members of the colored race have served with great distinction but with very little recognition, in every war in which our nation has participated. Ordinarily I would oppose a measure of this kind, but I believe that the members of the colored race, because of their fidelity, loyalty and patriotism, are entitled to the recognition that the enactment of this measure would give them.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as has been said, I am opposed to bloodshed and strife, and I would not want by any act that I should do to lend any help in bringing about or furthering anything that might bring on war. We have before us this evening House Bill No. 88, Printer's Number 318, by which we are asked to create two colored battalions for a race of people who just about a half a century ago were in bondage. I feel, members of the House, that if we refuse to vote for this bill, we would be showing ingratitude to some of the people of our country who are worthy of recognition. I want to pay tribute this evening to the members of that race who are members of this House for their intelligence, for their civic pride and for the patriotism they have shown in this House, and I ask the ladies and gentlemen of the House to support this bill.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to say that I feel very gratified because of the fairmindedness of these gentlemen, who have so forcibly stated that they appreciate what the negroes have done. I wish to state that a few narrow minded officers of the State of Pennsylvania have been so shortsighted that they have refused to allow negroes to join the State militia. I am unalterably opposed ordinarily to any kind of segregation in the State of Pennsylvania, but when the officers of the National Guard have been so unfair as to keep my people out of the National Guard, we have no alternative than to come to this fair body of men, of liberal mind, and ask them to rectify a wrong. Mr. Speaker, I am very proud of the fact that these men here appreciate the work of the negro soldiers, but I am also at the same time very sorry that we have to come here and ask for special legislation from the hands of the members of this House, some of whom fought side by side with the colored troops.

I agree with what former Governor Pinchot said, that there is no law on the statute books of Pennsylvania that keeps the negro out of the National Guard, but I am sorry to say that in this fair State of Pennsylvania we have a class of citizens that are so unfair and so unjust that they would keep these very worthy soldiers out of the National Guard.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I simply wanted to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that up until the close of the Spanish-American War, Pennsylvania did have a colored regiment. I further wish to say that the last commanding officer of such a colored regiment was none other than our Representative Hart.

As a token of the high esteem in which we hold him and as a rather belated recognition of the forty-two thousand colored boys of Pennsylvania who served in the World War, I wish to raise my voice and ask the members of the House to vote unanimously in favor of this bill.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, this is all news to me, and I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Hart, the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if there has been a demand from the military department of the State that the military forces be increased by two battalions at the present time.

Mr. HART. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he proposes to have colored men in those two battalions, only.

Mr. HART. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of the bill. I want to say that if I thought there was no necessity for these two battalions I would be opposed to this measure at this time, appropriating fifty thousand dollars. But as there is a necessity for the two additional battalions, I would like very much to see them filled with colored men. I want to say that during the Spanish-American War colored men gave valiant service, and also during the World War, and I think that they have earned the right to have two battalions in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not opposed to any race, creed or color. I am going to vote for this bill, but I would like to request members of the National Guard, both colored and white, that whenever we make an apporpriation to support this organization, that they do not go out and protect the big interests when the workers are out on strike. Take that home with you to your different communities.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I vote "aye" and would like to file my reasons:

Mr. Speaker, I ask to be recorded as voting in the affirmative on House Bill No. 88, Printer's No. 318. I wish to state that I am uualterably opposed to the principle of segregation in any form. I feel that the State of Pennsylvania should blush with shame at the fact that the officials of the National Guard are so prejudice that they absolutely refuse to admit negro citizens in the National Guard. I think an investigation should be instituted to find out why negroes are excluded. It is the most vicious and unfair practice I ever heard of. However, I am voting for this bill because it will give to its loyal citizens a privilege that is rightfully theirs. Again I state that I am one hundred per cent against the principle of segregation that the bill carries with it. I hope the State of Pennsylvania will soon rectify this unfair practice.

RESIGNATION OF HON. CLARENCE L. EDERER

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House a communication from the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Ederer.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

March 20, 1935.

Hon. Wilson G. Sarig,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
Dear Mr. Speaker:

I hereby tender my resignation as a Representative from the Third Legislative District of Montgomery County, and request that this resignation be laid before the House of Representatives. The reason for this resignation is that I will be a candidate for Senator at the special election to be held in Montgomery County on April 9, 1935, called to elect a successor to Senator James S. Boyd. This resignation is made in time so that a special election may be held on the same day to fill the vacancy caused by my resignation, and thus avoid the expense which would result were such election called on some other day.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed), CLARENCE L. EDERER.

The SPEAKER. The resignation will be spread upon the Journal.

PROCLAMATION FOR SPECIAL ELECTION IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following proclamation which was read by the Clerk:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, ss:

To Hazeltine S. Lever, Sheriff of the County of Montgomery:

Greeting: Whereas, A vacancy exists in the office of Representative of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the Third Legislative District of the County of Montgomery, consisting of the County of Montgomery, excluding the boroughs of Bridgeport, Narberth and West Conshohocken, Conshohocken and Norristown, and the townships of Lower Merion, Upper Merion and Plymouth, which are included in the first and second Legislative Districts, caused by the reason of the resignation of Clarence L. Ederer, one of the Representatives from said Third District, on the twentieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

Now, therefor, I Wilson G. Sarig, Speaker of the House of Representatives, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania and by the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided, do hereby command you: That you cause an election to be held in the said Third Legislative District of the County of Montgomery on the ninth day of April, A. D., one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five, to choose a person to represent said Third Legislative District in the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania for the remainder of the term expiring December first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six, and that you give due and public notice of said election throughout said Third Legislative District and to at least one of the inspectors of each election district therein, in the form and manner directed by law.

Given under my hand and seal at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, this 20th day of March, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

WILSON G. SARIG,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I do not want to have it taken as an indication that because of the fact that I made a statement to the House last night, that that was the first time that I addressed the House of Representatives, and further that since making that remark I have spoken twice, that that is going to be an indication that I intend to burden the House from now on. I have no such intention or thought in mind.

I could not let this opportunity go by without saying a few words in behalf of my colleague who is about to leave us in the capacity of a member. It so happens that of the Third Legislative District of Montgomery County there are three members, Mr. Longaker, Mr. Ederer and myself, and for that reason I would like to say to the House that as a member of the Third Legislative District, and I speak for the other two members of that District, we feel that in losing Clarence we are losing a loyal member of the House and a staunch supporter of all good legislation that has been presented to the House, and, more than that, a loyal companion. I know that in a group such as we three members, in the recent campaigns in which we have been engaged, there must undoubtedly grow up a fine spirit of comradeship, that comes not only out of the political battle line, but out of the many fine asociations that we enjoy as members of the Montgomery County delegation. So, it is with deep regret that we see Clarence leave the membership of this House, and I think I can speak for all the host of friends that he has, when I say that he has been devoted to the best interests of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I know that he has served those best interests, not only as a member, but more than that, he has served as one who has the best interests of this House and the Commonwealth at heart, and I believe in the final analysis they are the qualities that make up a well balanced legislator.

So, in saying farewell to Clarence, I wish to say we all wish him good luck and God speed in the new endeavor that he is about to undertake. I thank you.

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, after that very lovely tribute from my colleague, Mr. Zimmerman, it is almost impossible for me to speak. I want to thank you all for the kindnesses you have shown to me in my five terms in this House. I hope if I am successful in becoming a member of the Senate that you will consider me your friend there, and I know you will find me at all times ready to cooperate with all of you.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. SIMON, returned from the Committee on Judiciary Special with the recommendation that they be re-referred to the Committee on Labor, the following House Bills:

HOUSE BILL No. 417, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one, two and five of the act approved the nineteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 843), entitled "An act requiring employers to make report to the Department of Labor and Industry of accidents to employees and prescribing a penalty for non-compliance therewith;" by requiring reports of disability caused by occupational diseases, and of all accidents without regard to continuation of disability.

L. 736) entitled 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder;' defining the liability of public or charitable bodies, corporations and institutions to pay workmen's compensation to persons injured in work relief employment and to carry insurance therefor, and the rights of persons injured in such employment; establishing the State Work Relief Compensation Fund to provide such compensation in certain cases, and providing for the administration of such fund by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; and making an appropriation therefor," by abolishing the additional waiting period, and modifying the rate of contribution to the State Work Relief Compensation Fund.

HOUSE BILL No. 416, entitled:

An Act to amend section two thousand two hundred and nine of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy seven), entitled "An Act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain department boards and commissions shall be determined," by extending the power and duties of the Department of Labor and Industry; and authorizing the creation of a fund for the payment of compensation under certain circumstances to physically handicapped workmen.

HOUSE BILL No. 415, entitled:

An Act supplementing the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by creating a "Handicapped Employes' Fund" in the State Treasurer; providing for the payment of moneys into said fund by employers in certain accident cases and the use of moneys in said fund for the payment of compensation for the injury to or death of employes previously disabled or handicapped.

HOUSE BILL No. 102, entitled:

An Act to amend the title, section one as amended, section three hundred and one, and section three hundred and eleven as amended of, and to add sections one hundred and eight and one hundred and nine to article one, and section three hundred and twenty-one to article three to the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by extending the provisions of the act to certain occupational diseases contracted by miners in the course of their employment.

HOUSE BILL No. 155, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (d) of section three hundred and six of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment, establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by providing for the payment of compensation for the first week after disability in certain cases.

HOUSE BILL No. 44, entitled:

An act to further amend clause (e) of section three hundred and six of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by changing the limitations on medical, surgical and hospital services and supplies.

HOUSE BILL No. 379, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (e) of section three hundred six and section four hundred seventeen of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," as amended; further regulating and changing the time when hearings on petitions shall be held, and the surgical, medical and hospital services, medicines and supplies furnished injured employes.

HOUSE BILL No. 403, entitled:

An Act to further amend article four of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by requiring employers in the case of every injury to file either an agreement or a claim petition in the name of the claimant.

HOUSE BILL No. 336, entitled:

An Act to amend sections five, sixteen and eighteen of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 762), entitled "An act providing for the creation and administration of a State Fund for the insurance of compensation for injuries to employes of subscribers thereto; declaring false oaths by the subscribers to be misdemeanors; and providing penalties for the violation thereof," providing that subscribers to such fund may take such insurance for periods of less than a year.

HOUSE BILL No. 91, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one hundred and three and three hundred and one of, and to add sections one hundred and eight, one hundred and nine and four hundred and thirty-five to, the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder;" providing compensation for occupational diseases; and providing definitions, provisions and procedure related to recovery of compensation in such cases.

HOUSE BILL No. 119, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections three hundred and one, three hundred and six as amended, four hundred and thirteen as amended, and four hundred and thirty-four as amended, of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder."

HOUSE BILL No. 1140, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section three hundred five of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws, seven hundred thirty-six), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by increasing the requirements to be met by employers desiring to be self-insurers, and providing for better enforcement of the provisions of the act by conferring additional powers upon the Department of Labor and Industry and by prescribing and changing certain presumptions, rules of evidence, and penalties.

HOUSE BILL No. 1155, entitled:

An Act imposing upon employers subject to the Workmen's Compensation Law or their workmen's compensation insurance carriers, including the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, expenses and costs incurred by the Commonwealth in administering and enforcing certain laws for the benefit of those injured in industry and for the benefit of the dependents of those killed in industry.

HOUSE BILL No. 405, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred and one of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by enlarging the class of accidents to which the said act shall apply.

HOUSE BILL No. 404, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred and one of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the courts of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," extending said act to occupational diseases contracted in the course of employment.

HOUSE BILL No. 407, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three hundred and six and three hundred and nine of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," as amended; by increasing the period for which compensation is paid for certain disabilities, and the amount of such compensation; requiring payment for total disability in addition to payment for partial disability in certain cases; providing for unlimited medical, dental, and hospital service, and necessary transportation, and for the right of the employe to consult a physician of his own choice at the cost of the employer.

HOUSE BILL No. 411, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred and thirteen of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by making certain changes in practice and procedure under the said act; and fixing the date when this act becomes effective.

HOUSE BILL No. 412, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred and one of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 746), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," by requiring the employer to pay for legal services and other disbursements in support of demands, claims and suits for compensation in certain cases; and providing for the enforcement of such payment.

HOUSE BILL No. 406, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred five of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder," as amended, by providing for the carrying of insurance by employers in only the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Marshall L. Shepard, a member of the House, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the light of this day, for its opportunities and for its challenges. We pray Thee, as we face the tasks here in the Legislature this morning, that we may follow the truth, wherever it may lead. Give us the courage to do the right and the strength that alone can make it possible that shall come from Thee. As we go to our several homes, we pray that Thou wilt guide us in safety, that we may see those who are near and dear to us in peace and in good health. Bless the officers of this House, the Speaker and all his aides. These and all other blessings, we ask in His name and for His sake, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. Parks, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. BAINE (Concurrent) Resolution No. 101

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1935.

Whereas, Many home owners are, by reason of economic conditions, distressed by mortgages on which they are unable to pay the interest and principal as required by the contract; and

Whereas, Many Building and Loan Association, organized for the express purpose of aiding persons of small means to acquire homesteads, are seemingly taking advantage of distressed home owners and engaging in malpractices which need legislative correction; and

Whereas, Some Building and Loan Association impose burdensome fines and penalties, fail to credit all accumulated interest, refuse upon request to furnish receipts and itemized statements of payments, continue to charge exhorbitant rates of interest, unduly sacrifice the equity of home owners at present market prices by ruthless foreclosure proceedings and execution without thoroughly investigating specific cases, and in addition to a mortgage require bond in double the amount of the mortgage which may be executed against personal property and other realty; and

Whereas, Many Building and Loan Associations neglect to cooperate with the Home Owners Loan Corporation in refinancing mortgages on homes, in order that the equity of home owners may be saved, therefore be it

Resolved, The Senate and House of Representatives concurring, that the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each appoint five members of their respective houses, to constitute a joint legislative committee, whose duty it shall be to thoroughly and impartially investigate the practices of Building and Loan Associations during the present economic depression, and ascertain what, if any, unlawful and harsh practices are engaged in by such associations, and what legislation should be enacted to aid distressed home owners, to correct those practices and to prevent any future recurrence thereof:

Resolved, That said committee make a report to the General Assembly as early as possible with such drafts of legislation as to it appears necessary:

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. And person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Banking.

Section 20 That hereafter except in the case of corporations of the first class and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit banks savings institutions title insurance or trust companies building and loan associations and foreign insurance companies it shall be the duty of the president vice-president secretary or treasurer of every corporation having capital stock every joint-stock association limited partnership and every company whatsoever now or hereafter organized or incorporated by or under any laws of this Commonwealth and of every corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever now or hereafter incorporated or organized by or under the law of any other State or Territory of the United States or by the United States or by any foreign government and doing business in and liable to taxation within this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of any limited partnership or joint-stock association company or corporation whatsoever association or associations copartnership or copartnerships person or persons or in any other manner to make annually on or before the fifteenth day of March for the calendar year next preceding a report in writing to the Department of Revenue on a form or forms to be prescribed and furnished by it [stating specifically] Such report shall in addition to any other information required by the Department of Revenue set forth

First The amount of its capital stock at the close of the year for which report is made together with the highest selling price per share and the average selling price thereof during said year

Second Its debt account

Third Its income account together with the disposition of any net income and its profit and loss statement

Fourth Its general balance sheet

Fifth Its real estate and tangible personal property if any owned and permanently located outside of the Commonwealth and value of the same and the value of the property if any exempt from taxation

Sixth [The proportion of its capital stock invested in and actually and exclusively employed and used in manufacturing within the Commonwealth during the year for which report is made

Seventh] A valuation and appraisal in the manner hereinafter provided of the capital stock of the said corporation company joint-stock association or limited partnership at its actual value in cash as it existed at the close of the year for which the report is made

The affidavit of two of the officers of such corporation limited partnership joint-stock association or company shall be attached to said report Such affidavit shall be in the form required by the Department of Revenue but shall state in addition to any other averments required by the department that with fidelity and according to the best of their knowledge and belief the affiants have estimated valued and appraised as shown in said report the capital stock of the said corporation at its actual value in cash as it existed at the close of the year for which report is made not less however than first the average which said stock sold for during the year and second not less than the price or value indicated or measured by net earnings or by the amount of profit made and either declared in dividends expended in betterments or carried into the surplus or sinking fund and third not less than the actual value indicated or measured by consideration of the intrinsic value of its tangible property and assets and of the value of its good will and franchises and privileges as indicated by the material results of their exercise taking also into consideration the amount of its indebtedness

The time for filing reports may be extended taxpayers may be permitted to file their reports on a fiscal year basis the procedure in case the Department of Revenue is not satisfied with the appraisement made by the officers of the taxpayer and the penalties for failing to file reports and pay taxes shall be as prescribed by law

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the Treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section [and it]

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayers for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employes

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value

In a case where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule.

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employes not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business owned or rented by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year from (1) sales except those negotiated or effected in behalf of the taxpayer by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business owned or rented by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth and sales otherwise determined by the Department of Revenue to be attributable to the business conducted on such premises and (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth If a taxpayer maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than under this subsection the Department of Revenue shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts from sales attributed by the taxpayer to the business conducted at such place of business in another state

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the taxpayer are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

(c) It shall be the duty of the treasurer or other officers having charge of any such corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership upon which a tax is imposed by this section to transmit the amount of said tax to the treasury of the Commonwealth within the time prescribed by law for the payment of State taxes settled by the Department of Revenue Provided That for the purposes of this act interest in limited partnerships or joint-stock associations shall be deemed to be capital stock and taxable accordingly Provided also That corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations liable to a tax [on capital stock] under this section shall not be required to pay any further tax on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them and in which the whole body of stockholders or members as such have the entire equitable interest in remainder but corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations owning or holding such securities as trustees executors administrators guardians or in any other manner thereof as sole equitable owners in remainder shall return and pay the tax imposed by this act upon all securities so owned or held by them as in the case of individuals [And Provided] Provided further That the provisions of this section shall [not] apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering for the processing and curing of meats their products and by-products [or] and for manufacturing purposes [which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying or laundering the processing and curing of meats their products and by-products or manufacuring within the State] excepting companies engaged in the [brewing or] distilling of [spirits or malt] liquors [and such as enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of laundering or processing and curing meats their products and by-products or manufacturing shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the laundering or manufacturing business or the business of processing and curing meats their products and by-products in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the laundering or manufacturing plant and business or the plant and business used in the processing and curing of meats their products and by-products] Provided In case of fire and marine insurance companies the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of [three] five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock Provided That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to apply to building and loan associations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania

Section 2 If this act is declared unconstitutional by a final judgment order or decree of a court of competent jurisdiction all the provisions of section twenty-one of the act amended by this act pertaining to the taxation of the capital stock of foreign corporations which were made inapplicable and inoperative thereto by this amendment shall thereupon become operative and applicable in respect to such corporations from the effective date of this act and such corporations shall for that period and thereafter be taxed to the same extent and in the same manner as if this amendment had not been enacted In such event any taxes which were settled under this act shall to the extent that such taxes have been paid and are unrefunded be credited against the taxes settled and imposed for the same period under the provisions of said section twenty-one which are again made operative and applicable to foreign corporations by this section Provided That if such credit exceeds the taxes due the excess may be refunded upon application being made to the Board of Finance and Revenue in the manner prescribed by law

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall be retroactive to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred thirty-four so that capital stock of domestic corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering for the processing and curing of meats their products and by-products and for manufacturing purposes shall pay the tax license imposed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-four and one thousand nine hundred thirty-five in the same fashion as other corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations.

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and its provisions shall be applicable to the settlements of franchise taxes on foreign corporations for the year ending the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five or any fiscal years ending after the effective date of this act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Amend sec. 1, page 5, line 24, by striking out the light-faced bracket appearing before the word "No"

Amend sec. 1, page 5, line 28, by striking out the light-faced bracket appearing after the word "amendment"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I object, and ask that the House vote down these amendments.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, these amendments to House Bill 841, Printer's No. 370, section 1, on page 5, are for the purpose of taking out the provisions which propose to make this tax apply to municipally owned utilities. It is our thought that in attempting to tax utilities we should not extend it to those utilities which are owned by the boroughs and cities and other municipalities in this Commonwealth. We are supposed to be here for the purpose of passing tax measures, not only to raise funds for the Commonwealth, but also to relieve the local tax burdens back home. A tax upon a municipally owned public utility cannot be paid by anybody except the local taxpayers, whom you are talking about relieving, and for that reason, in order to bring this issue and nothing else before the House, I have proposed these amendments. If I let the bill go through to third reading, as I did with one the other day, and oppose it at that time, then I am going to be in the position of having to vote against a tax upon privately owned utilities, which I have no desire to do. I do not think that it is at all desirable to extend this tax to municipally owned water companies and electric light plants. Our boroughs and cities have a heavy enough burden to carry at the present time and I can see no advantage in adding to it by extending these taxes to those particular plants, and the only thing that this amendment does to this bill is to take off the tax from your municipally owned utilities. So I ask the members of the House to support these amendments by voting "aye" and I ask for a roll call.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill together with the amendments be placed upon the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOOPES and Mrs. WILSON and were as follows, viz:

The tax hereby imposed shall be in addition to all taxes now imposed on any corporation under the provisions of existing laws

Section 4 Report and Payment of Tax For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and on or before the fifteenth day of April of each year thereafter to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report under oath or affirmation of its president vice president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act Such report shall set forth

(a) A true copy of this return to the Federal Government of the annual net income arising or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding or such part or portions of said return as the department may designate

(b) If no return was filed with the Federal government the report made to the department shall show such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been made and

(c) Such other information as the department may require

The failure of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report

Every corporation at the time of making the report required herein shall pay to the department the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for the preceding year The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act shall be due and payable at the time the report is required to be filed with the department under the provisions of this act and shall bear interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid except that any taxes found due as the result of an appeal to the court of common pleas or any appellate court shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date such taxes are due and payable until paid

If the officers of any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due

If any corporation shall certify to the department that its fiscal year does not close upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date and that it reports to the Federal Government as of such other date or that it would so report were it to make a return to the Federal Government then such corporation may in the discretion of the department be permitted to make the report herein required within thirty (30) days after the return to the Federal Government is due or would be due were it to be required of such corporation subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act

If the corporation shall claim in its report that the return made to the Federal Government was inaccurate the amount claimed by it to be the net income taxable under this act and the basis of such claim of inaccuracy shall be fully specified

Section 5 Consolidated Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe permit or in its discretion require any corporation owning or controlling directly or indirectly substantially all of the capital stock of another corporation or of other corporations to make a consolidated report showing the combined net income

Section 6 Extension of Time to File Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any report and upon proper cause shown grant to the corporation required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within which such report may be filed without penalty

Section 7 Changes Made by Federal Government (a) If the amount of the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other official of the United States such corporation within thirty (30) days after the receipt of such change or correction shall make report under oath or affirmation to the department of such changed or corrected net income upon which the tax is required to be paid to the United States In case a corporation fails to file a report of such correction within the time prescribed there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for every day during which such corporation is in default but the department may abate any such penalty in whole or in part

(b) If as a result of such change or correction there should be any deduction made from the amount of the net income of any corporation upon which tax is imposed by this act the Board of Finance and Revenue shall have the power and its duty shall be to hear and determine any petition for the refund of taxes alleged to have been overpaid and upon the allowance of such petition to refund such taxes out of any appropriation made for the purpose or to credit the account of the corporation entitled to such refund All such petitions must be filed with the board within two (2) years of the date of such change or correction The action of the board on all such petitions shall be final

Section 8 Determination and Redetermination of Tax Penalties and Interest Due (a) If the department is not satisfied with the report and payment of tax made by any corporation under the provisions of this act or if at any time the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other official of the United States with the result that tax in addition to the amount paid is due under this act it is hereby authorized and empowered to make a determination of the tax due by such corporation based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession

(b) Promptly after the date of any such determination the department shall send by registered mail a copy thereof to such corporation Within thirty (30) days after the date of any such determination such corporation may file with the department a petition for redeterimnation of such tax Every petition for redetermination shall state specifically the reasons which the petitioner believes entitle him to such redetermination and shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true The department shall within ninety (90) days after the date of any determination dispose of any petition for redetermination Notice of the action taken upon any petition for redetermination shall be given to the petitioner promptly after the date of redetermination by the department

(c) Within thirty (30) days after notice by the department of the action taken on any petition for redetermination filed with it the corporation against which such determination was made may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reason upon which the petitioner relies and shall be in such form as the Board of Finance and Revenue shall prescribe The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety days (90) days after they have been received and in the event of the failure of said board to dispose of any such petition within ninety (90) days the action taken by the department upon the petition for redetermination shall be deemed sustained The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for redetermination or it may redetermine the tax due upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to the department and to the petitioners

(d) The department or any person aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his petition for review within ninety (90) days may within sixty (60) days appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the department as the case may be in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for appeals in the case of tax settlements

(e) If any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such corporation and determine the amount due by it for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which determination there shall be no right of review or appeal

Section 9 Enforcement Rules and Regulations Inquisitorial Powers of the Department (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of his act and the collecion of taxes penalties and interest imposed by this act Such rules and regulations shall have the same force and effect as law and violations thereof shall be punishable in the same fashion as violations of provisions of this act

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records and to investigate the character of the business of any corporation in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such corporation to ascertain and assess the tax imposed by this act Every such corporation is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Weidemann.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEIDEMANN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindly inform the House just what is the purpose of this bill, whether it pertains to some specific case or whether it is intended to be a general proposition.

Mr. WEIDEMANN. Mr. Speaker, it is intended to cover a specific case, but it covers all counties. You will notice that the bill has now been amended—I believe to remove the objection to the bill. You will also notice that the right of eminent domain has been taken from the bill.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No .306, Printer's No. 379, entitled:

An Act providing for the registration of milk bottles and containers, forbidding refilling, using, selling, purchasing, giving, taking, retaining, destroying, disposing or trafficking in same without the written consent of owners, imposing penalties, fines and imprisonment, providing for issuing process in nature of a search warrant; providing what shall constitute prima facie proof, forbidding defacement, covering up, removing or concealing name, mark or device; defining procedure; providing disposition of fines; providing that appeal will not invalidate conviction for second offence, but that sentence shall await decisions of appeal, providing that the requiring, taking or accepting a deposit shall not be deemed a sale; providing that registration prior to this act entitles registrants to benefits of act, and providing for the transfer of certificates of registration.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, vote on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the affirmative.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, vote on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia kindly inform me as to reason for his motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, the bill really escaped my attention when it was acted upon, and I wanted to oppose the bill for the reason that it contains these words, that anybody can ask for a search warrant if they swear to this fact, and they then can search your house at midnight or any hour whatever, "that he has reason to believe and does believe that any of the bottles or other containers, the property of any person, firm or corporation, who have complied with the provisions of the "act has bottles secreted in any place that a warrant may be served at any time during the day or night to discover and obtain the same." I thought we had enough experience during prohibition with the issuance of search warrants day or night, searching peoples' homes for liquor, and I can't understand why we should search a man's home at night merely for a milk bottle.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like also to call attention to the fact that under this bill a magistrate or justice of the peace can sentence a person to imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than six months to the county prison.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

REMOVING PETITION IN HALL OF HOUSE

Mr. ARNOLD offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1935.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House be directed to have removed from the rear of the Hall of the House of Representatives, the present partition as early as possible, and that the Chief Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to keep clear, during sessions of the House, the space between the railing in the rear of the Hall of the House and the rear wall of the House, which space shall be reserved exclusively for consultations between Members of the House during sessions.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have no objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, except that I wonder whether the men that sit in the back of the House and who are most affected have had an opportunity to consider this resolution at all. There are a number of seats vacant back there and it seems to me that it would be unfair to pass a resolution of this kind which does not affect a lot of us who sit down here.

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair will state for the information of the gentleman from Delaware that this is a matter which has been more or less agitated since the beginning of the session. The Chair had given orders to take down the partition and then upon the objection of one or two members in the rear of the hall, after the carpenter had removed part of the partition it was allowed to remain. It is, therefore, up to the members of the House themselves whether they want this partition to remain as it is or whether they want to have it taken down.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I did not know that this resolution was going to be presented this morning, so I am not very well prepared to discuss the matter at length. However, I can say for the information of the members in the front seats that the members in the rear row are very much bothered by the noise right in back of us. It is very, very difficult to hear many of the members when the are discussing bills or interrogating other members of the House.

I am especially in favor of that part of the resolution which will have the effect of keeping this space clear in the back. It seems that the Sergeants-at-Arms have not been able to keep order back there, and there have been many times when I have asked the Assistant Sergeant at Arms to try and get a little more order. We members in the rear row like to hear everything that is going on, but under present conditions we have been unable to do so and unable to give the proper attention to the business of the House. Therefore, speaking for myself, I am very much in favor of the resolution. I think we should try it for a while and see whether or not it will work out better than with the conditions as they are at present.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would not want to oppose this resolution in its entirety, but I would like to see the partition stay. Two or three of the members have complained that there is always a draft here, and if we are going to have a consulting room or space for the members here, we will still be annoyed with the noise. I see no harm in allowing the partition to stay as it is and still keeping the space as a consulting room for the members. If the resolution were worded in that form, I would be for it because several members here think it would be a protection for them.

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, a great number of the members in the rear seats are new members and are unacquainted with the condition that existed before the partition was erected. I am sure at this point that the condition is almost intolerable at times. It seems to me as though this arrangement turns all this noise in at this doorway, very similar to a megaphone, and whether or not it would be a good plan to tear down this partition is a matter that I think should be largely left up to the older members who knew the conditions before it was erected. Certainly we ought to have some protection from the annoyances of these noises in the rear of the hall.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I sat in the rear row during the last session of the General Assembly and I just want to add this word of testimony that in my opinion the conditions after the partition was erected were worse than before the partition was put up. It certainly does not add to the attraction of the House.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I sat in the back of the House during the last session, and I want to confirm the remarks that have been offered here by several gentlemen. I believe the condition was worse after the partition was put up. They get the idea that they are in a separate room and that they can go ahead and talk. So, therefore, I think it ought to be taken down.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I sat in the rear of the House for several weeks before the partition was erected. I found that there was more noise after the partition was erected for the reason that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, has stated: the people in the rear of the seats seemed to think they were in a separate room and that it was not necessary to be quiet. There was also a draft back there. I have talked the matter over with ventilating engineers and they claim that if that partition was taken down the ventilation would be alright. I see no advantages in it whatever. I would like to hear from Mr. Hoopes who has been sitting back there for several years.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, having sat in the second last row during the regular session of 1933 and our special session, I want to concur in what has been expressed by the two members who have just spoken. It seemed to me that as soon as that wall—that is what I call it—was erected people got the idea they could talk out loud, that it didn't make any difference, that it didn't affect the membership at all, and matters were really worse afterwards than they were before. As a lover of beauty I think it mars the beauty of this room, and, therefore, I am heartily in favor of the wall being taken down.

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have been sitting here both before and after the erection of the wall under discussion. I have no particular objection to having the wall removed, but I am afraid that we will have some of the difficulty that we have at the present time. The Chief Clerk has said that the visitors would be removed after the partition is taken down and that the space behind here would be left open for purposes of consultation by the members. I am afraid that if the members are not careful that we would have just as much difficulty in hearing as we have had from the outsiders. If the members who consult in the back do so quietly, it will not annoy us, but one group can make just as much noise as the other group. So if the space is kept clear, as the Chief Clerk indicates, I don't believe it will annoy us in the back seats when the wall is taken down.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to say that he has received complaints ever since the beginning of the session about the noise from the back part of the House. The Chair has begged and pleaded and done almost everything else possible to try and preserve order, but there are a certain number of visitors who persist in simply thumbing their noises at the Chair and think they ought to play. They come in here every Monday night, some of them apparently under the influence of liquor, and they go in back of the rail and they carry on as though they were on the street or somewhere else.

The Chair wishes to state that if this resolution is passed, the Chair will keep the space back of the rail clear and the members may use it as a conference room. The Chair directed in the early part of the session that the members, for consultation, should use the conference room in the back part of the House, but the members themselves have not carried out the orders of the Chair. It is up to the members to decide whether they want order or not. The Chair is not going to throw away his voice altogether in trying to maintain order. If you want order, vote to clear the space and behave yourselves accordingly while in your seats. If you don't want order, the Chair isn't going to keep on begging and pleading and pleading and begging and begging and pleading the way the Chair has been for weeks and weeks. It is up to the members of the House to say whether they want order or whether they want pandemonium.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the first time I have been a member of this House. I am not acquainted with the conditions existing before and I do not want to oppose this resolution if the House will reconsider the proposition after the partition has been taken down and we find the conditions more intolerable; if upon the petion of those sitting in the rear of the House, the House will reconsider its action and restore the partition, we will be satisfied.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to inform the gentleman that the partition will be kept intact and will be put in storage, and if at any time the members decide to put it back, naturally it will be put back,—put back over night. The members of the House have the right and the power to decide all things by a majority vote, and if the majority of the House decides one way or the other it is their privilege, and at any time it can be taken out of storage and restored over night.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe if each member of the House would, as far as it is humanly possibly refrain from helping outsiders to get through the door, it would help out materially in the plans of the Speaker in attempting to break up the noise in the rear of the House. I have seen members—I might say that I have been guilty of it myself—assist persons through the door and pass them by the Sergeant-at-Arms, when in reality we had no particular business with that particular outsider other than doing the favor of bringing them on the floor of the House. I think if we do that we will bring about the results desired by the members in the rear of the House as well as by the Speaker himself.

Mr. MUIR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to add that since the Chair this week made the order about the people in back of the hall it has been a great deal better to hear in the rear seats than it was before. I don't believe it is necessary to take the partition down. I believe it is a sort of protection from the draft that comes through those doors. I want to commend the Chair for the order that was given this week to clear the space in back of the partition which made it easier to hear and understand what was going on.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to ask the Speaker if we would not get the same result by allowing the partition to stay there and enforcing the order of the Chair to keep the people out of the rear. My fellow member, Mr. Jackson, has been suffering with a cold during the whole week, and he thinks that it is on account of the draft. Now, if you take the partition down, you will certainly be subjected to people passing at all times and also to the draft. I think you will get the same result if you will only enforce that order. Of course, we all feel that you have done a magnificent thing in enforcing the order so far.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to state that I was one of the members who went to the Speaker and requested him to do something about the very bad conditions in this corner of the room. It has been a source of daily embarrassment to the members of the House. People in the rear rows have had to stand up repeatedly and ask to have their vote recorded, because they couldn't hear the Speaker and the Speaker couldn't hear them.

I want to call the attention of the members to the fact that this is a two way proposition. While it is difficult for us to hear speakers in the House, it is nearly impossible for the Speaker of the House to hear us because of the noise that comes over that partition and goes up to the Speaker's chair, so that he can hear somebody conversing back there more easily than persons who are speaking from the floor in this part of the House.

The Speaker has considered this matter for a long time, I know, because I talked to him about it a week or more ago, and he had at that time considered this whole proposition and started to take the partition down on one occasion.

I ask the members of the House to abide by the good judgment of the Speaker, who knows his business, and let us take this partition down. If we do not like it when it is down, I am certain that the Speaker will reconsider the action taken and do everything possible to make conditions more satisfactory.

I would like to see this resolution carried unanimously.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, our Speaker has been a school teacher and he doesn't want this obstruction, because he wants to see what is going on. So I think we ought to take it down and abide by what he requests.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 25, 1935.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Oh, Thou God of nations, look down in compassion upon the world. It is Thy world for Thou didst make it and dost preserve it. It is today a perplexed and confused world.

The lust of greed and the desire for power burn in many hearts—thus is Thy law often disregarded and Thy standards of righteousness are set at naught.

We pray that the clouds of war which are gathering on the other side of the ocean may be dispelled by Thy breath, so that the sunshine of peace may again make happy millions of human hearts.

In our own land give wisdom to the leaders of thought and to those in high official positions, so that our national problems may be speedily solved and prosperity may bless our people.

In our Commonwealth grant wisdom to our Governor, his counsellors and the legislators who frame our laws, so that the serious questions confronting them may be met heroically and to the honor of Thy great name.

Abundantly endow this Senate with Thy grace. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal approved.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act to validate acts done and contracts, conveyances, transfers, and mortgages of property made, to or by any corporations of the first class, created or intended to be created by decree of the courts of common pleas, granting a charter, where the applicants for incorporation had failed to register its proposed name as required by law; and to validate charters of corporations of the first class, granted since the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, where there was a failure to register the name of title of the proposed corporation at the time of filing its application for a charter as required by law; providing for the subsequent filing of such registration; and providing for the amendment of names or titles of such corporations in certain cases.

Senate Bill No. 148, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, townships, poor districts, school districts or other municipalities or incorporated districts to rent, lease and hire suitable office and warehousing space, and provide suitable accommodations therein, within said districts or municipalities, for distributing funds and merchandise, or both, by emergency relief boards.

Senate Bill No. 153, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred and thirty-one of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," by classifying foreign mutual fire mutual marine, or mutual fire and marine companies for the purpose of licensing and relicensing and providing for requirements for licensing and relicensing.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, in a telephone conversation with Governor Earle, who was in conference today with Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins at Washington, I am privileged to say that he was definitely informed that payment of Federal relief funds to Pennsylvania after April 15th will be contingent on Pennsylvania's contributing to the relief fund. Mr. Hopkins also told the Governor that he felt that Pennsylvania should contribute at least $5,000,000. per month.

The discussion further revealed that since January 15th the Federal Emergency Relief Administration has advanced Pennsylvania $48,000,000., while the State has contributed no funds, and that the F. E. R. A., cannot continue holding the bag for Pennsylvania; and in consequence April 15th was set by the Federal Relief Administrator as the dead line.

The continued extension of Federal Relief until April 15th was granted upon the Governor's assertion that his proposed tax program contemplates funds sufficient to meet the demand of the Federal Government and his belief that the Legislature will agree to meet the same.

The seriousness of the situation impels me to make this public statement to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I wish to read into the record the following editorial:

"SMASH THIS TAX PROGRAM

"Most of Governor Earle's 22-point tax program has passed the House and is now in the Senate. Also in the Senate is the Earle bill calling for a convention to scrap our old Constitution and provide us with one that would let down the bars to all kinds of borrowing. The Senate should take the bull by the horns and wreck the Earle program on both counts.

"The new governor submits a list of bills providing for an increase of $203,000,000 over the amount raised by taxes during the last biennium. This is outrageous. And to raise this additional revenue the House of Representatives, under the Earle administration's lash, has passed most of the bills making this possible.

"It has passed the bill increasing the state tax on gasoline from three cents to five. This would make the gasoline tax higher than it would be in any of the boundary states. More than half of Pennsylvania's population lives in counties bordering on other states. In these counties there are 750,000 operating automobiles.

"Here we have a potential diversion of half the gasoline business in this state to adjoining states to save the tax. Here we have a possibility of wrecking the oil industry in this state, including the producer, refiner and marketer. Yet this destructive measure passed the house with practically every Democratic member voting for it and every Republican member voting against it.

"Comparable to this piece of legislative iniquity is the tobacco tax. Governor Earle proposes an additional tax of two cents on every package of cigarettes sold in the state. There is already a federal tax of six cents on every package. Should this increase become law everybody who smokes a package of cigarettes a day will be paying $29.20 every year in taxes.

"Equally as pernicious is the amusement tax which adds 10 per cent to the cost of every ticket.

"Characteristically the governor proposes to wipe out the paramount advantage Pennsylvania industry enjoys over many other states. For generations the industry of this state has been immune from a manufacturers' tax. Governor Earle proposes to tax manufacturers, too. For the first time also in the history of Pennsylvania we are really threatened with an income tax. At the instigation of Governor Earle such a tax bill has been introduced.

"Why all these new and strange taxes? The only answer is unemployment relief. We doubt if any other state in the Union has contributed as much to relief as Pennsylvania during the past two years.

"She has done this while she has been contributing upward of 10 per cent of the federal government's internal revenue. She has seen her tax funds handed out to states in the south and west which did not themselves raise one penny for relief. Little wonder that our neighboring state of Ohio is staging a revolt against a system which threatens her with bankruptcy.

"Also reposing in our state senate is the Earle bill to revise the constitution. The present instrument forbids the state to borrow money in excess of one million dollars. It forbids any township, borough, city or county to borrow in excess of 7 per cent of its assessed valuation, and it prohibits any of these municipal divisions from borrowing more than 2 per cent without a vote of the people.

"The principal urge behind the proposal to destroy our present constitution is to throw down the bars to borrowing. The Roosevelt administration is throwing the nation into debt on a terrifying scale. The Earle administration wants Pennsylvania to do it on the same scale.

"For the first time in the history of this country we have raised a crop of politicians who do not hesitate to prostitute the electorate and perpetuate their power to tax with profligate expenditure of public funds.

"The state senate has a duty to discharge to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania. This duty is to reject without the slightest hesitancy the entire Earle taxation program. Up to date Pennsylvania has done very well on a pay-as-you-go basis. She has as fine schools, roads, health and other public establishments as any state in the land. She has been quite as progressive along social lines.

"Relief can be taken care of if the system be debunked. Two years ago Venango County was astonished when she was told that $40,000 a month was available for relief. She had to scurry to spend that much. Now the relief disbursement in this small county totals $150,000 a month. And we doubt if we are taking care of any more people now than we did then.

"Cut the excesses from relief. Cut down the excessive cost of relief administration. Cut out the relief frills. Cut out the horde of professional welfare workers. Get this thing of relief down to honest and decent proportions and effect honest and decent economies in other branches of the state service, and we need no increased taxes or a new constitution that would permit us to borrow until the cows come home.

"The Earle tax program should be scrapped. The Republican members of the senate can wreck it if they stand together. What they should prepare is a reply to Governor Earle that they refuse to permit this state to be plunged into the same welter of debt and taxes in which the federal government now wallows.

"In this respect it is time this state along with others was arising to assert its sovereignty. The power to tax is the power to destroy."

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman, identify the paper from which he has read, for the benefit of the Senators?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, it is the Oil City Derrick.

Mr. OWLETT. Will the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, can the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, advise the Senate when and if Governor Earle told Mr. Hopkins how much he had provided in his budget for relief purposes in Pennsylvania.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I cannot definitely make that statement. I gave you practically the conversation that I had with the Governor.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, can the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, advise us how long Mr. Hopkins said this relief was to continue during the next biennium?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I cannot answer that question.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, can the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, advise us when it is expected to start the Public Works Program in Pennsylvania which is supposed to employ all the unemployed employable?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I did not discuss that public works question with the Governor.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, can the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, advise us whether that was discussed with Mr. Hopkins by the Governor?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President I cannot.

Mr. OWLETT, Mr. President, is it not a fact that President Roosevelt, in his message to Congress, stated that the $4,800,000,000 Work Relief Bill would provide employment in this country for all the unemployed who are in the employable class?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I have not heard that statement just in that form.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, has the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, been advised as to whether it was discussed between the Governor and Mr. Hopkins as to the Works Relief projects in Pennsylvania which have been approved and are ready to go forward?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I think I answered that question previously by saying I did not discuss with the Governor the Work Relief Project.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I understand, then, that the only message we have from the Governor and Mr. Hopkins is that we must raise $5,000,000.00 a month after April 15th, for an indefinite period, in spite of the works Relief Program. Is that right?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, Yes—Modifying the last part of the statement by the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, to wit, "In spite of the Works Relief Program." That was not embodied in my conversation with the Governor.

Mr. OWLETT. Well, Mr. President, that bill has passed, we all understand.

Mr. PRESIDENT. It seems to me it is time for the members of this Senate, and the public men in Pennsylvania, to face this relief problem as it is. We have had submitted to us a budget calling for $120,000,000.00 for Work Relief or for Unemployment Relief, as Pennsylvania terms it. Every one knows that Pennsylvania has contributed, up to the first of the year, more than any other State in the United States toward its Unemployment Relief burden. We have been told—as I have been told by Democratic members of this Senate—that there are projects approved, in Pennsylvania, ready to go forward, which will take care of all the employables among our unemployed. It seems to me that this Senate is entitled to enlightenment as to when we may expect a termination, under that program, of our present Unemployment Relief, which has taken $20,000,000.00 a month, which has increased twice in some eight months—at a time when we find, in many sections of our State, actual shortage of work, when we hear of chiseling on all sides by those who are receiving relief, who are not entitled to it.

Mr. PRESIDENT and Members of this Senate. It seems to me that it is time for us to go into this problem, to face it as public men should face it. If we do not, the whole house is going to fall over upon our heads, and we will not have any State left if we continue to spend $20,000,000.00 a month for relief; and if there is not a time fixed for the termination of this, we are going to have, just as we had in the past, real Work Relief, we are going to have to continue right along with this Work Relief Program; and it seems to me that instead of the Governor's sending to this Senate notice that unless we pass his tax bills, which this Senate is against, and about which we have heard on all sides the uprising of the people against this tax discrimination against certain of our industries in the State, instead of spreading the burden over the whole State,—instead of sending such a message to this legislative body, which has before it these tax bills, we should be enlightened as to the plans for the future with reference to this Work Relief; we should be told what plan he offers to tak off such of those on the relief rolls as are represented by these "chiselers" that we hear of on all sides.

I heard the other day, in Butler, Pennsylvania, of a foreigner in the alms house who was receiving relief checks at three or four different addresses. I met a gentleman the other day who had talked with sixteen persons in one county, persons that were on relief; and fourteen of them were buying cars with their relief checks.

Now, it is a scandal and a disgrace to this State of Pennsylvania, and instead of getting this kind of a message, I think, Mr. President and members of the Senate, that it is time for us to go into this question of relief, it is time for this Governor and this Administration to tell us what they plan to do to cut down these relief rolls, and take care only of those entitled to be taken care of. No one in this body, or in this State, I take it, but is ready to do his part to see that the unemployed are taken care of; but we must stop this increase in the relief rolls.

In my opinion, you are never going to stop it as long as you have those highly paid relief distributors all over this State, being paid something like a million dollars a month, at the present time, to distribute this relief. These very people who are distributing it have got to build up this system in order to keep their own jobs. We have had laid down before us bills calling for $200,000,000.00 increase in taxes, with no explanation as to why it is needed, or why we have had a doubling of the relief rolls in eight months; and then we get this kind of a message,—and it is only fair to say that we all knew this message was going to come, they publicized it, it was in the newspapers that they were going down to Washington to get word from Mr. Hopkins; and there was no one but knew what that message would be when it came back to us,—we have to contribute this money or they will cut off relief. And this notwithstanding the fact that Pennsylvania has contributed more than any other State in the Union—there is no other State except, perhaps, New York, that has contributed as much. And it is time, I say, Mr. President, for us to go into this question; it is time that we should know how long it is going to last, and what benefit to Pennsylvania is going to come from this four billion dollar Work Relief Program which has gone through the Senate, and not to be secured by this kind of setup.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I shall be very happy to be interrogated.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, is my understanding of the address by the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, correct, that he is in favor of the abolition of direct relief at this time?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am in favor of the creation of local boards that do know who are entitled to receive relief, and I am in favor of wiping out these highly paid so-called social workers who are distributing this relief at the present time, because that is what has built up this vicious system on all sides; it is a system which is indefensible.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, then, the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, does not for a minute pretend that we should fail to make some provision in this Senate for some relief purposes?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I made it clear that we have to take care of the relief of those who need to be fed and clothed. Of course, I am for it; I am for such relief as is necessary.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, is, then, in favor of providing relief in at least some amount?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, we always have, in Pennsylvania, provided for relief since this thing has started; in fact, we have done more than our share.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I think, perhaps, the remarks of the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, are apt to be confusing on this question of relief administration; and I say frankly to the members of this body that I am no more sympathetic with this relief system that Gifford Pinchot built up in this State than, I am sure, the Senator from Tioga County is, and I think I voice the sentiment of the Administration when I say that this organization which has been gnawing at the vitals of this Commonwealth for the past two years has, somehow or other, got to be changed. But, be that as it may, whichever way this relief situation may go, from the standpoint of administration, or mechanics, nevertheless we as a Senate have got to pass some bills appropriating money—as the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, says, to take care of those who are needy, those who must be fed and those who must be clothed.

I think, perhaps, the Senator from Tioga County has not been inclined to inquire deeply enough into the present projected program with relation to the problems which confront us in this respect. I think, perhaps, if he had followed the newspaper reports more closely he would have found that the President's Public Works Program contemplates, if it is at all possible, by the first of next January to have the people of the country off the direct relief rolls and into some kind of employment in worth while construction, in public works, with other forms of public works which may be provided,—and to do away, if possible, with the system or direct relief.

We all know what a difficult task that is going to be; and I say, with the Senator from Tioga County, we have got to face this thing squarely, we have got to admit that no matter what program may be projected there will be a certain proportion of the people who, on account of age, physical disability or some other incapacity of one sort or another, have got to be taken care of by relief; and until this program of Public Works is under way and satisfactorily going, the other members of our Commonwealth have, likewise, got to be taken care of by direct relief—by some sort of improved mechanical system in the relief administration. And I say it does not behoove this Senate arbitrarily to reject the Governor's program or any other program with respect to taxation; it ought to get down, in a business like manner, and try to work out some method to raise these funds.

And I protest against some of the inferences that have been left, in the preceding talks, that that class of persons in the State of Pennsylvania who heretofore have been immune from taxation should continue to be immune from taxation. I believe that every person, association or corporation in this State should step right up in the line and contribute its fair share of the taxes, and that we should not submit to continued immunity just because it has existed perennially.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will gladly.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, if I remember correctly, in the remarks of the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, he said he was familiar with, or knew of, fourteen persons receiving relief today who purchased automobiles. Am I correct in my recollection?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I said that I was told by a man who interrogated sixteen persons in one community, who were on relief, and he found that fourteen of them were buying automobiles with relief checks.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, whether he reported such a condition to the Relief Administration of Pennsylvania?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I just learned of it; and I am going to report it.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I think it would be wise if the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, would so report it.

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, has spoken of the so-called "chiselers"—probably in his own district. I should like to know whether he would like to see the State of Pennsylvania placed in the same class with the so-called "chiseling" States like Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi, States which have contributed nothing to the Federal Relief Administration but have been perfectly willing to accept all the benefits of that Relief Program. Would the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, like to see Pennsylvania placed in that class?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I made it clear that I thought Pennsylvania should do its share. It always has done its share—more than its share. We have contributed, as I understand, ten per cent. of all the funds that have been raised, that have been distributed for the benefit of some of the Southern States while we put our State in debt and built up a deficit to pay our share. That is what I say, and I reiterate it.

Mr. RUPP. I would like to know why the Senator from Tioga brought up this question of relief administration. First of all, probably I should ask the pardon of the Senate for taking up their time, being the youngest Senator here, and being in the company of many wise old legislators, but I feel that I have been connected with the relief administration in Lehigh County, being solicitor for the Poor Directors. I think that the Senator from Tioga has properly analyzed the situation when he says that there are a great many "chiselers" on relief. I have had in my office delegations from the unemployed leagues, and from various people in the county who are interested in the county, and who are interested in the relief administration, in which they have all been complaining of their neighbors who are not entitled to relief and are still accepting relief, but they are unwilling to assume the responsibility of reporting the so-called "chiselers" to the proper authorities, and the result is that the cost of relief is growing by leaps and bounds.

We have heard tonight the necessity of having to raise $203,000,000.00 to balance our budget, and for the next budget we shall be obliged to raise $300,000,000.00 for the next two years. I think that the answer to this program of relief is to place the burden of maintaining this relief administration on the shoulders of every man, woman and child in the State of Pennsylvania. Now, the only way we can accomplish that is by making every person in this Commonwealth tax conscious. I am against any legislation of placing the burden of taxation on one class of consumers. I declared last week in the newspapers in my community that I was opposed to the gasoline tax, and I say this now, that I am opposed to any taxes that burden the one class of consumers; that we should place the burden on every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth, and it will be the duty then of every man, woman and child to see that this relief is properly administered. If my next door neighbor is "chiseling," and is not entitled to relief, and I know that I am directly paying the bill, and I am certainly going to be the first person to report that individual to the proper authorities.

I am in favor of the Sales tax. I don't agree with the system adopted in the matter of collecting it. I am in favor of paying a direct sales tax probably along the lines in the system in vogue in the State of Ohio, where they have revenue stamps, and where each article that is purchased is covered by a stamp. Every citizen, every consumer in the State of Ohio, is tax conscious. Every citizen knows he is supporting the relief program, and if his brother, or if his neighbor, is "chiseling," I will guarantee you that he will be the first one to report that very fact. I think that it is time that we spread this burden throughout the whole State. Make everybody responsible for the apportionment of this relief program, and then soon we will have a more efficient administration of relief in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BATCHELOR. Mr. President, I am certainly glad to hear the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Rupp, voice opposition to the Governor's program. I hold in my hand a copy of The Ambridge News-Herald, of the issue of Thursday, March 21st. The caption of the editorial in this paper, which correctly says it is "The Only Democratic Newspaper in Beaver County," reads: "YES, WE SAID RACKETS." And the editorial is as follows:

"Many newspapers are now repeating what the News-Herald asserted already two years ago and at various times since regarding the racketeering element in welfare activities. Soon following the identification of the writer with the Re-employment Board in Beaver county this trend was brought to notice.

"Again when the CWA work was started here in Ambridge, when abortive practice of the most vicious type were manifest in the hiring of relief workers, when greed reared its head in a disgusting manner by persons disqualified by common decency were given preference to those really in distress and hordes flocked here from adjoining districts and from distant states to crowd the suffering back, this paper again protested the inhumane conduct of those in authority, and their satellites.

"But avarice had full sway. Like buzzards around a carcass neither protest nor reason could prevail. Government funds were being doled out lavishly and the first at the feed trough were persons who by reason of the purpose of the relief were least entitled. The whole gamut of greed and disgrace was played to the limit. The funds were squandered with shameless profligacy.

"No one could be found to raise a staying hand and the racketeering grew and has continued, reaching a stage of brazen effrontery defying public opinion and every conscientious scruple that honor dictates. Unless heroic action is taken by those in supreme authority no one can foretell to culmination to which we are heading.

"The set-up here in Ambridge, if it were not so tragic it might be regarded as a huge joke. When Ambridge dispensed the welfare funds locally only two persons were under salary and relief went to where it was most needed. The local police were the investigators. They knew the conditions and requirements of every family in the borough. Deception and false claimants never got to first base.

"How is it now? We are informed we now have thirteen handling the local relief office and the funds are being spent like the proverbial drunken sailor. The operation is something like a pink tea. First, they have a manager, then a couple desk girls, a whole bevy of what is designated as "visitors," but in reality what is commonly known as investigators, and last but not least a door maid in charge of the reception parlor or salon.

"And how do they investigate? Here's how. On making inquiry recently as to the increase in population in Ambridge since the last decennial census the information was given that there was no apparent increase until the last few months since when persons have been gathering in from other counties and states to get on the welfare.

Learning that the picking is easy and lavish here and they migrate to Ambridge and nestle with some relative to get into the dole line.

"Properly administered the cost of welfare could be cut sixty per cent or more and no one would go hungry, unclothed or cold. The deception practised is so flagrant as to be nauseating and repellant. Applicants clothe themselves in tattered garments to present a picture of abject poverty; others drive in autos to a near point on a back street, then perambulate to headquarters to get their handout.

"Instances have been brought to our notice where members of some families are steadily employed while others gather relief. Many have developed improvident habits and are not endeavoring to help themselves. It is problematic if they would even spade up a garden, of which there are innumerable plots here that could be cultivated, were they given opportunity."

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am not sure but that I shall object to the reading of any further editorials from newspapers at this session of the Senate.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I desire to interrogate the young Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Rupp.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Rupp, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Rupp, whether or not he feels that the Legislature of Pennsylvania should decide what tax should be imposed, or whether we should do what we are told by the Chief Executive, and be told that we should not do otherwise.

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator fro mBucks, Mr. Buckman, I believe that we all financed our campaigns. I know that I received no assistance from any outside source; I had to stand on my own feet while I was campaigning before my constituents. They elected me to represent them. I feel that I can still stand on those same two feet and exercise my judgment as a member of the Senate, and I hope to do so in the future.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Rupp; I am glad to hear that.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like further to interrogate the Senator from whichever county he comes from Mr. Roberts.

The PRESIDENT. Will Senator Roberts permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I will; and I will tell the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that I come from the County of Northampton. I am very proud of it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, be good enough to tell us what was the purpose of reading the message he received from Governor Earle?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I think the last statement I made, and which I will read, so that it cannot be misinterpreted, covers that: "The seriousness of the situation impels me to make this statement to the Senate of Pennsylvania."

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, believe that because the situation is so serious we should create a further serious situation by passing laws imposing wholesale taxes with which we may not agree and which we think are not proper?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I believe that this Legislature should take appropriate action to meet the seriousness of this situation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, all right. Now, does the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, know that there is available for the next two years a fund known as the Motor Fund, which has and will receive for purposes of road construction $133,000,000.00, and that only $61,000,000.00 is required for maintenance?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I do not know the exact figures.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would say to the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, that if he reads the budget of His Excellency, the Governor, he will find that there is $133,000,000.00 contemplated as receipts from the Motor Fund for the next two years; that $20,000,000.00 will be necessary for the purpose of expenses and funded indebtedness, and that $113,000,000.00 is proposed to be spent for maintenance of roads and new road construction. He will find that on page 47 of the Governor's budget.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I will reply by asking the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, whether those funds are earmarked for a specific purpose, and whether he is in favor of deviating therefrom, to use those funds for other purposes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, that is the next question I intended asking the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts,—is he in favor of it?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to know who is being interrogated.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am insisting on my right to interrogate, and not to be interrogated by the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, until he answers my question.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, my next question to the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, is whether he is opposed, in the emergency of which he speaks, and which I take at its face value, coming to him as a message from the Governor of this Commonwealth, whether he is opposed to temporarily suspending new road construction and using the $42,000,000.00 as State funds for relief. In the meantime, let us get a sensible, sane and safe program of taxation, if such a thing is possible.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I do not know what the Senator from Philaodelphia, Mr. Shapiro, considers a sensible and sane program, but if there is such a thing possible—and I presume he has one in mind—I would be glad to see it properly introduced.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then, Mr. President, I suggest that it would be proper to give a reply to the Governor, to assure him of our interest and our intent to try to solve this problem as safely and as sanely as possible, to discuss and consider every tax proposal which he has submitted here; but, that pending that discussion, whether the Fund be sacred or not, we use the $42,000,000.00, which is available by a suspension of new road construction, for the purpose of granting relief until the Government of the United States and the Government of Pennsylvania can come to some agreement.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I know it is the custom of the presiding officer to permit wide latitude on questions of personal privilege; but I desire to call to the attention of the Chair that this whole discussion is entirely out of order, and I suggest that the Senate do now proceed to the business of this session.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, in regard to a statement he made.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I shall be glad to.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, tell us why he feels that the money of the Highway Department, which is used to furnish work, should be diverted, thus throwing more men out of work at a time like this?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, because I feel that $61,000,000.00 of expenditure for maintenance of roads is quite equivalent to $60,000,000.00 for maintenance and construction work spent in '29 and '31; and because I feel that with a program involving $4,800,000,000.00 contemplated by the Federal Government, this Administration, with its influence, can arrange to provide further road construction work that is necessary, and thus employ the few who may be thrown out by the suspension of the State's work on new roads; and further, because in the whole $42,000,000.00 the labor involved does not exceed $11,000,000.00, the remainder being for materials.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, will state his point of order.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I still insist that all this discussion is out of order, and that we should proceed to the business of the session.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, is well taken.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, for many weeks we have been receiving this evening the reports of our Standing Committees but among them we do not find any of the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

The History of Senate Bills shows that House Bill No. 147 was forwarded to this Senate by the House on the 29th day of January of this year and by this body referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Since that date the Committee has seen fit to resort to the practice of holding extended public hearings for the alleged purpose of sounding public opinion.

It is not without reluctance that members of this Senate advance to challenge the judgment of a Standing Committee in conducting public hearings for that purpose.

Indeed, this Senate might rightly regard it as degrading for any of its members to indulge in malign innuendo against a Committee, unless the circumstances surrounding the Committee's consideration of a Bill or Resolution reasonably manifest that the Committee has become subservient to influences unfaithful to the discharge of the Senate's constitutional duties.

In order to ascertain whether the Committee on Constitutional Changes is properly motivated in its consideration, let us go over the legislative course travelled by this House Bill No. 147.

On January 23rd of this year, this Bill was introduced to the House and referred by that body to its Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

This Committee reported the Bill favorably and after passage by the House it was communicated to this Senate for concurrence on January 29th.

On that date this Senate referred the Bill to its Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Up to this very moment, and perpetually hereafter for aught that we now know, the Bill is yet in the clutches of that Committee.

As heretofore indicated, Mr. President, that Committee voluntarily victimized itself with an epidemic of public hearings for the alleged purpose of sounding public opinion.

Let no member of this Senate assume it to be invective for me to aver that the Committee's confession of ignorance, relative to the present status of public opinion, might justly warrant the public in believing that those who control the activities of the Committee are either seeking subterfuge or else are under the spell of sinister influences.

Surely it is not news to the Chairman and many members of that Committee that, the platforms of both major parties in the last general election contained planks that promised the people of this Commonwealth a Constitutional Revision.

The orators, statesmen and candidates of both major parties travelled the length and breadth of the Commonwealth haranguing the voters with promises of immediate revision of the Constitution for straight party votes at the ballot box.

The Republican platform called for a revision when "feasible," while the Democratic platform promised an "immediate revision."

The leaders and candidates of the Republican Party, sensing that public opinion was in favor of "immediate revision," put on the Judas act by professing and proclaiming to the voters that the word "feasible" was intended by them to mean "immediate revision."

Surely the result of the election is history and should be known to the Chairman and members of the Committee.

The voters decided to take no chances with the ambiguous meaning of the word "feasible."

Shall the Committee be permitted to disregard the voters' mandate for an immediate revision, and substitute the mandate of the rejected Republican platform for a revision when "feasible?"

Did not the press of our Commonwealth devote column upon column of editorial opinions and news discussions upon this subject during the hectic days of the campaign?

Did not professional, industrial, civic and social organizations contribute to this most controversial question their discussions and opinions during the election?

Mr. President, let us set aright this ballyhoo.

Let us put an end to this Judas act.

Let us take patriotic fervor and candor sufficient to arouse our consciences to a mediocre sense of public duty.

Let us, like Peter, make a great confession.

Let us confess that it is vicious affrontery and insult to the intelligence and good sense of the people of this Commonwealth for any member or agency of this Senate, at this late day, to pretend ignorance as to the status of public opinion on the subject of Constitutional Revision.

Mr. President, most of those appearing before the Committee are protestants against an "immediate" revision of the Constitution.

They are representatives of organizations of the like of Chambers of Commerce, Public Utilities, Bar Associations and numerous other organizations whose past history shows them to be the adjuncts of the now decadent political philosophy of the Republican Party.

While the Bill was before the House Committee these individuals and organizations made no pretense to be heard.

They will not deny that they had opportunity to present to the House Committee what they are so studious to present to the Senate Committee.

Their failure to present their views to the House Committee is ample evidence of their mental attitude.

Their conduct warrants the assumption that they visualized better chances of defeating a Constitutional Revision at the hands of our Senate Committee composed of 82% Republican, and 18% Democratic Senators than that of the House consisting of 64% Democratic, 28% Republican and 8% Socialist representation.

Their attitudes and demeanors evince the opinions, idiosyncrasies and caprices of the obstinate Republican leadership.

They think, they act and they speak the very life of the Republican leadership and the state platform so emphatically repudiated by the voters of this Commonwealth in the last election.

Can it be successfully denied that the Republican leadership is inalterably opposed to an immediate Constitutional Revision?

Let us be frank.

Let us admit that the Republican leadership is resorting to vicious and demoralizing party spirit to impose upon the people of this Commonwealth that which the people have rejected.

Let us deal pleasantly with the Standing Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Let it not be the desire of anyone to put in question the integrity of every member of that Committee.

Let us cherish the notion that many of its members are confused and unaware that the holding of public hearings has furnished the subterfuge behind which the Republican leadership advances to crucify the public opinion expressed at the polls upon the vicious and demoralizing altar of obstinate party spirit.

Let us not attribute to any member of that Committee a desire for selfish or personal gain.

Parliamentary etiquette and a desire to give to all their just dues forbids it.

Candor and uprightness, however, impels us to set aside frivolous parliamentary attitudes and enunciate in the deliberations of this Senate those convictions which emanate only from a mind and heart conscious of the constitutional duties devolving upon us.

No member of this Senate can retain a tranquil mind and peaceful conscience and at the same time entertain the conviction that all the members of the Committee are not divorced from the caresses of party spirit in the consideration of this House Bill No. 147.

All men genuinely interested in the welfare, security and progress of the Commonwealth will readily admit that party spirit should not be allowed to trifle with the enactment of necessary and appropriate measures to relieve the burdensome taxation and heartrending insecurity that now rests so ominously over the homes, farms and lives of our constituents.

The destructive and demoralizing effects of party spirit are written in the doleful history of nations.

It is not the office of true patriots to remain silent when unscrupulous men unleash the vengeance, retaliation and envenomed passion of party spirit upon the agencies of fee government.

It is time propitious for patriotic men to raise their voices when the agencies of government are employed by unfaithful public servants to plunder and despoil the very people for whose benefit those agencies were ordained.

It is unfortunate that the baneful effects of party spirit are rarely visited upon those who are enslaved to it and who, for favor or venality, prostitute the agencies of government for the enhancement of party power or the pecuniary enrichment of self, friend or predatory interest.

The dutiful, industrious and patriotic citizen reaps the painful wages of party spirit in terms of high taxation, distress, misery, insecurity and stultified government and laws.

Let me speak to you of party spirit in the words of the Father of his Country, spoken on the occasion of his Farewell Address upon his retiring to private life:

"This spirit, unfortunately, is inseparable from our nature, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled or repressed; but, in those of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy.

"The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the spirit of revenge, natural to party dissension, which in different ages and countries has perpetrated the most horrid enormities, is itself a frightful despotism. But this leads at length to a more formal and permanent despotism.

"The disorders and miseries which result, gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an indvidual; and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate than his competitors, turns this disposition to the purpose of his own elevation, on the ruins of public liberty.

"Without looking forward to an extremity of this kind (which, nevertheless, ought not to be entirely out of sight), the common and continual mischiefs of the spirit of party are sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it.

"It serves always to distract the public councils and enfeeble the public administration.

"It agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and false alarms, kindles the animosity of one part against another, foments, occasionally, riots and insurrection. It opens the door to foreign influence and corruption, which finds a facilitated access to the government itself through the channels of party passions. Thus the policy and the will of one country are subjected to the policy and will of another."

Mr. President, if the tentacles of this blightful scourge found root only in the petty bickerings so abundant in the party life of township, ward and borough, all might be hopefully remedial. But this scourge is like the mustard seed of biblical parable "which indeed appears the least of all seeds; but when it is grown, it is the greatest amng herbs, and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof."

Party spirit motivates the presentation of Bills on the floor of this Senate.

It distorts the judicial mind to render iniquitous judgments.

It subordinates to party humor, servility and caprice, the execution of lawful judgments and decrees.

It demoralizes the efficacy of law enforcement and prostrates it at the feet of organized gangdom.

It forms the false screen behind which predatory interest and party chiefs advance to prostitute the agencies of government for corrupt and illegitimate gains.

It lurks ensconced within the committee rooms of this Senate.

It dictates the number of standing committees.

It names and numbers all members of standing committees.

Through it predatory interest and party chiefs say what Bills and Resolutions this Senate shall finally be permitted to act upon.

A fortnight ago, it stultified the rules of this Senate so as to make the votes of dead and absent Senators available for party spirit to consummate its selfish designs behind the doors of committee rooms with greater comfort and security.

It fosters and illicits from speakeasy, sweatshop and bawdy-house streams of slimy gold to be used for the debauchment of useful citizens.

Mr. President. A party spirit that has for its ultimate objective the advancement of the people and the progress of the Commonwealth is the thing that is devoutly to be wished.

Fortunate, indeed, is the nation whose political parties vie with one another to see which can render the nation the better service.

If the matters that come before this Senate are to be motivated solely by a desire to bring about a just solution of the financial, economical and practical problems that confront our government and the thousands of our people that are blind, aged, hungry, naked, shoeless, unemployed and burdened with discriminatory taxation, then let us set aside the vengeance, retaliation and envenomed passion that may be born of party spirit.

Let the motivating spirit of the substantial majority of this Senate be a patriotic and just one.

During the whole time this Senate has been in session, it has been party spirit that has resolved our functions into one recess after another while grave, serious and important legislation remains buried and "pickled" in the clutches of party-picked "pickling Committees."

It is time, Mr. President, that this baneful, destructive and demoralizing spirit be ousted from our midst and this Senate be allowed to enter upon the discharge of its Constitutional duties to the people of this Commonwealth.

It is time, Mr. President, that House Bill No. 147, favorably communicated to this Senate for final consideration nearly two months ago and by this body referred to its Standing Committee on Constitutional Changes, be now returned to the Senate floor to abide the Constitutional consideration that pursuant to our Constitutional oaths we are duty bound to give to it.

On past occasions this Senate has consistently refused to discharge its Committees.

The arguments advanced in opposition to the discharge have been as follows:

1. A precedent might be established that would later disrupt the ordinary and regular machinery of the Senate.

2. It impugns the integrity of the Committee.

Let us examine the soundness of these arguments.

Surely no honest Senator would hesitate to depart from precedent in order to unmask an instrumentality of government that abides the call of party spirit to expose to predatory loot and gain the welfare of our people.

Surely no member of this Senate will conscientiously assume or argue that Committees of this Senate have never killed necessary social Bills and Resolutions.

Surely no Senator would restrain his voice if a Standing Committee of this Senate functioned with greater appeasement to party spirit than to the manifested will of the people.

Sadly, an examination of the Journals of recent sessions will disclose a brutal and unjustifiable killing of needful social legislation by Committees of this Senate for no other reason than to appease the party vengeance of one faction of the decadent Republican Party against another.

Do honest men find it difficult to understand and see that the arguments against the discharge of a Committee are intended to place the mask of false sanctity on the head of party spirit and then challenge virtue and reason to assail that sanctity with impunity?

How often in the past have evil and designing public servants accused virtue itself of crime so that they and their followers might, with impunity, claim the right to trample it under foot?

Honest men will not be reluctant or hesitant to face their final judgment with a requited conscience.

Can members of this Senate face that judgment with these arguments upon their lips?

Integrity and candor require that we admit that all arguments, heretofore advanced in opposition to the discharge of a Standing Committee, are chimerical, fallacious and unsound.

Mr. President, I feel neither disquietude of conscience nor uneasiness of mind as I am about to present a motion that will test the presence or absence of this baneful, destructive and demoralizing party spirit in the minds and hearts of the members of this Senate.

I offer no apology in the presentation of such a motion.

It shall test whether or not, the rapacious greed of predatory interest and party spirit, shall take precedent over the Constitutional duties we owe the people who elected us.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

I, therefore, Mr. President, entertain neither reluctance nor mental reservation in moving that the Standing Committee on Constitutional Changes be now dismissed from further consideration of H. R. Bill No. 147, so that it might be returned to the floor of the Senate for immediate constitutional consideration.

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, as a member of the Committee on Constitutional Changes, I wish to take exception to a few of the statements of my colleague from Fayette County, Mr. Cavalcante. I believe that we have considered the matter of Constitutional changes in a serious light; it is a serious thing, and I feel that while the Committee has not acted as quickly as I would like to have seen it act, at the same time I wish to speak a word in their defense. This matter is being considered in the serious light in which it appears to most of the people of Pennsylvania. I would like to see this measure brought out just as quickly as anybody. I feel that the people of the State who want to know how the Senate feels towards a Constitutional change, and I would like to see this motion laid aside and brought up tomorrow at 4:30 as a special order of business.

SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. President, I move to amend the motion of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, that this matter be made a special order of business for tomorrow afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, make that as an amendment to the motion? There is a motion before the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. A motion has been made to discharge the Committee, and an amendment has been offered to postpone action on the motion and make it a special order for 4:30 tomorrow afternoon. That does not destroy the intent of the motion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, on what motion are we voting?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, that the vote is being taken on the amendment of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, to postpone action and make the motion a special order for 4:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, then a vote "no" is against Mr. Rodgers' motion to postpone, as I understand it?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, that his understanding is correct.

And the question recurring

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BUCKMAN and Mr. GELDER and were as follows, viz:

The PRESIDENT. The ayes are twenty-three and the nays are twenty-three. The presiding officer votes "aye," and the question is determined in the affirmative.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. NORTON read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 702, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Reading Hospital, of Reading, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STAUDENMEIR read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 703, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and section one of the act, approved the eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1656), entitled "An act authorizing county commissioners to refund taxes erroneously and inadvertently paid by persons and corporations into the county treasury," by extending the provisions thereof to license fees erroneously and inadvertently paid; and making such extension retroactive for a certain period.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

MOTION TO EXPUNGE

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante be expunged from the record as containing infammatory and derogatory statements.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his point of order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my point of order is that the motion is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, that the motion has been properly made and it is the prerogative of any deliberative body to expunge, if they so desire. Unless some more substantial reason shall be advanced, the motion, in the judgment of the Chair is in order.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, while there may be some thought that the statements made are inflammatory, I am going to request the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, to withdraw his motion, because after all, this is a public body, and I think the Senator from Fayette may have been expressing that which he believes in his heart to be true, and I am going to ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, if he will not withdraw his motion.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I prefer to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, whether he heard the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I heard the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, and I am still of the feeling that we all ought to work on the principle of peace and good will to all men.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in view of the request of my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, I will withdraw the motion.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I will withdraw my second, for the present.

The PRESIDENT. The motion to expunge, with the consent of the seconder, is withdrawn.

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMISSION ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I desire to introduce a resolution, which is the only tangible thing that my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward and I were able to bring back from the meeting of the Association of Legislators who held their convention in Washington, which I want to remind the Senators that we spent four thousand dollars to attend, although we paid our own expenses.

Mr. RUPP offered the following resolution, which was twice read, and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 25, 1935.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That there is hereby established the Joint Legislative Commission on Interstate Cooperation, whose function it shall be to perfect the participation of this State in the Council of State Governments, for the purpose of establishing and maintaining governmental machinery to facilitate communication, negotiation, understanding, and cooperation between the State of Pennsylvania and the other states of the Union, both regionally and nationally;

The Commission shall report to the Governor and to the Legislature on the first day of each regular legislative session, and at such other times as it deems proper. Its members shall serve without compensation, but they shall be paid their necessary expenses in carrying out their obligations under this resolution. It may employ a secretary and such other assistants as are needed in the performance of its duties, or it may share the expense of such employment with similar commissions of other states. An item of appropriation shall be inserted in the general appropriation law to pay such expenses and secretarial and clerical assistance;

The said Commission shall be composed of fifteen members, namely:

The five members of the Committee on Interstate Cooperation of the Senate; ;

The five members of the Committee on Interstate Cooperation of the House of Representatives; and Five officials of the State named by the Governor, one of whom shall be designated by him as the chairman of the Commission;

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forthwith communicate the text of this measure to the legislature of each of the other states of the Union, with the respectful request that each legislature shall enact a measure similar to this resolution, thus establishing a similar commission with like duties and powers, and thus joining with this State in the common cause of reducing the burdens which are imposed upon our citizens by governmental confusion, competition and conflict.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BATCHELOR offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 25, 1935.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday evening, April 1st, at nine o'clock; and that when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene Monday evening, April 1st, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

GRANTING USE OF THE SENATE CHAMBER TO THE COMMITTEE ON PENSIONS.

Mr. WOODWARD offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 25, 1935.

Resolved, That the use of the Senate Chamber be granted to the Committee on Pensions for the purpose of public hearing on Tuesday, March 26th, at two o'clock, P. M.

REQUESTING TAX DATA FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of a resolution reported from the Committee on Finance on March 19th, calling upon the Secretary of Revenue to furnish tax data to the Senate.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The resolution is read as follows:

FURNISHING TO SENATE TAX DATA PAID BY MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY FOR THE YEARS 1932 AND 1933

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, it is essential the General Assembly be in possession of available tax data so that its members may intelligently consider measures intended to produce additional revenue;

Therefore Be It Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the Secretary of Revenue be requested to furnish to the Senate at the earliest possible moment the following information:

FIRST—The total amount of State and Local taxes paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

SECOND—The total amount of Federal taxes paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933 as shown by returns filed with the Secretary of Revenue;

THIRD—The total amount of rentals paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

FOURTH—The total net income or loss by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

FIFTH—The total value of the Capital Stock of the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania, as appraised by the Department of Revenue, for the year 1932 and for the year 1933.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO PREVENT LYNCHING

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1935.

Whereas, During each year many lynchings occur, statistics revealing that twenty-five happened during the last year and more than five thousand during the last fifty years; and

Whereas, State governments cannot put an end to this evil which reflects upon the good name of the states in which occurring and upon the United States; and

Whereas, A bill is pending in Congress known as the Costigan Wagner Bill to enable the Federal Government to control this evil; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to pass legislation consistent with the Constitution of the United States which will enable the Federal Government to assist in the prevention of this crime and punish offenders against the Federal law;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires that concurrent resolutions reported from Committee lie on the table one day be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection. The resolution will lie on the table.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 25, 1935

The House met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend George A. Heiss, Pastor of St. Paul's United Brethren Church of Wormleysburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God Thou who art the essence of life, hope, peace and prosperity in Thy name we assemble.

Thou has bid us come to Thee, therefore we implore Thy Divine favour and blessing upon the Governor of our Commonwealth, upon each member of this Assembly.

Thou who art the Omnipotent, Omnipresent, Omniscient Johovah, we beseech Thee to direct and motivate the deeds and actions of each member of this August Assembly.

May each of us remember the scriptural injunction, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, mind, soul and strength. Thy neighbor as thy self."

May we build our laws and life upon the basic lay of Sinai.

When the conflicts of life are raging may we stabilize ourselves with the principle. The Lord thy God shalt thou adore, and Him only shalt thou serve.

This we pray in the name of our Father God. Amen.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO MEMBER-ELECT

The SPEAKER. The Honorable Ralph E. Kelder will present himself at the bar of the House where the office of oath will be administered by the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, a judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The Chair appoints Messrs. Woodside and Wickersham to escort the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham to the rostrum.

Whereupon the oath of office was administered to the Honorable Ralph E. Kelder.

STATEMENT BY MR. BARNHARDT

Mr. BARNHARDT asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. BARNHARDT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just a few short weeks ago it was my humble duty as a member of a committee representing this House, to pay our last respects to the memory of a former member, the Hon. Edward Labar, Pike County. Tonight we welcome to our midst his successor, the Hon. Ralph Kelder.

It is my great pleasure as a Republican and a Locomotive Engineer to welcome the new member, also a Republican and a railroad man, and in order that he may perform his new duties as befits his occupation as a switchman, I want to present to him the proper implement (a lantern) so necessary to his present duties.

RESOLUTION

THANKING HONORABLE FRANK B. WICKERSHAM

Mr. WICKERSHAM offered the following resolution which was twice read and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 25, 1935.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, Judge of Dauphin County, for his service in administering the oath of office to the Honorable Ralph G. Kelder of Pike County.

THOMAS R. WICKERSHAM.

STATEMENT BY MR. RUTH

Mr. RUTH, asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement.

Mr. SPEAKER. This afternoon the Governor of our Commonwealth, George H. Earle, was in conference with the Federal Emergency Relief Administrator, Harry L. Hopkins. The report of the United Press and the Associated Press is as follows:

Washington, March 25 UP-Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Governor George Earle agreed late today that Pennsylvania should raise $5,000,000 a month as its share of unemployment aid funds after April 15.

"I believe that is a reasonable figure," Hopkins told Earle, "and I must cut off Federal funds from Pennsylvania unless that amount is raised."

Earle replied that "I am perfectly certain the Legislature will provide those funds from the $203,000,000 two-year tax program I am advocating."

Hopkins pointed out that since January 15, FERA has advanced Pennsylvania $48,000,000, while the State has contributed no funds.

"It seems to me the FERA has been pretty reasonable, and there should be some action by the Legislature to provide Pennsylvania's fair share," Hopkins said.

"FERA cannot continue holding the bag for Pennsylvania, so I set the April 15 deadline."

Governor Earle went down to get $20,700,000. The administration at Washington gave him $10,000,000 to April 15 and not one cent after that date unless the Pennsylvania Legislature appropriates five million dollars a month.

I belive that the Legislature should take speedy action on the program so that our one million seven hundred fifty thousand people on relief will not be in want after April 15.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Coakley asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SINWELL for the balance of the week on account of illness.

Mr. Eroe asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KELSO on account of illness.

Mr. Linderman asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. BARNHARDT for the balance of the week on account of death in the family.

Mr. White asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. STOTT.

Mr. Wood asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SPANGLER for the balance of the week on account of illness.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr MASON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, will the sponsor of the bill tell me how much revenue is estimated if the bill is passed?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Approximately four million three hundred thousand dollars, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, it is my interpretation that by the passage of this bill it transfers into the Department of Revenue the collection of the transfer and inheritance tax, the state taxes and mercantile taxes.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Monroe tell me how the four million and some odd thousands of dollars are divided in so far as the three various tax collections are concerned?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, under the state inheritance tax the Department of Revenue anticipates an increased collection of two million five hundred fifty thousand dollars. In the collection of the mercantile tax on retail and wholesale business they anticipate an increased revenue of one million seven hundred thousand dollars. In the saving of salaries the sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars and the possible savings of approximately fifty thousand dollars in various other expenses.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe to state how by the transfer of inheritance tax to the Department of Revenue an additional income will be produced in the amount of approximately two million five hundred thousand dollars?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it will be produced by the placing in office of competent men, capable and able to carry on the business, whereas in the past it has not been carried on in the most competent and efficient manner. It is estimated that the amount of revenue will increase ten per cent. They anticipate that by efficient and competent collection that the revenue will be increased ten per cent over the estimated revenue. The estimated revenues of the inheritance state taxes are twenty-five and a half million dollars and ten per cent will be two million five hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe say that the increased mercantile taxes arise through the same method?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. The same method, Mr. Speaker, except that the possible increase from figures and examination made by the Department of Internal Revenue it would indicate that the increase would be approximately thirty-three and one third per cent, that is increased over and above the estimate income of five million two hundred ten thousand dollars, or in round numbers the increase would be one million seven hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Monroe say that there would be one hundred fifty thousand dollars approximate saving in salaries?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MASON. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, how many employes would be dismissed or reduced by the transfer of the mercantile tax to the Department of Revenue from the Department of Internal Affairs?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the figures I have involve the collection of both the mercantile taxes and the inheritance or state taxes and the number is estimated at thirty, with a saving of twenty-five hundred dollars per annum on each of those employes, or seventy-five thousand dollars per year which is one hundred fifty thousand dollars for the biennium.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe know how many employes are permanently employed throughout the State exclusive of Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have those figures.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know how many of those employes are temporarily employed in the sixty-five counties exclusive of Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have those figures.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Monroe have the figures of the number of employes in the collection of the transfer inheritance tax?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No, I do not, Mr. Speaker. Of course the figures I have given involve the collection of all these three taxes.

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, why this bill is classed as a revenue raiser and a bill under the present administration tax program is beyond my comprehension, for there is no doubt that anyone who studies the bill itself knows the present system in the collection of these various taxes and realizes that by the transfer of these taxes from the Register of Wills or from the Auditor General and the Register of Wills and from the mercantile appraisers to the Department of Revenue they are merely transfering certain patronage,—political patronage if you will—from the Republican administration of the Auditor General to the Democratic administration of the Department of Revenue.

No one can gainsay the fact that there is a complete record of every estate filed in all the counties of the Commonwealth in the office of the Register of Wills; no matter under which office or under which system of collection the transfer inheritance tax is collected it will not change the number of estates which must be filed; that is entirely separate from this act.

There is no doubt that at the present time a minimum number of employes has been used throughout the State in the collection of the transfer and inheritance taxes. In the sixty-five counties of the state exclusive of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties there are one hundred thirty-six employes, and this covers appraisers, investigators, collectors and so forth. These figures are based upon the year 1934. In the county of Philadelphia there are more than that naturally,—there are seventy-four in the county of Philadelphia and fifty-seven in the county of Allegheny. There are sixty-seven Registers of Wills, one in each county in the State. To state that we can cut this number to any appreciable degree by transferring the collection of this tax to Department of Revenue is I believe entirely erroneous.

When you come to the mercantile appraisers, however, we find it entirely different, and certainly a very dubious question that there can be any reduction whatsoever. Let me call attention to the fact first of all that the mercantile appraisers for the sixty-five counties in the State of Pennsylvania are on a fee basis, they are paid a percentage on collections and not through any salaries. In Allegheny County and in Philadelphia County they allow a corps of five men who are paid by salaries or wages, I believe, and for the number of permanent employes throughout the sixty-five counties of the State by mercantile appraisers at the present time, we find that Dauphin Couny has one, Lackawanna County has three, Luzerne County has three, and the sum total is seven, that is all that are used throughout the State that are permanent employes.

Insofar as temporary employes are concerned we find that there are thirty-four throughout fifty-four counties and that forty-four of the counties do not employ any employes whatsoever except the mercantile appraiser to collect the tax. There can not be any saving that way. The only possible way there might be a saving under this act or an increase in revenue would have been by more diligent and efficient methods of collection, and I say to you that if the acts in the present form are not sufficient to bring forth adequate collections, there is only one thing to do and can do and that is to put a bit more teeth in the act itself to insure methods for the proper enforcement and collection of the tax.

In analyzing the two acts that now that the bill has been re-referred for second reading there has been an amendatory section in subsection (c) of section 1204, and I merely wish to call attention of the members to this fact, that by that amendment they changed it so that the advertising should be published in each county having a population of less than one million five hundred thousand.

I wonder which counties they are aiding by adding that extra five hundred thousand population in there? I wonder which newspapers are going to gain by page after page of names, list after list which must be advertised in that large county included under this new amendment to the act itself? It would be far better if in amending the act they had eliminated from section (c) of sub-section 1204 any provision in so far as advertising is concerned.

Frankly I do not believe it is a tax question; I do not believe it is a revenue raising measure whatsoever. I believe the sole purpose of the bill, disguisd as a tax measure is, as I said, in my first remarks, a transfer of patronage from the Department of Internal Affairs under the old administration to the Department of Revenue under the present administration, and I shall vote against the bill and urge the members of the House to do likewise.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, rising in support of House Bill 836 I would call to the attention to the members of this House the pledge of the Democratic party during the last campaign for an efficient administration of government affairs. That party promised to administer this government both efficiently and at the least expense possible. The Governor, as every member of this House knows, has played his part in the elimination of many useless and worthless jobs that have been costing the government of this State many millions of dollars.

The Governor, however, can not alone bring about all of the savings that were promised by the Democratic party. Unfortunately it is necessary to pass needed and necessary legislation to carry into effect the promise of efficiency and the promise of to save to the people of this Commonwealth large sums of money, and House Bill No. 836 is introduced for that purpose in the main.

It is doing this, it is transferring to the Department of Internal Affairs the appointment of the appraisers for inheritance and state taxes, and it is also transferring to the same department the appointment of mercantile appraisers, and in so doing we propose to save to this Commonwealth either by efficient collection of taxes or by saving, the sum of four million three hundred thousand dollars in the biennium.

Now, let us see how that figure is arrived at. First of all let me say that it will result in the removal of a large number of unnecessary tax appraisers,—inheritance tax appraisers; that secondly the Department will go into the qualifications of these men whom they will appoint as inheritance appraisers. I believe every member of this House knows the fact that very many incompetent men are appointed. We have at the present time insurance agents, clerks, storekeepers and real estate brokers acting as appraisers for the inheritance taxes and unfortunately those men are incompetent in many instances to occupy that particular position. They lack the facilities to ascertain the values of the stocks and the bonds and the various properties they are expected to appraise. And then again they are personally affected because of their acquaintanceship with the heirs of the estate, and as a result large sums of money are lost to the Commonwealth because of inequitable and unfair appraisements. As a matter of fact the Department of Internal Affairs on its own initiative could quite reasonably carry on an investigation for the purpose of ascertaining how the appraisers were working, and they found approximately seven hundred thousand dollars in errors in appraisements. That was in only a limited investigation, if you please, and using that investigation as a basis they have come to the conclusion that at least an extra ten per cent in inheritance taxes can be raised and the estimated sum payable under inheritance taxes for the biennium, not considering the investigation, amounts to twenty-five and a half million dollars for the biennium, and if those figures are correct,—and the Department of Internal Affairs stands ready to back up that assertion,—they will collect the sum of two million five hundred fifty thousand dollars over and above the amount of the estimated income.

They likewise carried on in the same method in the mercantile field, and they found there even greater disparity in the figures of the returns and the sum that should have been returned. As a matter of fact they found that the increased amount would be one-third over and above the estimated returns, and the estimated returns, if you please, are five million two hundred ten thousand dollars, and using that as a basis they anticipate a saving of one million seven hundred thousand dollars,—and when I say saving I mean increased revenue.

In addition to that, many counties are being served by an appraiser when one appraiser could efficiently and effectively serve three or four and even more counties, and they estimate and feel that they can save the salary of thirty employes, a sum amounting to seventy-five thousand dollars per year or one hundred fifty thousand dollars for the biennium.

Likewise they feel that with the discharge of that number of employes that they will save approximately one-third of that salary in travel expense or an additional sum of fifty thousand dollars, and they point to the members of this House that in addition they will have effective and efficient service because these men will be serving directly under them.

At the present time, if you please, the men are appointed by the Auditor General's Office and then make their reports to the Department of Internal Affairs, but they are not responsible to the Department, for their appointment does not eminate from there, and after all to clarify the situation, in order to see to it that the employes are responsive to the individual who is employing them for the department that is employing them they should be put directly under the supervision and under the appointment of the department for whom they must work.

And now in conclusion, as to the statement of the gentleman relative to the amendment, might I state that that amendment has not changed the present law in the least. This law at the present time provides for advertisement in counties having a population of one million five hundred thousand or less, and in drafting the bill unfortunately we referred to an earlier act, and as a result we discovered our error and have corrected the error. This is not changing the law one iota.

No pressure was brought to make the amendment; it was made out of fairness, out of honesty and out of decency for the purpose of not changing the law as it stands at the present time, and I am saying to the Democratic members of this House, in voting for this bill you are voting for a part of that platform that you pledged yourselves to support, that part wherein you guaranteed to the people of this Commonwealth an efficient and effective form of government, saving every penny where it is possible to save, and I am asking yo uto vote for it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, May I interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Monroe tell us how under the present law the mercantile appraisers are paid in each county?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. They are paid, Mr. Speaker, if I recall correctly, fifty cents for each appraisement. I may be in error as to the amount.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, May I ask if they are paid any commission beyond that?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as was well stated by my colleague from Luzerne County, in the last analysis this measure means merely the transferring of patronage from the Auditor General's Department to the Governor. It is not a new measure to those of us who served under the last administration, because the last administration desiring likewise to have control of this patronage, sought to do the same thing.

I do not understand how the gentleman from Monroe can logically say to the members of this House that you are going to receive any money by reducing the number of mercantile appraisers if the appraiser receives only fifty cents for each appraisement that he makes; reducing the number certainly will not reduce the amount of money that he collects. If there are a million returns made by the mercantile appraisers then the cost would be five hundred thousand dollars, whether you had ten appraisers or fifty appraisers, because this bill makes no change in that.

In the second place I believe the gentleman from Monroe, if I understand him properly, said that there was favoritism by some men that were employed by the mercantile tax appraisers, because they knew the people, knew the family connected with the estate or knew the attorney or representative of the estate. I want to say that in so far as I am concerned as a practising attorney and in so far as my experience in my own county is concerned, you have a fight with the inheritance tax appraiser in every case; he makes you prove every item. And then in the last analysis that appraisement has to go to the Department of Revenue for approval, and if there are unfair appraisals because an inventory appraisal is filed in every estate, the items are all there, the inventory is appraised. That inventory must go eventually through the Orphans' Court, and if the items are all there they all go to the Department of Revenue, and if the appraisers have made mistakes of seven hundred thousand dollars in their appraisements, then certainly we do not want to turn this work over to the Departmment of Revenue. We had better send it on back where it was, in the Auditor General's Department and let them handle it and see whether they can prevent a mistake of seven hundred thousand dollars in the appraisements.

I think it is therefore neither intelligent,—it certainly does not mean that we have intelligence if you say that you can increase inheritance tax collections or the amount that the state should receive from the inheritance tax—and get ten per cent more, or two million five hundred thousand dollars. We might as well state any figure here, but if that amount can be saved then not only the appraisers themselves, but in the last analysis the department that has control over this matter is to blame.

Now, my friends, the gentleman from Monroe mentions savings that the Governor of the Commonwealth is endeavoring to make. I think those of you who know my history in the House know that if there is any one thing for which I have fought since I have been here it is to increase the efficiency and economy in state government and I would be the last one to make any disparaging remark as to any executive who tried to cut the cost of state government.

I do not believe it is particularly germane at the moment to this situation, but the gentleman from Monroe having raised it I would like to call your attention to the fact that in his budget message to this House the Governor of this Commonwealth said there were $16,310,470.76 savings by purging padded payrolls and strictest economies in all government functions. I believe that the Governor was sincere when he made that statement. He had just come into office; he had not had the experience that some of us here have had, and he undoubtedly took that which was handed to him and made that statmeent. But, my friends, there are some of us who have been here too long to take such statements without analysis. I recall as some of you do that in 1932 we tried to cut the cost of the government of the State of Pennsylvania by cutting the appropriation by twenty-two million dollars. We finally succeeded in cutting it by sixteen million dollars, but it was a tremendous effort and one that brought down upon our heads a great deal of condemnation from many sources even though we were saving it for the Commonwealth.

I am not going to take your time to read the analysis, but I have here a complete analysis of the manner in which that $16,310,470.76 was saved. If you care to see it, I will be glad to show it to you but I want to say that there was not $16,310,470.76 saved by purging padded payrolls and strictest economies in all governmental functions, because the items in this so-called sixteen million dollar saving when broken down show that part of these savings are non-recurring items. I have one that just hits me in the eye, the Department of Military Affairs, quelling riots, replacing Federal property, and so forth one hundred thousand dollars. I have here a statement that in this is four million three hundred thousand dollars in support of public schools. That was not cutting down padded payrolls and strictest economies in government functions because that is taken out under the provisions of the Edmonds Act which compels us to pay a certain part of the teachers' salaries.

Then there is the aid to the financially handicapped school districts for which we have appropriated through two sessions five million dollars. That is taken out, and that becomes a part of this saving by taking from padded payrolls and practicing strictest economies.

I could go on throughout this entire list and show you item after item of appropriations that were made in the past that are not necessary now which were taken as part of this strict economy. I do not believe that is germane to the question for moment. I do not believe that the Department of Revenue can save us ten percent or can increase the amount of the inheritance tax to be collected by ten percent to save two million five hundred thousand dollars.

In the first place every Register of Wills receives a commission on the amount collected. He is most zealous in trying to collect all that he can so that he can increase his commissions.

I do not believe that you can save or increase the revenues by one million seven hundred thousand dollars by taking over the mercantile appraisers for the reason that I have shown you the amount so paid to the mercantile appraisers.

But I think there is a broader and a bigger question than that, and one that I think will interest the members of this House who have been here for sometime. We know that gradually in the State of Pennsylvania there has been handed into the hands of the Executive increased executive power. Those of us who were here in 1929 objected to the provisions of an administrative code that greatly increased the patronage that the Governor had at his disposal. We know that the Secretary of Internal Affairs, a constitutional officer, had up to 1927, control of his patronage, and at that time that was taken away from him and added to the Governor.

I have often said to the people of the State of Pennsylvania on the floor of this House that I do not believe that there is any potenate or any government in any country on the face of the globe with the possible exception of the President of the United States today who wields as great an amount of patronage as does the Executive of the State, and I want to say to you as a warning to you new members of this House who perhaps have not had this experience but perhaps have experienced some of it with these tax measures in the last couple of weeks, that the increase in the power of patronage that the Governor wields and that the Executive wields as a continuing menace to the independence of the Legislature, that it is a continuing menace to the economy in the State and in our government, and while we may have in one administration a Governor who may wield his axe for the sake of economy, there are too often men who are anxious for jobs, and the political pressure and the power that are put behind the demand upon the Executive are so great that there are many times when he is bound to override his own judgment and place patronage at the disposal of the politicians in his district.

Who can doubt that the men who will be appointed to the office of mercantile appraisers and tax appraisers will but be the men in the counties in which these appraisements will be made.

Every member of the Democratic party there will be undoubtedly seeking office for his own friends. There will be no change in that respect, but after all I think there is a broader and bigger question. Every Governor that we have had has been reaching out for more and more patronage. We try to extend the jobs under the Commonwealth, the jobs in the control of the Executive.

This is the time to fight for our independence. This is the time for the Legislature to be a real Legislature, and stand up and fight for the things that it believes to be right.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SPECIAL ORDER

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 838, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections twenty and twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws, four hundred twenty), entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation,' approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine," by substituting a franchise tax on foreign corporations in lieu of the capital stock tax on such corporations; imposing a tax upon the capital stock of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships and companies heretofore exempt; and increasing the rate of tax on the capital stock of fire and marine insurance companies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORST. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Center, Mr. Decker?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Center permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DECKER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HORST. Will the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Speaker, kindly explain why on page 9, section 20, the act was so amended as to except distilleries which are now under the present act and bring in under the provisions of the act taxation on the capital stock of corporations, limited partnerships and so on? The question I am curious about is why this exception should be put into the act.

Mr. DECKER. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of the gentleman from Lebanon, I am informed that there was a higher rate of millage tax levied than was set forth in this particular bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 840, as follows:

An Act to further amend section twenty four of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by imposing upon certain domestic insurance companies and associations a gross premiums tax on business for the year ending one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and every year thereafter and requiring such companies and associations to make reports in writing to the Department of Revenue

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section twenty-four of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and ninety-three) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 24 It shall be the duty of the president secretary or other proper officer of each and every insurance company association or exchange incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth [except] including life insurance companies and companies doing business upon the mutual plan without any capital stock and purely mutual beneficial asociations whose funds for the benefit of members and their families or heirs are made up entirely of the weekly or monthly contributions of their members and the accumulated interest thereon to make report in writing to the Department of Revenue on or before the fifteenth day of March in each year setting forth the entire amount of premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments received by such company association or exchange during the year ending with the thirty-first day of December preceding whether the said premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitutes for money and whether the same were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere and every such company association or exchange shall pay into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue within the time prescribed by law for the payment of State taxes settled by the Department of Revenue in addition to any other taxes to which it may be liable under the first and twenty-first sections of this act a tax of eight mills on the dollar upon the gross amount of said premiums premium deposits contributions and assessments received from business transacted within this Commonwealth

Such company association or exchange in reporting for taxation may deduct from the gross premiums premium deposits contributions and assessments all amounts returned on policies cancelled or not taken and all premiums paid for reinsurance where such reinsurances are effected in companies associations and exchanges authorized to transact business in this Commonwealth by contracts or agreements entered into or executed by all parties thereto within this Commonwealth If such contract or agreement is not entered into or executed by all parties thereto within this Commonwealth such company association or exchange in reporting for taxation may not deduct such premiums so paid unless the tax thereon is paid when due by the company in which such reinsurance is effected and mutual companies associations exchanges and stock companies with participating features which may for any reason be required to report under this act in addition to the aforesaid deductions may deduct that portion of the advanced premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments returned in cash or credited to members or policyholders whether as dividends earnings savings or return deposits upon the expiration or termination of their contracts Provided That hereafter the annual tax upon premiums of insurance companies of other states or foreign governments shall be at the rate of two per centum upon the gross premiums of every character and description received from business done within this Commonwealth within the entire calendar year preceding The penalties for failure to make report and pay the tax as herein required shall be as provided by law

Section 2 It shall be the duty of all companies and associations required to pay the tax imposed by this amendment to pay such tax upon gross income of premiums premium deposits contributions and assessments received by such companies or associations from business transacted within this Commonwealth during the year ending the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-five and every calendar year thereafter

Section 3 If any section sentence clause or part of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional section sentence clause or part thereof not been included therein

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, on account of typographical error in this bill I desire to offer the following amendment to the bill. I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Title of Bill, Page 1, line 10, by striking out after the words "hundred and" the words "thirty-four", and inserting in lieu thereof, the words: "thirty-five".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

I was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 841, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws, four hundred and twenty), entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation,' approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine," by extending the tax imposed by the act to the gross receipts of natural and artificial gas companies, and water companies and steam heating companies, and to gross receipts of municipality owned or operated public utilities and public utility services previously exempt from the tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for further study.

The motion was agreed to.

be made a special order of business on third reading and final passage immediately following the special order of business already on the calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, because of my unfortunate illness during the last three weeks, I was not in the House when the several tax bills passed the House. Had I been here, I would have voted "yes" on every one.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

STATEMENT BY MR. TURNER

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for several weeks we have been examining the budget and the State fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth. As a result of that examination we have found a rather alarming condition existing, which I feel should be presented to this House, not as a partisan matter, but as one which pertains to and affects the district of every member of this House, I am, however, authorized to say on behalf of the Republicans of this House that we feel that this is such an important matter that it should receive action at once.

As of March 19th, 1935, the total amount of appropriation liability from March 19th to June 1st, which ends the fiscal biennium,—the total liability was $48,493,533.72. Of that amount the sum of $17,849,000 plus were appropriation liabilities for the ordinary expenses of the Commonwealth under the general fund. $11,622,901 was made up of items due for support of the public schools, for aid to the financially distressed school districts, the State aided universities and colleges, also to the State aided medical and surgical hospitals; State aided homes, mothers' assistance, and some correctional and insane institutions, which also are State aided. The total of that, as I said, is $11,622,901. In addition to that there was due for pensions to the blind $3,200,000, and a budget deficiency of $5,821,000, and if the amount of relief be $5,000,000 a month, which the gentleman from Berks has just spoken of tonight, or the amount which we will have to produce for April and May of $10,000,000, makes the total of $48,000,000 plus. On account of this the Commonwealth had $3,141,125 in cash and transfer items of $2,241,000, and $3,200,000.

Mr. Speaker, may I desist for a moment? I see that the gentleman from Berks is busily engaged in trying to put down these figures, and I will ask one of the page boys if he will not take a copy of the figures which I have in order that he may have the figures before him and more readily understand them.

Therefore, there is a net amount due of $39,911,000, or approximately $40,000,000. If you take the average receipts in the general fund for the last eight years, that is from 1927 to date, for the months of April and May you will find that the average receipts are $13,700,000 plus. In that item, however, is included about $7,000,000 in 1933, which was relief money, and, therefore, should not be counted in the ordinary receipts of the Commonwealth. Therefore, if we take the average receipts for the two months of April and May, it would be $13,000,000, and we would have what we might expect to be the average to be received during the two months. However, I believe that extraordinary efforts are being put forth by the State government, as they have been in the last several months, not only in this administration but in the past, to push these collections as rapidly as possible. For the sake of figures and in order to put the problem before you, I would say that suppose we consider that as receipts from March 19th to June 1st we could expect the possibility of $15,000,000 in that period of time. If you subtract that from the $40,000,000, which I have mentioned as being needed, you will have $25,000,000 of money that we will have to raise if we are to take care of not only the ordinary operating expenses of the government, but also the amounts due to our colleges, to our public schools, due for mothers' assistance, to our hospitals and State aided homes.

If the Governor's program were to be enacted into law by April first and if we were to do as the gentleman from Berks has urged us tonight,—to pass these tax measures as rapidly as possible, we would find if we would make an analysis of this tax program that most of this money will not come in until 1936 or 1937. If we were to put them into effect on April first, there would only be a very small amount of money that could possibly be received by the Commonwealth between the first of April and the first of June. Therefore, even saying that the collections will increase, even if it were possible, and it must be evident to every one here that it is not possible, to enact these laws by April first, because a part of the program only went to the Senate last week, and there are twelve bills here upon special order of business this week, it would be an impossibility, and many of these laws, even if put into effect, would take, thirty, sixty or more days before there would be an opportunity to get returns from many of these measures.

Therefore, we are not confronted with the problem of what we are going to do with taxes we are not confronted with the problem of what the tax returns will be in the next biennium to meet the expenses of the Commonwealth and to take care of the deficit. But we need cash money now, between now and the first of June, in the State treasury, in order to meet our obligations. The State of Pennsylvania is not like the ordinary business. An ordinary business that might expect to receive $203,000,000 in the next two years, could go out and borrow $40,000,000 or any part thereof that may be necessary and tide itself through but the State of Pennsylvania, because of the constitutional inhibition can not expend more than the amount that it receives, and one million dollars beyond that amount, and under the decision of the Supreme Court in the Talbot case, the fiscal officers are not allowed to pay out these items amounting to $11,622,000, and the $10,000,000 for unemployment relief, unless the funds are in the treasury, or they can be received before June first. Therefore, under the ordinary operation of the government, if we can collect this money by June first, then the appropriations would lapse, and these institutions will be put in a very serious condition, a situation where many of them would have to close their doors, where many of the helpless, many of the afflicted and the inmates of these institutions would have to be turned out.

I know that it is possible in the next biennium to make an appropriation and to take care of them out of the receipts from taxes in the next biennium,—because that is figured in the program,—but what I am saying is that money received in August or September or October of next year will not keep these institutions running, because many of them have now had their appropriations long overdue. One institution in my own County told me the other day that their appropriation was overdue since last November. They have been ekeing along by borrowing money and trying to get along, but they can not carry that on much longer in an institution of this kind.

So, members of the House, I believe that we ought to stop now, not wait until we get down towards the end of the biennium, then find we are in a terrible box. We cannot come in here, like the Governor did a couple of weeks ago, and say "there is a great emergency, we can transfer some funds," because there aren't any funds to be transferred. If you went hunting around the capitol, gentlemen, I doubt very much whether you could find anywhere near the amount of money, or any large part of the money, and unless there be something in the motor license fund, that you could tap, there wouldn't be anywhere near the amount of money, which would take care of this problem in the State of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, it seems to me it is time that we get busy now upon this problem before it is too late and try to find out just exactly where we stand, because these figures are constantly changing, and by the first of April there will be a different picture than the one I have given you, but which will only be proportionately less, and the amount to be received will be proportionately less.

I, therefore, propose that we have a Committee of five appointed by the Speaker of this House, and that that Committee go to work now and find out from the Department of Revenue how much money we can anticipate we are going to receive, that that Committee find out from the Department of Revenue what their expectation is, because they may have funds in contemplation that can be added to this and can help us out on this program; that when we have gotten to that point we can find out what the net appropriation liability is, and what we can not put off any further, of this money which you say we must have for relief, because there will be no relief from the Federal government, and then we can go out and see how much money we still have left, after subtracting our receipts or possible receipts, how much we have to raise and find out the ways and means of raising that amount of money.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following resolution and ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, is this a privileged resolution?

The SPEAKER. It is not a privileged resolution.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. KANE. RESOLUTION No. 103.

In the House of Representatives, March 21st, 1935.

Whereas, It is the opinion of the Committee on Mines and Mining of the House of Representatives that a great part of the market for Pennsylvania anthracite coal has been lost by reason of high frieght rates and the depreciation of foreign currencies, which make possible low price labor in those countries and lower cost of water transportation; and

Whereas, Railroads and other carriers involved would be largely compensated for any reduction in rates by the increased volume of anthracite coal which would be shipped as a result of restored markets for this commodity; and

Whereas, The House of Representatives has made every endeavor to uphold standards of working conditions and wages of the mining industry of Pennsylvania, which must inevitably suffer if the serious reductions of the anthracite market should continue and increase; and

Whereas, The Committee on Mines and Mining of the House of Representatives has unanimously agreed to recommend the adoption of the following resolutions; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint seven members of the House of Representatives to constitute a committee, as non-political as possible, whose duty it shall be to investigate the cost of transportation from the anthracite producing regions of Pennsylvania to consumption points in maritime Canada and New England, and the seaports of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and that if said committee find that high rates have materially reduced or will materially reduce the market for Pennsylvania anthracite coal in competition with coal produced in Great Britain or other foreign countries or in competition with fuel oil selling at unreasonably low prices due to world-wide overproduction of cheap grades of crude oil to endeavor to secure lower freight rates to the markets above mentioned by negotiation with carriers involved and if necessary by requesting the Interstate Commerce Commission to revise and reduce such transportation rates as are within their jurisdiction; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee make its report to the House of Representatives at the present session of the Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communications and petitions which were laid upon the table.

NATURAL GAS TAX

Petitions from residents of Allegheny County, addressed to Mr. Robinson protesting tax on natural gas.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

TAX ON FOREIGN COMPANIES

A petition from members of the fire department of the city of Lancaster, addressed to Mr. George E. Downey protesting passage of Senate Bill No. 145, return of tax on premiums received by foreign companies.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

ADMINISTRATION TAX PROGRAM

A telegram from the Business Men's Association of Mahanoy City favoring administration tax program.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

STATEMENT BY MR. RUTH

Mr. RUTH asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the reason we made the objection to the resolution is for the reason that the administration at the present time is making exactly the study that has been asked for therein.

In advance we know this much, that if we do not pass this tax bill by at least April 15th, we will at least get twenty million dollars less by June first than if we pass this program. We also know that if we do pass the entire program, we will still have a deficit in the state treasury of twenty-five million dollars a year from today. That condition was not caused by the present administration. We are trying to do everything that is possible today to pay our State institutions. I know of a State institution in my own district, where employees have not been paid for the last two months. I am aware of a state hospital that has not received any contribution from the state on its appropriation since last August. I know what the conditions are, but I also know that there is no money to transfer. Every fund has been combed, and the only one that could possibly be touched is the teachers' retirement, the state employees' retirement, but the provisions of the Constitution would prevent that because there are others that have contributed to that fund. I am sure that if the administration in power today could find money anywhere, they would be glad to do so. I am also sure that we could so if our constitution were changed. That program has passed the House, but it has been held up in the Senate, possibly by such organizations as the State Chambers of Commerce, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association and other rackets of that type, where it has been held up to this time. As soon as we change our constitution, we can take care of conditions like these, but until that is done we can not do otherwise.

STATEMENT BY MR. TURNER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to continue the debate on this question, if you may call it a debate, or a statement, but I would like and I feel justified in asking the opportunity to just say a few words in reply to what the gentleman from Berks has stated.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I thought I had been very deliberate in trying to make myself plain, that we are not facing a theory but a condition. I am not blaming the administration or anyone else. I am merely trying to say that this is our responsibility. We can not shove it on to the administration. The problem is before us and we must do something about it. It is not a question of whether there are funds, it is a question of, we must find funds and must find ways and means of finding them. If the constitutional convention bill had been passed, and if the convention had been called, and if we could borrow money, it would not be one bit of good now because the constitutional convention, as proposed by the gentleman from Berks in his bill, would not have met until during the Summer, and its report would not have been received until the Fall, and it would not have been adopted,—until, I think the date is somewhere in November of this year,—so therefore saying that the holding up of the constitutional convention would in any way relieve the situation is not exactly stating the fact.

Again, let me repeat: I think this is our responsibility and we should do something about it. Therefore, I ask you not to hold my resolution up in committee but to send it out. I have made no restrictions in it. It calls for a committee of five to be appointed by the Speaker, believing in his fairness and good judgment in doing that. If you Democrats will just see that it comes out of committee, we will be on our way.

RESOLUTION

HOUSING AND SUSTENANCE FOR MEMBERS

Mr. TUMELTY offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask that the resolution be read for the information of the House?

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 25, 1935.

Whereas, The present session of the General Assembly will apparently last for a very long period, and

Whereas, The Democratic Members of this House are not in a financial position to remain here indefinitely, and

Whereas, The Democratic Members have purposely avoided the supposed man with the little black bag, and

Whereas, It is the desire of all the Democratic Members to remain as long as necessary to carry out the program of His Excellency the Governor; so therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House appoint a committee of five members to wait upon His Excellency the Governor, and plead with him to have the National Guards erect twenty (20) squad tents on the capital grounds, each to be supplied with six cots, and twelve blankets and six complete mess kits, also to erect one field kitchen, all of which may be used by the Democratic Members to carry the aforesaid program; and be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House appoint a committee of six members whose duties it shall be to contact all nearby farmers and merchants to try and obtain free of charge sufficient foods to supply the Democratic Members with a light breakfast and one full meal per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That this entire procedure be put into effect not later than April first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, for the reason that the Democratic majority "doth protest overly much" their innocence with respect to the little black bag, I object to the consideration of the resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Aeronautics by the Chair.

RESOLUTION

MEMBERS PLEDGE COOPERATION TO SPEAKER

Mr. COLEMAN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 25, 1935.

Whereas, The Speaker of this House has been doing a splendid job of presiding over what has been regarded as the most important session of the Legislature within the scope of the recollection of any of the Members here; and

Whereas, In so doing, he has won our love, compelled our respect and challenged our admiration; and

Whereas, His anxiety to maintain order and decorum has resulted in an expenditure of physical energy entirely unnecessary and manifestly unfair to the Speaker; and

Whereas, In wielding the gavel over this august body, he has frequently shown patience that would make Job of Biblical fame seem irritable in comparison; and

Whereas, His vigor and energy belies his age but nevertheless he recently celebrated his sixty-first birthday; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this House do hereby pledge themselves to do everything within their power to assist the Speaker in bringing to an irreducible minimum the noise that played no little part in a bad case of laryngitis our Speaker suffered from last week; and be it further

Resolved, That every member of the House refrain from loud talking while the House is in session, thus setting a good example to the visitors.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank both the members of the House and the visitors for the splendid order which they have maintained this evening thus far.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Erie will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, the people of Erie County have delegated me to bring you this little testimonial to show their appreciation of the fact that you kept this House at work an extra day last week and the week before. They also wish me to state that their appreciation is not to be measured either by the size or value of this gift, but that it is simply a symbol of that appreciation. They have also assumed, Mr. Speaker, that you have a wife, and they have presented this little gift in such form that you can divide it equaly with her.

This gift comes to you from both Republican and Democrats, because they are all suffering from the delay caused by the wrangling in this House for about the last eight weeks. Therefore, they hope that from now on you will, if possible, see that your membership put in the full thirty hours required by the Federal Labor Act.

It gives me great pleasure to hand this little gift to you on behalf of the people of Erie County.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread on the Journal.

The Chair thanks the gentleman from Erie and also the Democrats and Republicans from that County for having forwarded this present.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the gift?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to state.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 811, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand two hundred and one of the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," prohibiting mayors from holding other public offices.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 932, entitled:

An Act to enable cities of the third class to adopt the city manager plan of government, providing the procedure for the adoption or discontinuance thereof, making suitable provisions for the conduct of city government thereunder, and in connection therewith imposing certain duties on mayors, city councils, county commissioners and election officers.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 802 (Senate Bill No. 56), entitled:

An Act to amend clause (d) of section ten of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1216), entitled, "An act to define real estate brokers and real estate salesmen; and providing for the licensing, regulation, and supervision of resident and nonresident real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and their business," as amended, by defining the powers of the courts on appeals from the Department of Public Instruction.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1161 (Senate Bill No. 108), entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph six of section thirteen of article nineteen of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred eighty-one), entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth," making provision for the reinstatement of certain policemen and firemen and restricting the powers of the civil service commission

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 458, entitled:

An Act providing for the fixing by the tax levying body of counties of the first class of the salaries and number of all persons paid out of the county treasury except those whose salaries are fixed by law and repealing existing laws

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each year thereafter it shall be the duty of the tax levying body of counties of the first class to fix the salaries of all officials deputies clerks and employees who are paid their salaries by warrant or otherwise out of the county treasury excepting only those whose salaries are fixed and established as to amount by Act of Assembly Said tax levying body shall also fix the number of deputies clerks and employees paid by warrant or otherwise out of the said treasury except where such number is fixed by Act of Assembly Nothing contained in this act shall be deemed to authorize the increase or decrease of the salary of any public office during the term for which he or she has heretofore been elected or appointed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 6, by inserting after the word "counties" the following: "and cities"

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 9, by inserting after the word "county" the following: "or city"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I object to the amendments.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Burke.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Burke, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Burke, kindly state to the House the reason for his objections to the amendments to Section one.

Mr. BURKE. I will answer the gentleman by saying that the bill is a county bill and I do not exactly think that the insertion of the word "cities" is technically proper.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, under the bill as proposed by the gentleman as the sponsor, does he intend that city council should have the right to fix the number of the city and county employees, the salaries of whom are paid out of the city and county treasury?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman wait until I glance over the different repeals?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to waiving the interrogation until the gentleman has had an opportunity of reading his bill.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the gentleman by saying that I think all of the officers in all the departments in which the salary is to be fixed by city council, are to be county offices.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the City of Philadelphia has only one treasury office that pays the salaries of both city and county employees?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, is speaking on the merits of the bill and not on the amendments he desires to insert.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr Blumberg, will proceed.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I have not heard any reply to the previous interrogation.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, my answer is "yes," I was waiting until the commotion subsided. My answer is "yes."

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, and if it be true that there is but one treasury office in the City of Philadelphia that pays the salaries and the expenses of both the city and the county employees, do you not think then, for the purpose of removing any uncertainty in this bill, we should amend it by inserting these amendments to section 1, since they apply to the payment of employees in cities and counties of the first class.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I do not, because we are legislating for the cities and counties of the first class and not for the city of Philadelphia. Supposing we take Luzerne county, I do not think we should permit the county commissioners in Luzerne County as a tax levying body to prescribe any regulations or exercise any control over the city employees of Wilkes-Barre, which I believe is in that county.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, the bill under discussion, House Bill No. 458, relates only to cities of the first class, does it not?

Mr. BURKE. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLUMBERG. And counties of the first class, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, cities of the first class,—counties of the first class, I beg your pardon.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if Luzerne county has anything to do with this bill.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, Luzerne County may some day be a first class county.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that there is but one city and county which is coextensive in the State of Pennsylvania, and that is Philadelphia?

Mr. BURKE. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, doesn't the gentleman from Philadelphia believe that in order to clarify the terms of his bill, he should refer to it as cities and counties of the first class?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid that the court in construing an act of this kind might look upon it as a special law for the particular city that is coterminus with the county. The matter is so very technical and it is uncertain whether or not this act would meet the approval of the Supreme Court, and that is why I am very careful to avoid any technical objections such has have been raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that that is exactly what you state you are afraid it might do, that is, special legislation referring only to cities and counties of the first class.

Mr. BURKE. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, and is it not perfectly proper and legal to legislate for the cities and counties of the first class?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Then, Mr. Speaker, why not remove the uncertainty from this bill and insert the amendment that I have offered, so that cities and counties of the first class shall appear wherever you have stated counties of the first class.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I think I have already answered that question a few times. I told the gentleman that I did not think it would be the best draftsmanship to include the counties and the cities in the same bill.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendment offered to section one is for the purpose of clarifying the bill. I am in thorough agreement with the general provision of this bill giving the tax levying body of cities or counties of the first class the right to fix the number and compensation of employees in that county. However, in taking the bill up with the Legislative Reference Bureau, I was informed that it would require the amendment that I have offered to it in order to clarify the situation. The amendment to section one does not change the effect of the bill at all. It merely refers to counties of the first class, as cities and counties of the first class, and applies only to Philadelphia.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Burke and Mr. Kilroy and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 14, by striking out the words "Nothing contained"

Amend sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 to 4, by striking out all of said lines, both inclusive.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

All other acts and parts of acts whether special local or general inconsistent herewith are also hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 2, page 10, by adding after line 11, the following paragraph: "So much of section three and section forty-three of the act approved the tenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 857), as fixes the compensation of the members of the registration commission and of the employes appointed by the registration commission."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as I stated previously with reference to the amendment offered to section one, I am in full agreement with the purpose of House Bill 458, which provides that the tax levying body of the City of Philadelphia shall have the right to fix the salaries and number of the employees. By an oversight, probably a conscious one, this bill does not provide that the tax levying body shall have the right to fix the number of employees of the Registration Commisison of the city of Philadelphia, the salaries of the members and the employees of which are paid out of the county treasury. It might merely be a coincidence that the Registration Commission is Democratic in character, and that is rather an unusual event in the City of Philadelphia, and it may or may not be that that error was made because of that fact, but being in thorough agreement with the purpose of this bill, I see no reason why there should be any exception, and I, therefore, proposed this amendment to provide that the tax levying body, city council, shall fix the number of employees of all of the departments, the salaries of which are paid out of the county treasury. That seems an eminently fair proposition, without any regard to the party that may happen to control a particular office, and I think with absolute justification that I can ask the members in that spirit of fairness and of equality to vote for this amendment.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this seems to be the night for imputing to the sponsors of bills the furtherment of some political purpose, either the transfer of political patronage or the protection or security of political patronage. I do not want the members of this House to think that I am sponsoring this bill with any political guile. The Registration Commission and its employees were exempted from the provisions of this bill, I say consciously, and I say designedly, and I wish to offer you two very good reasons why I did not include the Registration Commission.

The first is that the members of the Registration Commission are appointed by the Governor, and if we were to allow a tax levying body to control the number of employees and their salaries, I think that we would be taking away in a very great measure the appointing power of the Governor; and, secondly, the function of the Registration Commission is so political in character to allow any body to control the number of their employees and the salaries of those employees would be to allow that body, who had that contol, to possibly subvert that Commission and to influence it in finally fixing the voters' list. Their connection, that is the connection of the Registration Commission, with the voters' list is entirely too intimate to permit of its regulation by any such tax levying body, and I consequently ask you to vote down the amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Blumberg and Mr. Nothnagle and were as follows:

heretofore in accordance with existing law assessed a portion of the cost of such sewer as a sewage tax against property abutting along the line of said improvement on the side of said street or highways which is located outside the limits of the said city borough or township the owners of such property being given permission by the said city borough or township to use such sewer and such property not being then provided with sewer facilities and has by ordinance provided for the assessment against abutting property owners of benefits for such improvement but owing to some defect in the petition action of council or of the board of commissioners notice of publication failure to make improvement in accordance with the strict terms of any ordinance or any other proceding or action necessary under existing laws and ordinances to give jurisdiction to such council or board of commissioners or because of noncompliance with existing laws as to publication of copies of ordinance and posting of handbills prior to or after the final passage of such ordinance or because of noncompliance with existing laws as to the purchasing of materials and supplies or the awarding of contracts without advertising or because the ordinance itself or the official record book containing the same has been lost mislaid or destroyed or such ordinance has not been transcribed in the official record book or because of irregularity or error in the appointment of viewers to assess benefits against property abutting along the line of improvement or because of the neglect of viewers appointed to assess damages and benefits caused or accuring as a result thereof to file their report within the time required by law for the filing thereof or because of irregularity or error in the method or procedure taken for the ascertainment of the amount of benefits to such property or because of any irregularity or error in the ordinances or passage or approval thereof authorizing the execution of the work the contracting therefore and the assessing of benefits therefore or where the right of the board of viewers to assume jurisdiction and to act in assessing the properties benefited thereby is questioned or because of any irregularity or error in the failure to bring the proceedings for the assessment of benefits for such improvement before the board of viewers within the time provided by law or the failure to assess the benefits therefore in the manner now provided by law or because of any irregularity or error in arriving at or determining the benefits assessed against any such property or because of the failure to give notice as required by law or ordinance or the time for filing a lien or making claim for such improvement has expired or the claim has not been filed after notice to do so or for any other reason the costs of such improvement or portion thereof were not or cannot be legally assessed upon the property bounding or abutting on the line of the improvement or on the street or part thereof improved or owing to some defect in the statement of claim filed to secure the lien or the failure of the city borough or township solicitor to file the lien in the court of common pleas or to sign the name or to have stamped thereon a facsimile signature of the said solicitor or chief executive of the claimant for the costs of such improvement or any error made in the name of the owner or owners of the abutting property along the line of the improvement payment thereof cannot be enforced or if the ordinance of the city borough or township authorizing the construction of any improvement was in fact adopted before such city borough or township was legally empowered to make such assessments on property within or outside the limits of such city borough or township if such improvement was actually constructed and such assessments against property within or without the limits of such city borough or township made subsequent to the time when such city borough or township was legally empowered to levy such assessments as was contemplated by the act or acts of General Assembly under which the improvement was attempted to be made and statement of claim filed now by this act such improvement are made valid and binding and also any statement of claim heretofore filed if any to secure the liens therefore are also made valid and binding and the jurisdiction of any board of viewers hereinbefore mentioned to entertain such proceedings and the assessments made pursuant to such proceedings against property within or without the limits of any such city borough or township shall be valid and binding and the council of such city or borough and the commissioners of such township may cause the property bounding or abutting along the line of the improvement or on the street or part thereof upon which the improvement has been made or is now being made to be assessed in the manner now provided by law or by the board of viewers' proceedings in the manner and at the rates now provided by law with such a portion of the costs of such improvement as is contemplated by the law under which the improvement was made or attempted to be made or is now being made and all such benefits and all assessments heretofore made or determined are hereby ratified confirmed and validated and any statement of claims heretofore filed if any to secure the liens therefor are also hereby ratified confirmed and validated Such assessment or other assessment heretofore made or hereafter made in proceedings now pending within the time limitations specified in this act shall be a lien upon the property assessed and any lien heretofore filed for benefits assessed or for the cost of such improvement or any part thereof although the report of the viewers assessing the same was not field within the time required by law for the filing thereof is hereby made valid and binding with the same force and effect as though such report was filed within the time required by law for filing the same The lien shall date from the completion of the improvement for which the assessment is made whether the work was completed through one or several operations or contracts or from the date of filing the same and shall remain a lien until fully paid and satisfied Provided That a writ of scire facias is issued to revive the same during every period of five (5) years after the lien is filed as hereinafter provided And provided further That this act shall not validate any lien against any property which has been conveyed to a bona fide purchaser thereof subsequent to the expiration of the period prescribed by law for the filing of such liens and prior to the date of the filling thereof or give the lien thus filed priority over any boda fide lien or liens filed entered or recorded or which shall have otherwise attached subsequently to the time prescribed by law for the filing of such municipal lien and prior to the time of the filing thereof

Section 2 The Council of any city of the third class or of any borough or the board of commissioners if any township of the first class of this Commonwealth entitled to a lien under this act shall file a lien therefor if not heretofore filed in the office of the prothonotary of the county within which the property lies within six (6) months after the completion of the work where the improvement is now in progress or within twelve (12) months after the confirmation absolute of the report of the viewers assessing the benefits for such improvement whether now or hereafter pending or within twelve (12) months after the approval of this act where the improvement is now completed if no lien has been heretofore filed for the same or within twelve (12) months after the passage of any councilmanic ordinance assessing benefits under the provisions of this act where the improvement is already completed and the same shall be entered upon record as other municipal claims Such liens shall state the name of the party claimant which shall be the corporate name of the city borough or township making the improvement name of the owner or reputed owner of the property assessed a reasonable description of the property assessed the amount or sum claimed to be due which shall include interest on the assessment from the completion of the improvement for what improvement the claim is made the date of its completion the date of the assessment for which the lien is filed Such lien when so filed shall be prima facie evidence of all matters therein set forth and of the right of the city borough or township to recover the amount therein claimed to be due together with interest from the date of the lien or completion of the improvement costs and an attorney's commission of five per centum for collecting

Section 3 The claim when so filed shall be proceeded upon for collection by writ of scire facias Provided That this act shall not apply to any proceeding suit or lien wherein a final order or judgment of any court of record has already been made or entered

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 26, 1935.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, O God, that Thy Word contains a prescription for the cure of national depression. Thou didst say to a great king of Thy chosen nation, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

We have tried many other remedies, help us to try this. Earnestly may we call upon Thee; humbly may we walk before Thee; sincerely may we repent of our sins; diligently may we seek Thy face. Then wilt Thou forgive us and heal our land.

When we honestly do our part Thou wilt drive away depression from our borders and bring us out into a larger and happier place in our national life.

May all who occupy places of power heed this divine injunction. In Thy Name we ask these things. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BATCHELOR, from the Committee on State Government re-reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 498 (House Bill No. 332), entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the second day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 200, 1933-34) entitled "An act authorizing officers, departments, boards and commissions of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth, and cities, counties, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, school districts, to make adjustments with certain supply contractors to reimburse losses sustained in performance of contracts under certain circumstances."

RESOLUTION REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE EMERGENCY RELIEF BOARD

Mr. BATCHELOR offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 26, 1935.

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania is being asked to appropriate huge sums for continuance of relief during the present year and may be confronted with still greater requests for money for this purpose for the remainder of the biennium, and

Whereas, There appear to be grave doubts in the public mind as to the efficiency of the methods of distribution now in force, and

Whereas, It is essential that the Senate of Pennsylvania be in possession of authentic information in order to act upon proposed legislation dealing with relief appropriations, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the director of Pennsylvania State Emergency Relief Board be requested to transmit to the Senate at his earliest convenience the following information:

(1) Total cost of relief in Pennsylvania since he assumed his office.

(2) Number of persons on relief by counties on March 15.

(3) Amount paid for relief since January 15, 1935.

(4) Cost of administration of relief since January 15.

(5) Total number of persons employed in relief administration.

(6) Number of non-residents of Pennsylvania employed in relief administration.

(7) Types of relief furnished such as clothing, fuel, shelter, milk, medical care, etc.

(8) Results of his inquiries into practices of handling distribution of relief money in each county where he has conducted such investigations, especially as to allegations of extravagance, unjustifiable payments to persons receiving relief or fraud on the part of recipients or their families and particularly whether persons in possession of means to maintain themselves have been receiving public money for their subsistence and whether money paid for relief has been used for purposes other than specified.

Mr. BATCHELOR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires that concurrent resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REED (Dauphin). I rise to the question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, and members of the Senate: Last evening, before introducing a motion to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Changes, the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, used these words: Speaking of party spirit he said "through it predatory interests and party chiefs say what bills and resolutions this Senate shall finally be permitted to be acted upon. A fortnight ago they stultified the rules so as to make the votes of dead and absent Senators available for party spirit to consummate its selfish designs behind the doors of committee rooms with greater comfort and security. It fosters and elicits from speakeasies, sweat-shops and bawdy houses streams of slimy gold to be used for the debauchment of useful citizens."

At the conclusion of the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, it was then my thought that the language used by the Senator from Fayette was not worthy of a reply; but as I have read these remarks and have contemplated upon them, I thought an injustice would be done to the Republican membership of this Senate if a reply were not made.

Mr. President, it is not necessary for me to deny the assertion that the Republican Party, through its leadership and through its committees in the Senate, is receiving "streams of slimy gold" from any source whatever for the debauchment of citizens of this community. Those remarks, however, as I have read them and re-read them, constitute an attack upon the entire Republican membership of this Senate. I deeply regret that such a partisan attack should be made, and especially from a Senator who is representing a district which was once so ably represented by William E. Crow, later a member of the Senate of the United States, and, more recently, by one of the best beloved and able Senators who has ever sat upon the floor of this Senate, Senator Harry J. Bell.

Mr. President, with all the emphasis which I can command, I deny the insinuation contained in those remarks.

May I say, Mr. President, further, that in the consideration of the questions involved which are of major importance to the people of Pennsylvania, the great question of whether or not it is wise to revise the Constitution of Pennsylvania; whether this great Commonwealth of ours shall pass bills which are proposed, imposing over $200,000,000 on an over-burdened people—in considering those measures, in taking due time for their proper consideration, I resent the insinuation that the Republican majority in this Senate is being actuated by money motive, or that money is passing in this Senate. Mr. President, as far as I am concerned, over two months ago I publicly announced my position to the press of Pennsylvania that I was unalterably opposed to any revision of the Constitution. Other members of that Committee have been arguing the question, have been seeking all the information which was possible, and I was most happy last night that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, publicly stated upon the floor of this Senate what every member of the Committee on Constitutional Changes knows, and that is that this Committee has been giving honest consideration to this great question of whether or not the Constitution should be amended at this time.

During the time it has been my privilege to serve as a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I have endeavored and, as far as I know, all the members on the Republican side of this Chamber, have endeavored to give their Democratic colleagues due consideration, and we have never challenged the motive which may have actuated their vote; and in the same spirit I say that it is unworthy of any Senator to say that the great Republican Party of this State, through its membership in the Senate, is doing anything else than giving the proper and necessary consideration to public measures, as we are sworn to do under our oaths as Senators.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am indeed sorry that the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, has taken the attitude that he has expressed on a portion of my talk delivered last night. I am sorry if those words have created that impression in his mind or in the mind of any other Senator of this body, but I wish to here follow the same principles followed by the Republican leadership in explaining the word "feasible." The words that I used and the words read by the Senator from Dauphin are not the words directed solely at the party spirit of the Republican Party, but those words were directed at any party spirit, whether that spirit be Democratic Party spirit, Socialist or Republican, but that language was used generally to apply to party spirit, and I did not single out in those words any particular party; but they were directed to all party spirit, and I direct those words at the Democratic Party, and members of this Senate, if they allow the kind of party spirit I spoke of last night to creep into the deliberations of this Senate.

RECESS

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COYNE, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION REFEREE

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOWELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 31, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section six as amended and section eight of the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thriteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred nineteen) entitled "An act regulating certain political parties providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions and of certain party officers including State committeemen a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State of the expenses of the same authorizing the State committee of a political party to make and to alter amend and revoke rules and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein and repealing inconsistent legislation" prohibiting candidates for certain offices from being candidates for more than one party nomination and requiring candidates' affidavits from candidates for additional offices go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 96, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the twentieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and ten, (P. L. 208), entitled "An act to amend and consolidate with its Supplements the Act entitled 'An act for the recovery of debts and demands, not exceeding one hundred dollars before a Justice of the Peace and for the election of Constables and for other purposes,'" by prescribing the time within which transcripts must be filed on appeals from judgments of justices of the peace in civil cases.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 352, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the act approved the twenty-third day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven (Pamphlet Laws thirty-four) entitled "An act making the verdict of a jury in the several courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth a lien in certain cases" extending said act to all courts of record.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I do not object to this bill so far as it applies to the Philadelphia Municipal Court but I do object to it so far as it applies to the Allegheny County Court. It would make it necessary for us to put in an addition to the indexing system for the Prothonotary's records, at great cost, and we think it entirely unnecessary. The Bar Association of our County is opposed to having verdicts in county courts made liens on real estate until they are transcribed and transferred over to the Common Pleas Court. Verdicts in the County Court are transferred over to the Common Pleas Court in that way. If all of them are transferred over it will clog the docket; and in about 75% of the cases in the County Court no one wants any liens on real estate that is not necesssary because the defendants have no real estate; and we feel it will entail a very heavy expense to Allegheny County. We have no objection to its applying to the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, which, I believe, has a set-up of its own—with a Prothonotary, clerk, and an indexing system; but in Allegheny County it would require us to change our indexing system at great cost, and we feel that it is entirely unnecessary. And if the sponsor of the bill will eliminate the provision applying to the Allegheny County Court, I will go along with the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. This bill affect the Act of 1887, which was passed at a time when what was known as County Courts were merely Courts of Common Pleas. Since the Act of 1887, was passed there has grown into the court system a structure of courts differing from the Courts of Common Pleas, with different jurisdictions. As a result of that we find ourselves in this position: that a man may not bring a suit in the Court of Common Pleas for an amount less than $2500.00, and when he brings such a suit in a different kind of court he is in a position where he cannot get the same advantage as in the Court of Common Pleas. In the Court of Common Pleas, under the Act of 1887, the moment he gets his judgment it becomes a lien on the real estate of the defendant. In the Municipal Court it is not a lien upon the real estate of the defendant until he gets a final verdict.

Now, to correct that situation in the manner suggested by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, would mean to affect the constitutionality of the Act. I took that question up with Mr. Fertig, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, to see if he agreed with my idea: and he does agree that an effort to make a verdict of a court of record in Philadelphia a lien upon real estate and not have the same rule apply to courts of record in other jurisdictions, would make the Act unconstitutional; and it is to correct that situation that the amendment is made directly to the Act of 1887, providing that all verdicts in any court of record shall be liens upon real estate.

Now, the City of Pittsburgh has a Court of Common Pleas and also a County Court, and both are courts of record; and it seems to me that the indexing of a judgment by the Prothonotary in the Court of Common Pleas, where it is no wdone by transfer, would be of little if any expense. In other words, the effect on their situation can be corrected by an amendment to the Act creating the County Court, or by an amendment to the Act creating the Common Pleas Court, by providing that the Prothonotary of the City of Pittsburgh shall index for the County Court such judgments as are rendered in that Court; and that would effect that change and obviate the difficulty. But certainly the City of Philadelphia and the other cities which now have or may hereafter have courts of minor jurisdiction, are entitled to have all litigants in those courts granted the same rights as litigants in cases involving greater sums of money; and under those circumstances I think this is a good piece of legislation, correct inform, and should be passed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, could not the purpose, as outlined by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, be accomplished by not making it mandatory upon the Clerk of the Court to transfer the verdict, but making it optional on the litigant himself as to whether he wants his verdict made a lien on real estate?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, has misconstrued the bill which is before us now. The proposed legislation which is before us now is an amendment to the Act of 1887. The Act of 1887 provides that all verdicts in Courts of Common Pleas shall be liens upon real estate. This bill merely changes the words "Common Pleas" and inserts the word "Record," of this Commonwealth." That is to say, it strikes out the words "Common Pleas" and inserts the word "Record," thus making it read "the Courts of Records of this Commonwealth." The situation to which the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, adverts could occur only in those counties where verdicts are not recorded or indexed in a judgment index; so that, where that situation exists, as in the City of Pittsburgh, it could be corrected by an amendment, an amendment to the County Act in Pittsburgh, providing that at the option of the judgment creditor, or, rather, at the option of the plaintiff, when he obtains a judgment, the Prothonotary shall record it, or register it, in the index in the Court of Common Pleas; and that would not be at all expensive, from my experience with that kind of litigation and records.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, does the bill which we are now debating make it mandatory upon the Clerk of the Court, or the Prothonotary of the Court, to record the judgment as a lien against real estate?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it does not. The Act of 1887 does not have anything to do with the recording of the judgment; it merely states what the effect of the verdict shall be.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Well, Mr. President, as I understand the objection made by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis it is to the effect that this bill, if enacted, will compel the entailing of expense for the entry of a verdict against a defendant who owns no real estate, and that the entry of such a verdict, and the incurring of that expence, would be absoluely useless. Does the bill offered by the Senator from Philadelphia. Mr. Shapiro, exclude that?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am sorry to differ with the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. McGinnis, but this bill does not have that effect at all; this merely says what the effect will be. He may have some difficulty in finding the verdict because he does not index it, but whether or not he indexes it, under this bill it will become a lien upon real estate.

Mr. LAW. Mr President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will he Senator from Philadelphia, Mr.Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no objection.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, is it not true that there has been some talk throughout the State of substituting some intermediate court of record for our present minor judiciary?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I did not hear the first part of the question asked by the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, is it not true that throughout the State there has been some talk of substituting a minor court of record for our present minor judicial system?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, that could take place only if you change the Constitution; it has not gone through. The Governor, I understand, does not favor that; he said he hoped the judiciary can be left alone.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, in such an event, by making this so broad would we be not be required to consider all of those verdicts as a matter of lien?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, not necessarily, this would not affect the character of subsequent courts of record, because if it is a court of record its verdict of record will automatically become a lien. The only difficulty you might have is in indexing. The person who wants to secure a lien on a judgment, or wants to maintain a prior position, would have to go through the records of the particular court. That is the only trouble you could have even in Pittsburgh. In other words, this verdict of the court of record becomes a lien; the index is for the purpose of notice. If they do not want to index it, in Pittsburgh, they do not have to do it; but you will have to search the title, later, a little more closely than before. It would, of course, be a source of additional revenue to the lawyers in Pittsburgh; it may help the lawyers in Pittsburgh.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I think the words "a little more closely" not well taken, because it is going to create tremendous confusion in title searching.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it will not create any confusion in title searching; possibly you will have to go somewhere else in searching the titles. The only difference between the situation in Philadelphia and that in Pittsburgh is that you will have to go somewhere else in searching titles; to find what liens exist you to index book entries in the docket of your Court of Common Pleas, that in the Prothonotary's office, and, later, go to the docket is all. The docket in the Court of Common Pleas has the case listed, and you will find what happened to the case; and the title searcher, instead of going to the index provided by the Prothonotary, as in our County, will go to the docket of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Pittsburgh.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, If the bill in its present form be passed, I feel we will have to set up an indexing system in the County Court in our County. That is in a separate building. We have a number of title searchers working there every day, on titles and liens, and they would be compelled to go from one building to another and look up the index in both buildings.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I feel that the Act of 1887 applied only to the Court of Common Pleas, and this bill, if enacted into law, would apply only to the Municipal Court of Philadelphia. It does not necessarily include the County Court of Allegheny County, which is a different class of Court.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I merely want to ask one question of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, and that is, whether or not this will increase the cost of government in Allegheny County.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, it undoubtedly will. We will have to set up an indexing system, or have to transcribe every verdict in our County Court and send it over to the county building, and set it up in the docket there, and that will be an added expense, and will be cluttering up the dockets that we now feel are crowded enough; and, as I say, over 75% of the verdicts are against defendants who own no real estate, and it is of no advantage.

As I said before, this matter has been discussed and studied by the Bar Association of our County very thoroughly, and they are opposed to having verdicts in the County Court made liens on real estate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will be glad to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, state whether or not it is a fact that the cost of litigation so far as the indexing of cases tried in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County is concerned, is borne by the parties litigant.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is there any difficulty in the County Court in having the Prothonotary make a charge for indexing which will cover all the expense of the County regardless of whether you make an index of record.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, that does not cover the cost of the books and of the installing of the system, or the cost of operating the system. I do not believe the cost the County inflicts on litigant begins to cover the cost of the indexing or of the supervising.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do I understand, then, that in the County Court, the expense is not fully met by the costs levied? In other words, that the City of Pittsburgh is not charging enough money to pay itself for the expenditures it makes for taking care of the litigation of its citizens?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I would say it is today, but if we add additional work on the County Court, in establishing an indexing system, and supervising the system, it will entail additional expense, because it is additional work.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, would the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, say whether it is possible or not possible for the Prothonotary of the County Court, through an enabling act, to make a sufficient charge to cover both the cost of the books and the cost of the Clerk of the County transcribing any judgment that may be handed down?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, oh, yes, but the litigants in the County Court are poor people, and there is no use in inflicting additional costs; and, furthermore, I feel that the inflicting of such additional costs on these poor litigants is unnecessary.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if the County Court litigants are such poor people, let the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, introduce into this Senate a bill providing for the relief of litigants in cases that involve less than $2500.00.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, this seems to be a complicated discussion, and I move that Senate Bill No. 352, go over in its order.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 379, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the purchase and distribution of milk to undernourished and needy children in the public schools; imposing duties on boards of school directors, teachers, principals, medical inspectors and the Department of Welfare; and making an appropriation.

go over in its order.

Mr. PRESIDENT, in making this request I wish to say that I have been asked by some people who would like to go into it for the question of amendment and I, therefore, request that the bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 71, on third reading postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act to amend section forty-two of, and to add section thirty-five A to, the act, approved the eighteenth day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 250, 1933-1934), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," adding certain provisions relating to the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors, and changing certain penalties.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like the sponsor of the bill to explain the measure to us. I did not know it was coming up this morning.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, this is an amendment to the Permanent Registration Bill affecting cities of the second class. It was passed at the 1933 Session, and every member of this Senate who is now a member, voted for the bill in its entirety. When it went to the House, section 36, a very important section of the bill, was removed. The bill was signed by the Governor on that condition, and those who favored the bill, and I as sponsor, realized that section 36 was quite important, and in fact vitally important to the bill, and that was the purpose of preventing this amendment. A similar bill to have permanent registration in the city of Scranton, has that section in, and I am informed by those who have a knowledge of the workings of the permanent registration bill in Scranton, that it works splendidly. It is known as the perfect Permanent Registration bill for the city of Scranton, and this will make our bill conform with that city's plan, on which every member of this Senate and every member of the House voted.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Aron, | Harris, | Norton, | Rodgers, |
| Batchelor, | Homsher, | Owlett, | Rupp, |
| Baumer, | Howell, | Pierson, | Salus, |

An Act to amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by increasing said tax for a limited period of time and providing for the distribution thereof

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Imposition of Tax Exemptions and Deductions A permanent tax of three cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth excepting liquid fuels delivered to the United States government on presentation of a duly authorized United States government exemption certificate or other evidence satisfactory to the department and such liquid fuels used or sold and delivered as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States Providing That the tax herein imposed and assessed shall be collected by and paid to the Commonwealth but once in respect to any liquid fuels

In addition to such tax an additional emergency State tax of two cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth as aforesaid for the period commencing on the day this act becomes effective and ending on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Distributors shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the tax imposed by this act

The tax shall be payable upon liquid fuels sold and delivered to or used by the Commonwealth and every political subdivision thereof

Each distributor who shall promptly pay on or before the last day of a particular month the tax due for the preceding month shall be allowed in consideration of leakage spillage shrinkage evaporation and any expense to which he may be put in carrying out the provisions of this act a discount of two per centum on the aggregate amount of tax which is payable by the distributor for such preceding month The discount may be deducted by the distributor from the amount of tax payable for such month

Section 10 Disposition and Use of Tax (a) One-half cent per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund of the State Treasury and such moneys paid into said fund are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinafter set forth

The moneys so paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund except those that are refunded as hereinafter provided shall be paid to the respective counties of this Commonwealth on the first day of June and December of each year in the ratio that the average return made during the three (3) preceding years to each county bears to the average amount returned to all counties for the three preceding years Provided That the distribution of tax to the counties from the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund that is payable the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one shall be made under the provisions of the acts of Assembly repealed by this act

tion maintenance and repair of roads highways and bridges including the payment of property damage now due or hereafter to become due occasioned by or the relocation or construction of highways and bridges and for the payment of interest on bonds issued for highways and bridge purposes The county commissioners of each county shall make to the department on or before the first day of May and November of each year on forms prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report showing the receipts and expenditures of such moneys received during the preceding six months by the county from the Commonwealth under the provisions of this section Such reports shall be transmitted to the Department of the Auditor General for audit Upon the failure of the county commissioners to file any such report the department shall withhold further payments to the county out of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund until the delinquent report is filed

(b) The remaining two and one-half cents per gallon of the tax collected under the provisions of this act all penalties and interest and all interest earned on deposits of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund shall be paid into the Motor License Fund and are hereby specifically appropriated for the same purposes for which moneys in the Motor License Fund are appropriated by law

(c) The entire amount of the additional emergency tax of two cents per gallon or fractional part thereof collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I move to amend Section 1, page 3, line 19, by inserting after the word "thirty-seven" the following: Amend Section 1, page 3, line 19, by inserting after the words "thirty-seven" the following: Provided, however, That the Governor may by his proclamation, at any time prior to said date, suspend the imposition and collection of said additional tax for the reason that the revenues therefrom are no longer needed for the purpose of unemployment relief.

ployment relief.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator form Mercer, Mr. Law. I am not sure that I or other Senators get the full import of that amendment, and I would ask the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, to explain the exact effect of the amendment.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my explanation is that this amendment meets the objection that has been raised by many people in regard to this tax. You are placing an emergency tax here for a two-year period, and there is somewhat of a question as to whether the emergency will exist that long; and in order to provide for that situation the amendment is made to the effect that if the emergency ceases to exist—if there are sufficient funds available, and we do not need this tax for emergency relief purposes—the Governor may suspend the operation of the additional two-cent gasoline tax.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is it intended that every one of these tax bills that come before us shall have this same amendment?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, at the present time there is only one bill under consideration.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there is no assurance, then, that this rider will be attached to every tax bill?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I do not think so. However, I do not think that is material to the question at issue here.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

Section 2 This act shall become effective the first day of the month succeeding its final enactment

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

An Act to amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fourty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which ordinarily practically and commercially usable to internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for records imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State Officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by increasing said tax for a limited period of time and providing for the distribution thereof

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BUCKMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and considered and agreed to:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

In the Senate, March 26, 1935.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 149, Printer's No. 98, entitled "An act authorizing the selection of two additional jurors in civil and criminal cases to take the place of any juror or jurors becoming incapacitated," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO PREVENT LYNCHING

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of House Resolution No. 51 reported from the Committee on Federal Relations at yesterday's session.

Mr. GRAFF. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 13, 1935.

Whereas, During each year many lynchings occur, statistics revealing that twenty-five happened during the last year and more than five thousand during the last fifty years; and

Whereas, State governments cannot put an end to this evil which reflects upon the good name of the states in which occurring and upon the United States; and

Whereas, A bill is pending in Congress known as the Costigan Wagner Bill, to enable the Federal Government to control this evil; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to pass legislation consistent with the Constitution of the United States which will enable the Federal Government to assist in the prevention of this crime and punish offenders against the Federal law;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Pytko, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President and gentlemen, you have noticed on your desks a magazine nation-wide in its circulation, placed there at my direction, and I would call your attention to an article the author of which is Mr. Walter Davenport, of renowned repute as an impartial commentator on municipal affairs. This article appears on page 10 of this magazine, the name of which I refrain from mentioning lest it be inferred that I am either an agent or salesman for the publication.

In this article Mr. Davenport treats of the present situation in Philadelphia. His treatise is neither commendatory nor is it condemnatory. It is my desire that the membership of this body take no resentment because of the offer I have made; I have found that article both enlightening and educational, and also entertaining. I am presenting it to you with my compliments for your analysis, not because it is entertaining or because it is educational but because it treats of questions which are of paramount importance at the present time.

RECESS

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take recess until 4:15 this afternoon.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills of the House of Representatives as follows:

House Bill No. 840 (Senate Bill No. 719), entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-four of the act approved the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, (P. L. 420), entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation,' approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine," by imposing upon certain domestic insurance companies and associations a gross premium tax on business for the year ending one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, and every year thereafter, and requiring such companies and associations to make reports in writing to the Department of Revenue.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

House Bill No. 842 (Senate Bill No. 720), entitled:

An Act to further amend section seven hundred and thirteen of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, (P. Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

SPECIAL ORDER

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

The PRESIDENT. The hour of 4:30 having arrived, the Senate will now proceed to the consideration of the special order of business fixed for this time — the motion to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Changes from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 150 House Bill No. 147.

The motion by Mr. Cavalcante was read as follows:

"I now move that the Standing Committee on Constitutional Changes be now dismissed from further consideration of House Bill No. 147 so that it may be returned to the floor of the Senate for immediate constitutional consideration."

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, for the benefit of the membership of this Senate I desire briefly to review the action of our committee in connection with that bill. The House bill, known as House Bill No. 147, sponsored by Mr. Ruth, was introduced in the House of Representatives on January 21st. On the same day it was referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes in the House, and on the same day, after eleven minutes' consideration, was brought out on the floor of the House. It received first reading January 22nd, was recommitted on the same day, and reported out again on the same day. It passed second reading, with amendments, on the 23rd, and was recommitted on the 28th, brought out again, as amended on the 28th, passed finally on the 29th, and referred to the Senate Committee on Constitutional Changes on January 29th.

Mr. President, since that date the Committee on Constitutional Changes in this body has had a series of, I think, five public hearings. We have had a public hearing every week but one since this bill was referred to this committee. We have had before us the leaders of thought in this State, both proponents and opponents of the plan. We have heard Bar Associations—representatives of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association, and all sorts of organizations appearing in connection with this bill.

I do not think, Mr. President, that I am overstating when I say that this is the most important piece of legislation submitted to this body. If a committee of a legislative body means anything at all, the purpose of the committee is to study the legislation that is submitted to it. This committee has been criticized for not acting more expeditiously. We started out by hearing all those who desired to be heard on this bill, feeling, because of its importance, that they were entitled to be heard. We met promptly after the close of the public hearings and discussed the various features of the bill, and, by almost unanimous action of the committee, struck out the portion of the bill which called for a special election, at an expense of a million dollars, on May 14th. We provided in the bill, as a substitute for the provisions in it, a method of submitting to the electors of this State the question of whether or not the people of this State desire a new Constitution. That was done after careful deliberation, after learning that that is the practice pursued in forty-three of the forty-eight States in the Union, after learning that it has been the practice pursued for one hundred and twenty-five years in this State, and after coming to the conclusion that regardless of whether or not the Legislature itself could call a Constitutional Convention—it was a democratic, orderly way of calling one to submit the question to the people, feeling that the argument that both platforms provided for amendments to our Constitution did not mean that we should amend or re-write our Constitution in any but an orderly, regular way.

There is now before the Committee some seven or eight further amendments to this bill, some of them providing for the election of delegates from different subdivisions. Some of our Democratic colleagues in this Senate, Mr. President, are in favor of one subdivision and others are in favor of another subdivision. There have been suggestions made as to the method—different suggestions made as to the different methods of electing the delegates to this Convention.

Mr. President, all these matters are now before this Constitutional Revision Committee and they are receiving our earnest, our careful, our unbiased and unprejudiced consideration.

We intend, Mr. President, that if and when a bill calling for a Constitutional Convention in Pennsylvania is reported out of this committee it will be the best kind of a bill that this committee can prepare.

Now, Mr. President, a motion has been made, that will soon come before this body, to discharge the Committee from further consideration of this bill. I submit, as was said yesterday by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, that this committee has been giving serious consideration to this bill, and we have not delayed it any longer than has been absolutely necessary.

It is agreed, now, that we are not to have any special election on May 14th. It is agreed that if it is to be submitted, it will be submitted to the voters next September. There is no reason why this Committee should be prevented from going on with its orderly duties, and if and when this committee takes final action on this bill, that will be the time for such a motion as this, if ever one is made or is timely, but not now; and I submit, in deference to the good work that has been done by the members of this committee, in deference to the serious consideration that the members of this committee have given this matter in deference to the time they in trying to give this State a real Constitutional Amendment Bill, if we are to have one, motion of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, should be voted down unanimously.

If we are to have, in this Senate, the functioning of this body in an orderly way, if we are not to be stampeded by the partisan press of the State, it is high time that we stand up and say so; it is time for us to say that we are going to consider these bills as they should be considered, and not be forced into premature action. I say to the members of this Senate that the work done by the committee on this bill has not been done with the idea of pickling it—it is done solely with the idea of getting a good bill.

I ask the members of this Senate, on behalf of my colleagues on the committee, to sustain by their vote the work that this committee has done thus far and vote down this motion, so that we can proceed with the orderly determination of the serious matter still before us, without having this motion hanging over our heads.

Mr. REED (Washington). Mr. President, it has fallen to my lot to be one of the members of this important committee on Constitutional Changes. On account of the motion of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, I feel compelled to say a few words at this time. For his information, I want to say that after House Bill No. 147, Senate Bill No. 28, came into the hands of this Committee, public hearings were at once instituted, and they were held, I believe, not more than one a week for several weeks, until there were five public hearings. I was of the opinion that after the first four weeks that further hearings were not needed, because, as a lawyer, I saw that most of the testimony that was produced was of a cumulative nature, in itself, of what had already been produced, a repetition of what had already been produced.

I feel that measures of this kind that are so important to the public should not in any case be delayed. I feel so in this case and I urged that haste be not only taken, and that expedition should be used in order to get these measures out upon the floor of the Senate, because there was a general stipulation that this committee was unduly delaying this important legislation.

Now, the motion of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, would indicate that he has been, like myself, annoyed with a lot of inquiries concerning the status of these two measures. I do not want to think that this committee was overly zealous in holding back this legislation. I think that most of the members on that committee were sincere—I believe that it was the sincere thought of the whole committee to bring out good bills in this case, but at the same time, on account of the importance of this legislation, it seems to me that action should be taken as promptly as possible. I feel today that if it is the will of this body that this committee be discharged, I will abide by the will of the majority of this Senate. There is a custom here, I have heard, although a new man, that no committee should be discharged. I am old-fashioned enough to believe that anything that has to do with public interest is able to stand the light of public scrutiny and the light of public discussion, and I will say now, that if any committee holds a bill for an unreasonable length of time, I will be for voting to discharge that committee, because we are just agents of the people, and the people have a right to know how we stand on these important measures. I do not criticize the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, in getting overly anxious about these measures, for I know the sentiment in his county, because his county adjoins my county. I know the agitation that took place last Fall when we were campaigning, over the very issue we are having here today. I know what they are asking of him, because they are asking of me the same question, "What are they doing with the two measures regarding the new Constitution?"

I do not care, my fellow Senators, who knows how I vote on any issue, I am here to represent the people and I want the people to know openly how I stand on every measure, and I think every other Senator here should stand the same way. We are laboring for a great people and a great Commonwealth, and party politics should be cast aside, and we should get down to real business,—as one Senator said the other evening—to get something accomplished for this great Commonwealth. I am ashamed to think we have been here for two months and upwards, and we have done nothing for the people. Any businessman in this Senate would not run his business by delaying and procrastinating and party bickerings as we have been running the business of this Senate. I say, my friends, that the measures must come out on the floor of this Senate where everyone has a right to his views and discuss them and have them considered. I say that this is in the sense of democracy and it is in the sense of the Constitution, and then, my friends, if these bills, these measures, are to be killed, then we should be satisfied. If the one side which is opposed to my side wins, then I will abide by the majority vote, but it seems to me that we should get important measures before the Senate for a vote as promptly as possible and dispose of them here in the open. I shall never be a party to hiding any bill in the dark recesses of a dark room—I want them disposed of on the floor of this Senate, where my constituents and the people of the State know where I stand, then if they want me here further, all right, if they want me home in my county, all right, but I am here to try to serve the people the best way I can; and if it is necessary to bring it out on the Senate floor and have it disposed of here, then I say it is in the spirit of democracy, it is in the spirit of the Constitution.

My friends, I think we have spent too much time on this Constitutional question already. I believe that in the course of the time that we have had it that a good lawyer like my friend, Senator Reed, could have drawn up a new Constitution, and then why take more time, because the time of this body will soon be at an end—we will soon be into the Summer, and no one will want to carry on here deep into the Summer. We must get these questions up and get them disposed of in one way or the other. I say in conclusion that this is an important question, and while I stand, as Senator Reed knows particularly, for a new Constitution, and I will not hold any animous against any member who votes the other way on any of the measures and kill a measure or vote it down. The only thing I am interested in is to get them out and get them disposed of one way or the other, because that, in my opinion, the people want.

Now, finally, if this important measure, the Ruth bill, is not satisfactory, let us report Dr. Woodward's bill out—let us get some bill before this body and either decide what we want, or that we do not want a new Constitution, so that we can get on some of the other important business that will be before this Senate.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I merely want to make it clear that a vote to sustain this committee is not a vote to pickle this Constitutional bill. It is not a vote against the Constitution—it is merely a vote to sustain this committee in its attempt to get the best possible piece of legislation if we are to have a new Constitution. It is a vote to give this committee the right to function, which the Rules of this Senate and the Constitution of Pennsylvania give it—the right to function. If and when this committee acts finally on this bill, if it is not reported out, and I want to say to the members of this Senate, that that final action is going to be taken soon on it, and if it is not reported out there will be plenty of time for you to make the motion to discharge this Committee, but now we are considering this bill, we are determining how best to treat it—how the members of this Senate, Democrats as well as Republicans, want the delegates chosen. We are determining numerous other and we are entitled to be sustained in our efforts that we have made to bring out the right kind of a bill.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I am not a member who has a fixed policy of voting against every motion to discharge. My record for eight sessions will show clearly that if there has been unnecessary delay in handling a piece of legislation in committee, that I would readily vote for the discharge of that committee. I would also readily vote for the discharge of a committee holding legislation that I considered was of value to the people of Pennsylvania, and I think the only questions that we have here are the two questions, first, whether or not there has been unnecessary delay, and secondly, if this committee has been acting honestly in its efforts to report to this body a Constitutional Convention bill.

In the campaign last November, the two major parties declared for a Constitutional Convention, the Democratic Party very clearly and properly asked for a convention to be held, the Republican platform qualified it somewhat by saying "when feasible," and today we are confronted with the definition of the word "feasible." We have had many discussions on just what "feasible" meant, and some of our Democratic friends said that "feasible" meant four years from now; others said that it meant in a reasonable time. I am going to predicate my vote today on the answer that I get from the Chairman of the Constitutional Changes committee.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, if, in his opinion, his committee intends to report out to this floor a bill of some kind regardless of its nature.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I can answer that only by saying that I intend, when the bill is in the condition that the majority of the members of the committee feel it should be in, to call the committee together promptly and ask them to report out the bill.

Of course, I do not think the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, would ask me to speak for the other members of the committee; but I do want to make it clear that it is my understanding that this committee intends to report out a bill for the revision of the Constitution.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, what his definition of "a reasonable time" is. In his remarks a few minutes ago he indicated, or, rather, he stated very definitely that they would report out a bill in a reasonable time. I desire to ask the gentleman if he can give me any idea of what he means by "a reasonable time."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would say that the "reasonable time" I mean is a sufficient time for the committee to consider the various amendments now before it. We have had meetings each week—I do not think there has been a week that this committee has not met since this bill came into our hands. I am planning on holding another meeting tomorrow, and we will continue to hold meetings until we thresh out the questions that are now before the committee. But to name a definite date when these deliberations will be completed,—I do not think that I should, in justice to my committee, do that; but I will say this: this matter will be determined by this committee in ample time for this body to act on it before we adjourn, ample time to negotiate with the committee of the House if we do not agree on the terms of the bill, so that before we leave here we will have a Constitutional Revision Bill for the committee to report out. Now, I do not think that further than that I should be asked to state.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, who is a member of the committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to ascertain if the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, will express his opinion as to when there will be some definite action on the part of this committee.

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, I feel, also, that this Committee should be given some more time to consider this very important piece of legislation; and I do feel that eventually you will be satisfied with their judgment, because I do not believe any group of men—any other group of men will be in as good a position to consider the matter as we are now, after having held all these public hearings and having held so many meetings of the committee to discuss the matter; and it is my thought that if we intend to have this Constitutional Revision at all we would better confine ourselves to the efforts that this committee is now putting forth.

Now, as to the time when a bill will be reported out, I would state to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, that if I were to make a guess—and it would only be a guess—I would say that it could, possibly, be reported out within two weeks. I feel that the hearings should be sufficient; that all of the amendments could be considered, and well considered, before that period of two weeks expires.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I am deeply grateful to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, for his very definite information. I say to you, absolutely honestly, that my vote would have been,—if I had not received this information, I would have voted for the discharge of this committee; but, with this information at hand, I will cast my vote against the motion to discharge this committee, feeling that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, is absolutely sincere when he tells us there will be action within two weeks.

Under those conditions, I think that the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, in all fairness to his colleagues, whom he will embarrass by his motion, should immediately rise and withdraw that motion to discharge the committee, because he is only embarrassing his colleagues and every member of the Senate here today.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to say that I shall feel no embarrassment in voting on this motion, because, so far as I am concerned personally, I am not bound by any traditions as to the discharge of committees. As a matter of fact, I myself, at the last session, set a precedent in regard to the discharge of committees by making such a motion; and while I regretted exceedingly that it had to be done, I have no apologies to offer for my action because I felt that it was an important piece of legislation and the circumstances were such that my action was warranted.

I should like to call the attention of the Senators to this situation: To my mind the question, with regard to the behavior of a committee, is, always, whether or not they have acted reasonably and honestly. And I should say that "reasonably," in that connection, means, the completion of their work within a reasonable length of time. As far as the efforts of this committee are concerned, the question of reasonableness depends, as lawyers say, on "What is a reasonable time under the circumstances?" The "circumstances," in this connection, have to do with the object to be obtained.

Now, the important thing to be accomplished—the object to be attained—is the raising of money in sufficient quantities to carry on the affairs of the State of Pennsylvania; and the Senator who made this motion, which can be passed only on the theory that the action of this committee has not been "reasonable"—that they have had more than a reasonable length of time in which to act—I say, the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, should look at the record of the House. One of the most important bills in the Governor's program is Senate Bill No. 660 (House Bill No. 839). It is what is commonly known as, "The liquid fuel tax." It was introduced in the House and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means on February 13th. It had a very long and peaceful slumber in that committee, and did not come out for first reading until March 11th—almost thirty days. House Bill No. 147, the bill on Revision of the Constitution, passed third reading in the House on January 29th, and came to us a few days later. Now, a comparison of these two pieces of legislation, one providing for the imposition of a two-cent tax on liquid fuels, and the other involving a structural change in the fundamental law which has governed this Commonwealth, upholds the claim that there has been no unreasonableness on the part of the Senate committee entrusted with the consideration of this bill on Constitutional Revision; and it seems to me unfair and unreasonable to interfere, and waste time—which we have been doing last night and today—on the question of discharging the committee which is dealing with so important a document, a bill which may upset the fundamental principles of our government, the laws under which we have acted for almost sixty years.

It seems to me unfair and unreasonable that this Senate should attempt to discharge a committee which has had this bill in its possession, certainly, not more than the time within which the fuel bill was dealt with by the House of Representatives—a House, mind you, which is controlled by a much greater majority than this Senate is controlled.

Therefore, under these circumstances, I say that the question is one of reasonableness—whether a reasonable length of time has passed in dealing with this bill; and I say very frankly, to my friend on the other side, that I have no fear as to the fate of a bill for Constitutional Revision. I am not concerned with what the word "feasible" means. If a proper bill can be presented, and if the people of Pennsylvania, by their vote, say they want a Constitutional Convention, then the difficulties about the word "feasible" disappear; and, so far as I personally am concerned, I shall be in favor of a Constitutional Revision, and shall do all I can to bring out some sort of a bill which will be acceptable to the people. The question for them to vote on first is, shall we have a Constitutional Convention?

So far as the Republican organization is concerned, its attitude was apparent at the very beginning of this session of the Legislature, when the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, presented a bill for Constitutional Revision. When the time comes that this committee, after having had a reasonable time under the circumstances, takes such action as, in my opinion, violates the desires of the people, or the principles under which the organization went to the polls last November, I may have a different story to tell; but up to this present time no one can honestly and fairly say that this committee has dealt unreasonably with this important piece of legislation.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, it seems to me that the important question here is, what constitutes an unreasonable time. We have had a period of eight weeks since this bill came in, during part of which time public hearings were held, the remainder being since the public hearings, when the bill was amended. In view of the importance of this measure, and in view, also, of the fact that it must be discussed on the floor before passage,—and we do not want it discussed in the final jam of legislation at the end of the session, and in view of the further fact that in the normal course of events—which I have some hope will be carried out here—the session will not last more than six or seven weeks longer, I think that in the period of the next two weeks there should be a report on the floor of this Senate; and if the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, wil join the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, in expressing himself to that effect, I feel that we should go along on the proposition and let the committee have more time for the consideration of this bill.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I think that my erudite friend, the Senator from Cumberland, Mr.

Prince, will bear me out that Ralph Waldo Emerson once made an observation something like this: "What you do speaks so loud I cannot hear what you are saying."

Now, certainly, we do not want to put ourselves in the position in this State Senate wherein what we do will speak so loudly to the people of this State that they will disregard entirely the motives behind any action that we may take with respect to any subject, particularly a subject of such vital importance as the revision of our State Constitution.

I cannot refrain, while on my feet, referring to page No. 1186 of the Legislative Journal, containing part of the proceedings of the Senate, where, about four or five lines from the top of the page, in referring to another bill, not the Constitutional Revision Bill but another measure, a rather unimportant one, in reply to an interrogation by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McGinnis, as follows: "Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, why he moves to recommit this bill," the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, replied, "Mr. President, to "pickle" it. I moved that it be recommitted for the purpose of "pickling" it."

Now, I am sure that the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, made that statement as a matter of jest; but I do not want to so play with this Constitutional Revision Blil that we may be accused of doing nothing but jesting with it. I have a great deal of respect for the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, and for the Committee on Constitutional Changes, into whose hands this bill has been committed. This, after all, is not a bill which writes a new Constitution; this is a bill defining the mechanics, or submitting a method, of calling a Constitutional Convention. This is not a bill which will require the same deliberation as the drafting of a new Constitution; this bill deals simply with mechanics, and should, accordingly, be expedited.

I believe, and I think the Senator from Tioga can well agree with me, that two weeks longer should be the very latest date at which this Committee on Constitutional Changes should report on this bill. Certainly, more than two months—two months-and-a-half—should give them ample opportunity to carry out their deliberations and to arrive at their conclusion.

I should be the last one in this Senate to try to interfere with the orderly operations of a committee, and yet, Mr. President, I do not want the implication to go before the public that we are sitting idly by while matters of vital consequence are being ignored by the Senate.

In view of this fact, Mr. President,—and I say this solely for the purpose of giving this committee two weeks longer to finish their deliberations on this matter; and within that time, in my judgment, they will have ample opportunity to carry out any deliberations, or to arrive at any conclusions they need to make.

MOTION TO LAY ON THE TABLE

I move you, Mr. President, that this motion by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, discharging this committee, be laid on the table for a period of two weeks, —to come before this Senate two weeks from today at the hour of 4:30 as a special order of business.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Now, Mr. President, in making that motion, if the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, can assign any imperative reason why a reasonably longer time than two weeks is absolutely necessary for his deliberation, I will give serious consideration to deferring to his judgment in that respect; but I press this motion, Mr. President.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there being a motion on the floor, the motion of the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. No, the motion is perfectly in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object to the motion, and ask for a roll call. I want to state to this Senate that this committee is entitled to have this motion made by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, disposed of and disposed of today. Let us know whether a Senate committee is going to be forced, as they are attempting to force this committee, to say when they are going to act on a bill.

Mr. PRESDENT, I ask for a roll call on this motion made by the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, and I ask the Senate to vote down the motion to postpone this matter.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, in view of the generous attitude—I, at least, think it was generous—of the Senators from this side of the House, who fully intended to vote today on the motion to discharge the committee, but who now are willing to give us two weeks more, may I not appeal to the Senators who, like myself, are on this committee to consider whether we cannot report a bill out in two weeks' time?

Personally, I feel it can be done, and I would like to see this committee co-operate in this effort to get before this body a bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I want to say that I appreciate fully the good work that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, is doing; he is co-operating with this committee, he is giving this matter serious and careful consideration, he is appreciative of the importance of the problem, as he stated on the floor of this Senate; but I say, Mr. President, the principle involved in this motion is greater than that. The motion to discharge this committee was made after a speech by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, which libeled every member of this Senate, which was a direct attack on the members of the Senate; and to discharge this important committee on a motion which followed a speech bringing up the question of not cooperating with the Democratic members of this Senate presents an ultimatum, and that ultimatum is this: Whether this committee is going to have held over it, in its deliberations on this bill, a motion by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, to discharge it, or whether we are going to dispose of this motion to discharge this committee now.

I say, Mr. President, in behalf of the members of this committee, as well as in my own behalf, that we are entitled to have this motion to postpone consideration of the motion to discharge this committee disposed of at this time. Another motion can be made later. As far as I am concerned, and I know I speak for the other members of this committee, we want this motion to discharge disposed of now.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is a strange position in which to place the Senate—to have a motion to the effect that we shall not have a motion to discharge a committee until the end of two weeks from now. I might find myself in a position next week where I would be disposed to postpone action on the bill, and I might make a motion to discharge the committee on the following week. I am opposed in principle to such a motion, because it means that every time a committee works on bills it has hanging over its head a hatchet inscribed with these words, "if you do not bring this bill out, we will discharge you." I never heard that that was the method of procedure in this Senate, or, indeed, in any other deliberative body. It seems to me it is the function of committees of the Senate to keep off the floor unnecessary and unimportant legislation, so that we can get out on the floor legislation that is necessary and is important, so that we may give it the consideration it deserves; and any suggestion from any member of the Senate that unless a committee reports out a bill in two weeks is a suggestion—in this case embodied in a motion—that, in my opinion, should be kept off the record of this deliberative body at this time. There is no reason for it. There is nothing to stop any member of this Senate, within two weeks, or at any time, from repeating that motion; and after the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, has heard from his own colleague, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, that he feels the committee is acting fairly, and that they do require further time, it seems to me a piece of unfairness on the part of anybody to suggest, or to be told, "we will give you two more weeks, and if you do not report the bill out in that time we are going to proceed to discharge you."

I say, it does not appeal to me to have a hatchet over my head poised for action at a future date; I say, let it fall now, I am ready to meet the situation. Certainly, on the question of whether or not the Constitution of the Senate of Pennsylvania shall be changed, I will not, for one, agree that any committee shall be put in that position; it is too important a piece of legislation; and it seems to me a silly way to get out of a difficult situation, which is important for everybody.

Suppose the committee needs two more days, and suppose everybody not really resigning himself to a spirit of unfairness appreciates that two more days are necessary, are we to understand that we must rush through any kind of a bill in order to avoid a threat of such an action?

I say let us have it out now, let us find out whether our friends on the other side want to set a precedent of putting the members of a committee in a position where they will be on notice that unless they come in with a report that meets with the approval of any particular individual, and satisfies his test, or the state of his digestion on a particular day, they will be discharged. I am ready to test that question right now.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, without the least hesitation, I would have voted against the motion of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, to discharge this committee immediately, but I think our Democratic colleagues are extremely generous in permitting the committee to act for two more weeks; and I want to say, in reply to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that if at the end of two weeks the chairman of the committee, or the committee as a whole, should request more time, and that request is made sincerely and honestly for the purpose of serious deliberation, and not for the purpose merely of delay, I will be very glad to vote that they be given more time.

This is not an effort to frighten this committee, to hold a sword over their heads, or to propel them into hasty action; it is merely a precaution in order to insure that the members of this Senate and the people of Pennsylvania will have a Constitutional Convention bill reported from this committee at the proper time. I believe the committee has acted sincerely, I think they have worked earnestly in an endeavor to bring out some sort of a bill providing for a Constitutional Convention; but they must understand that the eyes of the people of Pennsylvania are on them, they must understand that already rumors are spread throughout the State that this is an attempt to kill this bill.

Now, I refer to the platforms of the two major parties, in which one said "immediately" and the other said "as soon as feasible." When I interrogated the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, I received the answer that a bill would be reported out in "a reasonable time." I am not sure just what is meant by "a reasonable time;" and my reason for voting for this motion to extend the time two weeks is so that we may fix a definite "reasonable time."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I still ask that this motion be voted down—I mean the motion to postpone this matter; and I ask it on behalf of myself and of the other members of this committee.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, and members of the Senate: The position taken by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, has been so fair, so very fair, that I hesitate to arise to oppose his motion or to disagree with what he has said; but I do not think that the Senate of Pennsylvania can overlook the fact that last night at least the Republican membership of that committee, as well as all other committees of the Senate, were being charged with seeing a flood of gold which was coming into these committee rooms from speakeasies and bawdy houses and other places in Pennsylvania, and, after all, a postponement for two weeks is to my mind simply adding insult to injury. What can be the purpose of such a move, except that it is to impute that the Chairman of the committee and the members of that committee are not acting fairly in this matter.

I know that every member of the Senate is fully acquainted with my views on the question of Constitutional change. I am and I always have been opposed to any change in the Constitution of Pennsylvania; and, as far as I am concerned, it makes no difference when that bill comes out of committee, or whether it ever comes out of that committee; but, Mr. President, during the past weeks, as a member of the Committee on Constitutional Changes, I attended, I think, every time a committee meeting was called. That bill has not been referred to any sub-committee, and at each meeting it has been debated, and it has been amended; and there have been amendments pending before that committee, or at least, the Senators have indicated their intention to present amendments to that Committee, and under those circumstances, Mr. President, for one, I am unwilling to vote that a stigma of this kind should reflect upon the good faith of the Chairman or of the members of the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

It is true that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, and the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, have indicated on the floor of the Senate their opinion that there has been no undue delay and no effort made toward pickling in that committee; but, after all, a motion such as this, to hold a continuing club over the head of a committee of the Senate, can only be regarded by the people of Pennsylvania as meaning that a portion of the Senate does not take a statement of the Chairman of the committee in good faith, and, for one, I do not propose to act on any committee with a club like that hanging over my head.

I stand on the floor of the Senate as a member of this body, as a peer of every Senator, and I object, therefore, to an action of this kind being taken. The statement has been made and has been reiterated that there is no disposition to pickle this bill or to delay it unduly; and I think, therefore, that these motions, all of them, should be voted down, to the end that this committee can function properly in giving consideration to the bills which are now pending before it.

And the question recurring

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. OWLETT and Mr. BUCKMAN and were as follows, viz:

REPORT FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CLARK from the Committee on Judiciary Special reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 693 (House Bill No. 132), entitled:

An Act prohibiting the employment of miners in the bituminous coal mines unless certificated after examination by a miners examining board providing for the appointment of such boards and defining their powers and duties and providing penalties.

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COYNE, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Governor's Office,
Harrisburg, Pa., March, 26, 1935.

To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law I have the honor to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following:

Richard Rinn, of Lakemont, Blair County, as Justice of the Peace in the Township of Logan, Blair County, until the first Monday in January, 1936.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. RICE

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the foregoing nomination,

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. RICE

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nomination reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—45

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Aron, | Harris, | Miller, | Roberts, |
| Batchelor, | Homsher, | Norton, | Rodgers, |

| Gelder, | McGinnis, | Rice, | Ziesenheim, |
| Graff, | | | |

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION EXPRESSING DISAPPROVAL OF VIOLATION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is theer objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BUCKMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, March 26, 1935.

Whereas, the Senator from Fayette County, Mr. Cavalcante, in his address to the Senate on Monday evening, March 25, 1935, upon the question of personal privilege, made unwarranted statements reflecting upon the character and integrity of the members of this body, now therefore be it

Resolved, That we do hereby express our disapproval of the conduct of the said Senator in so grossly violating the rule of personal privilege and the traditions of the State Senate.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 which requires that concurrent resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I object.

The Chair hears objection.

Under the rules of the Senate the judgment of the Chair is the resolution should go to the Committee on Rules.

It is so ordered.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RODGERS read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 727, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," authorizing counties to create a county insurance fund.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I move that all bills reported from committees at today's session be read the first time.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:40 P. M. until Wednesday morning, March 27, 1935, at 10 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 26, 1935.

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend O. B. Paulson, a former chaplain of this House, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, before Whom all hearts are open, we give Thee thanks for the privileges of a new day.

Under Thy providential care and guidance we have watched the ship of State sail ever on. With Thy hand at the helm, and Thy Word to chart the course, our land has attained greatness among the nations of the earth.

Throughout the years we have prayed that the Spirit of America might be the Spirit of the humble Galileean. May that spirt be manifested in this House today.

Give us the good sense to know that if we do well in the sight of God, the blessings of peace and prosperity will certainly ensue. But if we do not well, sin lieth at the door.

Bless with Thy presence and leadership those in authority in our nation and in this Commonwealth. Give to the Speaker and members of this House the courage of honest convictions. Remember in mercy those who are detained at home because of sickness or bereavement. Give to us all the grace to deal justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with our God. In the Master's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. STEWART, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TURNER. RESOLUTION No. 104.

In the House of Representatives, March 25, 1935.

Whereas, It appears, as of March 19, 1935, that there is a net appropriation liability for the remainder of the present fiscal biennium of approximately $40,000,000, of which amount $18,000,000 is required for the operation of the State Government, and $11,622,901 for the support of the public schools, universities, colleges, State-aided medical and surgical hospitals, State-aided homes, mothers' assistance and State-aided correctional and insane institutions, and $10,000,000 for unemployment relief for the months of April and May; and

Whereas, It is apparent that the ordinary revenues of the State Government to the end of the present biennium will be inadequate to meet this appropriation liability, since by averaging the ordinary receipts for the last seven years, a total revenue for the remainder of the biennium cannot be anticipated in excess of $15,000,000; and

Whereas, The appropriations to many of these State-aided institutions are in arrears; and

Whereas, Unless sufficient revenues are raised during the present biennium to meet this over-appropriation liability, the appropriation to these institutions will lapse; therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee be created, composed of five Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, whose duty it shall be to ascertain from the Department of Revenue the amount of revenue which it is anticipated the Commonwealth may receive by the end of the present biennium; to ascertain the exact amount of revenue necessary to be raised to meet the appropriation liability; to inquire into the possibilities of raising new revenues and suggest to the Legislature a plan by which sufficient moneys can be raised during the remaining months of the present fiscal biennium in order to meet all the appropriation liabilities of the Commonwealth;

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CANNON (Concurrent).

RESOLUTION No. 105.

Whereas, This Honorable body in this Administration constitute the authority to aid those in distress active legislation proves more desirous by deed as well as word and

Therefore Be It Resolved, This Honorable Body speed up legislation of value to remedy this long standing employment problem and be it further

Resolved, That the treasury department of this Commonwealth report the funds available in this Commonwealth to this General Assembly who should use good judgment by the confidence placed in them to restore afflicted Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. RESOLUTION No. 106.

In the House of Representatives, March 25, 1935.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania spends large sums of money each year in stocking the Juniata River with fish; and

Whereas, Low waters cause thousands of fish to die and flood waters carry many fish down stream to other waters in adjoining states; and

Whereas, The erection of dams in the Juniata River would prevent such destruction of fish and save large sums of money in restocking this stream, therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives that the relief administrators be directed to allocate from funds of the Public Works Administration or other funds granted by the Federal government, a sum sufficient to construct and erect no less than ten dams in said Juniata River, and that the Department of Forests and Waters, in cooperation with the Bureau of Fisheries be directed to furnish to the relief administrator the necessary plans, specifications and other data that may be required to determine the cost, location and erection of such dams; said dams to be located approximately one mile east of the town of Huntingdon and eastwardly to the Susquehanna River, as may be determined by a committee of seven citizens, to serve without compensation, and to be appointed by the Secretary of Forests and Waters and to advise in all matters relating to the erection and construction of said dams, and be it further

Resolved, That the civilian conservation corps be used in the erection and construction of such dams, when feasible.

Referred to the Committee on Fisheries.

UNITED STATES SENATE

COMMITTEE ON POST OFFICES AND POST ROADS

March 17, 1935.

Mr. W. P. Gallagher
Chief Clerk
House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Gallagher:—

In the absence of Senator Davis, I desire to acknowledge the certified copy of Resolution No. 52, House of Representatives General Assembly of Pennsylvania, memoralizing Congress to pay immediately the Adjusted Compensation Certificates to veterans of the World War.

It is a matter of record that Senator Davis has consistently supported legislation of this character and that he has no intention of deviating from that policy. I am hopeful his return to duty will be in sufficient time to permit him to maintain this record which appears to have universal approval in Pennsylvania.

Very sincerely,

(Signed) Frank K. Boal,
Secretary to Senator Davis.

NOTE: Copy to Hon. William Roan.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and printed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11:30 having arrived the Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 857, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirteen hundred and five of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred forty-three), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securties belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth, and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by requiring every person, copartnership, bank, national bank, bank and trust company, safe deposit company, trust company, association, and corporation, and savings fund, savings institution, and savings bank to report unclaimed deposits after ten years; and repealing certain acts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bills 857 and 858 refer to the same subject, they provide for the escheat of monies in banks and trust companies, or in the hands of individual guardians or others, for which there has been no claim made. Although these appear as part of the Governor's tax program, they cannot be said to be tax measures, because they are taking monies which are unclaimed in these institutions, as they have done in the past. The difference is this, however, the amendment provides for the reduction from 14 years to 10 years; that is, if these funds are unclaimed for 10 years instead of 14 years, as the law now provides.

In the case of savings institutions, however, it reduces the time from 30 years to 10 years. I do not believe there can be much objection to the reduction from 14 years to 10 years, but I do believe that there is a very serious question that arises in the case of the savings institutions, where the reduction is made from 30 years to 10 years. The people have the right to expect that their funds will remain in those institutions, and would remain in those institutions for a period of 30 years before they can escheat to the State. To now reduce this by such a drastic cut from 30 to 10 years is too much. If it had been 21 years or 20 years, I would have felt that it would have been justified. These measures, according to the estimate, will only produce a very small amount of money, and they are not going into effect until January, 1936. Therefore, it seems to me that they cannot in any way affect the program and act in the interests of the savings institutions and we should oppose the measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SURFACE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to vote "no" and file my reasons for so doing.

I do not support this Bill because the money should escheat to the State and not to the banks. Also the time for the escheating of unclaimed funds, being but ten years, is too brief.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Chairmen of committees who do not hold meetings at their regularly scheduled time should report that fact to the desk so that the committee rooms can be used by other committees. There are other committees that would be glad to use the rooms in case they are not used by other committees at their regular time.

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 858, entitled:

An Act to further amend section seven of the act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws, eight hundred seventy eight), entitled "An act providing for the escheat of deposits of money or property of another received for storage or safekeeping; the dividends, profits, debts, and interest on debts of corporations, companies, banks, trust companies, insurance companies, limited partnerships, and partnership associations, organized under the laws of this Commonwealth, except mutual saving-fund society not having a capital stock represented by shares, and except also building and loan associations, and property held for the benefit of another by the same, and the profits, accretions, and interest on such property, as well as interest thereon accrued, or which should have accrued, between the fixing of the amount of such property by the award of any court and the actual distribution thereof," by requiring that unclaimed deposits with every person, copartnership, bank, national bank, safe deposit company, trust company, association, and corporation, and savings fund, savings institution, and savings bank, shall escheat after ten years.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 923, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred ninety-seven (P. L. 292) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" by increasing the rate of tax imposed by this act on the shares of stock of banks and savings institutions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 923 proposes to amend the Act of 1897, Pamphlet Laws 292.

The original act in the past proposed a tax or laid a tax upon the capital stock of banks or savings institutions, and it is provided in the original act that the shares shall be taxed on the same basis or rate as imposed upon other money capital in the hands of individual citizens. The proposed amendment merely changes this from four mills to six mills the imposition of the tax under this act. As the members know, House Bill No. 925, which was passed by this House last week, fixes a personal property tax of six mills to be collected by the state and divided share and share alike twixt county and state. This act undoubtedly along with House Bill No. 924, which follows, is part and parcel of a trio of three bills.

I opposed the passage of House Bill No. 925 last week. I am voting against House Bill No. 923 because of the fact that it falls in line with House Bill No. 925, and changes the millage from four to six mills, and I wish to express to the House and on the record the reasons why I oppose the bill. Simply because it is one of the three bills forming the personal property and capital stock tax that changes it from four to six mills, and also if any of my colleagues should vote "no", they will have expressed upon the record the reasons for so doing.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Luzerne is correct in stating the facts relative to this particular tax. The rate has been increased from four to six mills for the purpose of having a uniformity of tax on money capital. The entire sum realized in taxes will, of course, go to the state, and will not be divided between the county and the state. However, I might say that when the bill was originally written, or as the act was originally enforced, the four mill tax was retained by the Commonwealth. The only object, in addition to the revenue that must be raised, is for the purpose of having uniformity of taxation on money capital, and the extra sum realized, or estimated to be realized under this bill is $592,500. It is in line with the Democratic platform, and I am asking the members to vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 924, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seven (P. L. 640), entitled "An act to provide revenue by levying a tax upon the shares of stock of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations,' approved April twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and the supplements thereto; for the insurance of owners of real estate, mortgages, and others interested in real estate, from loss by reason of defective titles, liens, and encumbrances; and of companies entitled to the benefits of, and of companies having any of the powers of, companies entitled to the benefits of an act entitled 'An act conferring upon certain fidelity, insurance, safety deposit, trust, and savings companies the powers and privileges of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April twenty-ninth, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and of the supplements thereto,' approved June twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, commonly known as title insurance or trust companies," by further modifying the procedure for the settlement, collection, and payment of the State tax on the stock of title insurance and trust companies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 924 proposes to amend the act of 1907, P. L. 640. The original act of 1907 proposes a tax of five mills upon the capital stock of the various title insurance and trust companies.

In 1933, various amendments were adopted by the Legislature changing the method of computation as to the value of the capital stock tax subject to the five mills tax. Exemptions were allowed and credits given under the amendments of 1933 if any of the surplus on profits of these companies were invested in either stock of other domestic corporations already subject to a tax, or invested in the stock of other corporations that were exempted from the tax. The present act proposes to remove those captions, and would leave the act of 1907 in practically its original form if it were adopted as the bill was first presented to the House. However, subsequent to its presentation and prior to its appearance on the floor today, the millage was changed from five to six mills. This was done, I believe, as I have stated in my argument against House Bill 923 to make it conform to House Bills 923 and 925. This is one of the three bills, that I believe are figured to bring in estimated revenue of $50,000,000.

I shall oppose by my own vote the passage of this bill, because it is one of the three bills, so-called, which we have opposed up to the present time, and because of the fact that the millage is changed from five to six mills. I do not seriously oppose the removal of the exemptions that were passed by the Legislature of 1933. I do oppose the change of millage at this time insofar as this act dovetails in with House Bill No. 925, known as the personal property tax act. I shall vote against it, and I am submitting this explanation on the record, so that my colleagues will vote against it if they have a thorough explanation placed thereon.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to point out to the members of the House that this bill eliminates certain exemptions in connection with ascertaining the value of capital stock of title insurance and trust companies. The method now of ascertaining the values will be the same as the values were ascertained for stock in banks and savings institutions. Likewise the bill intends to make a levy or assessment on the same basis as that of other monied capital and would yield an estimated additional return of $700,000.

I am asking the members to support this bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 948, entitled:

An Act imposing a State excise tax on electric power and current generated, manufactured and sold within this Commonwealth; providing for the collection of the tax and the disposition of the revenue derived therefrom; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons, associations, partnerships, corporations, and State departments; and imposing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hesitate to arise at this time on this measure, because of the apparent lack of interest of a great number of this House on the questions involved in any of these tax measures.

However, as we have discussed most of these tax measures from the standpoint of the general principle involved and the effect on a certain group or business or a certain division of the people of the State, this measure not only should be discussed from that standpoint but from the technical makeup of the bill.

This bill in its essential provisions is ridiculous, and I do not believe that the gentlemen on the other side of the House would support it in any degree at all were it not backed by the powerful influence of the administration as being a part of its program.

I am not going to burden you with details as to the provisions of this bill except to call your attention to two or three things which were brought out in the hearing which we had some few weeks ago, when some five or six thousand of the utility people came here to protest against a number of these measures.

One of the provisions of this bill—perhaps I should tell you this: This is a bill that provides a tax of one-half mill per kilowatt of electricity generated and sold.

Now, there is a difference between electricity generated and electricity sold, because electricity generated is that which is in the plant, and sold may be that which is at a distance of thirty or forty, or fifty miles, whatever it may be over the wires, but this bill says there must be a meter that must tell how much electricity is sold.

There are perhaps one hundred thousand street traffic lights—more than that perhaps—as estimated by the industry in the state of Pennsylvania, and under the provisions of this bill it would be necessary to put a meter on every traffic light or place one on every group of traffic lights if there would happen to be a group at some place, for in no other way would it be possible to tell the amount of electricity that was sold. If you want to measure it as sold, you must measure it at the point of delivery.

As to street lights, street lights burn at night. You know they go on maybe around five-thirty or six o'clock in the afternoon and burn through to five-thirty in the morning, and because of the kind of current that is used and because of the conditions, there is no meter made at the present time that would measure the amount of electricity consumed and thereby sold to the consumer through those lights.

If you put a meter on every traffic light and every street light, or possibly some of them could be grouped, it would amount to a cost to the utility of fifty cents per month or six dollars a year, and if there should be one hundred thousand of them you can see that the added cost to the utilities would be six hundred thousand dollars.

I know a lot of you are going to say right away, "Why should we worry about these utilities?" But that is not the situation, my friends. The greatest fallacy that exists in the minds of a lot of people in the state of Pennsylvania and the greatest fallacy that exists in the minds, I am sorry to say, of some of my colleagues with whom I have tried to argue this point in the last couple months, is that these items come out of the pockets of the utilities. In the last analysis they come out of the pocket of the consumer, because in the electric industry of the state of Pennsylvania since 1932 there have been some rate reductions which have amounted to $45,000,000 to the people of Pennsylvania. I know as a positive fact, and you know from the reports in the newspapers that the Public Service Commission has been pressing steadily the utilities of Pennsylvania for a reduction in their rates, and that, as far as it has been possible to secure reductions, they are being secured, but if you pile the tax bills that you have put in this program on the utilities—eleven of them affecting the public utilities of Pennsylvania—you are going to add an additional tax burden upon the people of Pennsylvania in the form of a failure to receive the rate reductions which they expect and which they would expect in the very near future from some of these companies.

This bill says that the meter shall be read every day at one place. Why, you couldn't employ enough people to go around and read these meters every day; that is, if you must get a daily record of the kilowatts sold, and that would mean certainly that you would have to read the meters every day.

In another place it says they must make a report on the 15th of the month of all the electricity sold during the past month. Now, if you don't read the meters every day, if you say, "Well, we don't have to do that under the act," then if you want to find out how much had been sold during the past month, it would mean the simultaneous reading of every meter on every utility line in Pennsylvania on the last day of the month, and that is a feat that is impossible of performance, unless the utilities were to hire great armies of men that would start out at some fixed zero hour, like an army, and go all over the state and read the meters in the state of Pennsylvania.

In the third place, the act requires that returns shall be made on the 15th of the month, that a report shall be made, and that the tax shall be paid within another period of fifteen days. The period in which the utility has not had an opportunity to collect the money upon which it is expected that it shall pay the tax. That is certainly a departure from any tax law that we have in the state of Pennsylvania. Certainly any taxpayer should have the opportunity to collect before he is called upon to pay. This act discriminates between certain classes of users. It operates against companies in Pennsylvania who sell electricity or sell current in the foreign states, as well as it operates against our companies here and reduces income. There will be an effect, not only upon those who are employed in the industry, but there will also be an effect on the amount of money that is received in the treasury of the state of Pennsylvania from other sources than the utilities that you are taxing.

The reason why there has been the great reduction in utility rates has been the great increase in the sale of electric current has come through the ability to sell in large blocks to industries. If this tax goes on, it means that the low rates which are now charged to the large consumers will have to be increased, and the margin is so small that in many instances it will be the large consumer who ceases to purchase from the producer or the utility, and he will produce himself, and that has an effect upon the average consumer for this reason, that 51%, the domestic consumer, the small consumer does not pay his way, and the reason why he can get his rates so low, as I have said before, lies in the fact that the utility is able to sell its excess power at times when it does not need that much for its general peak load to industries, and it is able to sell it at a cheap rate, and this reduces the rates at which it sells its power to the domestic consumer. That is the reason they have been able to make these reductions, but when you put a tax on, that means an increase in the rate to the large manufacturer and to the large group, it means, therefore, that the small consumer cannot expect to receive the advantages to which he would be entitled.

I just want to say this to you in conclusion, that I feel that you ought to oppose this measure, first, because the persons who drew up this bill did not know anything about the electrical industry, and have made a bill that is impossible of performance, and in the second place, if there is any measure in all of these measures that will effect the small consumer of electricity and prevent him from having the expectation of rate reductions, which he can now expect, it is this measure.

Mr. WEISS. Mr Speaker and members of the House, I am an electrician by trade. Of all the mass of tax legislation introduced in this House I do not think that there is any bill that should be supported more by the members of this House than House Bill 948.

There is no fallacy in my mind, referring to the statement of the gentleman from Delaware County, about this tax.

I have some facts and figures here taken from the Public Service Commission records which appeared at length after a thorough survey and study in the Pittsburgh Press on December 21st and for five successive days following, giving an idea of the fixed assets, basically,—the total assets, and the decreased taxes paid by one utility as an example, taken over a period of eight years in the city of Pittsburgh and in Allegheny county.

Now, the admission of some of these representatives of utility interests at the Ways and Means hearings, they admitted that the Governor is attempting an equitable tax program and that they are willing to pay their fair share of taxation. They readily admitted that, and it appears in the testimony, and I believe that the gentleman from Delaware will agree to that, but he says that you are putting a greater increase upon utility costs as compared with other costs.

I say that the attempt of the Governor has been to place a tax equitably upon those interests best able to pay.

I will now show you by facts and figures why the utility interests can afford to pay this increased burden.

At that hearing there were five or six thousand representatives; all had badges on; representatives and employes of the industry, who said that this tax is unfair, that it is discriminatory, yet when asked by a member of the committee who paid their way down here to these hearings, they said that these companies paid their way down here and later on in the evening I found not only had they paid their way, but had also paid their day's wages and had paid for their refreshments. They all had a good time.

As to these meters, there has been a slight unintentional misinterpretation by the gentleman from Delaware County. The act does not require the placing of meters.

A member of the delegation—I believe Frank M. Hunter who represented the Pennsylvania Electric Association—in his testimony said: "Does this not mean street-lighting energy and current used for traffic signals? If so, every electric street-light and traffic signal in Pennsylvania would have to have provided for it, or at least, for small groups of them, a meter and all of the facilities for installations."

Certainly you do not need a meter for every street light. And you have a meter for every municipality, for all of the street lights, so that instead of the one hundred thousand meters, six or seven thousand meters would suffice, and they are well able to pay this "burdensome" tax on meters. He says that meters would be grossly inequitable and unfair to the utility. He said that compiling a statement and furnishing it to the department by the fifteenth of each month would be unfair. Why is it unfair to have a statement like that prepared, when they have to send out statements on the fifteenth of each month? They can do the very same thing. They can have the statement prepared, because the meters are at the generating plants and the register will show the amount of kilowatt hours generated by all the companies. This is not placing any additional burden upon them.

I will take one utility and cite it as an example of this group, and that is the Duquesne Light Company of the city of Pittsburgh. At the very beginning I want to impress upon the members of this House that the Duquesne Light Company is a subsidiary, that is, held by the Philadelphia Holding Company, which in turn is held by the Standard Gas and Electric Company, a billion dollar holding company of Chicago. Practically all of the utility interests in this State are held by holding companies. The United Gas, the Associated Gas, the United Gas Improvement company are holding companies that hold all these smaller interests.

When the Standard Gas and Electric Company of Chicago took over the Duquesne Light Company in 1926—just listen to this—the assets of the Duquesne Light Company amounted to $90,667,940. This was according to the reports filed with the Public Service Commission. In 1933, these assets by a direct right-up and expansion, rose to ten hundred and seventy-two million dollars, or an increase of 89.8 per cent. Yet during this corresponding period their taxes went down 47.3 per cent. This reduction of taxes was brought about largely by the use of a consolidated Federal Income tax return, and this form of return permissible under the federal law, allowed the profits of the Duquesne Light Company to be offset with the losses of the Pittsburgh Railway Company, a subsidiary, of the Equitable Gas Company, all held by the Philadelphia Company, with the result that where they paid one million four hundred twenty-five thousand dollars in taxes to the Federal Government they only paid $13,500 in 1933, and mark you, during this period out of $44,000,000 in dividends paid to the Standard Gas & Electric Company by all these utility holdings, $36,000,000 of that sum was paid by the Duquesne Light Company.

During all this period I challenge anyone to tell me that the Public Service Commission has ever made a valuation of the Duquesne Light Company or any of the holding companies for rate making purposes. If they claim that this tax is confiscatory, then they have the opportunity to go before the Public Service Commission and say, "We can't pay this tax. We will not get our 6% return. It is confiscatory," and then for the first time the people of the Commonwealth will have an opportunity to see them go before the Public Service Commission with records to show how their properties and franchises can be increased in one year $24,000,000, and we will not have a recurrence of the Insull crash in this Commonwealth. If they prove by their facts and figures that they are not getting a fair return, certainly the Public Service Commission will give them a rate to produce a fair return.

I say to you again that they can bear this tax just as equitably and just as easily as can any other special holding interests. For instance, there are bills of the Bylesbey Engineering and Management Corporation, which offers the Duquesne Light Company certain services, for instance, management and merchandising, and so forth. This company has been paid over $2,000,000 by the Duquesne Light Company in six years for these services, in accounting form this is charged to operating cost; and naturally operating costs indirectly affect rates.

I say to the members of this House in view of the fact that the Standard Gas & Electric received 47% of all its 1933 dividends and profits from the Duquesne Light Company, a company that only has a one-sixth interest in value of their utility holdings over the twenty different states in which the Standard Gas & Electric furnishes service, and for the further reason that the income has increased over this corresponding period, according to the reports filed with the Public Service Commission. I say that they are well able to pay this tax, and I say to you that if ever there was a tax that is equitable and fair, that the members of this House should support in view of the criticism of public utility interests, especially the light companies, it is this bill because as we all know, the Duquesne Light Company is the goose that lays the golden egg for the Philadelphia Company and the Standard Gas & Electric.

I therefore urge you to vote "aye" upon House Bill No. 948.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I thought I understood the gentleman from Allegheny to say that he was reading from the records of the Public Service Commission, but as I observed him I thought he was reading from a statement from a newspaper.

I do not believe that the question as to the earnings—as a matter of fact, it is not a question of whether he believes that is a legal fact, that the question as to the earnings of the Duquesne Light or the Philadelphia Company or the Associated Gas or anything else has anything to do with the question involved here.

If the gentleman from Allegheny will read the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States and of the Courts of Pennsylvania and the rulings of the Public Service Commission, he will know that the taxes charged are added into the cost of operation, and have nothing to do with the amount which the Commission allows the company to earn, and therefore the question of the earnings tangled up with the question of bond issues and of the valuation of properties and everything else can never be considered in a question of this kind.

To the actual cost of production there are always to be added the taxes to the rate base before you start to figure how much the utility is entitled to earn. Therefore the earnings of the Duquesne Light have nothing to do with the question. In the second place, are you going to penalize all of the people of Pennsylvania because the gentleman from Allegheny seems to have a pet hatred for the Duquesne Light Company, because I have heard him in every hearing pick upon the Duquesne Light. I do not know anything about the Duquesne Light, but I do not see why the people of Delaware and of Monroe and of Bucks and of Philadelphia and all our eastern end of the State should have to pay for any of the delinquencies of Allegheny County. If they are having any troubles, they will have to correct them themselves, because we are legislating for the whole of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I heard the gentleman from Delaware speaking of the increase of meters in power plants and painting a picture of the possibility of a large number of meters that would have to be installed. I have visited quite a number of power plants and have been engaged in the electrical industry in some shape or form, and I can say that I have never seen a power plant that was not equipped with all the necessary meters and instruments that take into consideration the readings and the reports that are called for under this act. So I cannot see where any additional expense will be placed on any power company under this act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. PARKS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to vote "no" and file my reasons:

I interpret this bill as one that would raise the rate paid for current to municipalities. Instead we should have a rate reduction direct to the consumer where an investigation would show that the utility serving said local community could stand a reduction in rate to all consumers.

Mr. SURFACE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to vote "no" and file my reasons for so doing.

I do not favor this bill because (a) it will result in added cost to the consumer, and (b) the electricity supplied to the millions of lights of municipalities for outdoor and signal-lights cannot be measured under present known methods.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1192, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax on the net incomes of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; providing for the assessment and collection of the tax; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons, corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards and departments; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LONGAKER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the first term delegation it has been my province to stand by more or less and observe the debates on the various tax measures that have been discussed on the floor of the House. We are now coming to the close or to the end of that chain of tax measures. We might call 1192 the last or nearly the last link in this chain. I use the term "chain" because I feel confident that the people of our Commonwealth in looking over and discussing and considering this tax program, can only consider it as a chain to be carried by the peoples of our State.

House Bill 1192 which is now before us for our consideration provides for a six per cent tax on the net incomes of all corporations doing business in Pennsylvania. There are provisions in the bill whereby corporations carrying on their entire business in the state will follow the general provisos and scheme of the Federal tax on the net income of corporations. Then provisions are also made by which corporations which do their business partially in the state of Pennsylvania, will pay that proportionate part of the net income of the business which they do in the State.

There is no provision by which a corporation may claim exemption for losses which they might sustain during the past few years.

I am not going into a lengthy discussion of the bill, section by section, or part by part, because I feel confident that everyone here knows pretty well just what the bill provides for. However, there are two or three points that should be brought up for the consideration of the members of this House, and I will bring very briefly to your attention the reasons why I feel this bill should not be passed.

In the first place, I have observed that the general attitude of the membership of this House has been when the word "corporation" has been used, to feel that here is something unholy, something unclean, something that should not exist, and if it does exist, the tax should be so placed as to drive it literally out of business.

My conception of corporations does not carry out that scheme. Many others, when speaking of corporations, will necessarily think of huge businesses or holding companies. I hold no brief for them, but I am speaking of average corporations composed of average business men, and I know that there are members of this House who have worked and who have saved and who have tried hard to make one of those businesses carry on. I know that there are members here who sit around the table as members of the board of directors of other corporations, other smaller corporations, local in concept, which are financed by local capital, and which help to make the particular community in which the business is located a success. I know that during these few years they have worked hard and spent many long hours to devise ways and means by which these little corporations, these little businesses of which they are a part and of which their community is part, may be successful. Now, through this program of taxation we are finding that these little corporations, these little businesses, are being taxed to the very limit. I know and you know that throughout the State there have been sections which have been developed by men who had the vision to go forward along business lines. I know that throughout the northeastern part of the state, of which there are representatives here, that the great industries of those sections depend upon the initiative and the will of men, and then when you drop down a little further into the very active industrial sections of the Lehigh Valley, Whence, may I ask, have come the prosperous times and the prosperous businesses of those sections? True it is that just at present perhaps they are not so prosperous. But it is also true that they have the incentive and desire to go forward as men interested in their businesses and in their community.

Let me say that corporations do not mean somebody outside, some ethereal something that exists to be taxed, but corporations mean men, corporations mean the work and the livelihood of the men employed therein. And now we come again, after having listened to the debates and the votes which you have cast to tax corporations and businesses,—the average business I am speaking now speaking of—when they have through their efforts conceivably been able to make a slight profit, we now come in and say "Let us come in and take some of that away from them?" Where is personal initiative under those circumstances? Let us consider when we are voting taxes on corporations, we are voting taxes on men and on people and not on some ethereal something.

Secondly, insofar as the position of this bill happens to be near the end of this chain, to which I referred, let us consider just what this bill does in connection with the other bills. I think that too many members of this House have been voting upon bills separately, you vote on this bill and you vote on that bill and you vote on the third bill. Arguments are offered from time to time why you should or should not vote on this bill, but do you sit down and consider the accumulative effect of these taxes upon the average man and the average business in Pennsylvania. Consider, if you will, the taxes that have been passed through this body in the past few weeks, the gas tax, the tax on trucks, so that their registration fees will be increased considerably, the five cent tax on each one hundred dollars of documents.

Many corporations in the course of their business will be forced to pay out thousands of dollars because of these taxes, and those business which have gone out and expanded to some extent and are now named "chain stores," have had taxes levied on them. Then you have the gross receipts tax on utilities, being increased to eight mills. I am not defending the utilities but I am pointing out to you that these taxes are going to stifle general business conditions in this Commonwealth. Then we go on and passed a few minutes ago a half mill tax to be levied on all kilowatt hours of energy produced by electric light companies. Another kick coming to business.

There will be passed the five mill tax on corporate stock of manufacturing concerns. Again, business is taking the blunt of the blow.

We know the story of the sister state of Massachusetts. I am not going into a lengthy discussion and compare our Commonwealth with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, but it is true that in many respects and in many instances the same problems and the same results which have occurred in the state of Massachusetts will in all probability occur here, and if business moves from our state, if small business if so stifled by taxation that it can no longer continue, or if those who perhaps have the idea or the intent to continue business, thought that they no longer can continue, then those who will remain will find that they will have to bear a greater burden and a higher percentage than they now have to endure.

In practical effect and in conclusion, we might show that the corporation after all is a human thing; it is made up of men who are working for the best advantage of their community and of their State. We can show that the duplication which is about to occur, if these tax measures are passed, will stifle and cause a demoralization, which has never as yet affected the businesses of this Commonwealth. It is unfair to the average business man to put on these additional taxes. Too many times we look to the larger corporation and say that they can well afford to pay. But let me reiterate once more that this is a tax that will affect every corporation in Pennsylvania. It will affect the small fellow more than the big fellow. The big fellow can stand it, but the little fellow, after all, is the hope of our nation for recovery.

Let me dwell on this matter of recovery. We hear it on all sides,—there has been enacted in the present administration the National Recovery Act, and the word "recovery" in that act is the word that appeals to us all. How can there be business recovery, when to all intents and purposes, businesses which attempt to go forward are being hamstrung and hampered by taxes coming at them from all sources? How can we have recovery in our own state and in the particular communities in the states if those businesses which have grown up in the community and have caused the growth and development of the community, are no longer able to go forward and provide employment for the idle who seek employment?

In conclusion, this bill is certainly the proverbial straw in a great chain of bills which are being foisted upon our business. Let me say in the way of prophecy and I don't profess to be a prophet, but any party or any group which forgets the great masses of the common people or the middle classes of the American people in their tax schemes or any other schemes are going to lose the favor of that great middle class, and, therefore, I appeal to you, members of the House, and especially my Republican colleagues, to stand by the little man, to stand by the man of the average corporation, the average business, and let us not sacrifice our birthright of economic liberty and foist upon our posterity economic slavery, which is attempted to be foisted upon the businesses of the Commonwealth by this Legislature.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened with much interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Longaker, but it seems to me that he forgot to mention to the House the most important and salient feature of his measure. He talked about protecting the small fellow, he talked about the tax that we are imposing upon different corporations and he talked about how difficult it was for a corporation to do business and make a profit in this state.

He forgot to mention the fact, however, that this tax is imposed upon the net profits of a corporation. In other words a corporation is getting credit under this bill for every item of expense that they are put to for all of their operating costs, they are getting credit for the depreciation of their plant and they are getting the exemption that is given to them by the Federal Government and they pay all their wages and their salaries and out of what is left as net profit this state asks them to pay six percent of that amount to help us out of the financial condition which we are in.

There is nothing unjust about this tax whatsoever if you look at it from that standpoint. We are not taxing gross receipts, we are taxing profits. At the present time there are twenty-six other states in the Union that impose this kind of a tax. Under the proposed income tax that has been introduced corporations are exempt. In other words in the future, income taxes, or under the graduated income tax, which it is proposed to pass, corporations are not included. They are entirely exempt, so that it is only fair that we should tax them on their net profits.

Corporations have privileges to do business in this state; they have certain special rights; they have the right to perpetual existence. When there is a death in the membership or among the stockholders, or the manager or superintendent, or the owners of the stock of the corporation, the corporation goes on continuously. That does not happen when there is a death of a natural person who is doing business. A corporation is able to do a larger business because it can get more capital, and therefore, it has larger returns. There are many advantages that a corporation has that an individual does not have when they are doing business. As I said before this tax is a six per cent tax. If a corporation had a net profit of ten thousand dollars, after taking into consideration all of its depreciations, all of its operating costs and every other exemption allowed by the federal government, if their profit, as I said, was ten thousand dollars their tax would only be six hundred dollars, that is over and above all other taxes in Pennsylvania, so I don't see anything unfair about this tax.

Of course, it is easy to stand by and say that we are picking on the corporations and picking on the small fellows. I don't think that follows at all from this tax. I don't see where any small fellow is being hurt. If the small corporation is not making money this tax does not affect it at all. It is easy to find fault with every tax measure. No tax measure ever introduced in any tax levying body was popular. We are all subject to arguments from persons who are effected, but I don't know of any tax that is more fair than this. Certainly when a corporation makes a profit it ought to be willing to stand some of the expenses of government.

I have listened in vain, members of the House, for some suggestion, some hint from the minority members of the House as to what taxes can be substituted for this program of the Governor. I just heard last week from a member of the minority group, that they had studied the tax measure for the last three weeks. I don't know whether the gentleman who made that remark thinks that he should be commended, but I want to say to you that the administration has been studying these measures since November 9th and has gathered together the best brains in Pennsylvania, gathered together experts on taxes, persons who had been connected with the Revenue Department of the state of Pennsylvania under the Republican administration and they devised this program as being fair and equitable and less burdensome and in view of the fact that nothing has been offered as a substitute, members of the House, I think that every person should vote for this bill. I ask your support for this measure.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SURFACE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to vote "no" and file my reasons for so doing.

Among other provisions of this Bill one to place an extra tax on the net incomes of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies, such Companies should have no further tax imposed upon them. If the Bill be amended to eliminate this provision. I shall be glad to support it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to call the attention of the members to the fact that on page 4, of today's calendar, House Bills 842 and 840 are companion bills. House Bill No. 840 should precede House Bill No. 842 in its consideration. If there are no objections, therefore, the Chair will take up first House Bill No. 840 on final passage. The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 840, as follows:

An Act to further amend section twenty four of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by imposing upon certain domestic insurance companies and associations a gross premiums tax on business for the year ending one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and every year thereafter and requiring such companies and associations to make reports in writing to the Department of Revenue

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section twenty-four of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and ninety-three) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 24 It shall be the duty of the president secretary or other proper officer of each and every insurance company association or exchange incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth [except] including life insurance companies and companies doing business upon the mutual plan without any capital stock and purely mutual beneficial asociations whose funds for the benefit of members their families or heirs are made up entirely of the weekly or monthly contributions of their members and the accumulated interest thereon to make report in writing to the Department of Revenue on or before the fifteenth day of March in each year setting forth the entire amount of premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments received by such company association or exchange during the year ending with the thirty-first day of December preceding whether the said premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitutes for money and whether the same were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere and every such company association or exchange shall pay into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue within the time prescribed by law for the payment of State taxes settled by the Department of Revenue in addition to any other taxes to which it may be liable under the first and twenty-first sections of this act a tax of eight mills on the dollar upon the gross amount of said premiums premium deposits contributions and assessments received from business transacted within this Commonwealth

Such company association or exchange in reporting for taxation may deduct from the gross premiums premium deposits contributions and assessments all amounts returned on policies cancelled or not taken and all premiums paid for reinsurance where such reinsurances are effected in companies associations and exchanges authorized to transact business in this Commonwealth by contracts or agreements entered into or executed by all parties thereto within this Commonwealth If such contract or agreement is not entered into or executed by all parties thereto within this Commonwealth such company association or exchange in reporting for taxation may not deduct such premiums so paid unless the tax thereon is paid when due by the company in which such reinsurance is effected and mutual companies associations exchanges and stock companies with participating features which may for any reason be required to report under this act in addition to the aforesaid deductions may deduct that portion of the advanced premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments returned in cash or credited to members or policyholders whether as dividends earnings savings or return deposits upon the expiration or termination of their contracts Provided That hereafter the annual tax upon premiums of insurance companies of other states or foreign governments shall be at the rate of two per centum upon the gross premiums of every character and description received from business done within this Commonwealth within the entire calendar year preceding The penalties for failure to make report and pay the tax as herein required shall be as provided by law

Section 2 It shall be the duty of all companies and associations required to pay the tax imposed by this amendment to pay such tax upon gross income of premiums premium deposits contributions and assessments received by such companies or associations from business transacted within this Commonwealth during the year ending the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-five and every calendar year thereafter

Section 3 If any section sentence clause or part of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional section sentence clause or part thereof not been included therein

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GREENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, by this time I suppose we can admit that it is almost an idle gesture to debate the various phases of this tax program. The matter has pretty nearly developed itself, with little exception, upon the basis of political partisanship, but we now have before us a bill, it is the baby bill, upon which I feel that we can depart from that spirit of partisanship, and consider the merits or demerits of this bill aside from such a consideration.

In 1889, a matter of 46 years ago, the Legislature of this State saw fit to impose a millage tax of eight mills per dollar of gross premiums received by domestic insurance companies, — insurance companies organized under the laws of this State. At that time as a matter of public policy the Legislature exempted from the provisions of that bill insurance companies which were mutual in character, and having no capital stock, and beneficial societies of practically the same character. That policy has remained uninterruptedly in force since that time, but the best brains of the State of Pennsylvania, just referred to by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, now see fit, in sponsoring this measure and in giving it to us, to depart from that time honored policy.

Now, what are mutual companies? First of all, I call to the attention of the members of this body that mutual companies, without capital, stock are non-profit companies. They are not organized as a result of capital thrown into a company for the purpose of making a profit. They consist of people banded together in a mutual company for the purpose of paying among themselves the losses or casualties incurred by all of the members during any current year. The only persons who benefit from this type of company are the executives, the employes, the clerks, and people of that character who are involved or engaged purely in the administration of such a company. The people who are the policy holders in such a company consist principally of farmers, especially in remote districts of the State, and small business men; farmers, because the stock company very rarely accepts the risk of a farm, and especially so in the remote districts of the Commonwealth, so that the result is that people living in the rural communities are forced to band themselves together in this type of company in order to protect themselves from loss from unexpected sources. In urban centers and semi-urban centers, the people who compose the policy holders are small business men who because of their inability to pay the premium in a stock company, which is almost in every case higher than that of the mutual company, or because of their inability to have their risk placed with stock companies, also band themselves together with other people of similar type in a mutual company.

You have heard a great deal said during this tax program about having the taxes imposed upon those best able to pay. I fail to see where the best brains of the state of Pennsylvania could have figured out that the small policy holder in a mutual company, the small farmer who was in a company not conducted for profit, that the small business man in a mutual company not conducted for profit are the type of individual upon whom this tax program should be placed.

This bill also provides that beneficial societies, the gross amount, the gross dues and assessments paid by the members of beneficial societies shall also be taxed at the rate of eight mills upon every dollar. Who are the people that belong to these beneficial societies? Do you think for a minute that the coupon clipper belongs to a beneficial society, do you think that the malefactor of great wealth, whom we are trying to cut down, is a member of any beneficial society? Certainly not. The people who belong to beneficial societies are mostly working people, laborers, the small business men who for some reason, whether it is fraternal or because he is interested in this type of society to which he wants to belong, joins the society in an attempt to protect his family in case of misfortune occurring to him as the result of ill health or even as a result of death. Is that the type of individual whom you are seeking to tax with this sort of taxation?

There are a few other features in this bill that also require correction. First, let me say to you, as I said at the outset, that this is the baby bill of the entire program. Well, it is. All it calls for is $750,000 out of this total program of over $200,000,000, and yet because of this mere pittance we are here deliberating whether we should set aside the time honored exemption of those little fellows that belong to the mutual companies and beneficial societies.

Another thing is that this bill makes no provision to have this tax imposed during the emergency. If the idea is that we will require $200,000,000 during the next biennium, and if this bill had to be drawn, then why were not the sponsors of this bill fair enough to have limited the taxes imposed under this act for a period of two years, instead of making it as general as it was made? I say to you, members of the Honse, that of all the bills in this entire tax program, it seems to me that this is the one that can be most easily discarded, the one that should be defeated, and defeated badly.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, many of you or all of you have noticed one peculiar thing about all of these tax bills that we have been discussing. There are, I understand, about twenty-two of them, and have you noticed the peculiar thing that none of them is assessing a tax on real estate. And have you wondered why that was so? If you have spent any time thinking about it at all, you will know that it is because the real estate well is dry, and there is no use of attaching a pump to it any longer. I have taken little or no part in these arguments. One of the reasons being that I am registered as a Republican, and they tell me that I have gone over to the Democratic side. In this tax proposition there should not be any such divisions, because when these assessments or these taxes are assessed and collected, they fall alike on the Democrat and Republican and the just and the unjust, just like the rain from Heaven.

I want to corroborate what the gentleman from Philadelphia has just said, whether you believe it or not. If you vote "yes" on this particular vote, you will vote for a tax on real estate, and that is the one thing that has been avoided all the way through these taxing bills. I know it is true about this particular bill, because for forty years I belonged to one of these small insurance companies —they call them mutual companies, and I wouldn't be able to tell you how much money the farmers and the home owners have saved in the last sixty years since it was organized, in the price they have paid for their insurance. Their agent for that insurance company was here at the hearing. He said if this tax goes on, it will cost our little company up there $1,400 a year, and every dollar of that $1,400 will be taken out of the farm owners and small home owners.

This is a tax on real estate as clearly as if it was assessed on the valuation of real estate, and I feel that it is a misnomer, this tax bill should not be in this list of twenty-two, and I believe if somebody had taken the pains to explain it to the Governor, he would not have included it as one of his tax measures, because he came out boldly all during his campaign and said that he was going to relieve real estate. Every one of you that heard him say that over the radio and through the press and by his natural voice. Nobody wishes a direct tax on real estate, members of this House, and whether I am a Democrat or Republican, it does not make a bit of difference. I am going to vote "no" on it.

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in supporting House Bill No. 840, I feel that I should present to this body some statistics and facts that may clarify the existing thought that you have in your minds, that the poor man is going to be socked.

I might state that at the present time we have some three hundred sixty-seven insurance companies in the State of Pennsylvania, which are made up as follows: Twenty-eight stock fire companies, two hundred forty-four mutual fire companies, eight miscellaneous fire companies, eleven life companies, thirteen stock and casualty companies, eleven mutual casualty companies, sixteen title casualty companies, and thirty-six banking and trust companies doing a title insurance business partially under the supervision of the Insurance Department. Of this number two hundred fifty-seven companies are tax free. These companies are listed as mutual companies, when in reality a great number of them are really stock companies.

I really wish to call your attention to the fact that since 1879 these one hundred companies have been paying a tax into the State of Pennsylvania. These other companies have been tax free. They have been extended that privilege and courtesy on account of being mutual companies.

If we would just analyse what the burden is going to be in this taxation program we would find, assuming that the maximum premium that will be paid amounts to fifty dollars a year, at eight mills, that would mean forty cents a year additional premium to be paid. Most of you know that the average mutual fire insurance company premium amounts to about fifteen to sixteen dollars a year. So you can readily see what that would amount to—some twelve cents. In regard to the beneficial societies or companies who are paying beneficial insurance, the average on that is one dollar a month. My friends, that is less than ten cents a year in additional taxes that they would pay. It is true that this tax is going to yield a small amount, seven hundred fifty thousand dollars, but seven hundred fifty thousand dollars is a lot of money, as was stated yesterday, when we are combing every department in the State of Pennsylvania for funds. I know that you will be fair about this and say that these people who have been tax free all these years are not going to have heavy burden placed upon them, that it will not amount to over fifty cents a year for each one.

In conclusion I merely wish to say that if you will analyze the figures which I have presented to you, you will see that it will not amount to more than fifty cents per year for any one individual, and I feel that every one of them would be willing to contribute fifty cents a year to the cause to which this tax is going, that is, to take care of the poor and the distressed conditions in which the state of Pennsylvania finds itself.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Patterson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Patterson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, does this act apply to the premium notes taken by a great many mutual insurance companies?

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. No, it does not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, on page 2 of this act, it says, "preceding whether the said premiums, premium deposits, contributions or assessments were received in money or in the form of notes, credits, or any other substitutes for money," does that apply, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I can answer the gentleman that when the premium is paid by a note it would include the note.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I do not have reference to premiums being paid by notes. I have reference to premium notes given as a guarantee of the assessment, and against which the assessment in case of loss is paid. In other words, Mr. Speaker, if this tax is placed against the premium notes, the tax would be increased by probably twenty times the eight mills. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that this is a very important part of this measure and that it should be thoroughly clarified before the House is asked to take action on it. Would the gentleman from Washington object to having this bill returned to committee for the purpose of clarifying that particular part of it?

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I really do not feel that there is anything to be clarified here. I think the bill is very specific and plain. I do not really understand what the gentleman means by a premium note.

Mr. TROUT. Then, Mr. Speaker, why not send it back because it is necessary to clarify it. It makes a big difference between the assessment on the loss incurred or whether the assessment is on the premium notes which are taken by some mutual companies, the amount of those notes depending upon the risk.

Mr. CLIFF PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I think this will answer the question. It says on page three "a tax of eight mills on the dollar upon the gross amount of said premiums, premium deposit, contributions and assessments received from business transacted," and really your collateral note is not in that category.

Mr. TROUT. Well, on the question or the subject of "premiums, premium deposit, contributions or assessments were received in money or in the form of notes, credits or any other substitutes for money," it seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that before the House should be asked to vote on this bill that that particular part of the bill should be thoroughly understood. It would make a great difference in the amount of taxation as to the interpretation, of whether or not it applies to premium notes.

Mr. BARBER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will refer to section 2, on page 4, I believe that he will find "associations required to pay the tax imposed by this amendment to pay such tax upon gross income." The premium note to which the gentleman refers is not an income note in any respect and does not become part of the income of the association or company, and for that reason I believe that the gentleman's objection is adequately covered by the bill, and therefore, that our action upon this bill should not be stayed but should continue.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the, yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The Clerk read the affirmative roll.

Mr. O'NEILL. Mr. Speaker, I was standing over in the corner of the hall when the roll was called, and I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to challenge the vote of the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neill, for the reason that I watched that door and Mr. O'Neill did not come into the hall of this House until after the roll was called, and I don't intend to permit the statement to be made that he was over in the corner because I distinctly saw that he was not there, but that he came in after the roll was called.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will put his challenge in writing.

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker, Mr. O'Neill was sitting over there during the roll. I was holding a conversation with him.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, he came in afterwards.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Witkin, insist on his challenge?

Mr. WITKIN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman states that he was in the hall of the House, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kilroy states that he was holding a conversation with him.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, it is with a great deal of regret that for the first time in the ten years that I have been a member of this House, and the great number of sessions that I have attended that I have to challenge the vote of a gentleman in this House, and were it not for the fact that I am so sure that the gentleman, anything said to the contrary notwithstanding, was not in the Hall of the House, I would not stand here and challenge his vote. I know that the vote means nothing and that the bill would pass without it, and were it not for the fact that I saw the gentleman walk into the Hall of this House while the gentleman from Delaware was talking, I would not challenge his vote. He sat there after the roll had been completed talking to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kilroy, but not while the roll was being called. I object to any man making the statement that he was in the Hall of the House when he was not, and with a great deal of regret and perhaps embarrassment to me, because I am not taking the word of the gentleman when I know that that word is improper and improperly given, I must insist upon the challenge of that vote.

CHALLENGE TO VOTE

Mr. WITKIN filed in writing the following challenge to the vote of Mr. O'Neill:

"I challenge the vote of the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neill, on House Bill No. 840, for the reason he was not in the Hall of the House when his name was called and walked into the House after the roll was called."

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker, does a member have to be in the Hall of the House during the full roll call?

The SPEAKER. A member must be in the Hall of the House when his name is called and before the result is announced.

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker, he was in the Hall of the House during the calling of the roll at one time because I was holding a conversation with him.

The SPEAKER. If he was in the Hall of the House when his name was called and before the result was announced he is entitled to vote.

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker, he was in the Hall of the House.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the Chair to rule that if the gentleman was not in the Hall of the House when his name was called but came into the Hall of the House after the roll was called that he is still entitled to vote? Because if that is the Chair's ruling the gentleman did come into the Hall of the House after the roll was called and before the announcement was made, but as I understand the rules of this House, and all prior decisions, they are that the gentleman must be in the Hall of the House when his name was called. I bow to the Speaker's ruling as to the pressing of my challenge.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read for the information of the House Rule No. 78:

"No member shall be permitted to vote on any question unless he be present in the House when the yeas and nays are called he be present to answer to his name."

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, if it is conceded that the gentleman was not in the Hall of the House when his name was called, and not in the Hall of the House until the complete roll had been called but arrived thereafter, is he permitted to vote?

The SPEAKER. He is not permitted to vote if he was not within the Hall of the House when his name was called.

Mr. WITKIN. May I ask then that the Speaker request the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neill, to state whether or not the gentleman was in the Hall of the House after the roll had been completed and was not in the Hall of the House when his name was called, because perhaps he misunderstood the situation.

Mr. O'NEILL. Mr. Speaker, I was in the Hall of the House when the Clerk started to call the roll. I just went out into that side room. When I came in I did not hear my name called and that is why I had to wait until the roll was verified to see if my name was called. That is how I knew I was not recorded as voting. I may have missed my name while I was outside that minute. I was only outside in the next room, right at the telephone. I had gotten a telephone call.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Lackawanna admits that he was not in the Hall of the House when his name was called and desires to vote I will ask the members of this House to give him unanimous consent to be recorded. But if he states that he was in the Hall of the House when his name was called then I press my challenge.

Mr. O'NEILL. Mr. Speaker, I went to the telephone, I will admit that. I wanted to vote on the bill but I was not in when my name was called. I wanted to vote "aye" on the bill.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to permit the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neill to be recorded as voting "aye" on this bill.

The SPEAKER. There being no objection the gentleman will be recorded as voting "aye."

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SURFACE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to vote "no" and file my reasons for so doing.

I do not vote for this bill because it contains a provision for a tax of eight mills of the gross premiums on Mutual Fire Insurance Companies. These Companies are nonprofit sharing and are hard pressed to exist and mutually take care of the losses from fires destroying the property of their members, any of them will be put out of business by such increased costs.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 842, as follows:

An Act to further amend section seven hundred and thirteen of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-three) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" by requiring certain domestic insurance companies and associations to make certain reports in writing to the Department of Revenue on the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and every year thereafter

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section seven hundred and thirteen of an act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-three) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" as last amended by the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand four hundred and seventy-four) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 713 Reports by Domestic Insurance Companies It shall be the duty of the president secretary or other proper officer of each and every insurance company association or exchange incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth [except] including companies doing business upon the mutual plan without any capital stock and purely mutual beneficial associations whose funds for the benefit of members their families or heirs are made up entirely of the weekly or monthly contributions of their members and the accumulated interest thereon to make report to the Department of Revenue on or before the fifteenth day of March in each year showing the entire amount of premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments received by such company association or exchange during the year ending with the thirty-first day of December preceding whether the said premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitutes for money and whether the same were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere In such report the reporting officer shall assess the tax provided by law upon the gross amount of such premiums premium deposits and assessments received from business transacted within this Commonwealth during such year but in making such report to the Department of Revenue and assessment of tax every such company association and exchange may make the deductions permitted by law

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the president secretary or other proper officer of each and every company and association required by this amendment for the first time to make report to the Department of Revenue to make such first report on or before the fifteenth day of one thousand nine hundred thirty-six showing the entire amount of premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments received by such company or association during the year ending with the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five whether the said premiums premium deposits contributions or assessments were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitutes for money and whether the same were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere

Section 3 If any section sentence clause or part of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional section sentence clause or part thereof not been included therein

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill haivng been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 977, entitled:

An Act To amend section three of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand five hundred twenty) entitled "An act making an appropriation out of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for allocation to and expenditure in the various political subdivisions of the Commonwealth for the maintenance of certain streets and roads during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and requiring political subdivisions to reduce their tax rates for road and street purposes for said years providing for certification of mileage of public roads and streets by municipal authorities to the Department of Highways and providing for the use and maintenance of road building machinery and equipment belonging to such political subdivisions by the Department of Highways in carrying out the purposes of this act" providing for the allocation of the unexpended appropriation among townships of the second class and the expenditure of such appropriation by such townships

The first section was read as follows:

Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1935 No. 36

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 27, 1935.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Give unto us, O God, the desire which prompted the disciples of our Master to pray, "Lord increase our faith." May our faith grow stronger as we grow older in years and richer in experience.

Grant us such confidence in Thy power and Thy care over us that we may say in every time of danger and temptation, "What time I am afraid I will trust in Thee." Then may we so increase our knowledge of Thy power to help in times of stress as to be able to say, "I will trust and not be afraid." Perfect love casteth out fear. Thy love for us is perfect; make our love for Thee as perfect as is Thine for us.

May the members of this Senate be governed in their actions by such implicit faith in God as to be able fearlessly to do their duty, trusting results with Thee.

Thus we pray in the Master's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

COMMUNICATION BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows,

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 27, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the Senate, I should like to address the Members this morning at 11:00 o'clock.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT THE GOVERNOR

Mr. BATCHELOR offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 27, 1935.

Resolved, That a committee of three members of the Senate be appointed to escort His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to the Hall of the Senate to address the members of the Senate at 11 A. M., March 27, 1935.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro-Tempore the Chair announces as said committee the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Batchelor, the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh.

SPECIAL ORDER POSTPONED

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Special Order fixed for 10:30 A. M., for the consideration of Senate Bill No. 660 (House Bill No. 839), known as the gasoline tax bill, be postponed until 11:30 this morning.

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ADDRESS OF THE GOVERNOR

Mr. BATCHELOR. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. Members of the Senate, I have the honor to present his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The GOVERNOR. On February 12, 1935—six weeks ago—as Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I recommended to the Legislature a program of emergency taxation to meet the economic crisis now present in this Commonwealth.

After fair hearings on bills embodying the Administration's recommendations, the House of Representatives has passed the program practically in its entirety.

The Senate is scheduled to vote this morning on the first of these bills; the tax on gasoline. Before this vote is cast, I would like to make the following statement:

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania must have cash, and must have it immediately, to prevent our hospitals, our universities and public schools from closing, and to give succor to our old people, our blind and unemployed.

My proposal to raise this immediately necessary cash is a tax on tobacco, gasoline and amusements. No one of these taxes will be a burden upon the poor. If your Honorable Body defeats these three taxes, you will be faced with the proposal of a general sales tax which will tax meat, fish, bread, milk, clothing and other necessities of life—a direct burden upon our poor, hundreds of thousands of whom are already barely able to exist. I repeat again I am unalterably opposed to this subtly vicious tax.

And let me point also that the Federal Emergency Relief Administrator, on Monday last, served notice that Pennsylvania by April 15 must meet its fair share of the present approximately $20,000,000 monthly cost of unemployment relief in Pennsylvania, by contributing $5,000,000 monthly for unemployment relief.

The question resolves itself down to this—the providing of immediate cash to meet the crisis, or the discontinuance of Federal aid.

Think well, Gentlemen of the Senate, before you replace taxes on gasoline, amusements and tobacco, which are, after all, semi-luxuries—think well, I say, before you replace these taxes by attempting to tax the absolute necessities of life.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I thank you for your consideration.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Senate I express thanks and appreciation of your presence here this morning.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COYNE from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

MEMBER OF WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BOARD

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 6, 1935.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. RICE.

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the foregoing nomination.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. RICE.

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nomination reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

An Act authorizing the abatement of certain tax penalties and interest on county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district and poor district taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all penalties and interest imposed on delinquent county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district and poor district taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and all previous years assessed against any real estate shall be abated by the authority levying the tax if said delinquent taxes are paid as hereinafter provided and if the taxes due on such real estate for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five are paid at the time prescribed by law for the payment of taxes

In order to receive the benefits of this act twenty per centum of the delinquent taxes due for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and for all previous years shall be paid on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight and the final twenty per centum on or before the first day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine

If any taxpayer availing himself of the provisions of this act shall fail to pay any instalment of taxes as hereinbefore provided for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and all previous years as hereinbefore provided then the penalties and interest due on such unpaid installment or installments shall not be abated

Any taxpayer may anticipate the payment of such delinquent taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and previous years and receive the benefit of this act

This act shall be construed to apply to all taxes whether or not liens for such taxes have been returned for non payment or have been filed in the office of the prothonotary of the county or proceedings for the collection of such taxes have been instituted in any court in said county

The benefits of this act shall extend to and accrue to any grantee transferee mortgagee or other party in interest in the real estate against which the above mentioned taxes have been assessed and levied

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
